GROSSMONT BEST BAND AGAIN

IVA LEE ZILIOLI . . . Champ Majorette . .

Blue-Gold Steppers Win Mayor's Trophy

Grossmont High School's 88-member Class A band Saturday won the sweepstakes trophy in the All Western Band Review for the fifth time.

Tht blue-gold uniformed aggregation was presented the Mayor's Trophy, new name for the sweepstakes award, for the second straight time Saturday night in a ceremony at Municipal Auditorium.

The Mayor's Trophy is given for the best all-around unit in the parade regardless of size or enrollment. It is a perpetual trophy, competed for annually until won three times by the same school.

Grossmont won the old sweepstakes trophy in 1953, retiring it from competition after 13 years.

IVA LEE ZILIOLI, 18-year-old Corona High School senior, won first place in the drum majorette twirling contest. The pert brunette was runner-up last year.

Ann Stroud, Downey, third last year, was this year's runner-up. Eda Marie Jerzy, Montebello, was third.

Montebello High School won first place in the Class A band division for schools 1,600 or larger. The 106-piece band won last year's showmanship trophy.

Compton Senior High School, with 150 participants, won the showmanship award.

Lynwood High School was adjudged the band showing the greatest improvement in marching since last year's parade.

MONTEBELLO HIGH School, the Class A winner, showed the greatest improvement in music since last year's event.

Other top winners in band competition were Tulare, Class B; North High School of Bakersfield, Class C; Dinuba, Class D; Tranquillity, Class E. Dinuba also won Class D last year.

In the military majorette event (non-twirling), Marilynne Clemens, Wasco, was first. Six-foot Janet Thompson, El Cajon Valley High School, was second. She won third in that event last year while a student at Grossmont.

Alfred Shay, Chowchilla, was adjudged best twirling drum major. Bob Plummer, Compton, was runner-up.

Jim Nicolaisen, Merced, was best military drum major (non-twirling).

450,000 Jam Curbs to See Bands Parade

By BERT RESNIK

Lined up more than six deep along the curbs of a two-mile route, an estimated 450,000 persons Saturday witnessed the world's largest musical parade here.

Everything surpassed expectations for the 15th All-Western Band Review.

Originally, a crowd of not more than 300,000 had been expected. Police Capt. William Kummer, who made the 450,000 estimate, said he felt he was being conservative in his judgment.

Originally, the parade was only supposed to have 60 competing high school bands. There were 67 and two non-competitive musical groups.

* * * *

AND THE PARADE, which moved briskly, was expected to last three hours. It took four and no one, judging from the applause, was disappointed at the added length.

The only non-musical entries in the line of march were the Long Beach Police Department Motorcycle Drill Team—and it had rhythm — a Marine color guard from the Naval Base here, and Councilman Raymond C. Kealer.

But, following these lead-off participants, it was all music from there on in.

From Window Rock, Ariz., sponsored by the governing council of their territory, came the 37-piece Navajo Tribal Indian Band. The Long Beach City College Band, behind them, also whooped it up.

* * * *

COMPETITION started with the appearance of Manteca Union High School Band. Manteca is about 300 miles from here. It's the first time the school has entered the review.

The appearance of Temple City High School banner bearers evoked an expression of surprise from Lee Selby who was using a stop-watch to measure cadence from the judges' stand.

"Oh my goodness!" she said. "Bermuda shorts."

It was only the beginning for surprises.

Coachella Valley Union High School majorettes appeared in the attire of the harem of an Arab chieftain. But it was a conservative chieftain and the harem costumes were plenty ample to keep the girls warm.

Gov. Williams Swings Roundhouse at Adlai

DENVER, Colo. (U.P.)—Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan swung what he apparently hoped was a verbal roundhouse Saturday night at fellow Democrat Adlai Stevenson and adherents of Stevenson's announced position of "moderation" in government.

Williams, aspiring governor serving his seventh year in that office, said he would be ashamed to go along with those Democrats who "have proposed, in effect, that this is the ideal time for a national coffee break."

Speaking before the Colorado Young Democrats convention, Williams said he was "acutely disappointed by this spirit of Chicago containing counsels which I find difficult to believe can be seriously considered as Democratic party policy."

Williams, who previously wished Stevenson "good luck" in the latter's bid for the Democratic presidential nomination, did not mention Stevenson by name in his address. He referred to him as: "The very worthy gentleman and great Democrat who urged a course of moderation when he addressed the nation on television from Chicago last week end."

"This is not the time for moderation," said Williams, who himself has been mentioned as a possible presidential candidate.

"It is time," he said, "for getting up off the seat of our pants and doing the job that waits to be done.

"If we followed the counsel of Chicago," he said, "I suspect we would find that we had relaxed ourselves into a position where we would have lost the last shred of our Democratic Party's identity as the nation's great and moving force.

"The spirit of Chicago," he added, "could bring us to the point where the American electorate, as it goes to the ballot box next November, could be hard put to distinguish between the parties—even harder put to find the reason for making the change which must be made if we are not to turn flabby from resting."

Explorer, 81, Will Sail

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP) — Polar explorer Donald B. MacMillan said Saturday night he will sail June 1 on his 31st voyage to the Arctic. The 81-year-old Arctic explorer went on his first Arctic trip in 1908 as chief assistant on Adm. Robert Peary's expedition.

Cypriots Defy Death, Bomb Scots' Party

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—A state of emergency was clamped on this riot-swept British Mediterranean defense island Saturday. It was answered within hours by a grenade hurled defiantly into a suddenly darkened hotel ballroom.

Under the new powers taken by the governor general to meet a rising tide of bloodshed and violence mere possession of an explosive is punishable by death. The grenade-thrower was not caught.

The weapon was tossed into the ballroom of the Ledra Palace, the island's swankest hotel, as 300 Scots and their guests were dancing highland reels in celebrating St. Andrew's Day.

The grenade was aimed at the table where principal guests sit. Governor General Sir John Harding sits there at many functions but he was not present Saturday night.

The grenade damaged a water pipe and water flooded the dance hall.

The dancers, with their feet in water, stood at attention and sang "God Save the Queen" before going to the dining room to continue the party while the entire staff of the hotel was being questioned.

FAULTY ZIPPER STOPS GIRL'S BANDIT CHASE

LONDON (AP)—The barmaid bounced to the chase Saturday of a gang of robbers who snatched 900 pounds ($2,500) from her mother.

"I think I might have caught one," said 19-year-old Mara, as she stood panting in a black sweater and black jeans.

"But as I was running, the zipper on my jeans came undone and they started to fall down. So I had to chase him holding them up."

Mara's mother, Mrs. Ethel Halliday, runs the "Dog and Truck" pub in the London dock district. She and Mara were just coming from a bank.

Girl Hunts Yule Gifts, Lights Up Match—Oh, Boy!

NORWALK— Twelve-year-old Betty Perez started hunting hidden Christmas gifts in the family garage at 13627 Longworth Ave. about 7 p. m. Saturday.

When she couldn't reach the light switch, she struck a match. In fact, she struck several.

She got plenty of light then. The garage contained such items as mattresses, rags and furniture which made splendid kindling.

Firemen later estimated $620 damage to the garage and $200 to its contents.

White Hit-Run Raiders Shot Him, Mississippi Negro Grocer Asserts

BELZONI, Miss. (U.P.)—A critically wounded fighter for Negro rights gasped Saturday that white men shot him down only a few blocks from the spot where another Negro leader, a minister was slain seven months ago.

Gus Courts, a member of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, told doctors from a hospital bed in the all-Negro community of Mound Bayou that three or four white men rolled up to his grocery store about 8 Friday night and shot him through the window as he stood at the cash register.

Sheriff Ike Shelton said his investigation was hampered by the fact that Courts' friends rushed him out of this delta farming town to Mound Bayou, almost 75 miles north of here.

Neither white nor Negro leaders could provide a direct motive for the slaying. The NAACP chapter "hadn't made much noise here lately," a white leader said.

"Just being a member of the NAACP is the only motive I know of," said Edgar Evers, of Jackson, Miss., state NAACP field secretary.

Last spring the NAACP charged that Courts was forced to move from his store because he refused to remove his name as a registered voter, a charge denied by the Humphreys County Pro-Segregation White Citizens' Council.

On May 7 the Rev. George W. Lee, another NAACP member, was found fatally wounded after his car crashed into a Negro home. Officers said he had been shot in the head.

The crime has not been solved although the FBI sent agents to investigate.

Dr. J. R. Henry said at Mound Bayou that Courts had a "fair chance" to recover.

Train Hurls Driver, Five Tots to Death

MATHESON, Colo. (AP)—A 35-year-old Colorado Springs man and five children were killed outright one-half mile east of Matheson Saturday when the car in which they were riding was struck by an eastbound Rock Island Rocket passenger train.

The state patrol identified the victims as Steve Puzick, his four daughters, and another child tentatively identified as a cousin.

The patrol listed the children as Junie Puzick, 11; Marilyn Puzick, 9; Suzanne Puzick, 4; Cynthia Puzick, 3, and Eli White 9.

Investigating officers reported that Puzick, traveling south on a country road, apparently failed to see the train as both his car and the streamliner approached a crossing.

Youths Hurt Gravely at Railroad Crossing

Two teenagers were injured critically Saturday night when their car was struck by a Southern Pacific switch engine on Pico Ave. near Pier A.

Lewis A. Tate, 18, of 3516 Charlemagne Ave., driver, and Terry Zimmermann, 18, of 2795 Adriatic Ave., were taken to Community Hospital with major injuries.

Firemen and ambulance attendants worked for 20 minutes to extricate them from their car after the vehicle's front end was pinned under the engine.

Fiery Crash on PCH Here Hurts Three

Three persons were injured, one critically, in a two-car crash on Pacific Coast Hwy. just south of 7th St. late Saturday night.

Treated at Community Hospital were Helen Louise Yates, 19, of 6162 Agra, Bell Gardens, who is in critical condition from head injuries; James Yates, 21, same address, who is in serious condition with head injuries; and Robert L. Johnson, 28, of 214 8th St., Huntington Beach, who has chin and chest lacerations and possible internal injuries.

* * * *

ALL THREE WERE taken from their cars unconscious after the crash. The Yates woman was pinned in the right front seat for several minutes. Johnson's car caught fire and he was dragged from the flaming vehicle.

L.B. Fliers Safe After Crackup

SALOME, Ariz. (U.P.) — Three Californians cheated death and escaped serious injury Saturday when their plane crashed near the Salome auxiliary air strip.

The plane, en route from Long Beach, Calif., to Tucson, was piloted by Daniel E. Smith, 21, of Long Beach, the Luke Air Force Base PIO said.

The two others aboard the light plane were identified as Robert W. Nelson, 25, Long Beach, and A. F. Supermeau, 21, Buena Park, Calif.

Smith suffered a cut over one eye. The others were not injured, authorities said.

The Air Force said the crash occurred as Smith attempted a landing.

Smog Green Today

LOS ANGELES (AP)—It will be Smog Green for Los Angeles today, the Air Pollution Control District predicted. It was Smog Green Saturday, too.

Didn't Leap From Span

SAN FRANCISCO (U.P.)—Charles Duncan, first press agent for the Golden Gate Bridge from which more than 150 persons have leaped to their deaths, jumped Saturday from a fourth floor window at the San Francisco Hospital and was killed instantly. He was 71.

Sweden Will Install 5 Atomic Reactors

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—Sweden is planning five new atomic reactors, including a power station of 300,000 kilowats. The only reactor now operating is located in space blasted out of granite rock in Stockholm.

L.A.C. SAYS:

The $64,000 Question

The popular $64,000 question program should dramatize what income taxes mean to individuals. A single person, having a normal income of $4,000 a year, would have to win $448,711 to keep $64,000 in this tax year. In other words he would have to pay $384,711 to Uncle Sam before he could keep $64,000 for himself.

That is one reason given for many contestants stopping at the lower payoff questions. The single person who stopped at the $32,000 question could keep $18,532. But if he won the $64,000 question he could keep only $27,808 after taxes. Thus the contestant in trying for the $64,000 question is actually trying for only $9,276 more. The rest of the added $32,000 would go for taxes.

It is hoped most listeners and viewers of the program are given this information. It would give them an understanding of the almost confiscatory income tax collected on higher incomes. The tax on incomes runs as high as

GRACE

"And when He had given thanks."
John 6:11

Thanks for our home on tree-arched street . . . And our small church where we meet . . . Our neighbors who live close around . . . A good school that is safe and sound . . . And our church-supported college . . . Where many youth acquire knowledge . . . let homes and schools and churches be . . . The bulwarks of our liberty . . . And on this Sabbath once again . . . We thank Thee for these, Lord, Amen.

L.A. Widow's Folk-Singing Wins $50,000

NEW YORK (AP)—A 72-year-old Los Angeles widow sang her way Saturday to the $50,000 point on the NBC-TV "Big Surprise" quiz show while a Tennessee Senator played on a violin.

Mrs. Ethel Richardson, who spends six months each year in a trailer in Los Angeles and six months at the White Plains, N.Y., home on her son, Ralph W. Smith, may try next Saturday for the $100,000 jackpot of the show.

Sen. Albert E. Gore (D-Tenn), who learned the violin by ear as a boy, came to New York City from his home in Carthage, Tenn., to take part in the show. Mrs. Richardson used to live at Decherd, Tenn.

Mrs. Richardson, whose subject on the show was folk music, named and sang excerpts from "Buffalo Gals" and the original ballad "Davy Crockett." Both were played by Gore.

L.A.C. SAYS:

91 per cent. On $100,000-a-year incomes the top rate is 89 per cent. Thus if a $100,000-a-year executive receives a $10,000 salary increase he gets about $1,000 and the government takes the other $9,000.

It is this tax situation that has brought about various methods of avoiding the high taxes. One method is by giving stock options to high salaried executives. By this method the executive is given an option to buy stock at a nominal price. When, and if, the stock greatly increases in price he takes up the option. If he sells the stock he reports the profit as a capital gain on which he pays a maximum tax of 25 per cent.

It is a devious method to avoid paying the high tax on a salary raise. The executives lose incentive to progress when they see a blank wall ahead. Therefore, corporations find other methods of compensating them. It is a tax avoidance and many cases are questionable. But when taxes take 90 per cent of any additional income it must be expected some such methods will be used. The Treasury Department does not have the manpower to check all the deals made and the tax returns. There are many individuals who take the long chance that they will not be caught.

Lower income groups care little about what happens to those in tax groups just above them. You cannot expect the $5,000-a-year family to worry about the $10,000-a-year family's tax problems. But the steady growth in numbers of families reaching higher tax brackets should cause them to be interested. The single person with a $10,000 income would pay $2,000 tax on the next $5,000 he earns. A married man with two dependents would pay $1,250 on the increase. The higher the income the less you have left of any additional amount you earn.

These are factors that should be considered when tax reductions are enacted next year. It is probable there will be many changes in the system during the coming years. With 50 million income taxpayers, it is impossible for the government to check more than a few. That leaves the door open to many schemes for tax avoidance and evasion. The greatest criticism of France's tax system is the evasion and corruption that prevails. This country must take care it does not sink to the same level. It would be the start of the people's loss of confidence in the integrity of our taxing system.—L.A.C.

'Julius' Grand Champ, Teen-Age Girl Is Proud

CHICAGO (UP)—A steer entered by Nancy Turner, a 16-year-old "serious" redhead from Champaign, Ill., Saturday won the junior grand championship at the 56th annual international livestock exposition.

She became the second teen-age girl in a row to win the junior title and moved into prominent contention for the grand championship Tuesday.

Illinois edged out Iowa for state honors in the livestock show judging with 10 first place awards against Iowa's nine. Both were tied with five second place awards and Illinois led again with third place prizes, 8-7.

FRECKLE-FACED Miss Turner won with a 986-pound Aberdeen Angus steer, "Julius," shortly after the steer won breed honors.

Reserve junior honors went to a 1,200-pound Hereford owned by Lewis Schoening, 19, of De Witt, Iowa.

Miss Turner, whose victory climaxed a day in which youth reigned at the show, said she had never hoped for such an honor.

"I never won an honor this high at the international," she said, "and it's quite a thrill."

Pair Quizzed in Killing of Bank Cashier

ELK RIVER, Minn. (UP) — Michigan authorities said Saturday night they had arrested two "possible suspects" in the slaying of Thief River Falls, Minn., bank cashier Kenneth Lindbergh who, a coroner's jury said, was "struck from behind with a sharp instrument"—probably a machete or a hatchet.

Miles La Rose, 33, alias Frank Rinaldo, and his girl friend, Leona Le Claire, both of St. Paul, were arrested for speeding in suburban Detroit. After finding two cashier's checks drawn on St. Paul banks for $300 each and a number of keys to safe-deposit boxes, police questioned them in connection with the Lindbergh killing.

A small quantity of narcotics, 50 automobile keys, $265 in cash, pornographic photographs and currency from other countries were found in the car.

The body was discovered 13 days after Lindbergh vanished from the Northern State Bank in Thief River Falls following a long conference with an unidentified stranger.

SHERRIF CHESTER Goenner revealed that 200 silver dollars were found scattered in the area where the body was discovered. Missing at the time Lindbergh disappeared were $14,000 in bank travelers' checks and some $1,750 in silver.

About $1,500 of the missing silver was found last week in the trunk of Lindbergh's car, abandoned on a Minneapolis street.

Two days after Lindbergh vanished, a man who identified himself as Charles D. Kenwell of Philadelphia tried to deposit in a Detroit bank $6,000 in travelers' checks taken from the northern Minnesota bank.

Search was heightened by the FBI, meanwhile, for the man identified as Kenwell. He was described as 32 to 35, about 155 pounds and 5 feet 10 inches tall.

Half Million Indians Greet Russ Leaders

By HAROLD K. MILKS

BANGALORE, India (AP) — The state visit of Russia's two top men rolled into Bangalore Saturday. Although its impact on the people of India was undiminished, many political leaders insisted the "selling tour" of Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist Party Boss Nikita S. Khrushchev will not move this country out of its neutrality role and closer to the Communist bloc.

Everywhere since they arrived Nov. 18, Bulganin and Krushchev have attracted huge crowds and unprecedented praise from Indian officials. A half million persons greeted them here.

State governors and municipal mayors on their tour competed in praising Russia's people and government — taking their pattern from the reception India's Prime Minister Nehru himself gave the Russian visitors.

IT IS OBVIOUS that people running into millions are receiving their first political education on Soviet Communism under circumstances heavily slanted in favor of the Russians.

But leaders of Nehru's Congress Party, when pressed for an answer to what the likely effects of such unrestrained support for the Russians would be, are inclined generally to laugh off the question with the reply that "in India everyone likes a show and forgets it quickly."

"We would do the same thing for President Eisenhower if he visited India," they said. "Indians may have praised Russians as a great people but the memory won't last."

Congress leaders apparently have no fears that the new found friendship with the Soviet Union will make a great segment of India's voters "communism conscious" under circumstance most favorable to India's own Communist party.

WHATEVER THE eventual result, the Russian visit has been a great circus, mostly playing one-day stands to constantly changing audiences.

Bulganin and Krushchev are obviously attempting to woo India into their camps with cultural and political appeals, while members of their party are left behind in New Delhi working hard to make a greater impression on the economic side.

The question of Russian material aid to India—which needs desperately nearly a billion and a half dollars of foreign funds for its second five year plan—has been one which neither the Soviet prime minister nor the Communist chief have answered thus far.

Both have spoken of Russia's willingness to assist "our friend and ally in the peace camp" with material help and technical assistance. But they have shied away from making specific offers.

Indian newspapers, perhaps with some official inspiration, have reported the Soviet leaders would announce some massive scheme for helping India before they leave.

Lakes Fish-Killer Elimination Asked

CHICAGO (UP) — Three midwestern congressmen Saturday urged an all-out attack on the sea lamprey problem in the Great Lakes.

Democratic Congressman John Blatnik of Minnesota, Martha Griffiths of Michigan, and Henry Reuss of Wisconsin urged the federal government to appropriate $750,000 in a campaign against the lamprey.

The lamprey, which looks like an eel, attaches itself to fish and practically has eliminated the lake-fishing industry.

Fire Razes Vacant House in GG Area

GARDEN GROVE — Fire destroyed an abandoned house at the southwestern corner of Gilbert and Shannon Sts. here Saturday night despite quick action by three fire companies from the Garden Grove fire protection district and rural fire companies.

The owner of the house has not been located, according to firemen. An investigation is being launched to determine cause of the blaze. Damage was estimated at $2,000.

Crime Scientist to Give Evidence Against Abbott

OAKLAND (UP)—Dr. Paul L. Kirk, University of California criminologist, may take the stand next week to testify against Burton W. Abbott, it was disclosed Saturday.

Assistant District Attorney Folger Emerson said Kirk might be called on to testify before the week is out.

District Attorney J. Frank Coakley promised the jury of seven men and five women that Kirk's testimony will prove that Stephanie Bryan was in Abbott's car and that Abbott dug the grave where her body was found near his Trinity County mountain cabin.

No 'Catnap,' Ship Here Clear in Tabby Hunt

Officers and crew of the British tanker Argobec Saturday were cleared of complicity in the reported kidnaping of a Canadian cat.

San Pedro customs officers said they received a telegram from Bruce Love of Prince Rupert, B. C., asking that they contact the skipper of the Argobec and try to locate a kitten.

Love said the tan pet, "Ginger," was missing from his home and the children were heartsick. Love said the animal was believed taken aboard the tanker. He asked that the pet be returned.

Capt. A. Deeks, skipper of the Argobec, ordered a stem-to-stern search of his ship, then messaged Love:

"Argobec not guilty of catnaping. Regret."

All hands decided that if a wandering mouser boarded the tanker it must have jumped ship before the Argobec sailed.

BYRD FLYING FOR 'DEEP FREEZE'

Report Costly Delay on Satellite Project

WASHINGTON (AP)—Aero Digest magazine said Saturday the U.S. space satellite program has "degenerated into a celestial boondoggle" which can be corrected only through a costly speed-up.

"Contracts for some basic components and for instruments have been delayed, and others are unsigned," the Aviation engineering magazine said.

"All indications are that Project Vanguard will have to be a highly accelerated crash program, with parallel rocketing in costs, or miss its much-heralded deadline."

IN LOS ANGELES, Program Chairman Dr. Joseph Kaplan of UCLA defended the program as "one of the outstanding examples of co-operation between scientists and the Defense Department I have ever seen.

"From what I know personally," Dr. Kaplan added, "I am satisfied with the progress of the Vanguard project."

President Eisenhower announced last July that the U.S. would launch a small satellite during the International Geophysical Year—July 1, 1957-Dec. 31, 1958—to orbit around the earth, 200 to 800 miles out in space.

Scientists throughout the world will coordinate their studies of the earth during the 1957-58 survey period.

Dr. Fritz Zwicky, California Institute of Technology astronomer and physicist, recently told the American Rocket Society here that "all kinds of jealousies, bureaucracies and buck-passing" are hindering the U.S. satellite program and helping Soviet Russia to achieve an earlier launching.

AERO DIGEST said that many rocket engineers are unconvinced that the job can be tackled successfully.

"Apparently the whole project is up in the air and the magnitude of the task is far greater than anticipated," the magazine said.

"On the other hand, far less cooperation and effort has been put in on it than was originally planned."

The magazine added:

"The aviation industry is still wondering why Army ordnance, which has more experience in launching large rocket missiles than the Navy, has been neglected or has not been called on to participate in the program."

As to this, Kaplan said: "I say this from experience. I have complete confidence in the technical review which led the Department of Defense to make the decision to assign to the Naval Research Laboratory the Vanguard project. But I think any further comment should come from the Department of Defense."

NO NUDES ON 1957 CALENDARS

How Can a Poor Girl Get Start in Films?

LOS ANGELES (AP)—No nudes on 1957 calendars.

That was the word at a calendar salesmen's meeting here Saturday.

"All the major firms have turned thumbs down on nudes for the 1957 line.

"The industry felt it was demeaning to the advertising profession to continue the nudes. Calendars were getting rawer and rawer until they were approaching the pornographic."

Turner said 1957 calendars will be aimed at particular fields. For instance, for the housewife they are full of household hints. For the bowler they have information on this sport. For the young mother they contain rules of child care.

450,000 Jam Curbs to See Band Review

If it was Arabia in the street, it was strictly America along the curb.

• • • •

PEDDLERS HAWKED king-sized balloons — two for a quarter, one for 15 cents. There were miniature batons and American flags for sale.

Peanuts sold as if there were 450,000 elephants instead of people.

A man in a brown suit nonchalantly placed a ladder against a light-pole, climbed it and sat down on a rung to eagle-eye the proceedings from his vantage point.

Inside the Towne Club, 1150 E. Ocean Blvd., bleachers erected for the occasion were crowded to capacity. And so was the top of the fence surrounding the front of the property.

And the bands played on.

• • • •

THERE WERE MORE than 6,000 participants in the parade and, as they passed the judges' stand, at least 3,550 of them looked as serious as medical students studying for their final exams.

There were devils and saints.

Leading Sweetwater High School was a curvaceous brunette with a three-pronged devil's pitchfork instead of the usual baton, an all-red costume and satan horns.

She had a smile like an angel.

Santa Ana was led by nine girls with halos over their heads. They held initials spelling out "Saints."

Compton High School's all-girl drill team looked as good as the famed New York Rockettes' chorus line. It was the only unit that paraded in single file. It was a popular move, applaudingly approved by the crowd.

Indian maids pulled kettle drums mounted on wheels for Arcadia High School while a feminine chieftain beat the modern-day tom-toms.

• • • •

THERE WERE A FEW unforeseen occurrences.

One of the drum majorettes from the Trona Tornado High School Band slipped as she attempted to catch her baton. It happened right in front of the judges' stand.

She fell and landed where most people usually land when they fall. But she quickly regained her composure and her feet. Smiling, she caught step and went on with the parade.

Although she was the only majorette to fall, there were several others who, under the nervous strain of the moment, developed butter fingers and lost their hold on the batons.

One of the happiest and most relaxed appearing group of majorettes was the unit that led Excelsior High School.

Even the weather seemed in a lyrical mood. Nary a cloud specked the clear sky.

• • • •

ANAHEIM UNION HIGH School Band played a musical salute to the "Robert E. Lee" and you could almost see the steamboat coming around the bend.

For Grandpa—and maybe even Dear Old Dad—Coalinga High School brought back fond memories. They wore spats — shoe adornments worn to keep the high polish from blinding passers-by.

Police of 3 Cities Hunt Long Beach Artist

Movements of a 67-year-old Long Beach artist who reportedly vanished while transacting a $2,250,000 ranch deal are being traced by police here, in San Francisco and in Denver.

Lucian G. Shoemaker, 2621 Vuelta Grande Ave., last was heard from Oct. 27 when he telephoned from San Francisco, where he was completing a transaction to sell a sheep ranch in Australia.

Shoemaker was reported missing by Eugene E. Peterson, of the Vuelta Grande Ave. address. Peterson is the husband of Shoemaker's niece, Mildred, 25.

* * * *

MRS. MARJORIE BARTH, Mrs. Peterson's sister, put her uncle on a plane for San Francisco, Oct. 20, in Denver. He was to complete the deal Oct. 21 at the Wells-Fargo Bank in San Francisco. Peterson said he received a postcard Oct. 24 in which Shoemaker told plans to arrive in Long Beach within a week.

On Oct. 27, Mrs. Barth said, she received a long-distance phone call from Shoemaker in San Francisco during which he said he planned to return to Denver "very soon."

Peterson reported Shoemaker's disappearance to Long Beach police when he did not arrive for Thanksgiving dinner.

In San Francisco, Saturday, Police Inspector Ray O'Brien said he would talk to officials of the Wells-Fargo Bank Monday to see if Shoemaker transacted any business in the period he was reported in that city.

San Francisco police said Shoemaker checked into a hotel there on Oct. 29 and checked out the following day.

SHOEMAKER, of American birth, inherited the grazing land in Australia. He reportedly had been receiving only $400 a year rental for the property.

In July, Peterson said, Shoemaker was advised that a mineral strike had been made on the land and that Du Pont and an Australian syndicate were interested in purchasing it. Shoemaker left at once for San Francisco to launch negotiations for the purchase. He returned Aug. 18 with a check for $125,000 cashable on Oct. 15 for an option to purchase the ranch for $2,250,000.

Mrs. Peterson said she "knew what kinds of minerals were found, but I won't tell."

Shoemaker left the Peterson home on Oct. 12 for San Francisco. He left there for a brief visit with Mrs. Barth in Denver and then returned to San Francisco.

It is not known if the $125,000 check was cashed, the Petersons said.

* * * *

PETERSON SAID the disappearance was not reported immediately because Shoemaker frequently was absent for two or three weeks on painting trips.

Shoemaker was described as a landscape and portrait artist whose paintings have been bought for calendar art.

Two Persons Faint at Music Review

Two people, one a participant and the other an onlooker, fainted during the All Western Band Review Saturday.

Catherine Gelderman, 82, of 102 Orange Ave., fainted in front of 1135 E. Ocean Blvd. and was taken to St. Mary's Hospital. Claudean Moreland, sophomore in the Wasco Union High School band, fainted shortly after passing the reviewing stand. She did not require hospitalization.

Running Boy Hit by Car

A three-year-old boy suffered a broken right arm and possible fractures of the skull and shoulder when he was struck by an auto as he ran from between two parked cars near his home Saturday afternoon, according to police.

Mark A. Merritt, 110 Quincy Ave., was treated in Community Hospital after he was struck on Quincy near 1st St. by a car driven by Lee Walker Fitzpatrick, 31, of 360 W. Ocean Blvd.

Fitzpatrick told officers he didn't see the boy until he was directly in front of the car. Fitzpatrick was not cited by police.

Brownie Troop to See Reptiles, Hear Talks

Handling of snakes and other reptiles will be demonstrated by members of the East Side Reptile Club at a meeting of Brownie Troop 250 at 3:30 p. m. Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Ruth Hudson, 5208 Wardlow Rd. Lucille Bruns, club curator, and James Scarbrough, club vice president, will show rattlesnakes, boa constrictors, gila monsters and lizards.

Playmate Shoots, Hurts Boy

PARAMOUNT — A 10-year-old boy was in critical condition Saturday night after being shot in the chest and right wrist by a playmate who thought the gun they found was harmless.

Larry Van Es, 10417 Brixler Ave., is in St. Helen's Hospital, Bellflower.

He and Leslie Glenn Turner, 11, of 16720 Pimento St., found the gun, an old .38 caliber revolver, in a drawer at the Turner home.

They also found some bullets and put four cartridges in the gun.

Then Leslie, thinking the firing pin would strike on an empty chamber, pointed the weapon at Larry and pulled the trigger, according to sheriff's deputies.

The gun fired. The bullet went through Larry's wrist and entered his chest.

Truckers' Strike Negotiations to Continue Today

Meetings were scheduled for today by Federal Conciliator Earl J. Ruddy who is continuing sessions with striking AFL teamsters and representatives of southland gravel concerns.

"Some progress" was reported Saturday night by Ruddy after separate meetings with the two groups.

Ruddy said he would hold separate meetings with the groups in an effort to end the 56-day-old dispute which has stopped work on key building projects.

The union and industry representatives will meet together Monday morning, he said.

2 Troop Transports to Arrive at S. F.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two troop transports are due here next week from the west Pacific.

The Gen. Nelson M. Walker will arrive Monday from Inchon and Yokohama with 2,399 Army troops on rotation, and 1,088 members of the Air Force.

Next Saturday the Gen. Daniel I. Sultan, from Guam and Honolulu, will dock with 341 Air Force, 153 Navy and 53 Army personnel.

3 Captured Boys Admit Cross-Country Crime Spree

SAN PEDRO—Three Midwest teenagers were arrested here early Saturday, ending a cross-country burglary spree.

The trio was taken into custody as they sat in a car at 19th St. and Western Ave. after having driven here from Ohio.

Jack Ellerhorst, 17, of Batavia, O., Ronald Everman, 17, of Covington, Ky., and a 16-year-old lad from Cincinnati told officers they had committed a dozen burglaries while driving here from Ohio.

In a local case, they said they sold a battery from their car to a San Pedro service station for $3. That night they broke into the station and stole the battery as well as a new one.

Officers said that Ellerhorst and Everman are AWOL from Fort Campbell, Ky.

Youth Faces Hearing

SANTA ANA—Superior Judge John Shea Friday ordered a sex psychopath proceeding against Raymond Thomas Todd, 19, of Anaheim, accused of raping a 13-year-old Anaheim girl he met at a dance in that city.

Airman Sucked Into Engine on Jet Plane, Killed

DULUTH, Minn. (UP)—An airman was killed at the Duluth Air Force base Saturday when he was sucked into the intake of a jet fighter plane. The Air Force did not release the name of the victim pending notification of next of kin.

Air base officers said the jet, an F89D, had just been wheeled out onto the runway after a checkup. It was revving up its jets when the man walked toward the cockpit.

He apparently slipped on some ice and was sucked into one of the intakes near the cockpit.

Keep Politics From Foreign Policy---Ike

(By Associated Press)

President Eisenhower Saturday supported a plea by Democratic Sen. George of Georgia that U. S. foreign policy not made a 1956 campaign issue. But the appeal was all but drowned out by the rising roar of political battle.

Former President Harry Truman told a Seattle news conference "the present administration's mistakes must be made an issue." And Sen. Sparkman of Alabama, the 1952 Democratic vice presidential candidate, told a reporter in Washington foreign policy is bound to become an issue in next year's presidential campaign.

A number or Democratic leaders have made it clear in recent speeches they intend to attack administration international actions, particularly what some of them have called "failure" of the foreign ministers conference in Geneva.

* * * *

IN LIGHT OF THIS, George, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told the New York Herald Tribune on Thursday:

"We must assure the world that we are capable of having a non-partisan American foreign policy and that regardless of who wins or loses in 1956 our foreign program will go on substantially as is."

Newsmen at the Gettysburg, Pa., White House asked Murray Snyder, assistant White House press secretary, if Eisenhower had seen George's statement. Snyder replied that the President had read and approved it.

Meanwhile, Truman said the so-called Geneva spirit "didn't amount to a damn." He said the Republicans "put foreign policy into the political arena after Mr. Roosevelt and I had kept it out for years. Now the Democrats are in a position to make the most of it and I am sure they will. The present administration's mistakes must be made an issue of the next campaign."

* * * *

SPARKMAN SAID he did not see how discussion of foreign policy could be avoided. He added, however, that he doesn't believe the Democrats will stoop to "personalities," as he said the Republicans had in attacks on former Secretary of State Dean Acheson three years ago.

"We are not going to accuse the Republicans of playing footsie with the Communists as they accused us in 1952 and 1954," Sparkman said.

He said he thinks specific alternatives to Republican foreign policy will be offered by Adlai E. Stevenson, so far the only announced candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

In Denver, Stevenson's plea that the Democrats take a "moderate" approach to national issues came under attack from Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, frequently mentioned as a possible favorite son candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

In his news conference, Truman took a sharp verbal slap at Vice President Nixon.

* * * *

"I DON'T LIKE Nixon and I never will," he said. "I don't want to even discuss him. He called me a traitor and if I'm a traitor the United States is in a helluva shape."

In a luncheon at Paxton, Ill., Stephen A. Mitchell, former Democratic national chairman, announced he would seek his party's nomination for governor of Illinois in the April 10 primary.

The 1956 Republican campaign plans may be discussed by President Eisenhower Monday. He will hold a Gettysburg conference with GOP National Chairman Leonard Hall, their first meeting since the President's Sept. 24 heart attack.

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) said he will say during the latter part of December or early January whether he will be a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Kefauver said at Milwaukee that he'll make his announcement possibly on Dec. 16 or 17, but may wait until after the holidays.

PROUD PARENTS OF QUADRUPLETS

3 of Quads Doing Fine ---One Dies

BELLEVUE, Ohio (AP)—A petite young matron with brown wavy hair gave birth to four tiny daughters Saturday. The third baby to arrive died about 13 hours after her birth, but doctors said the others were "doing fine at this time."

The quadruplets were born to 25-year-old Margaret Briehl, who had been expecting twins about the second week of January.

Married two years last June to Martin Briehl Jr., a 30-year-old mechanical engineer, the five-foot-six, 110-pound mother also has a 15-month-old son, Jimmy.

All four newborn girls first had been reported "doing well." The baby who died weighed about 3½ pounds, as did two of her sisters. The last born weighs about a pound and a half.

The babies were placed in an incubator immediately after birth and their exact weight could not be determined.

None was given names. Briehl said, "We just haven't had time to decide. Even though we were expecting twins, we didn't even get around to picking two names."

Knowland in Alaska

SEATTLE (AP)—Sen. William F. Knowland of California flew to Alaska Saturday to make two speeches and to receive an honorary doctor of laws degree from the University of Alaska, near Fairbanks.

Jail Arson, Wife-Beating Suspect

DOWNEY—Accused of beating his wife and setting fire to his home, Norman Donald Ryerson, 33, of 8040 Comolette Ave., was booked at Norwalk sheriff's station Saturday.

The suspect's wife, Catherine, 36, told Deputies W. G. Manley and M. L. Topping that her husband pulled hair from her head and beat her about the face after she tried to persuade him to drive more carefully while en route to their home from Los Angeles.

Officers were called by neighbors who were asked to assist by the couple's 10-year-old daughter. She jumped from her bedroom window and ran for help when the melee began, deputies said.

When the officers arrived, they found Ryerson extinguishing a fire on the living room rug. A second blaze was found in a bed.

Mrs. Ryerson was taken to St. Helen's Hospital in Bellflower for treatments of cuts and bruises about the face. The county fire department extinguished the blaze that caused an estimated $500 damage to the home and furnishings.

Ryerson is slated for arraignment in Downey Municipal Court Tuesday.

Seek End to Yaws

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The U. N. Children's Fund has under consideration a request from 30 countries for 10 million dollars to help rid all Africa of yaws within 10 years. Yaws is a disfiguring tropical disease that infects 50 million people, half of them in Africa. Doctors report complete cure with one shot of penicillin that costs 12 cents.

SPINAL COLUMN

WHAT DOES YOUR COLON DO? Why do you have a colon? What does it do for you when functioning properly?

In plain, everyday talk, your colon acts as your body's sewer system. It carries waste material thru the final stages of elimination from the body. However, in so doing it sometimes becomes "clogged," just like your kitchen drain.

SLOWS DOWN

You may first notice a general slowing down of the body's elimination processes. Bloating, excessive gas and sluggishness in your physical energy may be the first sign of colon trouble. However, it is not unusual to have seemingly normal daily bowel evacuations even though the colon is not functioning at 100% efficiency.

Whether known or unknown, colon inefficiency can pave the way for body absorption of poisons nature intends for the body to eliminate. Naturally, if waste matter is retained in the system the body will suffer sooner or later.

SURE WAY

How does one ascertain colon trouble? The only sure way is regular physical examinations by competent professionals. The many minute danger signs heralding a serious condition can usually be averted when professional advice, such as is afforded by Dr. J. C. Keys' 30 years of successful treating the sick of this area, is sought and followed.

Recent developments in colonic therapy make it possible to "head off" colonic function inefficiency at the first indication. Consult Dr. J. C. Keys, a man well-trained to recognize and treat not only colonic trouble, but other danger signals given by nature as well.

For further information, contact Dr. J. C. Keys, D. C., at 1075 Atlantic or phone him at HEmlock 6-6777.

FIREBOAT NO. II Speeds at 14 Knots Through Harbor in Response to Test Alarm

EQUAL TO 7 ENGINES

Fireboats Pack Speed, Power

By LEE CRAIG

The equivalent of seven fire engines—that's the way Long Beach firemen regard their two modern fireboats.

Manned by a five-man crew, each boat can deluge a fire with 4,500 gallons of water a minute. By comparison, a land-based engine's limit is 1,250 gallons a minute.

The water-borne firefighters, who operate from their station at the end of Pier C, Long Beach Harbor, specialize in speed.

For example, in clear weather, the boats can arrive off Pierpoint Landing, nearly a mile away, approximately four minutes after crews are alerted.

* * * *

HOWEVER, THEY SAVE full speed, 14 knots, for full-scale emergencies.

"These boats produce a pretty good bow wave," explains Capt. Ray Lund, in charge of one of the two shifts at the fireboat station.

"If we charged through the inner harbor at that speed, we'd swamp most of the small boats around."

The two 58-foot fireboats, representing an investment of nearly $150,000 each, were built on Terminal Island by Fellows & Stewart Boat Builders. They were delivered to the city last year.

Until then, Long Beach's only fireboat was the 35-foot, 12-year-old Windham, capable of pumping only 750 gallons a minute. The Windham, now out of service, was operated from the old Santa Clara boat landing.

* * * *

WHEN THE CITY'S worst dock fire occurred Dec. 5, 1945, the Windham was out of the water for an overhaul.

The fire, which lasted 2½ days and caused damage estimated at $775,000, involved the underside of Pier 2 outside the bulkhead, and was a situation made to order for fireboat operation.

Lacking such craft, desperate firemen, manning small hand lines, used rowboats, barges and anything that would float to approach the fire from the water side.

"If we'd had the boats," Fire Chief Frank Sandeman says, "they probably would have paid for themselves then."

* * * *

THE FIRE BOAT CREWS have about ten graded drills a month, on such subjects as boat handling, location of various harbor points, engine room operations, pumping and first aid.

Each man can handle any of the other four jobs aboard the boat. All have passed the Coast Guard operator's test.

The sea-going firemen also could find their way to strategic points of the harbor blindfolded.

Several times a month, crews take the boats out to practice "fog courses," in which they go over previously calculated "blind" runs to various locations where major fires might occur.

Routes are charted by going over them again and again in good weather; noting compass readings, speed and time of travel at each heading.

Present plans call for one of the two boats to be kept at another station now nearing completion on the inward side of the pontoon bridge. Later, fire department officials hope, they will be able to use the old Windham at a third station at the Marina when it is finished.

Adler Drops Nevada Gambling Licenses

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UP)—A letter surrendering gambling licenses for Club Cal-Neva in Reno and the Tahoe-Biltmore at Lake Tahoe was accepted "with prejudice" Saturday by the State Gaming Control Board from Sanford Adler and his associates.

The board announced it would recommend to the State Tax Commission that any further applications for gaming licenses anywhere in the state submitted by the group should be rejected. The surrender letter was signed by Aaron Levinson, a Los Angeles attorney.

CAPITAL CAPERS

By WALTER T. RIDDER AND ROBERT E. LEE
(of the Independent-Press-Telegram Washington Bureau)

WASHINGTON—Heard in the wake of the Democrat's big Chicago rally: the party will find positions of responsibility for all the "Big Three" possible Presidential nominees. Stevenson will be picked to head the ticket, Kefauver will be asked to run for Vice Presidency, and Harriman will be allowed to put up the money.

One of these operatives was out at that Chicago Democratic meeting and failed utterly in bringing back any items for this particular space. When asked by his boss "Why?" he explained it thusly: "The Democrats are holding down the humor this year. Adlai is pretty sensitive about criticisms of his light banter in 1952, so the party line is to accentuate the serious, leaving the jokes to those who get paid to make them."

With Adlai out as a quipster and the Republicans not having had one since Abraham Lincoln, it looks like a pretty grim year ahead.

Jerry Kluttz of the Washington Post and Times-Herald contributes the following item culled from the mind of a bureaucrat's offspring. A teacher was explaining to a class why the early American pioneers settled in Ohio. The land was cheap and fertile, good rivers, etc. Noticing a day-dreaming pupil, she asked him why the early settlers went to Ohio. He thought a moment and replied: "If they were like my father, they wanted to travel because they got mileage allowance."

The long and short of the National Press Club's presidential election are Al Goldsmith (height 4' 11") and Frank Holeman (6' 5"). Holeman was a shoo-in until the diminutive Goldsmith entered the lists, keying his campaign to the slogan: "Goldsmith—the little man's candidate." Goldsmith electioneered via tiny cigars, the smallest nomonating petition yet seen by man, and the purchase of jigger-sized drinks for would-be constituents.

2 'Copters Brave Gale, Pluck 21 From Ship Smashed on Rocks

HALIFAX, N.S. (UP) — Two helicopter pilots braved buffeting 50-mile-an-hour winds Saturday to pluck 21 men from a grounded, blizzard-lashed freighter being dashed to pieces against huge rocks.

The seamen were rescued after clinging for 28 nightmarish hours to the vessel as it was lashed by heavy seas to within 25 feet of the rugged cliffs on the northeastern tip of Cape Breton.

A helicopter ran a mercy shuttle service between the helpless Liberian freighter Kismet II and an emergency rescue station on the snow-banked shore.

While rescuers stood tensely atop the cliff, the helicopter dropped to the deck of the Kismet four times, and returned each time with a load of wary, storm-soaked men.

The helicopter reached the 2,800-ton vessel as it inched closer and closer to the rocks at the bottom of the cliff. It landed on a small area cleared on the deck and 45 minutes later every crew member had been removed.

"It was a close thing," said Lt. Lloyd Turner, one of those who waited in suspense atop the cliffs. "If the cliffs hadn't sheltered the helicopter from the gale-force winds, it would never have been able to land on the Kismet. A rescue from the land would have been almost tremendous."

* * * *

LT. CMDR. JOHN BEAMAN of Montreal and Lt. Comdr. Roger Fink of Edmonton, Alta., each made two rescue flights to the ship.

"We messaged the ship to clear the stern of all super-structure," Beaman said, "but it was a close fit. We could only just land. It was a tricky business."

Capt. Anast Maniatis of Athens, Greece, told how he and his men were rescued by the Royal Canadian Navy. He said that for a time all aboard feared they would be dashed to death against the rocks.

Our troubles started early Friday when we moved close to the Cape Breton shore because we were in danger from a violent storm," Maniatis said. "But our steering gear became damaged and while we were repairing it our ship was dashed on the rocks by a 50-mile-an-hour wind. There was also heavy fog and later blinding snow.

"We shut down our engines as the engine room became flooded. That left us without heat in sub-freezing weather."

The captain said his entire crew was "magificent," acting "in the finest traditions of the sea."

Soon after the ship got in trouble, he said, distress rockets were shot into the air and police rushed to keep a virgil atop the cliffs.

"It was a great reassurance to see them there throughout our ordeal," Maniatis said.

* * * *

HE SAID THE SHIP'S lifeboats were prepared for launching but huge waves swamped them. The whole crew cheered when the helicopter arrived to save them.

"I can't say too much in praise of the Royal Canadian Navy helicopter pilots who rescued us today," he said. "They landed on the stern of our vessel. The area we cleared was so small that the wheels of the helicopter could only just put down."

As is customary, the captain was the last person to leave the ship.

"It doesn't look as though she will be salvaged," he said. "She was breaking to pieces when we left her."

Fur Pet Valued at $600 Stolen

DOWNEY—A male nutria—an animal resembling a badger and valued at $600—was stolen Friday from the home of Robert Dunn Stewart, 46, of 3546 Gallatin School House Rd., sheriff's deputies reported Saturday night.

The 25-pound animal, a native of Argentina, has tusks, a long tail like a rat, webbed rear feet, and is a vegetarian.

The thief left behind a female nutria, considered more valuable.

Hero Who Talked Hundreds Into Surrendering Dies

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Funeral services will be held Sunday for Lawrence Malmed, a 40-year-old World War II hero who was credited with talking hundreds of Germans into surrender.

Malmed, who entered the army as a private in May, 1941, and rose to captain, died Thursday from a heart condition at nearby Delaware County Hospital. He had been ill for about a month.

Malmed's persuasive powers made the Philadelphian a legend. Commissioned a second lieutenant at Fort Benning, he went to Europe with the 35th Infantry Division.

One of his feats occurred in the Orleans sector in France, where he went behind the German lines and talked with a German colonel for 23 hours. When Malmed returned to the American side, he was followed by 150 enemy soldiers.

In October, 1944, he was wounded and captured by the Germans, but again crossed back to the American lines after talking five more Germans into surrendering. On the way he picked up seven additional prisoners.

In another exploit Malmed was credited with walking to the town of Fremerstroff near the Saar with 24 men after tanks had failed to take the strategic point and capturing the community house by house.

He later was promoted to captain and his company was credited with capturing 2,000 Germans.

Malmed, who was discharged in 1945, was awarded the Silver Star with an Oak Leaf Cluster and a Purple Heart with two clusters.

Before the war he was a silk salesman. More recently he was employed as an executive in Gimbels' adjustment department.

Man from Munich Trains Old Foes for War

German Teaches Air Reservists at Local Base

It's a small world.

Miller, 22, is a navigation instructor in the 8499th Air Reserve Squadron. His pupils, Reservists on weekend training, are officers and navigators.

His superior officer, Capt. Lorin F. Douthett, 40, officer in charge of navigation training, bombed Munich four times with the 8th Air Force.

* * * *

LT. MILLER'S PUPILS who bombed Munich include Lt. Col. William Myyra of Whittier, Maj. Darrel D. Wilson of Santa Ana, Capt. Davis McCash of Van Nuys, David E. Lewis of Covina, Capt. Glenn Lashbrook of Santa Ana, Capt. Albert C. Leonard of Los Angeles, Capt. John Hess of Tujunga, Capt. Robert Holden of Corona del Mar, Capt. Paul Stebbins of Placentia, Capt. Richard Tyhurst of Palos Verdes Estates, 1st Lt. Robert Kent of Chula Vista and 1st. Lt. Leo J. Habel of Santa Monica.

How does teacher feel toward former enemy pupils, how do the former enemy pupils feel toward him?

"I have no feeling at all about it," says Miller, who speaks with just a trace of his German accent. "I was small then, just a kid."

"It was war—" say his pupils.

* * * *

LT. MILLER'S FATHER, who served in the German army, was taken prisoner by American troops in 1945 and held for a year at Dijon, France.

"Munich was bombed innumerable times—it seemed to me it was practically all the time," says the young instructor. His home was destroyed by a bomb, but he, his mother, brother and sister were safe in an air raid shelter.

Food was scarce. "We had potatoes for breakfast," he says, "kraut for the other meals."

He attended Luitpold College in Munich, came to the United States in 1953 and shortly afterward went into the service.

He is 5 feet 11 inches, with twinkling eyes and reddish hair . . . He would like it known that he is single. He likes American girls.

'YOU BOMBED MY TOWN'

Teenagers to Get a Chance to Tell Traffic Safety Ideas

Teenagers will have a chance to tell how to reduce highway accidents at a meeting Dec. 7 in Municipal Auditorium.

The occasion is the day-long Traffic Safety Conference, to be held under sponsorship of the Long Beach and Los Angeles Safety Councils, the Long Beach public schools and District 16 of the California Association of Student Councils.

Tom Burke, western regional representative of the National Safety Council, will give the keynote address in the morning.

* * * *

DURING THE AFTERNOON, teenagers will conduct the meeting and make suggestions to improve traffic safety.

Their discussions will center around relations with the police, pros and cons of drag strips, organization of car clubs, functioning of a student court, pedestrian safety and value of behind-the-wheel training for high school students.

Boost to Aged Costs $1.3 Million a Month

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The $5 monthly increase in aid to California's needy aged and blind voted by the 1955 Legislature boosted public assistance costs by more than $1,300,000 in October.

George Wyman, state social welfare director, reported Saturday the total October expenditures for state welfare programs came to $28,500,300, up almost $1,350,000 over September.

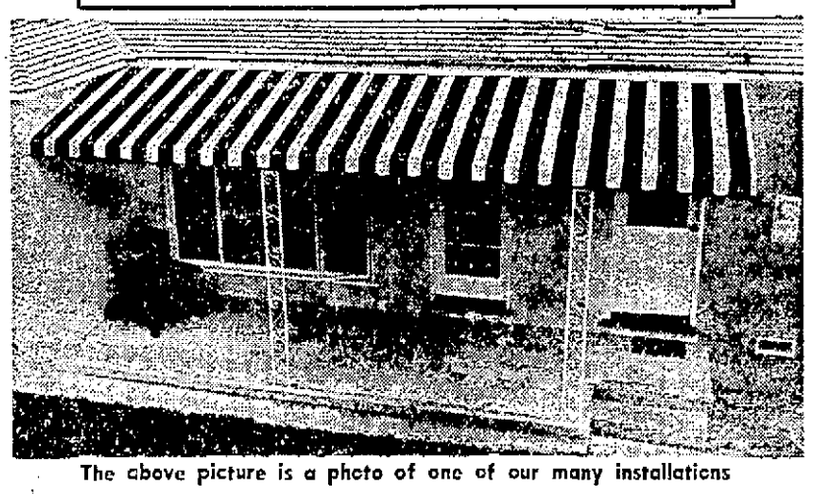

'Investment in Youth' to Be Shown Tuesday

"Investment' in Youth," a 20-minute film about Lakewood's pre-school playgrounds, will be shown Tuesday at 8 p. m. in the Mayfair pool foyer.

Kenneth Pitsenberger, recreation director of the sponsoring Lakewood Park, Recreation and Parkway District, said that plans for three Lakewood parks and sketches of the Mayfair Community Building also will be on display. The program is open to the public.

The film was produced by Lakewood Water & Power Co.

Santa Bringing Electronic Toys Bossed by Battery in Your Hand

By VERA WILLIAMS

This is an electronic age—reflected in the things that Santa Claus will bring this Christmas.

Christmas toys have come a long way since Father cut them out with a jackknife from apple boxes. They now operate by remote control.

They got forward, back, up or down, controlled by a battery held in the hand. And the batteries are ordinary flashlight batteries, easily replaced.

Little girl may have a blender, just like her mother's, that whirrs realistically and mixes milk and chocolate, fruit juices, or whatever. Or she may have a mixer with which she can beat eggs or whip up cake batters or make frosting or fudge.

Little Boy may have a helicopter that goes straight up and soars, or a replica of a car that is exactly like you drive whether you drive a Ford, a Cadillac, a Mercedes-Benz or something in between.

Or me may have a cable car that climbs a mountain and slides down again, more or less like those in the Alps, or a train, freight or passenger, old-fashioned or streamliner.

And here is a heartening piece of news: Little Boys, 10 to 1, prefer the old-fashioned engine that snorts and chugs and belches smoke to the efficient streamliner engine that doesn't. Both kinds whistle.

* * * *

THERE IS SOMETHING new under the sun: an audio-engineer. You connect it with the transformer of a train, drop one wire to the track, and whether you believe it or not, the train will obey spoken commands: "Stop!" . . . "Start!" . . . "Forward!" . . . "Back up!" . . . "Proceed!"

A crane picks up great jawfuls of dirt or sand or marbles or pennies, operating exactly as a crane does on any excavation job.

There are electric switchboards that buzz and light up, and permit two persons to talk to each other at considerable range; there are toy inter-com systems that permit persons in different rooms or even around the corner to speak to each other.

* * * *

THERE IS A "SLEEPER" on the market—a build-your-own electric set. From it, 27 different items may be built. These include telegraph key, flash light, ray gun.

No Christmas is Christmas for a little girl without a new doll. And guess what the "hottest" doll on the Christmas market is? A plastic, unbreakable 20-inch undressed doll, shaped like a teen-ager, that comes with bra, corselette, high-heeled pumps and Nylon stockings. For her can be bought, separately or in batches, practically all the clothes that a teen-ager can wear: slacks, sweaters, blouses, circular skirts, can-can petticoats, evening dresses. Little girls usually choose a doll with hair the color of their own—so that means two-fifths of the dolls are blondes, two-fifths brunettes and one-fifth redheads.

Transitor radios aren't brand new but they come close to being, and Santa Claus will deliver a lot of them this Christmas. Many are pocket-size.

There are radio-record players that work with a battery and if the battery is rested occasionally, will play practically indefinitely.

There are clock radios that automatically change stations, so that one may go to sleep to music and awaken to news. And clock radios that begin with music or news and presently sound an alarm that means "Get up RIGHT NOW!"

Pocket fire extinguishers, road flares and road lights promise to be popular Christmas items for adults. The fire extinguishers can be carried in the pocket, or kept in glove compartment of a car or in a desk. The road flare runs up a red flag by day or a reflector by night, and the road light may be fastened onto the side of a car if one has to change a tire. All are small, compact, in top grade cowhide cases.

'LET 'ER RIP!'

10 Dead, Missing in Collision of French Trawlers

CALAIS, France (UP) — Ten French fishermen were reported dead or missing Saturday after a trawler cut another trawler in half in dense English Channel fog off Cape Blanc-Nez.

The trawler Colbert was sliced in two in the collision with the vessel Fisher Bank and sank within minutes.

The second trawler reported it picked up 12 survivors and the body of one crew member of the Colbert. Nine other men were missing.

Turbulent Education Meet Opens Monday

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's first White House conference on education will open here Monday. Four days of turbulent debate face the 2,000 delegates from all over the country.

President Eisenhower will welcome the delegates Monday night by sound film made at Gettysburg. Vice President Nixon will deliver the main address the same night.

Of all the hot issues before the delegates, none is likely to cause more trouble than the question: Should there be federal aid for education?

But there are other controversial questions up for study and in advance of the session, there was no way of knowing which way the delegates would go on any of the six principal issues:

1. "What should our schools accomplish?"
2. "In what ways can we organize our school systems more efficiently and economically?"
3. "What are our school building needs?"
4. "How can we get enough good teachers—and keep them?"
5. "How can we finance our schools — build and operate them?"
6. How can we obtain a continuing public interest in education?"

You couldn't even get any unanimity of opinion about the motives behind the conference.

As early as last August, Selma M. Borchardt, Washington representative of the American Federation of Teachers, said:

"It looks very much as though the conference is going to be stacked. As things stand now, it is obvious that classroom teachers and labor leaders will not be plentiful. Interests that . . . are more interested in business than labor are doing the stacking."

But Rep. Gwinn (R-NY) said: "Recommendations which will be made at the White House conference apparently come from groups closely allied with the public school systems."

Attending the conference will be delegates from all 48 states and five territories. Both public and nonpublic schools will be represented.

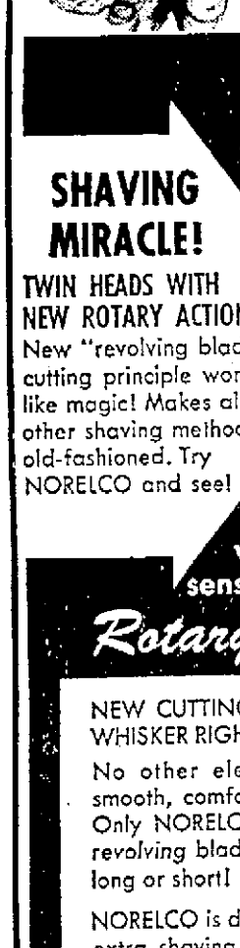

There is also a religious overtone to the federal aid question. Should, for instance, federal aid be given to parochial schools? This issue has confounded previous efforts for congressional legislation that would set up a federal aid program.

Heiress' Mother Held

Faure Loses Support of French Reds

PARIS (UP)—France's Communist Party withdrew its powerful support of Premier Edgar Faure Saturday and pushed his tottering government toward seemingly certain collapse.

Without the backing of the 94 Red deputies which carried him through his last two confidence votes, Faure appeared to have little chance of surviving the new National Assembly confidence vote Tuesday.

French newspapers of all political shades openly predicted a government crisis and turned their attention to speculation on a new premier.

Jacques Duclos, Communist party floorleader, announced his party's about face to newsmen in the Assembly lobby.

"I think we shall vote against Faure," he remarked casually. "But the group will fix its stand Tuesday," he added hastily.

While Duclos' announcement was not an official Communist policy statement, it nevertheless was regarded as a clear-cut party stand. Political observers believed he would not have made the remark if there was the slightest chance of his being overruled by the group.

Faure called the confidence vote Friday when the Assembly's steering committee rejected his request for a new electoral debate Tuesday.

Irish Bomb Raid Fails

ROSLEA, Northern Ireland (UP)—A dozen terrorists raided a Royal Ulster constabulary barracks 200 yards from the Irish Republican border before dawn Saturday in a vain attempt to seize arms and ammunition.

Eight pajama-clad police, aroused from sleep by a bomb explosion that blew a hole in one wall of the barracks, fought them off in a 30-minute gun battle. The shooting startled the 250 residents of this village.

The raiders fled south into the Irish Republic in two cars, carrying with them one of their number dead and another wounded. They had failed to seize any police arms and left behind some of their own weapons—a machine gun, an American-type automatic pistol and a tear-gas pistol.

Police, in pointing out the barracks arsenal as the target, said the raiders were members of the Irish Republican Army (IRA), an extremist group outlawed in both Northern Ireland, which is a part of Britain, and in the Irish Republic.

Sweeper Injures Man

Arthur L. Jordan, 32, city sanitation division employe, suffered partial amputation of two finger tips Saturday when his right hand caught in the chain-drive of a street sweeper machine at the city yard, Temple Ave. and Willow St. Jordan of 1733 W. 19th St., was treated at Community Hospital.

Sen. Wiley Warns Against 'Atomic Pearl Harbor'

WASHINGTON (UP)—The newest test-explosion of a Russian H-bomb prompted a demand on Capitol Hill Saturday that the United States look to its defenses lest there be an "atomic Pearl Harbor."

Sen. Wiley (Wis.), ranking Republican on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said congressional committees should go into session early in January with military leaders to determine "whether we have taken all necessary steps for our own continental protection."

At Gettysburg, President Eisenhower had no comment on the Russian announcement.

Meantime there was doubt as to the exact size of the bomb Moscow announced had been exploded. The Soviet statement called it "the most powerful of all explosions carried out until now." The context made it unclear whether this meant that it was the most powerful exploded in the Soviet Union, or the most potent set off anywhere. The fact that a preceding sentence spoke of the achievements of Soviet scientists made it possible that the comparison referred merely to bombs set off in Soviet territory.

Soviet Party Boss Nikita Khrushchev — who jumped the gun on his government's formal announcement — compared the blast to one million tons of TNT. If he was right, this Russian bomb was 15 to 17 times smaller than one detonated by the United States more than a year and a half ago.

Sen. Wiley said the Soviet announcement probably was made as part of Russia's efforts to "frighten" free world nations into abandoning their collective security arrangements against Communist aggression.

Wiley said "the appropriate committees of the Congress should sit down in executive session with members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff as soon as Congress returns in order to determine whether, as of now, we have taken all necessary steps for our own continental protection, so that there will not be an 'atomic Pearl Harbor.'"

He also called for an intensified effort by the United Nations to determine "just how many of these experimental explosions" the earth's atmosphere can stand without harmful effects on present and future generations.

The United States, he said, also should intensify efforts to obtain East-West agreement on President Eisenhower's plan for mutual aerial inspection as a step towards arms control. Meantime, he said, it should be determined whether this country's atomic weapons program is adequate.

The latest Soviet test-explosion was first disclosed Wednesday night by the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission, which said it was "the largest thus far in the USSR."

Murder Probed in Fiery Death of Grandmom, 3 Tots

CHICAGO (UP)—A blood-stained butcher knife was found imbedded in one of four charred bodies carried Saturday from a smouldering fire. Police called the deaths murder.

Killed were Mrs. Ella Camp, 66, and her three grandchildren, Mary Frances Brock, 10, Cynthia Brock, 8, and Harry Brock, 7 months. The six-inch blade of the knife was buried to the handle in Mrs. Camp's neck.

Mrs. Camp was caring for the youngsters in their small frame home in East Chicago Heights, a Chicago suburb, while their mother was at work. Fire flashed through the four-room dwelling Saturday morning.

"It is proving out to be murder and a fire afterward," said William Hadnott, police sergeant in the village of 1,548 some 25 miles south of Chicago's Loop. "It seems like the fire was purposely set."

Flames engulfed the house in a few minutes. They jumped 50 feet to a small unoccupied house in the rear and burned that to the ground, too.

The village volunteer fire department, led by Mrs. Camp's son, Sam Camp, found the fire raging beyond control. The children were Chief Camp's nephew and nieces. Lack of water in the section of poor homes hampered the firemen.

East Chicago Heights is a racially mixed community. Many of the village officials are Negroes. Sgt. Hadnott said the different races get along harmoniously in the village. The victims were all Negroes.

The children's mother, Mrs. Irene Brock, 29, is part-time waitress at a tavern. She was at the tavern when the fire broke out.

Fire Chief Camp, Mrs. Brock's brother, said he found no evidence of arson.

"The only thing I can think of is that somebody killed my mother in a robbery," he said. "They may have known she had a little money around the house. But it would have been only a couple of dollars."

The fire burned away all but two inches of the handle of the knife buried in the right side of Mrs. Camp's neck. The handle was so charred that the knife went unnoticed until the bodies were examined at the morgue in Chicago.

Dr. Jerry Kearns, coroner's physician, said there was blood on the handle stub.

He said the children's bodies showed no signs of violence.

Inflation by Auto Industry Charged

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) said Saturday that "General Motors and the other big automobile manufacturers" are reversing efforts of the Federal Reserve Board to curb inflation.

Major car makers are doing this by putting pressure on dealers to sell more and more cars, he said.

"This course of action will inevitably permit inflation unless it is stopped," he asserted.

Conqueror of Anapurna in Death Fall

CHAMONIX, France (UP)—A search party Saturday found the body of French mountaineer Louis Lachenal, who survived the famed conquest of the Himalayan height of Anapurna only to die on his home peak of Mount Blanc.

Lachenal plunged into a 120-foot crevice late Friday when he was blinded by snow whipped by a near-blizzard wind while skiing down the slopes of Mt. Blanc with a friend.

His companion, Guide Jean Pierre Payot, made a four-hour climb to the ski lift station on the Aiguille du Midi to summon help. Mountain guides conducted a night long search before they found Lachenal's body Saturday morning.

Lachenal had been killed by the fall into the crevice. His body was brought down on the ski lift and laid out in a room of the National Ski School here.

DO NOT DRIVE WITH PARKING LIGHTS ONLY

SACRAMENTO (UP) — Are you still using parking lights as driving lights?

Then you're violating the law.

The California Highway Patrol said today many motorists are ignoring the state law which prohibits the use of parking lights for driving.

Patrol Commissioner B. R. Caldwell said:

"We urge every driver to develop the habit of lighting the headlights, not the parking lights, when first turning on car lights at dusk or whenever impaired visibility requires lights."

100,000 Parade in Kashmir, Call for War on India

KARACHI, Pakistan (UP)—An estimated 100,000 persons surged through the streets here Saturday, shouting demands for a "holy war" to drive Indian occupation troops out of disputed Kashmir.

The demonstrators marched to a conference hall where Pakistani political leaders were discussing a "national plan" to force India out of Kashmir, and then continued to the tomb of Mohammed Ali Jinnah, founder of Pakistan.

A few persons were slightly injured by stones thrown by street urchins accompanying the demonstrators, but there was no large-scale violence.

Press Red China Again About 2,719 Missing in Korea

PANMUNJOM (UP) — Allied leaders renewed demands on the Communists Saturday for information about 450 Americans and 2,269 men of other nationalities who officially are "missing" in Korea.

The missing Americans include Air Force Capt. James A. Van Fleet Jr., only son of the general who commanded Allied ground forces in Korea during the war.

The Communists, who ignored a similar demand 15 months ago, agreed "with reservations" Saturday to accept a list of the missing men for study. There appeared to be little hope that they would provide information on the missing men.

Hard of Hearing

According to the Basic Diagnostic office, it is now possible for many who are hard of hearing to regain all or part of their hearing loss.

So many have told us, "We have tried everything and we are so discouraged that we hesitate to try anything else."

Once they try this new and proven method they are overjoyed. Just like magic, in many cases folks are able to hear without their hearing aid after the very first treatment.

The treatment is simple. It consists of three steps and takes about 45 minutes. If the hearing loss is due to a nerve condition a special treatment is given, if the loss is due to catarrh a different treatment is given and if it is a bone condition, the tympanic-oscillations treatment is given.

"I have been wearing a hearing aid for a period of three years, after receiving only three treatments I was able to discard my hearing aid. I highly recommend Tympanic-Oscillations to anyone now wearing a mechanical device."

Mrs. A. C.

(Letter in our files)

To all readers of the Independent, Press - Telegram the Basic Diagnostic Office will give the first treatment for only $3.00. The address is 927 E. Broadway in Long Beach. Phone HE 6-4603. In Huntington Park at 2836 E. Florence.

Beating by Sex Fiend Kills Illinois Girl, 8

CANTON, Ill. (UP)—An 8-year-old Canton girl, her clothes ripped from her body, was found fatally beaten Saturday in an isolated spot near her home. Police said she had been raped.

The tiny victim, Janice May, died in Graham Hospital two hours after her two older brothers and their dog found her unconscious among a number of upended mine cars alongside the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad in this north central Illinois town 150 miles southwest of Chicago.

Chief of Police Kenneth Lindzey said Janice apparently had been seized while on her way to join her brothers at a near-by playground. He said her assailant had dragged the child into a small open space among the mine cars where he was hidden from view.

Lindzey said Janice had been given a terrific beating including a skull fracture, and then raped. The spot where the girl was found is about eight blocks from downtown Canton.

Lindzey said the victim died without regaining consciousness.

Police began a search for a young man reported seen loitering near the May home a short time before the girl was found.

Janice was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean May. May is a salesman for the Canton Coca-Cola Bottling Co. The mother is a nurse at Graham Hospital.

Mortgage Racket Charged by Solon

SACRAMENTO (UP)—The operations of some mortgage loan brokers were described Saturday as a "multi-million-dollar racket" by Assemblyman Jesse M. Unruh (D-Los Angeles).

"Many cases have been studied by our investigators which show fantastic profits for the mortgage loan broker," Unruh, chairman of an Assembly subcommittee on lending agencies, said. "There is every reason to believe this is a multi-million-dollar racket."

Unruh announced the subcommittee will hold public hearings Dec. 13-15 in Los Angeles.

Salk Case Typical of Public's Impatience

NEW YORK (UP)—One of the nation's leading medical foundations charged Saturday that the Salk polio vaccine controversy was a "tragic demonstration of confusion and misunderstanding which should never have happened and should never be allowed to happen again."

John M. Russell, executive director and vice president of the John and Mary R. Markle Foundation, began his annual report to all organizations involved in medical research to make certain that the public gets all the facts and understands the limitations of any scientific program.

He also criticized what he called "over-enthusiasm" on the part of some of the newer fund-raising organizations.

* * * *

THE MARKLE FOUNDATION, established by the Markles in 1927 has assets of about $19,000,000. During the last year, it has given $660,000 to medical schools for teaching and research.

In his report, Russell did not mention the Salk vaccine controversy specifically, but an accompanying statement said that was what he was writing about.

Russell said that "the most publicized event in medical research in the last 12 months" did not directly involve the Markle Foundation but "its implications are of interest to all agencies providing funds for scientific purposes."

He said the layman tends to become impatient with medical scientists who take a long time to solve disease problems. This impatience often is a result of being misinformed or only partly informed, he said.

* * * *

"UNLESS THE PUBLIC is better informed, unless there is more general understanding of the problems involved, scientific research is sure to suffer," Russell wrote. "Recently we have seen how science, scientists and the public together can suffer because of lack of patience and understanding.

"It has been a tragic demonstration of confusion and misunderstanding which should never have happened and should never be allowed to happen again."

Below-Zero Wave, Snow Hit Montana

By The Associated Press

Arctic winds blew snow across Montana and North Dakota and rain pelted the Pacific Northwest, but most of the rest of the nation enjoyed fair weather Saturday.

Cooler air pushed southward into North Florida, dropping temperatures to the 60s. The southern half of that state basked in 80-degree warmth.

Temperatures dropped sharply in North Dakota and Montana—a 45-degree plunge at Cut Bank and Great Falls, Mont., where the thermometers showed 7 and 3 degrees below zero Saturday. Four inches of new snow fell at Great Falls before noon.

The rain in Washington, Oregon and northern California was heavy in some spots—.83 of an inch at Crescent City, Calif., and .70 at Astoria, Ore., in six hours. Temperatures ranged from the 30s to the low 50s.

Light snow fell in the northern Appalachian mountains of the east.

But in most of the country the weather was fair and the temperatures were about normal for the late fall season.

under a tree

under a tree

that's the place

we long to be

Dear Southern California:

Some people long to lie under a spreading palm tree relaxing to the sound of the sea. Others pine to retreat among the redwoods and hear the rustle of the wind through the branches. But we just want to be under your Christmas tree on December 25th. "We" are the family of gifts from Southern California's most gifted stores.

"We" are of many types and colors, myriad sizes and shapes, and we range all the way from a thoughtful initialed handkerchief to a magnificent monogram med mink. As varied as we are, each of us has a single purpose—to make somebody happy on Christmas day. We've been chosen with loving care to express your love and care and we're proud indeed of the box we'll be given in. It's a box you, too, can be proud of, because it's been a symbol of gracious giving for fifty-one years. There's hardly a man, woman or child who doesn't believe in its gold and white promise of something fine and lovely just inside. Whether it's a trinket or a treasure you choose from our midst, we'll be equally delighted. Because by selecting us you start us on the happiest voyage a gift can have—to a special spot beneath the most wonderful tree in the world—the tree of love—a Christmas tree.

Sincerely,

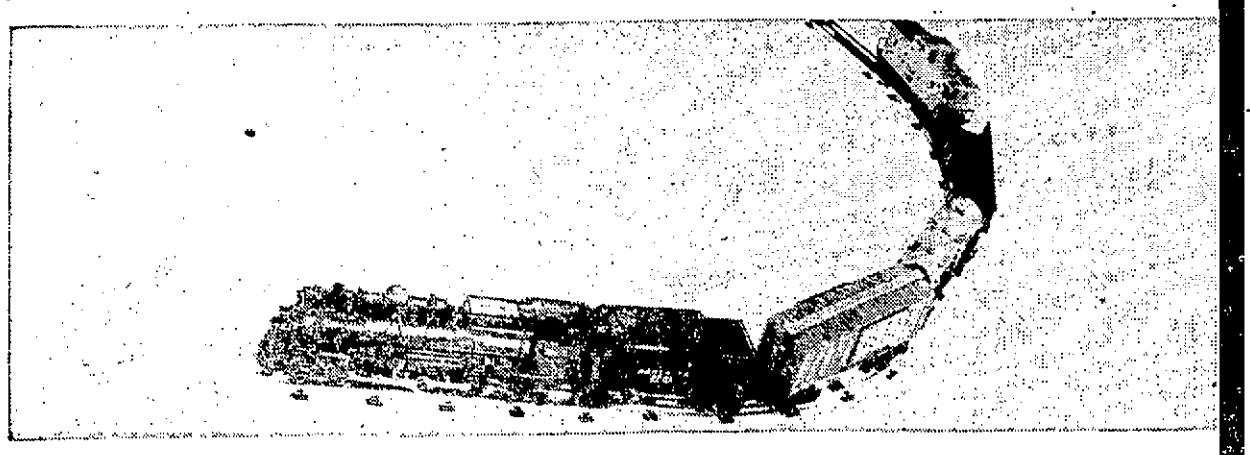

Buffums' Family of Gifts

33 Cops Quell Dance Hall Mob After 2½-Hour Fight

STOCKTON (UP)—Thirty-three police officers battled more than 200 persons for 2½ hours early Saturday in a dance-hall riot touched off when a teenage boy slapped a woman.

The uprising finally was quelled when a fireman sent streams of icy water into the mob. Fourteen persons, including 12 officers, were hospitalized for minor injuries and 14 rioters were arrested on charges of disturbing the peace.

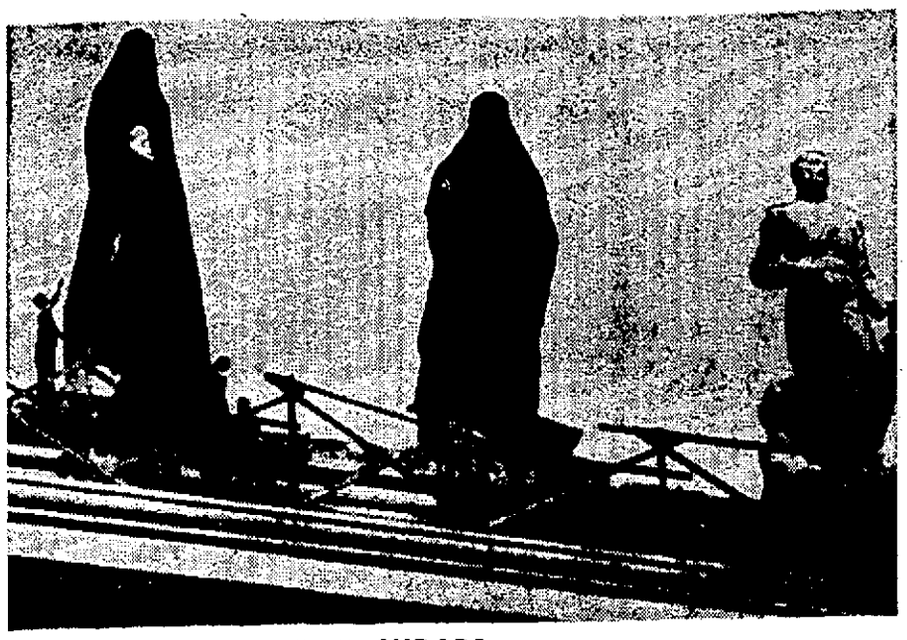

Police said the riot began when special officers at the public dance hall tried to arrest a 16-year-old boy who had slapped the woman. The boy's companions went to his aid and the battle was on.

The rioters used beer and soft drink bottles, rocks, sticks, fists and even chunks of concrete which were dropped from second floor windows, narrowly missing police officers.

The special officers called on police, sheriff's deputies and California Highway patrolmen who used nightsticks before the melee finally broke up at about 2:45 a.m.

Luscious Lucius Toasts New Private Car

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Lucius Beebe, newspaper publisher and bon vivant, smiled over a morning glass of champagne at his new railroad Pullman car which looks like an antique shop on wheels.

"The car was decorated in Venetian renaissance baroque," Beebe, 52, said Saturday. He pointed the champagne glass at a chandelier hanging in the gold-tinted dining room.

"That little bit of crystal cost us $900," he told visiting reporters. "We had it imported from Italy."

Beebe and Charles Glegg, 39, an editor of Beebe's Territorial Enterprise and Virginia City News in Nevada, had the car completely renovated. It stands on a siding near the Union Station.

The car cost about $125,000, Beebe said, and includes a chartreuse kitchen, orange dining room, three master bedrooms, observation room, loud speaker system, three telephones and a Turkish steam bath.

Decorator Ray Richter said Beebe and Glegg wanted the Pullman "opulent and vulgar."

"I believe I've succeeded," Richter told newsmen.

New TB Test Helps Stop Patients' Premature Release

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Veterans Administration announced Saturday it has developed a simple test designed to guard against premature release of tuberculosis patients. It said the test may save the government thousands of dollars.

The test, developed by Dr. George Calden of the VA's Madison, Wis., hospital, helps determine "what's in a patient's head" as well as "what's in a patient's chest," the agency said.

VA and other hospitals have been having trouble with TB patients who leave hospitals against medical advice before their treatment is complete. The VA estimated each such "irregular discharge" costs $10,000 in wasted treatments.

The test is a series of incomplete sentences which the patient fills out in any way he wishes. The VA said the answers permit doctors to determine the patient's attitude toward bed rest, hospitalization, ward life, family problems and other matters.

A doctor, when he knows a patient's attitude, can guard against any tendency to leave the hospital too soon, the VA said.

In the three years during which the test has been used at the Madison hospital the percentage of premature discharges has dropped from 50 to 33 per cent.

Explaining how the test operates, the VA said a patient may have strong doubts about his ability to work and support his family after hospitalization. Such fear, it added, may seriously interfere with his medical treatment or lead him to quit the hospital in despair.

When the tests bring out such fears, psychologists on the hospital staff can reassure the TB patient of his ability to work after he is discharged and even help him prepare himself for useful employment.

DR. CHAN SAYS: NO LONGER MUST YOU SUFFER FROM

High Blood Pressure — Eczema Diabetes — Bad Heart — Asthma

928 American Ave.
Long Beach, Calif.

For the past two generations, the offices of Dr. Chan, D.C., located at 928 American Avenue, have had outstanding results in treating chronic ailments such as ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, ARTHRITIS, NEURITIS, RHEUMATISM, HIGH OR LOW BLOOD PRESSURE, HEART TROUBLE, STOMACH OR LIVER DISORDERS, KIDNEY OR BLADDER AILMENTS OR A GENERAL RUNDOWN CONDITION. Men and women from all walks of life come to take these treatments because other methods of healing have failed to help them. Many have spent a fortune in seeking cure before they try this simple, effective natural method of Dr Chan. Our patients tell us that they wish they had known of our wonderful treatments sooner so that their suffering could have been avoided.

READ THESE AMAZING TESTIMONIALS!

Dear Mr. Chan: "The day I came to your office with my mother and brother I was about to give up hope of getting rid of my asthma attacks. I spent hundreds of dollars for shots and pills but yet found no results. After reading your advertisement, I tried you for my last resort and was thrilled to find that responded wonderfully. After the first treatment I was able to breathe normally and could sleep better for the first time in months. Now am feeling fine and hoping others will benefit from my experience with Dr. Chan's Natural Method." Signed, Mrs. Vivian Murray.

To Whom It May Concern: "Five years ago I was badly stricken with neuritis in my shoulders and extremities. My hands and knees were so badly swollen that I could hardly use them. I wasn't able to raise my arms above the shoulders. I was told by several doctors that they have done all they could for me and that no longer will be able to work again. Finally a friend referred me to Dr. Chan's Herbal Therapy. After the first week felt much improved and the fourth week found me walking much easier with the pains in my shoulders disappearing; my hands returned to normal and I had use of them once more. I cannot too highly recommend Dr. Chan to anyone who is ill." Signed, E. H. Irving.

Vatican Changes Schedules of Holy Week Ceremonies

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican has made changes in Holy Week observances to encourage fuller attendance at ceremonies commemorating the passion, death and resurrection of Christ.

A decree of the Vatican's Congregation of Rites announcing the changes, approved by Pope Pius XII, was published Saturday in the Vatican's L'Osservatore Romano.

In some instances, the decree returns the hour of observances to that in which they were held long ago.

On Holy Thursday, the Mass for consecration of holy oils will be held after 3 p.m.

But the solemn mass celebrating Christ's institution of the Holy Eucharist must be held, according to the new decree, between 5 and 8 p.m.

• • • •

THE PURPOSE of this change is to enable more people—especially workers—to attend.

On Good Friday, the day Christ died on the cross, the solemn liturgy of the day will be held at about 3 p.m.—the hour when He died. For particular reasons, the ceremony may be held at a later hour, but not later than 6 p.m.

On Holy Saturday, solemn mass must be observed about midnight so that it will extend from Holy Saturday into Easter Sunday. For particular reasons, the mass on the vigil of Easter may also be celebrated at a different hour, but this must never begin before sunset.

The decree also extends the Lenten season until midnight of Holy Saturday. Until now it ended at noon of Holy Saturday.

The Congregation of Rites, one of 12 that administer Roman Catholic church affairs, explained that Holy Week rites originally were celebrated at the hour of the event they commemorated.

75% of UAW Ranks Loyal Politically, Survey Shows

DETROIT (AP) — Three Wayne University professors said Saturday a survey they conducted with funds supplied by the CIO United Auto Workers indicates members of the UAW "are predominantly loyal to the union's political endeavors."

About 75 per cent of the UAW's more than one million members voted for Democratic nominee Adlai Stevenson for President in 1952 despite President Eisenhower's "great personal appeal," the survey reported said.

In Michigan, it added, Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams got 85 per cent of the auto workers' vote. The survey covered 828 union members. It reported:

1. Most auto workers trust the voting recommendations of labor organizations much more than those from other sources."

2. Television "was not only given as the most important source of information," but "also the most trusted." And UAW members "generally ranked newspapers as least trusted, even though they were cited as the source of most of the campaign information."

Dogs Guard Master Who Died in Field

ARLINGTON, Va. (UP)—Three pointers, guarding the body of their master who had died while hunting, kept police at bay for more than an hour Saturday.

Finally, a friend of the dead hunter, Wilford W. Warren, 56, managed to call the dogs away. Warren who had gone hunting Friday apparently died of a heart attack and had lain in a field through the night before being spotted by police early Saturday.

Solons Open Credit Policy Quiz Monday

WASHINGTON (UP)—The administration's credit policies face a searching examination this week.

Sen. John J. Sparkman (D-Ala.) will convene his housing subcommittee of the Senate banking and currency committee Monday to determine whether moves to slow down the expansion of credit in general and the tightening of terms on VA and FHA insured and guaranteed mortgages in particular may pull some building down to inadequate levels.

The broader issues of administration credit policy, including the federal reserve system, also will be examined.

"In order to get at housing. You have to take up the general credit picture," an informed source said.

Here are subjects the subcommittee will emphasized:

1—Has the administration a definite annual home building goal?

2—Is the administration "consciously" moving to reduce the volume of home building as a possible "deflationary" weapon?

3—Is there any intention of trying to get the interest rates on VA and FHA-backed mortgages increased?

• • • •

ADMINISTRATOR Albert M. Cole has said his housing and home finance agency hopes to see home building stay at about 1,200,000 units next year. If it does not, he said, a lowering of credit terms might come about. Sparkman feels the growing population and rising personal income require 1,500,000 units a year to satisfy needs.

In 1952, a similar hearing was told that, in order to build more homes with VA and FHA mortgages, it would be necessary to raise interest rates. This was done. VA and FHA now charge 4½ per cent. FHA charges an additional one-half of one percent for mortgage insurance.

Prosperity Budget Urged for Farmers

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Conference on Economic Development said Saturday the Department of Agriculture should be required to devise a "national prosperity budget" for the nation's 5,000,000 farms.

The private, non-partisan research organization reported on a long study of the paradox in which farm income has dropped steadily since 1951 while the rest of the nation enjoys booming prosperity. It blamed neither Republicans nor Democrats.

"Farmers are depressed primarily because of their chronic relative weakness in the market place," it said. "Their organization does not permit them to stimulate consumption or rationalize production and prices and incomes as others do. Trends in food distribution and prices have cut their share of the foodbasket dollar from 51 cents in 1947 to 40 cents now because farm policy is not countering these disabilities."

$3,000 Demanded for Boy's Return

EAST MEADOW, N. Y. (UP)—The father of 3-year-old Stephen Damman, who has been missing one month, says a ransom note received last Wednesday demanded $3,000 for the youngster's return.

Air Force Sgt. Jerry Damman added that the note is very likely a hoax. Police, who have declined to discuss the note other than to say it was received, are reported also to believe it is the work of a cruel prankster.

The boy disappeared Oct. 27 while waiting outside a supermarket for his mother. No trace of the child has been found in two intensive, foot-by-foot searches of the community.

Giant Labor Merger Set December 1

WASHINGTON (UP) — The AFL-CIO merger next month will bring approximately 16,000,000 union members under one tent in the biggest labor organization in the world. But most of their problems of living together have yet to be solved.

AFL and CIO leaders expect delegates from the AFL's 108 unions and the CIO's 30 to approve the merger of their parent organizations when they meet at New York, Dec. 1.

The main objectives of the merger are to end interunion rivalry, promote the merger of individual unions in the same fields of work, push organizing of the 49,000,000 unorganized workers in this country and give labor a stronger political influence.

But the AFL and CIO unity leaders were unable to agree on any one man to head the staffs of the political arm or legislative department of the new organization. They compromised on codirectors for both, one each from the AFL and CIO.

N. Y. Awaits Tree

NEW YORK (UP)—New Yorkers today were awaiting their Christmas tree—a 65-foot one that was being transported from a New Jersey woods aboard a logging truck. The huge tree will be erected and decorated in Rockefeller Center Monday.

KNUCKLE DOWN!

'Immie' Season Returns

It is "immie" season again and all around the town small boys (and here and there a girl) are knuckling down to practice for the all-city playground marble championship tournament, sponsored by the Recreation Department and city schools.

Tournament finals are slated for Dec. 27 at Lincoln Park. Meanwhile there will be local playground contests to select qualifiers for the important district playoffs scheduled for Dec. 17 at Veterans, Silverado, Atherton, MacArthur, Houghton and Pan American Parks.

Tournament play will be in three classes, by age, Jack Minar, special events director for the Recreation Department, predicts 5,000 youngsters will enter the tournament.

LIVING OFF THE . . .

Fat of the Land

By JIM MARTENHOFF

MIAMI (AP)—Larry Mack is a man who lives off the fat of the land—by removing it from the figures of the inhabitants thereof.

The female inhabitants, anyway. Last year three million overweight women walked through the doors of his 91 slenderizing salons across the length and—no pun intended—breadth of the nation. When they walked out again, with figures rebuilt from stem to stern, they left behind them:

1. 4½-million pounds.
2. 36 million inches in altered figure proportions and
3. 12 million dollars—which adds up to a very nice figure indeed.

The busy Mack, who has two salons in Europe and now is planning further expansion there and in South America, built up this sturdy empire in nine years on an original investment of $1,250—just about the price of a good second-hand car.

* * * *

BEING SOMEWHAT CURIOUS to learn how I could trade in my second-hand car and become a millionaire in nine years, I went downtown to his Miami branch to inquire into his secret.

It caused something of a bustle, if you'll pardon the expression. Men never visit these salons. Elaine Clark Hill, the very, very chic and well-groomed manager, greeted me somewhat dubiously but with great courtesy.

I offered myself for a sample treatment and figure analysis, bustle and all.

"Let's try you on the table first," she said.

The table, developed by researchers at Ohio State University, mechanically reproduces the combined efforts of a Swedish masseur, a talented chiropractor, and a losing football coach trying to make a quarterback out of an end.

It succeeds. Motor driven pads in the table vibrate alternately against your hips, shoulders and spine and the entire table shakes you gently like a blob of jelly spilled on the tray of a nervous waitress.

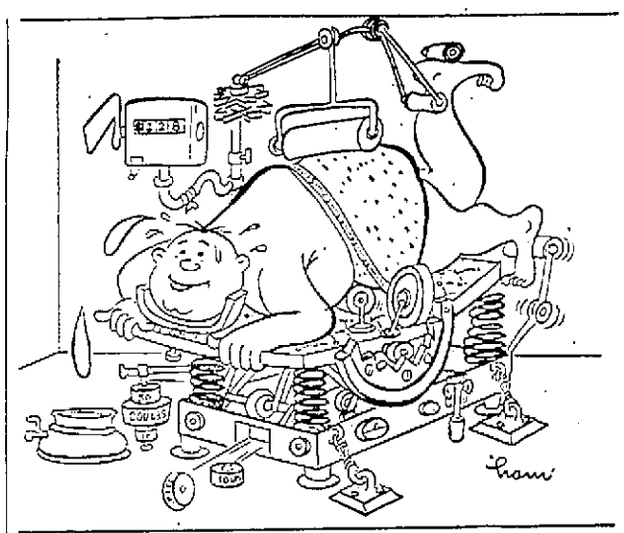

The resulting mechanical massage is very relaxing—so much so that after a 15-minute demonstration I very nearly fell asleep. The standard treatment is 45 minutes.

It also qualifies as exercise, according to Miss Hill. Just one of the positions on the table provides the energy expenditure equivalent to a 10-mile horseback ride. This is very convenient for would-be reducers who don't own horses.

That's the table's purpose—it exercises sacroiliac and pelvic regions to encourage good muscle tone in those neglected areas, leading to good posture. It is Mack's theory that poor posture is the bugaboo largely responsible for figure problems.

* * * *

MY FIGURE ANALYSIS was next. Miss Hill treacherously

"Like a Blob of Jelly Spilled on the Tray . . ."

pointed to my profile in a two-way mirror—before I'd had any warning and a chance to tuck in my tummy.

It was horrifying.

"You suffer from pelvic dip and swayback," she said somewhat unnecessarily. I certainly suffered.

Miss Hill next produced a tape measure. "We'll start," she said firmly, "with the bustline."

It was the first time I knew I had one.

She measured me here and there, and reduced the figures for convenience to the familiar beauty queen formula. I came out an unexciting 45-38-44.

"Some of you," Miss Hill stated critically, "has got to go."

She explained that I had to lose 16 inches, a polite phraseology worked out to avoid calling potential customers fat.

With three treatments weekly on the table to improve my posture, and help redistribute figure proportions; a special high-protein diet and vitamin wafers to curb my appetite, I could be rebuilt into a fine figure of a man in only five months.

It all made me feel very unhappy. "Is that 16-inch loss figure average?" I asked, looking for a kind word about the build I'd become so fond of.

Miss Hill definitely beat around the bush. "We have no average figure," she said evasively.

I tried another tack. "Well, what's the top figure you'd attempt to take off?"

She pondered. "Thirty inches is the most we'd attempt to reduce," she said in a tone of voice that indicated this would be elephantine indeed.

Still evasive. Well, I can face reality. I know when I'm a mess.

Just call me Fatty.

High School Pool Schedules Changed

New schedules for public use of the Jordan, Wilson and Poly High School swimming pools go into effect this week, according to Frances Dixon, city supervisors of aquatics.

Henceforth, Miss Dixon said, the Jordan and Wilson pools will remain closed on Friday evenings. Poly will be closed Monday evenings.

Evening use will continue on a two-period basis, 7-8:15 and 8:15-10.

The schedules:

JORDAN: Mondays, recreational swimming for everyone, both periods. Thursdays, both periods, Family Night. Tuesdays and Wednesdays, first period, recreational swimming. Tuesdays, second period, adult women; Wednesdays, second period, adult men and women.

POLY: Tuesdays and Wednesdays, first period, recreational swimming; Tuesdays, second period, adult women; Wednesdays, second period, adult men and women; Thursdays, both periods, recreational swimming; Fridays, both periods, Family Night.

WILSON: Mondays, first period, recreational swimming; Mondays, second period, adult women; Tuesdays, both periods, Family Night; Wednesdays, first period, recreational swimming; Wednesdays, second period, adult men and women; Thursdays, both periods, recreational swimming.

The Saturday daytime use schedules for all three pools will remain the same, with two hours of instruction for boy beginners from 9-11 o'clock; boys and girls intermediate instruction from 11-Noon; two hours of instruction for girl beginners, from 1-3 o'clock and recreational swimming from 3-5 o'clock.

County GOP Will Honor Sen. Knowland This Week

By THE LOOKOUT

Los Angeles County Republicans will pay their respects during the coming week to a Californian who has brought honor and prestige to the party—Sen. W. F. Knowland.

The husky Oaklander, minority leader in the Senate and regarded by many over the country as highly qualified to head the GOP presidential ticket some day, will address the Los Angeles County Republican Assembly Thursday evening in a meeting at the Alexandria Hotel ballroom, Los Angeles. A Long Beach delegation will be on hand.

Robert Fenton Craig, president of the assembly, noted Saturday that the organization has been "honoring our own" at its meetings this year.

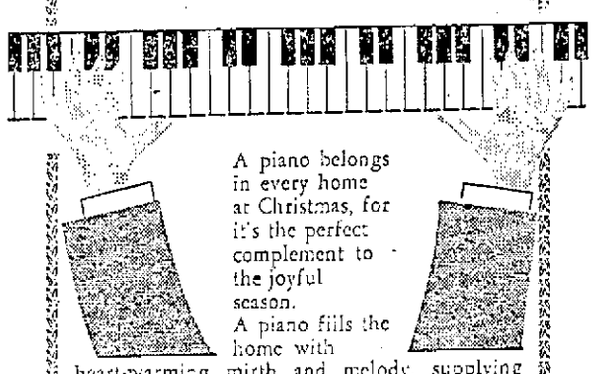

"We are extremely proud to honor our own Sen. Bill Knowland," he said. "He is one of the very early members of the Republican Assembly, and it will be like old-home night when he visits us."

JUVENILE DELINQUENCY—Political and social concepts are interwoven closely with the economic needs of the people, City Juvenile Department Superintendent Joseph M. Kennick told the members of the Lakewood Democratic Women's Club last week.

He said that responsible parents and leaders must pioneer for children's inherent rights to decent playgrounds, housing and safety on the streets.

MORSE MAKES SPECTACULAR GRAB IN FIRST IRISH TD DRIVE

'Powder Puff' Incident Stirs SC to Victory

By DAVE LEWIS
Sports Editor

LOS ANGELES COLISEUM — The full potential of a Southern California grid machine that had been ineffectively groping around for a victory for more than a month exploded with stunning force here Saturday as the Trojans crushed the nation's fifth-ranked team by racking up an almost unbelievable 42-20 triumph over Notre Dame before 94,892 spectators who witnessed one of the 1955 season's greatest collegiate games.

The huge throng — including even the staunchest Trojan supporters—was shocked by the complete mastery SC enjoyed over the Irish from start to finish after entering the contest seven-point underdogs.

The result will go down as one of the year's biggest surprises—not because of Troy's win, but because of the lopsided score.

The season-salvaging triumph capped a disappointing campaign during which the Trojans were felled unexpectedly by Washington, Minnesota and Stanford before finally being plowed under by mighty UCLA last week.

WHAT TOUCHED off this football atom bomb?

It was an incident which occurred about five hours before kickoff time as the Trojans were having brunch at the Town House, their pre-game headquarters.

A messenger arrived with a large box addressed to Captain George Galli.

When Galli opened the box, out fell small individually-wrapped packages for the other members of the SC team . . . all containing powder and powder puffs.

The Trojans, who admittedly had looked miserable in practice all week, entered the game with a new "outlook" . . . all of them mad enough to chew the Fighting Irish to bits, which is exactly what happened. The "powder-puff" incident admittedly gave them the "desire" to win which had been lacking all year.

THE NAMES of Arnett . . . Roberts . . . Ferrante . . . Goux . . . Belotti . . . Clarke . . . and many others qualified for Troy's football hall of fame with the smashing victory—worst handed Notre Dame since 1951 when Michigan State slaughtered the Irish, 35-0.

While it is difficult to single out any Trojan in what probably was the finest team effort ever turned in by a Jess Hill-coached club, Jon Arnett must be given credit for igniting the offensive spark that sent the men of Troy winging to their tremendous achievement.

Arnett, who suffered an injured left ankle late in the first half, sat out the third quarter, but returned to action in the concluding stanza to lead the 21-point attack that resulted in the fifth highest number of points ever to be scored against Notre Dame in its colorful 67-year football history.

★ ★ ★ ★

ARNETT SCORED three of Troy's six touchdowns and kicked five of the six conversions for 23 points and a season's total of 108 which earns him second place among the nation's leading scorers behind Jim Swink of TCU. Jon netted 58 yards in 20 carries and caught two passes for 72 yards in addition to playing superb defensive ball.

It was a fitting climax to a banner season for the Trojan junior, who fully justified his All-American rating.

The Trojans were never headed after taking the opening kickoff and smashing their way to the first of their six TD's.

Notre Dame bounced right back to tie it up at 7-7 . . . but the Trojans quickly regained command as they pulled out to a 21-7 advantage in the second quarter before giving up another Irish score which made it 21-13 at halftime.

WITH THEIR offensive spark—Arnett—on the sidelines in the third period, the Trojans spent most of the time doggedly fighting off a series of threatening Notre Dame moves.

Finally, the Irish closed in to a 21-20 score after three minutes of the fourth quarter . . . and it looked as if they might be mounting another of their famed comebacks.

But with Arnett back in action, the Trojans once again became the devastating striking force of the first half as they slammed across three more touchdowns in the final 10½ minutes of play to put the finishing touches on the brilliant win.

The Trojans, who have been exceptionally ineffective at times this season and who entered the game sporting a three-game losing streak, were not to be

Georgia Tech, Texas Christian and Mississippi — each racking up impressive victories—were rewarded with bowl bids Saturday as the college football season came to a close in a dramatic fashion with several upsets, highlighted by Army's stunning reversal of Navy and Southern California's equally surprising 42-20 victory over Notre Dame.

Georgia Tech trampled Georgia, 21-3, to nail down the vacant Sugar Bowl spot. TCU defeated Southern Methodist 20-13 and will meet Mississippi, which beat Mississippi State 26-0, in the Cotton Bowl.

Navy crumbled under Army's ground attack in the second half and the Cadets went on to triumph, 14-6, knocking the Midshipmen from contention for a Cotton Bowl position.

Thus the post-season bowl picture shapes up this way:

Rose Bowl—Michigan State (8-1) vs. UCLA (9-1).

Sugar Bowl — Georgia Tech (8-1-1) vs. Pittsburgh (7-3).

Orange Bowl — Oklahoma (10-0) vs. Maryland (10-0).

Cotton Bowl—TCU (9-1) vs. Mississippi (9-1).

Gator Bowl—Teams still to be named.

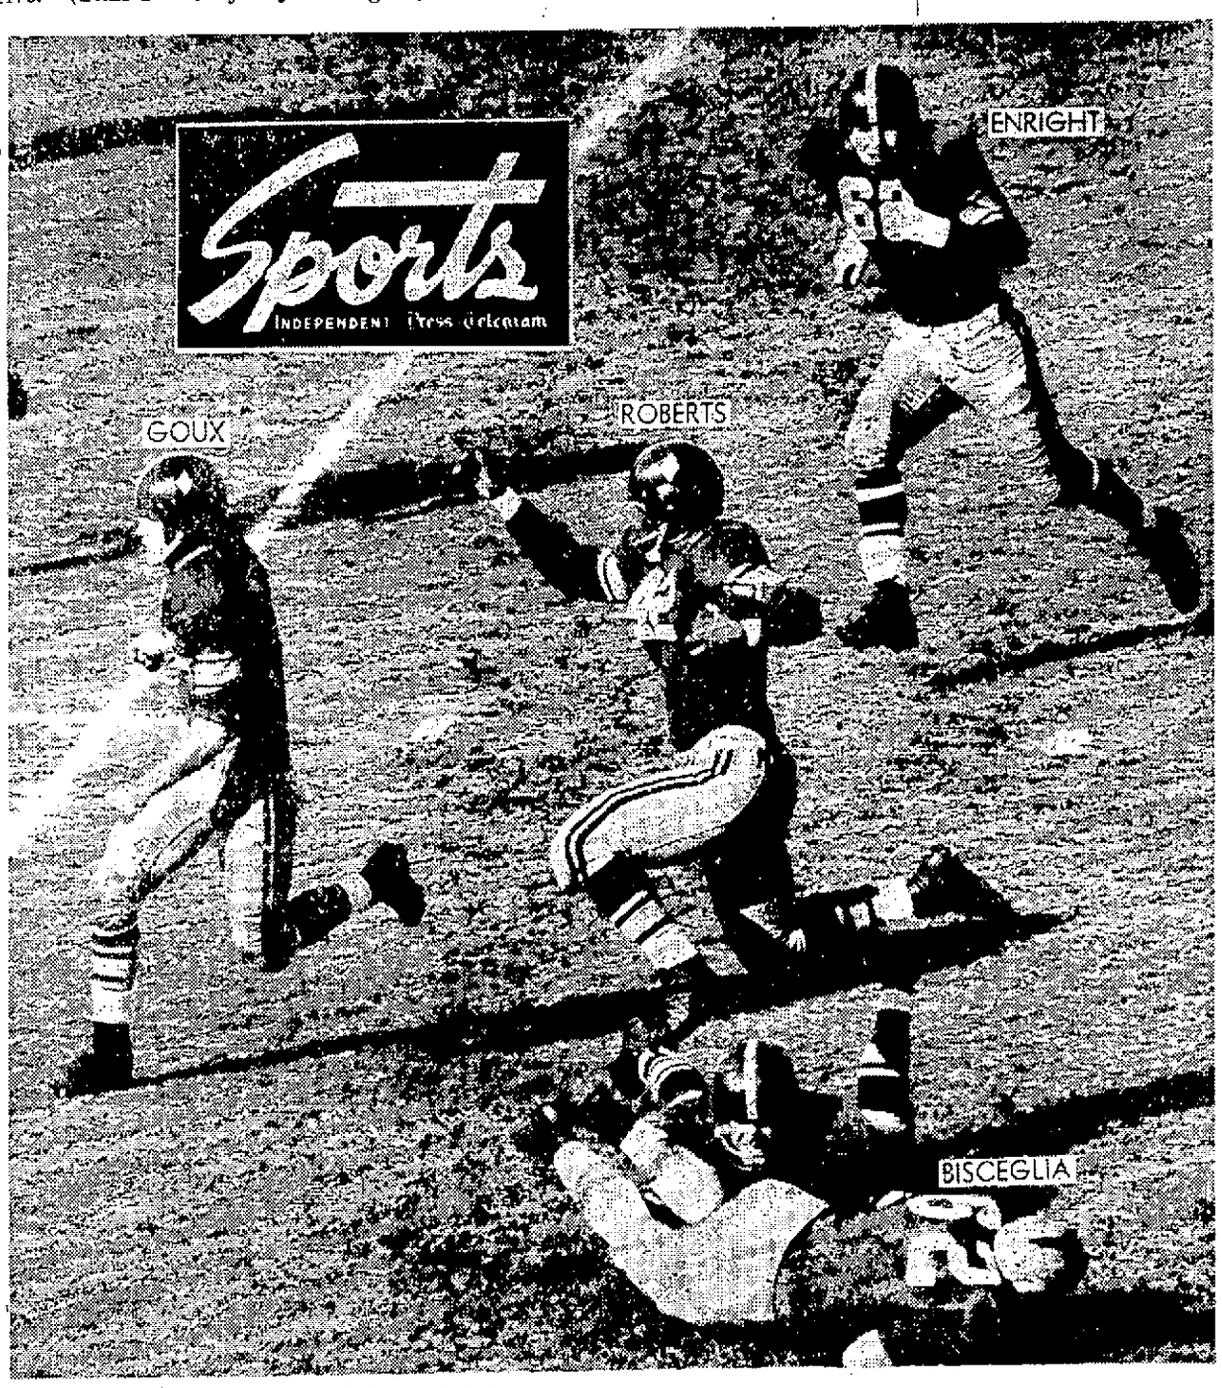

Sun Bowl—Texas Tech (7-2-1) vs. opponent to be named.

Felix McKnight, president of the Cotton Bowl Athletic Association, announced Mississippi's selection Saturday night. TCU already had the host team spot all but in the bag. It will be the Horned Frogs' eighth appearance in a post-season bowl.

Georgia Tech looms a slight favorite in the Sugar Bowl. Pitt and Tech met two common rivals. Tech beat Duke, 27-0 and Miami 14-6, while Pitt smashed Duke, 26-7, but lost to Miami, 21-7.

'JINX GAME' ON TV

Favor Eagles by T Over Rams Today

PHILADELPHIA — The Philadelphia Eagles, who have taken more of their share of lumps this season, will be banking on an old jinx today when they meet the Los Angeles Rams at Connie Mack Stadium.

The Rams have never beaten the Eagles in league play—they have played one tie — and that record apparently has swayed the odds makers into installing Philadelphia a one-point favorite.

As has been the case for the last three weeks, today's game is another do-or-die affair for the Rams, who trail the Western Division leading Chicago Bears by a half game. Since the Bears are favored by 14 over the Cardinals the Rams must win to stay in title contention.

The game will be broadcast over KHJ and televised over KABC (7) beginning at 11 a.m.

For SC: 'Something to Remember'

By DICK ZEHMS

LOS ANGELES COLISEUM—The conscience of man was the architect of a monumental 42-20 Trojan conquest of Notre Dame's Fighting Irish here Saturday afternoon before 94,892 stunned eye witnesses.

The formula Jess Hill pursued in preparing his much maligned belabored Trojans for this invasion of the "Team Called Desire" from South Bend, Ind., is as simple as the pattern of life. In fact, it is the pattern.

Said the emotion-torn, smiling Trojan coach in the SC dressing room 15 minutes after this thrilling intersectional game was history:

"GIVE ME a minute, gentlemen, to collect my thoughts." Forthwith, he launched into his interpretation of the events of the day:

"All week long I told my boys to play to give yourselves something to remember . . . to give me something to remember.

"This is perhaps the finest all-around team victory I have ever seen."

Vindication? Memories? No matter what, these Men of Troy were mighty this Saturday. They will have something remarkable with which to live for the rest of their lives.

Southern California's 42 points is the highest total registered against the Irish since Army waxed the green shirts in 1945, 48-0. In fact, the carnage of 42 SC points so surprisingly unravelled here in this 27th meeting between these intense rivals stands as the fifth highest total posted against the Irish in all history.

WISCONSIN shellacked the Irish in 1900, 54-0, and again in 1904, 58-0. Army's 1944 59-0 and 1945 48-0 scores are the other supreme moments in the lives of Irish foes.

How great a victory this badgered SC team scored can be found in the words of Edward (Moose) Krause, Irish athletic director who handed Hill a big paw of congratulations in the SC dressing room after the game and said:

"Congratulations, coach. This was one of the finest offensive games I've seen. You earned it. We'll see you next year."

Shortly thereafter, Rev. Theodore M. Hasburgh, CSC, president of Notre Dame, offered his congratulations to Hill and SC.

"Our kids certainly gave all they had," began youthful Terry Brennan, Irish coach, in his remarks to the press. "They made a few mistakes, but Southern California played very well. They are as good a football team as we have played all year. I wouldn't rate them better than Michigan State, but they certainly were EQUAL off today's performance."

★ ★ ★ ★

BRENNAN CALLED the Jim Contratto-to-John Arnett touchdown pass covering 63 yards the turning point of the game. He likewise called "C. R. Roberts big, fast and good, but that Arnett . . . he's much more consistent."

This was SC's best team game of the season without question, Hill admitted:

"I had a feeling all week long this would happen. I'm as proud of our kids as I can be. We got a share of the breaks today, but we played hard enough to earn them.

"Our game strategy was to run

OLE MISS WINS SOUTHEAST CROWN

Rebels Earn Cotton Bowl Bid By Spilling Miss. State, 26-0

STARKVILLE, Miss. (U.P.)—Eagle Day's quarterbacking artistry gave Mississippi a 26-0 victory over Mississippi State Saturday, the Southeastern Conference title and an invitation to play Texas Christian in the Cotton Bowl.

Mississippi's selection was announced in Dallas shortly after the Rebels posted their ninth victory against one loss and Texas Christian beat Southern Methodist to take the Southwest Conference crown.

Halfback Earl Blair's fancy running was what made Day's plays click. Day engineered two quick scoring thrusts in the first half with Blair going over on both occasions to spark the Rebels before a sell-out crowd of 35,000.

• • • •

SUB-QUARTERBACK John Wallace Blalack lobbed a 30-yard touchdown pass to end Don Williams in the third period and Rebel tackle Bill Velberton, one of the host of Mississippi defenders who stopped every State effort, nailed Maroon Bill Stanton in the end zone for a safety.

Fullback Paige Cothren kicked a field goal to add to the Rebel total in addition to his smashing running.

Day passed 24 yards to halfback Bill Kinard to launch a Rebel drive late in the first period after the Maroons managed to stop one 70 yard march just 10 yards shy of a touchdown. Kinard added two yards and then the flashy Blair swept around right end nine yards for the first touchdown.

• • • •

A SHADE MORE than five minutes later Kinard lunged on a bobbled punt by Jim Harness and the Rebels took over on the State 21. Cothren tore off 15 yards and two plays later Blair went across standing up from the three.

Mississippi knocked on the goal line again late in the final period, but Cothren was stopped on the two on fourth down.

Bears '11' Feasts on Rice, 15-7

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Baylor turned back two first-period Rice threats and then exploded with an 84-yard touchdown pass and a 54-yard punt return for a 15-7 victory over the Owls Saturday in the "cellar bowl" game of the Southwest Conference.

The victory before 33,000 gave Baylor a fifth place tie with SMU in final conference standings with a 2-4 record. The defeat left Rice in the cellar for the first time since 1939, without a victory in six conference games.

Quarterback Bobby Jones turned the tide for Baylor on a beautiful 84-yard touchdown pass to halfback Delbert Shofner after only 21 seconds in the second quarter. Minutes later, halfback Weldon Holley returned an Owl punt 54 yards to the Rice five. Halfback Bobby Peters plunged over from the two to make it 12-0 two plays later.

Left-footed Bobby Gill made it 15-0 midway in the third with a 19-yard field goal.

Quarterback Frank Ryan rallied Rice for a 67-yard scoring drive in the final quarter, with Ryan plunging over from the one.

Aggies Hand Colorado 10-0 Defeat

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP)—Colorado A&M, king of the Skyline Conference, climaxed its finest season in six years Saturday with a 10-0 victory over Colorado of the Big Seven.

The Aggies, scoring their first victory over Colorado at Fort Collins since 1933, struck for a second quarter touchdown on a 44-yard drive and insured the victory in the third quarter with a 22-yard field goal by Gary Glick, all-conference halfback, who was carried off the field at game's end in a rousing demonstration.

Colorado, riddled by line injuries, never generated an offensive threat. The Buffaloes never got past the Aggie 34.

Colorado A&M drove 44 yards in nine plays in the first period, with Glick carrying it over from the one. On the final play of the first half he missed a 17-yard field goal, but in the third quarter he booted one from the 18-yard line.

Announce East JRB Entry Today

Jones, Miss., the only unbeaten and untied JC football team outside of California, is expected to receive the bid today when the Junior Rose Bowl committee announces the eastern representative.

Others in the running are Del Mar, Tex.; Cameron Aggies of Lawton, Okla.; and Wenatchie, Wash. Jones has rolled to nine straight wins this season, including a 34-28 victory over Hinds, Miss., last year's Jr. Rose Bowl winner.

Western representative—likely to be either Compton or Taft—will be announced Monday.

ARIZONA WINS

Rush Title to Luppino

TEMPE, Ariz. (U.P.)—An underdog University of Arizona football team capitalized on savage line play to upset Arizona State College, 7-6, Saturday night and deprive the Sun Devils of the Border Conference championship.

Halfback Art Luppino, who became the first collegian to win the national rushing championship two consecutive years, ran 20 yards down the middle in the first period for the only Arizona touchdown and also converted.

Luppino carried the ball 28 times for 68 yards and ended the season with 1,313 yards, giving him an edge of about 30 yards over Jim Swink, of TCU.

Cherberg, Huskies Sign Truce

SEATTLE (AP)—University of Washington administrative officials stepped into the battle between Coach John Cherberg and his rebellious football team Saturday night and a sort of temporary truce appeared to be in the making.

H. P. Everest, vice president of the university and a long leader in its athletic affairs, and Cherberg conferred Saturday and agreed a "complete investigation going back over the whole year" is needed.

Everest said a full report of the investigation will be made to the university's board of regents Dec. 10.

"I frankly asked John whether he thought he could ride out the storm, or whether it had gotten beyond that point," Everest reported. "He was convinced that he could and must."

Everest said he had known for a long time that there was friction on the squad but had hoped Cherberg could handle it. This week, more than 30 Washington football players demanded Cherberg's resignation, protesting what they called "tyrannical" action and other practices by the coach.

The conference with Everest produced an agreement that Cherberg would discuss the matter fully with the players, individually and in groups, and with his coaching staff.

Saturday Bobby Cox, star Washington quarterback in 1954 who has transferred to Minnesota, said he made the switch "because it was so hard to get along with Cherberg."

He said he was in complete sympathy with the players' complaints.

Frogs Nab Southwest Title, 20-13

FORT WORTH, Tex. (U.P.)—Jim Swink riddled Southern Methodist for two touchdowns and had another erased by a penalty Saturday as Cotton Bowl-bound Texas Christian sacked up the Southwest Conference championship with a 20-13 victory.

The long-striding TCU halfback brought a crowd of 33,000 to its feet repeatedly in a torrid fourth quarter as he scampered 62 futile yards for a touchdown that didn't count because of a clipping penalty, capped a 77-yard drive with a three-yard scoring lunge and contributed 39 yards of the winning 74-yard drive as the clock ticked away. Ray Taylor scored the touchdown from the five.

In all, the 180-pound Swink pounded at the ponderous SMU line 23 times and picked up 131 yards, including a 30-yard scamper for TCU's first touchdown. But his 125 points and 1,283 yards for the season failed by three points and 20 yards to break the conference records.

• • • •

IT WAS ANNOUNCED shortly after TCU's win that TCU will play the University of Mississippi in the Cotton Bowl, January 2. It was no surprise that TCU was host team, since that was announced a week ago.

Until Swink ignited a laggard TCU team with his unsuccessful 62-yard run, it had begun to look as if an inspired Southern Methodist team was going to stage another of the day's big upsets as the Mustangs drove 76 yards for a second period touchdown scored by Don McIlhenny from one yard out and sent scooter Charlie Jackson scampering 47 yards for another in the third quarter.

• • • •

THE BIG, MUSCULAR Mustangs' forward wall outcharged the veteran TCU line, sprang McIlhenny, Jackson and Slaughter loose repeatedly and apparently had things going their way until Swink swung into high gear. McIlhenny ran for 84 yards and Jackson for 79 as SMU netted 215 yards rushing to 231 for TCU.

The fourth quarter was virtually all Swink as he accounted for 33 yards running and a 15-yard pass on a 77-yard touchdown drive that tied the score in addition to the 39 yards on the payoff drive a few minutes later.

HORNUNG SCORES FIRST TD FOR IRISH

denied one of the school's "finest hours" in football.

• • • •

OPERATING OUT of the "T" a good 85 percent of the time . . . the SC machine finally was able to generate a sustained offensive attack.

Meanwhile, the Irish were as deadly as they have been all season. When their usually punishing line stabs failed to split the Trojan defense, quarterback Paul Hornung took to the air for Notre Dame's most concerted aerial attack of the year and pitched one touchdown pass of 78 yards to Jim Morse; hit Morse again with a 60-yard strike to set the stage for Notre Dame's final score, and, in all completed 10 passes for 259 yards.

However, in the end his passes backfired to turn the game into a Trojan rout. Five of Hornung's aerials were intercepted—four in the final period with two of them setting up the final two SC touchdowns.

It was one of the greatest offense shows seen in the Coliseum in years. The two teams rocked and rolled from one end of the field to the other as the Irish netted 521 yards while the Trojans piled up 398.

Arnett returned the opening kickoff 30 yards to the 32 from which point the Trojans launched a 68-yard drive in 11 plays featured by Ellsworth Kissinger's screen pass to C. R. Roberts for 20 yards, a fourth-down pass for 17 yards to Don Hickman on the Irish 21 and finally Roberts' 13-yard sweep around left end to the one-yard line. Kissinger himself carried it over on the next play for the TD at 5:48. Arnett converted.

Notre Dame snapped back with a 67-yard counter attack after the kickoff that paid off in 13 plays when Hornung, rolling out to his right for a pass, decided to run instead and barreled between three Trojan tacklers on the seven and then carried three more SC defenders across the goal line on a ferocious nine-yard drive. He also booted the conversion to square the count.

• • • •

ARNETT ALMOST broke loose for a touchdown on the kickoff, but finally was nailed from behind on the 43 after a 32-yard return. Troy immediately rolled 57 yards to its second touchdown with Ron Brown starting things off with a 19-yard burst inside left end and Roberts capping the advance on the first play of the second quarter when he took a pitchout and hurtled 15 yards around left end. Arnett's kick was good to make it 14-7.

Disaster struck the Irish on the first play after the kickoff when Dick Fitzgerald fumbled and Ron Fletcher recovered for SC on the Notre Dame 21.

The Trojans moved to a fourth-and-six situation on the 17 when Bob Isaacson, SC's field goal specialist, trotted onto the field with his kicking tee to set the stage for one of the season's top trick plays.

• • • •

THE TROJANS promptly lined up in field goal formation with Kissinger, squatting on his haunches instead of on one knee at the 24.

As the Irish rushed in to try and stop the kick, Kissinger stood up and flipped a pass into the left flat to Arnett, who boomed his way eight yards to a first down on the nine.

After a yard loss on the next play, Arnett slipped inside right end for 10 yards and a touchdown at 3:17 of the period. He fumbled when hit on the goal line and Notre Dame recovered in the end zone, but despite a protest from Irish players, the officials ruled Arnett had crossed the goal line before fumbling.

Isaacson, who missed his chance to score via a field goal, toed the conversion through the uprights as the Trojans lengthened their lead to 21-7.

• • • •

NOTRE DAME took the kickoff and punched its way 61 yards with savage blows at the middle of Troy's line before being held for downs on the SC 25 when Dean Studer's fourth-and-two plunge was stopped four inches short of a first down.

Moments later, though, the Irish struck with blinding suddenness when Hornung and Jim Morse teamed up on a 78-yard aerial strike. Morse caught the ball on the Irish 45 and outran two Trojans to the goal line. Hornung's kick was wide, leaving the count at 21-13.

Notre Dame moved into a threatening position midway in the third period when Ernie Zampese fumbled Hornung's punt and Studer recovered on the SC 37.

However, big Leon Clarke, who played one of his greatest games, got the Trojans out of the hole three plays later by intercepting Hornung's pass on the 35.

• • • •

ON THE VERY NEXT play, Roberts rocketed 58 yards to the Notre Dame 15 . . . but a couple of plays later he fumbled on the six and end Gene Kapish recovered for the Irish at that point.

Two plays later the Irish struck again with Hornung streaking 59 yards to the SC 28-yard line.

The Irish then moved to a first down on the three-yard line as the third quarter ended . . . but on the first play of the concluding period fullback Don Schaefer fumbled on the goal line and Brown recovered for SC in the end zone for a touchback.

Moments later, though, Hornung again found Morse in the clear and hit him with a 60-yard pass on the SC six-yard line. Hornung finally plunged over from the one at 3:02. He also kicked the extra point to make it 21-20.

• • • •

HOPES OF AN IRISH comeback, though, were wiped out a minute and a half later when Jim Contratto passed 64 yards to Arnett for a touchdown after almost being spilled for a big loss. Arnett's kick was good.

Hornung then began hurling desperate passes after the kickoff and Bing Bordier picked one off on the SC 49. Two plays later Brown galloped 38 yards on a reverse over left tackle for a first down on the 13 from where Contratto passed to Don McFarland for the touchdown, at 7:34. Arnett again kicked the extra point.

Three plays after the ensuing kickoff, McFarland intercepted another Hornung pass on the Notre Dame 46 . . . but Contratto finally had to punt from the 46 after Troy drew a 15-yard penalty.

Hornung came right back though with another pass on the very next play . . . and center Vern Sampson intercepted on the 22. It took just five plays to push it over from there with Arnett barreling the final seven yards over right tackle at 12:52. His fifth conversion rang down the curtain on a most amazing afternoon of football!

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Veteran Bobby Woods, 137, of Spokane, chopped out an eighth round technical knockout Saturday night over Vince Bonomo, 140, of New Orleans, in a scheduled 10-rounder at Legion Stadium.

and throw—both. We felt we could do both. At the halftime we made some defensive adjustments at the flanks. No, we weren't giving them the middle. We employed a stunting defense which worked except in the plays Notre Dame sent a halfback diving into the middle to receive passes.

"THEY LEFT some holes for us on the weak side when we lined up in the single wing, which took care of a lot of our yardage when we needed it the most. Ellsworth Kissinger did a nice job of calling the signals. So did Jim Contratto.

"We called the fake field goal play from the bench.

"This Hornung is a great quarterback. He had us in hot water all day. Notre Dame was one of the toughest teams we've played all season, but I can't compare them with any of our other opponents."

The world loves a winner. Last Saturday, after Hill dropped a 17-7 nod to UCLA, nobody brought him an apple. He had to go get one from the supply room. Three times while he huddled with the press SC operatives ran up to him and offered him one. Feast or famine . . . victory or defeat.

JESS WAS carried off the field by his players, who were deliriously happy after having been denied triumph for more than a month. This hasn't happened to the Trojan coach since the first day of 1953 when his Trojans bested Wisconsin in the Rose Bowl, 7-0.

And it seems like only yesterday that he was hung in effigy, a new collegiate fad reserved for losing coaches and wrong sports writers.

Hornung visited the SC dressing room, hunted down Arnett, and quipped:

"I don't see how the h . . . you guys ever got beat by anybody!"

Once Over Lightly

by DAVE LEWIS

Most important item on the agenda of the NFL's annual meeting in January will be to decide whether or not to sponsor a minor professional football league.

George Cavanaugh, a member of the Detroit Lions' Board of Directors, is spearheading the plan to insure a continued high grade of pro football.

The Cavanaugh plan calls for the establishment of at least a six-team league supported by the 12 NFL clubs.

The teams will be placed in such suggested cities as Indianapolis, Columbus, Toledo, Louisville, Rochester and Buffalo.

The NFL clubs would send their surplus talent to the minor league teams to be groomed for future seasons.

All games would be played on Wednesday nights so they would not interfere with high school and college contests . . . and the NFL telecasts on Sundays.

The move would insure a plentiful supply of talent and would increase the overall caliber of NFL play.

It is pointed out that too many players, who have much greater potential than a good percentage of active NFL performers, are cut loose without adequate trials.

With a year or two of grooming they could take their place among the league's top performers. A minor league, this would save many outstanding players who are now lost to pro football.

Rookies who are trimmed from the various squads rarely get a second chance.

Coaches have complained bitterly in recent years about losing many potential stars because they don't have enough time to thoroughly test newcomers. Because the pressure is steadily mounting to produce a winner, coaches must go with established veterans rather than keeping a rookie even though the latter could develop into a top man in a couple of years.

Biggest argument against forming a minor league in recent years has been the tremendous cost to the NFL clubs. However, the idea is steadily gaining more and more support and the January meeting could well produce the minor league!

MEANWHILE, the NFL club chieftains will meet Monday to stage the first part of their annual draft of college players.

They'll choose a total of only 37 men — the bonus pick and three rounds. The remaining 27 rounds will be selected in January.

This exceptionally early draft session was called to combat the increasing raids on U. S. collegiate talent by Canadian pro clubs.

Betting, of course, is that the bonus pick will be either Ohio State's great running back, Hopalong Cassady, or quarterback Earl Morrall of Michigan State.

One of the NFL coaches was quoted recently as saying that the 1955 crop of college seniors is a rather ordinary class. However, most other pro observers disagree.

Some of the top choices who likely will be picked Monday are ends Menan Schriewer of Texas, Jim Carmichael of California, Leon Clarke of SC, John (Big Thunder) Lewis of Michigan State and Kentucky's Howie Schnellenberger; tackles Bruce Bosley of West Virginia, Frank D'Agostino of Auburn and Frank Machinsky of Ohio State; guards Calvin Jones of Iowa and Hardiman Cureton of UCLA, and centers Hugh Pitts of TCU and Maryland's Bob Pellegrini.

In addition to Morrall, such other quarterbacks as Eagle Day of Mississippi, Johnny Miller of Wisconsin and Jerry Reichow of Iowa are likely to be chosen.

OTHER HALFBACKS under consideration are Art Davis of Mississippi St., Charley Horton of Vanderbilt, Ed Vereb of Maryland, Bob Pascal of Duke and Whitey Rouviere of Miami.

Best liked fullbacks, of course, are Don Schaefer of Notre Dame and Joe Childress of Auburn.

Stars from three "small schools" are expected to be grabbed up . . . fullback Charley Sticka of Trinity, center John Jankans of Tempe Teachers, and quarterback Gary Glick of Colorado A&M.

What do the pros look for in a player?

As one pro football man explains . . . "the player coming into the professional ranks must have size, speed and talent, of course. But the first thing pro clubs consider is his durability. That has been the secret of Paul Brown's sustained success with the Cleveland Browns. He organized the club with players who could go the route and has had singular good fortune in replacing them.

"Some players bruise easier than others, you know. Some heal quicker than others and are not handicapped by relatively minor injuries which keep less hardy men on the bench. And when, in this rugged game, you are limited to a squad of 33 men, you can't afford to have too many hurt.

"While he may be platooned to a somewhat greater extent, the pro plays twice as much football as he did in school. With the exhibitions, a team getting in the playoff gets in 19 games. You need durable guys for that kind of a grind!"

Tech Earns Bowl Bid With 21-3 Victory

ATLANTA (U.P.)—Georgia Tech's fleet of fast backs scampered to a stunning 21-3 victory over arch-rival Georgia Saturday and the Engineers were invited immediately to play Pittsburgh in the Sugar Bowl, their fifth straight bowl asssignment.

It also will mark Tech's third trip to New Orleans in those five years. The Engineers tromped Mississippi, 24-7, in 1953 and took West Virginia, 42-19, in the Sugar classic in 1954.

Tech spotted underdog but aroused Georgia a three-point lead but then got in gear and romped to a decisive victory before 40,000 fans. It gave Tech a record of eight wins, one loss and a tie for the season.

BOBBY GARRARD'S 58-yard run set up Ken Cooper's 15-yard field goal for Georgia after the opening kickoff, but that was all for the Bulldogs.

Tech's rugged line, led by guard Franklin Brooks and center Jimmy Morris, stopped Georgia in its cleats the rest of the way and the speedy Engineer backs shredded the Georgia defense.

* * * *

TECH BULLED 53 yards for a touchdown to go ahead only minutes after the Bulldogs' field goal. A six-yard pass from quarterback Toppy Vann to Danny Bagwell provided the pay-off.

The Engineers expanded the lead to 14-3 in the second quarter after Brooks recovered Jim Harper's fumble on the Bulldogs' 16, and in the third period halfback George Volkert put on a one-man running show for the clincher, which he scored on a 25-yard end sweep.

Cadets' Rally Ruins Middies' Bowl Hopes

PHILADELPHIA (U.P.)—The oft-frustrated but ever fighting Army football team bounced off the floor before 102,000 frenzied fans at chilly Municipal Stadium Saturday to upset favored Navy, 14-6, in one of the most stirring renewals of the 56-year-old service classic.

Badly outplayed in the first period as they fell behind, 6-0, before the top brass and braid of the nation's fighting forces, the Cadets charged back on smashing touchdown runs by Pat Uebel and Pete Lash to ruin the Middies' dream of a bid to the Cotton Bowl.

Their chances weren't too bright after the first quarter when the 3,600 Middies in the stands rocked the big concrete arena with their roars of approval as spindle-shanked Georgie Welsh drove Navy to an opening touchdown.

* * * *

BUT THE gray-clad Cadet corps across the emerald green field, 2,400 strong, gained heart just before the half ended when Army drove to the one-yard line and the clock ran out. They knew their guys were still in it.

Army suffered another blow as the second half opened, when Uebel, the bull-like fullback from Bellevue, Ky., took the opening kickoff back from the end zone to the 45—and fumbled. But Army rose up and held off that Navy threat and a few minutes later crunched back for a tying touchdown by Uebel.

Ralph Chesnauskas, the burly end from Brockton, Mass., coolly kicked the point and Army was ahead to stay.

* * * *

IT LOOKED black early in the fourth quarter when Navy went 69 yards to the Army 23. But again Army took over and then slammed 78 yards for the touchdown which put the game out of Navy's reach as Lash swept end for the final 23 yards and again Chesnauskas kicked that vital extra point.

The Middies, spurred on by the presence of Admiral Arthur Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, opened the game as if they meant to run Army right out of the stadium. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, the Army Chief of Staff, must have been squirming as Navy took that opening kickoff and fled 76 yards for a score.

* * * *

WELSH, THE little man from whose passing arm is Navy's greatest weapon, completed four of five passes to put it on the one and then carried it over himself. In that first quarter the Army, battered and reeling, was able to make only one first down.

Navy was still rattling the Army line early in the second quarter as it pounded down to the Cadet 17. But there, Don Holleder recovered a fumble on the 13—and in 14 determined running plays the Cadets surged all the way to the Navy one. But there the half ended.

MAJOR DRAFT SET MONDAY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U.P.)—Legislation aimed at curbing the wild spending for bonus players and protecting its clubs from the inroads of radio and television will be voted on at the annual minor league convention opening here Monday.

Oddly enough, the majors will inaugurate the minors' convention with their annual player draft on Monday. Tuesday and the morning of Wednesday will be set aside for player selections by the high minors from clubs of lower classification. The executive sessions will begin Wednseday afternoon and last through Friday.

Sooners Breeze by A&M, 53-0

NORMAN, Okla. (U.P.) — Top-rated Oklahoma breezed by Oklahoma A&M Saturday, 53-0, in an Orange Bowl warmup that stretched the Big Seven champion's winning streak to 29 games.

Oklahoma's versatile backfield units—two of them—tried a variety of rushing and passing combinations in preparation for the Jan. 2 date with Maryland at Miami, Fla.

Nine Sooners shared in the scoring.

The smallest crowd of the season here—35,000—turned out to watch Oklahoma humble its traditional state rival for the 10th year in a row. It was the Aggies' eighth loss against two victories this season.

Though the first period was scoreless, the issue never was in doubt.

Oklahoma hammered out three touchdowns in the first seven minutes of the second period, added two in the third and three more scores in the final stanza.

The Sooners' lead in national rushing appeared secure with Saturday's 344-yard total added to it. A&M rushed for only 130 yards.

Quarterback Jimmy Harris and sophomore halfback Clendon Thomas each scored twice for Oklahoma. Halfbacks Robert Burris, Tommy McDonald and Robert Derrick and end Joe Mobra also went over for touchdowns.

Fullback Billy Pricer, halfback Carl Dodd and quarterback Bill Sturm booted extra points.

Eddie Teague, backfield coach for Maryland, scouted the game. He said he saw several new gimmicks in Oklahoma's techniques, and was particularly impressed with its backfield speed.

He said McDonald "is faster than anyone we have."

It was the third Oklahoma game Teague has scouted this season.

"Every game I've seen something new that we'll have to work on," Teague said.

One of Thomas' scores came on a 65-yard punt return. But the standout offensive showing was turned in by McDonald. He led in rushing with 84 yards in 14 carries and completed three of four passes for 63 yards.

Bud Wilkinson, completing his fourth undefeated season in nine years as coach here, used 55 players.

AFTER SECOND QUARTER

'Knew We Could Pick Up,'-Holleder

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "Send 'em to the Cotton Bowl! Send 'em to the Sugar Bowl, Send 'em anywhere!"

A hooting, shouting Army football team, flushed with its 14-6 upset victory over Navy at Municipal Stadium Saturday, almost tore the roof off its dressing room with these and other gibes after beating its arch rival.

Nobody realized better than the Army team that it had knocked the Midshipmen out of a bowl game on New Year's Day. A representative of the Cotton Bowl was on hand to extend the sailors an invitation—if they won.

* * * *

DON HOLLEDER, who weathered an entire season of criticism about his quarterbacking of the Army team, said this victory over Navy "made it all worthwhile."

"We knew we had them when we moved the length of the field at the end of the second quarter. Sure the clock ran out and we didn't score. But we moved them around with such ease we knew we could pick up in the third quarter."

Coach Earl (Red) Blaik held his usual post Army-Navy court with reporters and disclaimed any bowl hopes for the Cadets.

* * * *

"SUCH THINGS aren't up to me, but personally it has been a long season," Blaik said. "I've had enough."

"Our kids were under great pressure in the first 20 minutes of the game—enough to take the heart out of any team. But unlike what they have done in other games this year they did not beat themselves."

"Navy pulled a double flanker and several other offensive things that took us some time to adjust to. We had to realign our defensive setup. They also came up with a six-man line, something they have not come up with this year. We then had to adjust our offense," Blaik said.

"We just fumbled too much," was the mumbled refrain in the Navy dressing room otherwise silent. Anyone who spoke did so in whispers.

* * * *

COACH EDDIE ERDELATZ—choking back tears—went around consoling the players individually. Quarterback George Welsh, end Ron Beagle and fullback Dick Guest were assured by him they had played a good game.

Blood and tears mixed on Guest's face. The fullback's nose was broken in the first half and he played the last two periods with a plastic guard over it.

Welsh just sat staring at the floor and had to be prodded to reveal his passing hand had been stepped on late in the game.

Erdelatz refused to say what he thought was the turning point of the game although at first he ventured it might have been when Navy fumbled and Army recovered on its own 13 late in the second quarter with the Middies leading 6-0.

BOWL HOPES RUINED

Last Period Volunteer Rally Tumbles Vanderbilt, 20-14

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (U.P.) — Tennessee rang out midnight for Vanderbilt's "Cinderella" team Saturday with two last quarter touchdowns that blasted the Commodores' Sugar Bowl dream by a 20-14 score.

Only 15 minutes more and New Orleans would have sent for the Commodores in a golden coach. But Tennessee's new coach, Bowden Wyatt, used those fleeting minutes to carry out his primary assignment—beat Vanderbilt.

Tailback Johnny Majors, the Vols' Southeastern Conference do-it-all, and his substitute, Al Carter, did it for Wyatt and the jinx that had followed Vandy on Tennessee's home grounds held good. Only twice in their 63-year rivalry has Vandy won at Shields-Watkins Field.

With a crowd of 35,600 on hand, Carter threw a 43-yard pass to end Bill Anderson for the winning score. Only minutes before, Majors had passing 10 yards to Buddy Cruze to bring Tennessee from behind and Tommy Priest kicked the tying point.

Before that, TD charges by churnin' Charley Horton and Phil King had put Vanderbilt's best season in 15 years and its first bowl invitation within grasp. As it was, Vanderbilt finished with a 7-3 record, still giving Coach Art Guepe a respectable season.

WEISS GIVEN 6-YEAR PACT

NEW YORK (U.P.) — George Weiss, the "pennant-maker" of the New York Yankees, under whose direction they won six flags in eight years, received a new contract Saturday as general manager for a six-year period extending through 1961.

Weiss signed after a brief conference with co-owner Dan Topping.

Weiss had another year to go on his present contract, but Topping, pleased by the fine record Weiss had achieved since he succeeded Larry MacPhail as general manager in 1947, decided to tear up the old pact. He was given a big raise.

34-19 VICTORY FOR ESKIMOS

VANCOUVER, B. C. (CP)—Edmonton's Eskimos came from behind in the second half Saturday to defeat the Montreal Alouettes, 34-19, in the Grey Cup classic for the Canadian Professional Football title.

The victory gave Edmonton, the Western Canada titlist, the championship for the second straight year—the only time a Western club ever has done it.

A wild crowd of 39,417 saw quarterback Jack Parker guide Edmonton to two second half touchdowns and a field goal to wipe out the Eastern champions' 19-18 halftime lead.

ARMY'S TDS: ONE FOR THE MONEY, TWO FOR THE SHOW

RED RAIDERS WIN; WILL GO TO SUN BOWL

LUBBOCK (U.P.)—Texas Tech guard Hal Broadfoot blocked quarterback Ken Ford's punt Saturday in the third quarter for a safety that gave Tech a 16-14 victory over Hardin-Simmons.

The Red Raiders immediately accepted a Sun Bowl invitation.

The teams traded touchdowns in the second and third periods.

Halfback Ronnie Herr scored on a two-yard plunge and fullback Jim Sides tallied on a six-yard run for Tech. Quarterback John Lyle passed to halfback Dan Villarela for 26 yards and the first Cowboy tally, while fullback Pete Hart ran 18 yards for the other.

Clemson Crushes Furman, 40-20

GREENVILLE, S.C. (AP)—Surprising Furman put up a fight in a free-scoring game with Clemson Saturday before the highly favored Tigers rolled to a 40-20 victory behind the brilliant running of halfback Joel Wells and fullback Billy O'Dell.

Wells set a new Atlantic Coast Conference rushing record for a single game with 175 yards in 24 carries.

Clemson scoring: Touchdowns—Wells 2, (25, run; 5, run); Paglieri 2, (2, plunge; recovered fumble in end zone); Spooner (24, run); O'Dell (2, plunge). Conversions: Bussey 2, Avery, Paglieri.

Holy Cross Miscues Aid Eagles' 26-7 Win

BOSTON (U.P.)—Favored Boston College turned three pass interceptions and a Holy Cross fumble into touchdowns to score in every period and trounce the Crusaders, 26-7, in the 52nd meeting between the two arch-rivals before 37,235 shivering fans Saturday.

Quarterback Billy Donlan and halfback Ed DeSilva scored twice each for the Eagles but it was the alert defensive work of the Eagle line that set-up the Boston College scores. End Emerson Dickey picked off two Crusader passes that led to Eagle scores. Larry Plenty intercepted another pass and tackle Dick Myles recovered a Holy Cross bobble.

* * * *

HOLY CROSS scored as quarterback Tom Roberts found Dick Arcand clear on the Boston College 15 and the Crusader end went the remaining distance after snarching the pass from two defenders to complete a spectacular 46-yard play in the second period.

The luckless Crusaders saw six of their aerials fall into enemy hands and Boston College linemen snapped up four of their their fumbles.

Boston College moved 76 yards in the first period with Donlan sneaking over from the one. The Eagles scored again in the second period, DeSilva tallying from the nine. He scored from the two in the third quarter and Donlan sneaked over in the final quarter.

Auburn Blanks 'Bama, 26-0

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (U.P.) — Millard Howell Tubbs, who was named after Alabama's greatest passer but wound up at rival Auburn, threw for two touchdowns against "Dixie" Howell's old school Saturday and kept the Plainsmen in the running for a third straight Gator Bowl bid with a 26-0 victory over the Crimson Tide.

Auburn had hoped for a trip this time to the Sugar or Cotton Bowl. But after Georgia Tech and Mississippi were chosen for those games the Gator was the only post-season attraction left.

Tubbs ran for another score and ground-eaters Fob James, Jr., and Joe Childress, All-America fullback, did all the rest that was necessary as Auburn romped effortlessly over an Alabama team that hasn't won a game since mid-1954 and has lost all 10 this year.

Tubbs is said to have been rejected by the school that his dad picked out for him when he named him for Alabama's Rose Bowl hero. A high school injury in Birmingham had made his football future questionable. Auburn snapped him up and this season Tubbs led Auburn to an 8-1-1 record as successor to the mighty Bobby Freeman.

The Auburn version of "Dixie" Howell tossed for two touchdowns in the second period, both to end Jerry Elliott in almost identical plays. One was for 23 yards, capping an 80-yard drive. Then Auburn moved 90 yards, with Tubbs passing 10 yards to Elliott for the score.

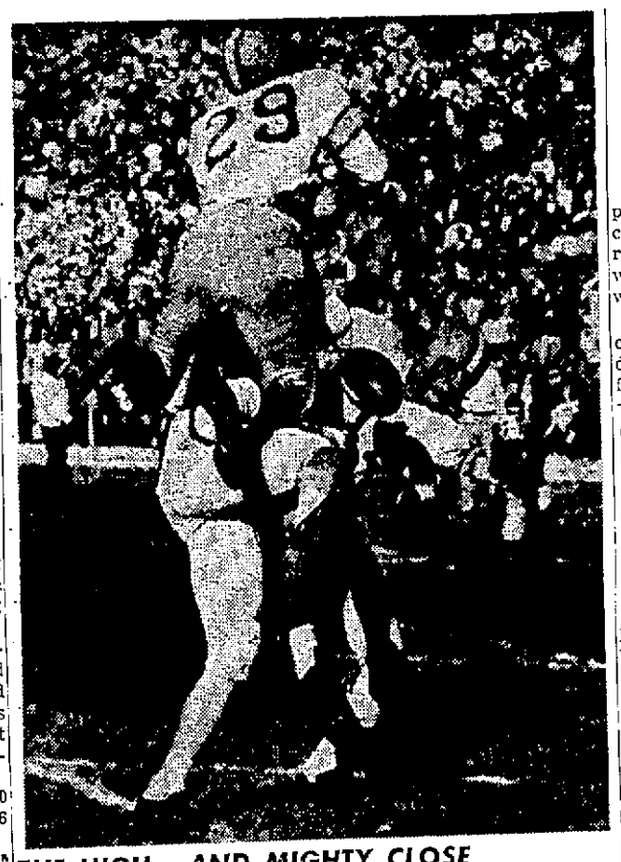

Auburn's third touchdown was made by Childress, after sub tackle Paul Terry recovered an Alabama fumble on the Crimson Tide 20 in the third period. Big Joe crunched out most of the yardage in nine plays, scoring from the two.

With Alabama flailing fruitlessly, Auburn had an 85-yard drive left for the fourth period with Tubbs, James and Childress doing the moving. Tubbs burst across standing from the two-yard line.

In second place at 68 was Al Beck, 77-9. Robert Sellery, 78-9, had a 69 and William Cook, 77-7; L. V. Cassaday, 79-9, and Hal McGrew, 77-7, were tied at 70.

Blind bogey (76) victors were George Rochester, William Harrower, J. V. Evans, Dr. W. Jeney, Al Davis, Dave Lewis, John Mead, J. G. Thompson and E. M. Drum.

Blocked PAT Nets Miami 7-6 Triumph

MIAMI (U.P.)—Halfback Johnny Bookman, who usually uses his blinding speed on offense, made a defensive sprint to block an extra point try Saturday and gave Miami a 7-6 victory over Florida in a bone-bruiser before 49,362 fans.

Magnificent punting by Florida's Allen, Don Chandler and Jon May and the clashing linebacking of center Steve De La Tore kept Miami's ground attack churning in the shadow of its own goal.

But little Mario Bonofiglio, demoted to the third string and tabbed the team's goat after Miami's losses to Georgia Tech, Notre Dame and Texas Christian, sparked the Hurricanes on a 59-yard scoring march in the first period.

Palming the ball like a magician, Bonofiglio alternated handoffs to John Varone and fullback Don Bosseler to carry to the Florida 12.

The 164-pound quarterback crossed up Florida and weaved the final 12 yards on the split-T keep play. Ed Oliver made good on the extra point.

Florida plunged right back to march 77 yards to score early in the second period. Fullback Joe Brodsky cracked over from the one but Bookman blocked Dick Allen's conversion try.

Three Teams Tie at Rio Hondo; 65 for Richards

Les Ryder, Dale Norquist, Dick Clover and Hal Higgins, representing the host club, combined on a 64 best ball Saturday to share first place with teams from Clock and Rancho after the first round of the Al Bryant Memorial Invitational at Rio Hondo golf course in Downey. Ted Richards, playing on the Rancho team, had a six-under par 65 for individual honors.

Fairfield Shoots 68 for 3-Stroke Lead

With 18 holes left to play, Fairfield had a score of 141.

He wrested the lead from Dow Finsterwald, who fell into a second-place tie with Wally Ulrich and Mike Fetchik. Finsterwald had a 72 Saturday, Ulrich 70, and Fetchik 71.

MEETS DeMARCO

Basilio in 1st Defense

BOSTON (U.P.)—Welterweight champion Carmen Basilio puts his title on the line for the first time Wednesday night when he meets ex-champ Tony DeMarco in a return match of last June's slugfest.

The 15-rounder will be televised nationally over ABC at 7 p.m. (Pst). Basilio is rated a slight favorite to retain the title he won from DeMarco via a 12th round TKO last June 10 in Syracuse, N. Y.

Both fighters have looked sharp in training and neither says he will have trouble making the 147-pound weight limit.

Arnett, Two Bruins Make Writers' AA

Jon Arnett of SC and Hardiman Cureton and Rommie Loudd of UCLA have been named to the 1955 Look Magazine All-America football team, it was announced Saturday.

Cureton was singled out by the 480 members of the Football Writers Association, who make the All-America selections, as the "top interior lineman on the West Coast." He was the bulwark of the rugged Bruin defense.

The complete squad:

Ends: Ron Beagle, Navy; Lon Kramer, Michigan; Rommie Loudd, UCLA; Harold Burnine, Missouri.

Tackles: Sam Huff, West Virginia; Norman Masters, Michigan State; Herb Gray, Texas; Hardiman Cureton, UCLA.

Guards: Calvin Jones, Iowa; Jim Parker, Ohio State; Bo Bolinger, Oklahoma; Tony Sardisco, Tulane.

Centers: Bob Pellegrini, Maryland; Rich Ellis, TCU.

Backs: Earl Morrall, Michigan State; Paul Hornung, Notre Dame; Howard Cassady, Ohio State; Jim Swink, TCU; Don Davis; Jon Arnett, SC; Don Schaefer, Notre Dame, and Joe Childress, Auburn.

Loudd Lone West Star on NBC All-America

with DICK ZEHMS

This is football's finest success story in 1955.

New York's School for Deaf at White Plains has just stowed away its second straight undefeated season. Next fall when the team trots out onto the field it will carry a 12-straight victory record into battle.

On first thought, this is hardly remarkable. On closer inspection, however, it reveals handicaps of unusual nature which must be overcome to make a team function without audible signals. Practice sessions create other problems. Players who cannot hear the signal cadence on offense are liable to mess things up.

When should the center snap the ball? How is the play called in the huddle? How will the linemen known when to charge on the attack?

These handicaps didn't bother the White Plains team. It steamrollered past New Jersey School for Deaf, 58-13; Storm King, 55-7; Fieldston, 26-0; Barnard, 47-0; American School for Deaf, 34-0, and Connecticut Junior Republic, 39-13.

Paul Kennedy, the school's mathematics instructor who doubles as football and basketball coach, explains it all this way:

"Our players depend upon lip reading and sign language to get what I am saying in practice sessions. Therefore, they pay much closer attention than most youngsters. Use of sign language is a departure from classroom practice, where all teaching is oral.

"On the playing field, the players depend chiefly on visible signals. The huddle discussions are in sign language. Plays from the single wing start when the fullback thrusts his hands downward, our signal to begin the play.

"The fullback makes this motion on all plays, even if another back is to get the ball. If our opponents try to get a fast start on us, we mix in a decoy signal.

"The center watches between his legs for the call. This position naturally limits his blocking effectiveness. In the T formation, the center snaps the ball when he gets "spanked" by the quarterback. The other linemen keep an eye on the ball for their cue to charge."

COMPLICATIONS. Need of the linemen to see the snap of the ball forces them to line up in a sweptback formation with the ends almost a yard farther back of the scrimmage line than the center.

"Our linemen depend on peripheral vision to keep the opposition in sight while they eye the ball," Kennedy explains.

He tried many different formations when he began coaching the Golden Tornadoes in 1946 before he came upon the solution to the fast-charge problem.

He stationed the guards an extra step back from the scrimmage with the tackles a half step closer to it and the ends in their regular positions.

"In that setup," he explains, "the ends had to turn their heads at a right angle to see the ball and lost the image of the opposition. If the guards and tackles were not back far enough, the ends wound up offside."

This alignment made the quarterback in the T too well exposed, and in the single wing the guard was too close to a backfield man and had too far to travel for a quick opening play.

"Finally we evolved the sweptback wing line and it eliminated the offside and increased the vision of the linemen," he went on.

Stopping of a play poses no problem. "We have very little piling on after the whistle," he said. "The players usually can see when a play is ended."

PERSONAL TOUCH. Instead of a lot of blackboard work to explain to the boys what he wants done, Kennedy pursues a different coaching tack.

"I found the best way is to work through the plays on the practice field, showing each man his assignment as we go along," he stated. "This system has produced the best results, fine downfield blocking and a good sound, versatile attack."

Kennedy's squad numbers 26, averaging around 150 pounds per man. Of their loyalty, Kennedy has this to say:

"I don't believe any team could be more loyal. If I told them to run head first into the goal posts, I think they would."

The Tornadoes' current winning streak began with the last game of 1950, extended through a five-game 1954 schedule and through a six-game '55 program. Since 1946, Kennedy has coached his teams to 47 victories, while losing only 12.

Moreover, his basketball teams have won 166 games while losing only 58.

Here, obviously, is a man with a magic touch. His success can be measured in terms more important than the simple won and lost columns, though. Deafness, he has proved, is no deterrent to achievement on the athletic field.

Think what he has made this mean to handicapped youngsters who like to flex a muscle now and then on the field of sport!

37 Top Collegians Go in NFL Draft Monday

PHILADELPHIA (U.P.)—The National Football League holds its earliest player draft in history Monday in an effort to meet Canadian competition for America's top grid talent.

Bert Bell, commissioner of the NFL, says owners, general managers and coaches of the 12-league franchises will meet in a hotel here at 10 a. m. (EST) Monday for the first three rounds of the annual draft.

Actually, 37 players will be selected since the first order of business will be the bonus choice. This is a draw out of the hat initiated by Bell nine years ago.

Under the rules of the bonus draw, the lucky team drops out until all 12 clubs have had an opportunity to win. Only Green Bay, Pittsburgh and the Chicago Cardinals are still in the bonus field.

The order in which the teams will draft depends on the results of today's games. Under draft regulations the clubs select according to their standing in the league with the last place team first and the first place occupant last.

Reliable reports indicate that if either Green Bay or the Pittsburgh Steelers win the bonus choice they'll select Ohio State's great running back, Howard Cassady. Should the Chicago Cardinals hold the winning straw, Earl Morrall, Michigan State quarterback, appears to be Coach Ray Richards' choice. Other possible bonus picks include Maryland's center, Bob Pellegrini, and Penn State halfback Lenny Moore.

Underdog Tulane Holds off LSU to Gain 13-13 Deadlock

BATON ROUGE, La. (U.P.)—Underdog Tulane rode the passing and dazzling running of quarterback Gene Newton for two touchdowns in the first half Saturday, then held on doggedly to tie favored Louisiana State University, 13-13, before 55,000 fans.

After Tulane's second touchdown, LSU end Billy Smith dashed in and blocked a conversion attempt by Tulane's Emmett Zelenka. Then after LSU's first touchdown in the third period, Durwood Graham booted the extra point, but a 15 yard holding penalty against the Tigers nullified it. On the next try from 18 yards out, he missed.

THE CONTEST WAS a battle between two heralded sophomore quarterbacks—Newton for Tulane and M. C. Reynolds for LSU. Newton scored the second Tulane touchdown in the second period on a six yard run, and set up the first one with his passing and dazzling running. The touchdown was scored by fullback Ronnie Quillian on an 18-yard run after Newton faked Tiger defenders out of the way.

LSU roared back in the fading minutes of the second period and drove 70 yards for a score with fullback O. K. Ferguson going over from the one.

LSU's tieing touchdown came in the final period when Reynolds hit halfback Chuck Johns with a 21 yard scoring pass.

FINAL WEEK

Duke-Tar Game on TV

The 1955 football season's official slate of regularly-scheduled games will be concluded this week with the nation's grid fans being presented with one more "big game" on television—the annual struggle between Duke and North Carolina on Saturday.

The battle between the two Atlantic Coast Conference powers will be telecast over KRCA (Channel 4).

In other games, Arizona State of Tempe plays Hawaii in Honolulu Friday night; Wyoming plays at Houston Saturday, while Florida State meets Tampa Saturday night.

Quick Cards 65, Leads Littler by One-Stroke

Gene Littler, who hadn't missed a birdie putt under 10 feet all day, three-putted from 10 feet—the last miss an 18-incher—to bogey the 18th hole and allow defending champion Smiley Quick to gain the first-round lead in the 36-hole Pomona Valley Open at Los Serranos golf course in Chino.

Quick birdied all five par-five holes in his bag of eight to post a wicked seven-under par 65. Littler had a 66, three strokes ahead of Jerry Barber and National Junior champion Phil Rodgers. Jimmy Clark was Friday's split-round leader with a 67.

Littler was four under par for the first five holes. He had an eagle-3 on the 490-yard third on a 20-foot. The tournament concludes today. Saturday's results:

63—Smiley Quick, 33-32.
66—Gene Littler, 31-35.
69—Jerry Barber, 33-36; Phil Rodgers, 37-32.
70—Bill Casper, 34-36; Al Feldman, 36-34; Dr. Bud Taylor, 37-33.
71—Ralph Blomquist, 34-37; Ed Koryiak, 35-36.

FAKE FIELD GOAL ATTEMPT FOOLS IRISH, SETS UP THIRD TROJAN TOUCHDOWN

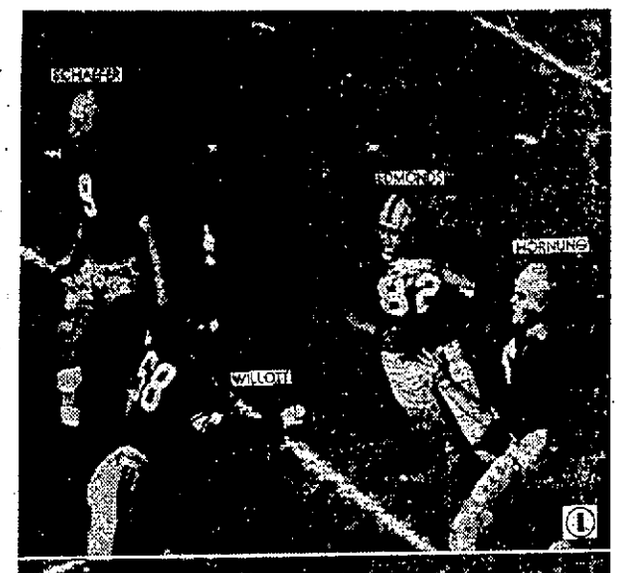

Faced with a fourth down and six yards to go on the Notre Dame 17 early in the second quarter, SC completely fooled Irish by faking a field goal attempt and passing instead to Jon Arnett. Bob Isaacson was sent in with the kicking tee and quarterback Ellsworth Kissinger was set to hold. Kissinger, however, faded back to pass and hit Arnett with a screen pass, good for eight yards and a first down on the Irish 9. Arnett scored two plays later to give SC 21-7 lead.—(Staff sequence photos by Roger Coar)

Action Story of Trojans' Thrilling Win Over Irish

SC FUMBLES FOR SIX POINTS

Jon Arnett sweeps right end for 10 yards and touchdown to give SC 21-7 lead in second period. Arnett was hit on goal line and fumbled as he went into end zone. Although I, P-T sequence camera shows Arnett may not have had full possession of ball when he crossed goal line, officials ruled he had scored before fumbling.—(Staff sequence photo by Roger Coar)

ARNETT ALMOST BREAKS AWAY ON KICKOFF RETURN

78-YARD IRISH TD PLAY

Notre Dame quarterback Paul Hornung fires perfect pass to halfback Jim Morse for second Irish touchdown. Play was good for 78 yards. Morse caught ball on Irish 45 and galloped 55 remaining yards to score. (Staff Photo by Roger Coar)

SCREEN PASS—KISSINGER TO ROBERTS—NETS 20 YARDS AND TROJAN FIRST DOWN

Quarterback Ellsworth Kissinger pitches a 20-yard screen pass to fullback C. R. Roberts, good for first down on Notre Dame 43 on third play of Saturday's Coliseum classic. Trojans scored their first touchdown a few minutes later en route to 42-20 triumph.—(Staff Photo by Bryan Hodgson)

Time's Square Captures Last Leg of Rich Pacing Classic

HOLLYWOOD PARK—Time's Square launched a stretch charge at Hollywood Park Saturday that carried him to a half length victory over Philip Scott in the final leg of the $75,000 American Pacing Classic and somewhat confused the final standings of the world's richest pacing event. Some 15,200 saw the final program of the 36-day sulky meeting.

In the summary of the three legs of the Pacing Classic, Time's Square, who finished fourth, third and first, ties for top honor with Hillsota, who won the first dash, finished fourth the second time out and was third Saturday.

Saul Camp's Diamond Hal, who was a 1-2 favorite Saturday but faded after setting the early pace, got third place in the final rankings for the Classic off his victory in the second leg. He was fifth Saturday and finished tenth in the first heat.

Diamond Hal had no excuses. O'Brien hustled him into the lead from his outside post position and he flashed by the quarter pole in 29 flat. Little Joe shut off the air the next quarter but was still in front when the field reached thalf in 1:00 4/5.

Rounding the far turn the rest of the six-horse field began to charge at the leader and Hillsota took the race track coming into the stretch. Diamond Hal launched a retailiatory drive but couldn't keep up.

Two hundred yards from home Hillsota looked like a winner but then McKinley Kirk stepped on the gas to get Times Square home first, followed by Philip Scott, which has been second in all three heats of the Classic.

B'Haven got up in time to edge Diamond Hal for fourth spot.

Time's Square and Hillsota both earned $17,083.33 for their efforts in the Classic. They not only earned equal amounts of money, and finished on even terms in the summary but both posted identical times of 1:59 in their winning heats.

Sailor Wins at Pimlico as Social Outcast 3rd

(Compiled from AP and UP)

The Brookmeade Stable's Sailor, who gained an easy victory in the Roamer Handicap in his last start, matched that performance Saturday by turning back seven rivals in the $50,000 Pimlico Special at Baltimore, Md.

Ridden by Hedley Woodhouse, Sailor, the fifth choice of 20,275 fans, took the lead soon after the start and led the rest of the way in winning by two and one-half lengths. The Llangollen Farm's Mister Gus finished second, a nose in front of A. G. Vanderbilt's Social Outcast, the 13-10 favorite.

Sailor ran the 1 3/16 miles course in 1:57 3/5, and returned $24.00, $11.00 and $5.00. It was the colt's eighth win of the year in 12 starts and was worth $40,000. Jet Action, Prendase, Hasseyampa, Nance's Lad and Thinking Cap completed the field in that order.

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Kerr's Bobby Brocato led from the start in winning the $15,000 added San Francisco Handicap at Tanforan.

Jockey George Taniguchi broke Bobby Brocato on top of the eight-horse field and led all the way. Bobby Brocato's time for the mile and one-sixteenth was 1:44 2/5.

Karim, with Gordon Glisson up, finished second three lengths back. Bassanio, with Ray York, was third.

Postillion won the Turret Handicap in the sixth race, the program's secondary feature and returned $12.20, $6.60 and $4.50. Wind Wings was second and Pursuit third.

18-Day Meeting Scheduled

The quick quarter horses take over the top spot on the Southland's sports calendar Monday afternoon as Los Alamitos Race Course opens its sixth racing season.

An estimated 5,000 race fans are expected to be on hand for the opening of a meeting that is almost as quick as the quarter horses themselves. The meeting is scheduled for but 18 days with racing six days a week through Dec. 17.

Post time for the first race weekdays is 1 p. m., advancing to 12:30 p. m. on Saturdays.

* * * *

A FIELD OF 10 of the swiftest quarter horses in the business was named for the opening day stake, the featured $2,500 Clabberton G. at 350 yards, with last spring's Los Alamitos champion, Moon Deck, heading the list.

Moon Deck, recently purchased by J. V. A. Carter for $9,000, holds the track record of 27.4 seconds for 549 yards.

The others named for the Clabbertown G. were Black Mikette, Bull Eagle, Ariel Gazelle, Red Pepper Dee, Palamino Joe, Miss Meyers, Bobbie Leo, Vanetta Dee, and Miss Pitapat.

* * * *

MORE THAN $200,000 has been spent since last spring to improve the Los Alamitos layout, including additional dining, seating, and wagering facilities for the clubhouse.

Of equal interest with the performance of the horses will be the race for the jockey championship. Two boys, Joe Hungerford and Ronald Banks, open the season tied for the national quarter horse racing title, and their efforts at Los Alamitos will determine who winds up with the crown.

Two other stakes are down for decision this week, both on Saturday. They are the $2,500 Hard Twist for horses of all ages at 350 yards and the Pacific Coast Quarter Horse Racing Assn. California-bred stakes for 2-year-olds at 350 yards.

NCAA TV Committee to Study '55 Plan

CHICAGO (AP)—The 12-member television committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. will meet here Monday and Tuesday to shape a 1955 report for the NCAA's annual meeting in Los Angeles in January.

The group will review operation of this fall's football TV program which was liberalized to include substantial regional as well as national showing of collegiate contests.

Saints' CIF Quest, Local Cage Invitational Top Week's Slate

St. Anthony's Saints, 20-13 victor over Centennial last Friday night, continue their quest for the CIF football championship this week against Beverly Hills. The game is tentatively scheduled for Friday night at a site to be decided Monday.

Other local schools begin their basketball seasons in earnest this week. Jordan, Poly and Wilson will play in the Long Beach Invitational beginning Wednesday, while LBCC hosts two practice game foes.

The Long Beach Invitational will be hosted by Poly this year and the Jackrabbits rank among the favorites for the title in the four-day affair. The Hares, Jordan and Wilson all draw first-round byes and will open title bids Thursday. The week's schedule:

Monday
Basketball—Wilson at Newport, 8 p.m.

Tuesday
Basketball—San Diego Marines vs. LBCC, LBCC gym, 8 p.m.; St. Anthony's at Compton, 8 p.m.

Wednesday
Basketball — Long Beach Invitational tourney, Jordan and Poly gyms, 2:30 p. m.

Thursday
Basketball—Wilson vs. Montebello-Lynwood winner, Jordan High gym, 3 p.m.; Jordan vs. San Bernardino-No. Torrance winner, Jordan gym, 4:15 p.m.; Poly vs. Redondo-Torrance winner, Poly gym, 3:45 p.m., (all games in L. B. Invitational).

Friday
Basketball — L. B. Invitational, Poly gym, first game 3 p.m.; Huntington Beach at St. Anthony's, 3 p.m.; Mt. SAC at LBCC, 8 p.m.
Football—St. Anthony's vs. Beverly Hills (time and site to be named Monday).

Saturday
Basketball — L. B. Invitational, Poly gym, first game 5:45 p.m.

'55 FINALE

Rockets vs. 20th Century

The Long Beach Rockets close their semipro baseball season this afternoon when they meet 20th Century Fox in a playoff of their 5-5, 10-inning tie of Nov. 13. Game time is 2:15 p.m. at Recreation Park.

Bill Feistner's Rockets will be idle until late in January when many of Long Beach's minor league stars will report for some limbering up prior to the start of spring training.

While the Rockets are off, the Recreation Park diamond will be thoroughly overhauled by the Recreation Dept.

Top Drivers Expected in Palm Spring Race

Most of the Southland's top drivers will be entered in the ninth running of the Palm Springs Road Race, Dec. 3-4, under the sponsorship of the California Sports Car Club in cooperation with the Long Beach MG Club.

Twelve races are scheduled over the 2.3-mile concrete and black top course.

Bargain Auto Bill at Stadium

Local auto racing fans will be treated to a bargain doubleheader at Veterans Memorial Stadium this afternoon. An 11-event program is scheduled, featuring both AJA jalopies and stock cars. Time trials get under way at 1 p.m. and the first race is scheduled for 2 p.m.

Eight of the races will feature jalopies of the American Jalopy Assn. The AJA also will play host to the Circle City CAA from San Bernardino and the Carpinteria Association. Each group will be represented by its top 10 drivers in an inter-association invitational championship race.

Danny Letner is the AJA's top championship hope. Letner also holds the 1955 Pacific Coast late model stock car title.

The three-event stock car portion of the program will bring together 30 of the top Southland drivers, headed by Tom Casteel of Torrance. These cars are strictly stock with only safety equipment added.

No Wrestling

There will be no wrestling at Municipal Auditorium this week. Programs will resume Thursday, Dec. 8.

No MSU Choice Yet on Bruins' Movies

PHILADELPHIA (UP)— Duffy Daugherty, coach of Michigan State's Spartans who is here for the Army-Navy game, said Saturday he had not decided which movies he would ask to examine of UCLA football games. The Rose Bowl teams, under the rules, permit opponent examination of the movies of two games. Daugherty figures UCLA will ask for the Michigan game movies—"because that's the only one we lost."

When it comes to picking them up and putting them down in a hurry, there is just nothing in racing to equal the world's fastest horse—the quarter horse. For, with the quarter horse, there is none of the restraint of thoroughbred racing, none of the artificial gait of the trotter and pacer. There can't be when you travel a quarter of a mile in 22 seconds flat from a STANDING START. It's just pure, unadulterated speed, speed that's been bred into the quarter horse for three centuries, speed that you'll find exciting and exhilerating, speed that makes it "Racing at its fastest."

How We've Fared Under GOP Reign

THERE WAS A STRANGE, mystic quality about the meeting of Democratic bigwigs in Chicago the other day.

America's millions, at peace, well-clothed and well-fed, and preparing for one of their biggest Christmas spending sprees in history, can't be blamed if they fail to take Messrs. Stevenson, Harriman and Kefauver seriously when these Democratic presidential aspirants charge that domestic and foreign policies have been bungled.

At this point, the nearest thing the Democrats have to an issue is the farm problem, which isn't nearly as serious as they picture it and which certainly doesn't outweigh the excellent conditions in this country in general.

Much has been said about the farm situation. What about the city situation? How about conditions in the growing urban areas of this country—our own, for instance. What has happened in the past three years to influence us in one direction or another?

It will be remembered that predictions were made of dire days to come in the event of a Republican victory in 1952. What would happen in a rapidly growing area such as this if the "depressing" GOP took over?

The answer is that employment is at its highest and unemployment at its lowest in the history of the Long Beach-Lakewood area. As a Department of Employment official observed, "It's amazing. The population keeps going up by leaps and bounds, and the number of employed keeps pace, while the number of unemployed decreases." Further, the Department of Employment reports an unusually large number of openings—jobs hunting for people to take them.

As everybody knows, general construction and homebuilding were booming activities in this area in 1952. People who'd never had homes of their own were beginning to get them.

During the campaign, partisans tried to scare the voters by telling them that construction would surely wane and housing would be constricted under heartless Republican policies.

However, construction has increased each year since 1952, and homebuilding and buying have proceeded at such a pace that Long Beach has used up virtually all of its available land.

We have shared peace, as we have shared good times, with the rest of the country. As for matters of special interest to the community—we can't overlook appropriations for Veterans Hospital improvement and assurances that Navy Shipyard will be retained.

If such things are typical of what the people can expect from Republican "bungling"—well, let's continue to have that sort of "bungling."

Californians May Secure Spots on Top Tickets of Both Parties

CALIFORNIANS can lay strong odds on the probability they'll have a chance to vote in 1956, if they're so disposed, on a candidate from their state for President or Vice President. Residents of no other state have a better chance.

It's not only that this state is well supplied with potential candidates, as it is, but its big population and electoral vote give it a pivotal spot in the planning of strategists of both major political parties. It could happen that Californians will show up on the top tickets of both parties.

EPLEY

So there's plenty of basis for the speculation that continues to name Gov. Goodwin J. Knight and Atty. Gen. Edmund G. Brown as possibilities for major recognition at next year's party conventions, along with Vice President Nixon, Sen. W. F. Knowland and Chief Justice Earl Warren, already well established in the "big time."

If President Eisenhower runs, it seems nearly a foregone conclusion that Nixon again will be his running mate. If he doesn't run, Nixon now has an inside chance for the top spot on the GOP ticket. But Sen. Knowland can't be counted out, and there are still those who argue that Chief Justice Warren, despite his personal determination to refuse if the offer comes, will not be able to turn down a "draft" from the GOP convention.

Gov. Knight has been mentioned as a possibility for both President and Vice President nominations. Recent reports from the East tell of rather strong talk about the California executive for a vice presidential nomination if an easterner or midwesterner should be given the presidential spot on the GOP ticket. Some of the "Knight for Vice President" talk stems from quarters where Nixon isn't popular.

However, it is difficult to envision Knight and Nixon competing for the vice presidential nomination. If it's Ike again, it'll very likely be Nixon for Vice President. If it isn't Ike, Nixon will probably be shooting for the Presidential nomination or nothing. It could turn out otherwise, but that's the way it looks now.

There has been little talk linking Sen. Knowland with the vice presidency. He has been rated as having an outside chance for the presidential nod if sentiment turns against Nixon and Ike is out of the picture. But Knowland, like Knight, can't be dismissed as a vice presidential possibility.

ALSO LOGICAL SOURCE FOR DEMOS

On the Democratic side, it wouldn't be at all illogical for the party to look to California for a running mate for its presidential nominee if the latter comes from some place east of the Rockies. Atty. Gen. Brown is the Democrats' top man in California and is a strong Stevenson backer.

Recent political history shows a strong trend toward consideration of Californians as vice presidential timber. The then Gov. Warren could have had a place on the GOP ticket with Dewey in 1944, and he accepted that spot with Dewey in 1948. He missed with Dewey, but Nixon, coming along in 1952, got the nomination and went on to win with Eisenhower. It is also recalled that back in 1940 there was a small boom for the then Gov. Culbert Olson for Democratic vice presidential nominee.

As it has in industry, agriculture, housing development, tourist visitation, and so on, California has climbed now to the national forefront in politics.

Sears Chairman Talks Sense on Farm Problem

SO MUCH POLITICAL misinformation has been circulated about the farm problem that it was refreshing to get this observation from Theodore V. Houser, board chairman of Sears, Roebuck & Co.:

"Neither political party is responsible for the fact that we have an agricultural economic problem."

Mr. Houser points out that the real problem stems from the rapid mechanization of farm operations. Fewer people are needed to produce our food and many farmers on the small farms have been unable to adjust themselves to the new conditions.

THEODORE V. HOUSER
'Neither Party Responsible'

With 5,300,000 farms in this country, some 2,100,000 farms produce more than 80 per cent of all agricultural products. These farms, says Mr. Houser, are of an economic size in this mechanical age.

Of the remaining 3,200,000 farm households, about half belong to workers who live in the country but are employed in a nearby city. They are not primarily farmers and farming accounts for only about 17 per cent of their income.

The remaining 1,600,000 farm families live on farms either too small or too poor from a yield standpoint to be economic producers. While they constitute almost one-third of the total farm families, they represent only 9 per cent of total farm production.

Here, continues Mr. Houser, lies the real farm problem. These are the victims of the industrial revolution applied to farms because they have not been able to adjust their lives accordingly.

Price supports, rigid or flexible, will never solve their problem. They are the casualties of "progress."

STEVENSON

Adlai Stevenson, in the October issue of Fortune, again shows why he is to be preferred over his rivals for the Democratic Presidential nomination.

Stevenson, who was asked to discuss the future of relations between business and government, says he thinks of this relationship "as essentially one of co-operation between two institutional forces wholly dependent upon each other."

In speaking of the "old snarling rituals," dating from the New Deal legislation of the Thirties, Gov. Stevenson makes this useful and pertinent comment:

"If there were but one 25-year goal to fix upon in this area it would be, for me, to stop the talk about a basic antagonism between American business and government, and replace such nonsense with a recognition of the common purposes and obligations of these two cornerstones of democratic capitalism."

Contrast, if you will, this sensible summation of what Stevenson calls "the new sense of commonality" with the intellectual vacuity of Averell Harriman.

Mr. Harriman observed "there is no such word as 'moderation' or 'middle-of-the-road' in the Democratic vocabulary."

While this comment was not exactly surprising to those who know Mr. Harriman well, it is the best evidence that the New York governor would make a poor President.

DAVID LAWRENCE

Are the Democrats Blundering Their Way Into Campaign as 'War Party'?

WASHINGTON—Are the Democrats blundering their way into the next campaign as the "war party?" This question is being asked now in view of the tenor of the recent speeches by Stevenson and Harriman.

The two rivals for the Democratic Presidential nomination have just given the country a preview of their arguments against President Eisenhower's peace policy, and it looks as if their alternative to peaceful negotiations might only be a belligerent policy that could, if the Democrats won the election, bring on the most terrible war in all history.

What do the Democrats really want? Before Geneva, Stevenson was making speeches demanding that the Eisenhower administration "compromise" with the Russians and insisting that there must be no bluster or intransigence in the American delegation's attitude. Now he speaks of the "mists of illusion" at the "summit" conference and criticizes Mr. Eisenhower for alleged failure at Geneva. By the same token, Stevenson is criticizing Foreign Minister Macmillan of Great Britain and Foreign Minister Pinay of France, who, with Mr. Dulles, formulated the allied policy at Geneva.

Studying the . . .

Stevenson also is demanding more armament. He says:

"America's military might has been reduced—while at the same time we talked louder and tougher. But if our threats were sincere; then our pretensions of peace were insincere. And if we did not mean what we said, then we were bluffing."

This is a strange role for Stevenson, and it is not made less belligerent by his remark that "our position is more perilous than it has been since Korea."

Gov. Harriman, to be sure, calls the whole Eisenhower foreign policy "a classic in the history of bungling." Is this because President Eisenhower, with the almost unanimous support of the American people, tried out a policy of conciliation at the first Geneva conference, as Mr. Stevenson and Sen. George urged? The President dealt with the leaders of the Russian government courteously and with the same good nature that has always been so characteristic of his personality. Now comes the backfire from the Democrats.

Much is being said derisively, for example, about Ike's "smiles" and there are Democratic party spokesmen who are accusing the President of having been drawn into a supposedly artificial post by the coaching of "the Madison Avenue boys." The public generally may not know what "Madison Avenue" symbolizes. It is a street in New York City where some of the best of the creative minds of America have their offices—and they have developed the most effective way to sell ideas through advertising that any country has ever known. They have contributed greatly to American prosperity and full employment. America needs more "Madison Avenue" knowledge and experience in "selling Americanism" to the rest of the world. But Mr. Eisenhower's kindliness and spirit of personal friendliness were born in him 65 years ago. Nobody in Madison Avenue had to teach him how to be a gentleman in representing the government of the United States.

The average American voter isn't going to be fooled by the outcry that the "failure" at Geneva was the fault of Mr. Eisenhower or John Foster Dulles. The American people are not going to blame these two staunch Americans for the stubbornness and obstinacy of Molotov and the Kremlin rulers.

Everybody knows that the refusal of the Russians to agree to the proposals laid down not merely by the United States but by France and Great Britain led to the "failure" at Geneva, and by no stretch of the partisan zeal can this be distorted into an American "failure." There are, of course, some critics who would prefer to hold Russia blameless if it only would fix blame on the President and Secretary of State of their own country and win an election. But, happily, American public opinion is too well informed to be misled by that kind of mischievous misinterpretation of the truth.

As for the Democratic speakers they will have to point out soon what they would have done before Geneva and what they would do now that the two Geneva conferences have been held. Would they go to war with Russia? Do they believe in preventing war? Would they surrender Germany to Russia and abandon all principles just to get a paper agreement?

Political Tea Leaves

DREW PEARSON

Adlai Cool to Running With Kefauver

WASHINGTON — A high-placed and highly trusted mutual friend of both Sen. Estes Kefauver and Adlai Stevenson has sounded them out about avoiding a bitter Democratic battle and compromising on a Stevenson - Kefauver ticket. ex - President Truman has expressed himself privately as believing this would be one of the strongest the Democrats could nominate.

PEARSON

However, when the mutual friend approached Stevenson on taking Kefauver as Vice President, Adlai was lukewarm if not negative. He flatly refused to make any commitment, said this would be up to the party leaders to decide at the Democratic convention next August.

Among other things, Stevenson didn't want to discourage other Vice Presidential aspirants. He knows young, ambitious Gov. Clement of Tennessee wants to be Vice President, and that Clement, rather than Kefauver, may control the Tennessee delegation.

Adlai also lunched with Atty. Gen. Pat Brown of California not long ago and is not unfamiliar with the fact that Pat also would like to be Vice President—in return for delivering California to Adlai.

Stevenson also knows that young Bob Wagner, Mayor of New York City, is deserting Gov. Harriman and can split the New York delegation; and that Bob, too, would like to be Vice President. In this case he would be the first Catholic Vice President in history.

Likewise, Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri has been mentioned as a Vice Presidential possibility, together with Sen. "Scoop" Jackson of Washington and able Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, all able men.

Naturally, Stevenson didn't want to alienate any of these by accepting Kefauver in advance.

But as the conference progressed, Adlai made a further statement which just about insures a knockdown fight in the Democratic primaries.

He said that if Kefauver went into the Democratic primaries and caused him, Adlai, to shell out a lot of money and put up a tough fight to win, then he would never take Kefauver as his Vice-Presidential running mate. He would feel that they were opponents, not members of the same political team.

TOWN MEETING

U. S. Is Lucky in Having Ike

TO THE EDITOR:

We like your paper, especially the letters column.

The argument of a recent writer, a Mr. Campbell, for high wages was backed up by a public statement of a fact-finding board in Washington.

The board was told to find out the reasons for current prosperity and the prospect of $400 billion-a-year income — a most happy condition compared with the old days. The board found no reason why it could not continue.

They found the reason for the good conditions to be basically high wages and close to full employment.

The farmers will do all right and be happy as soon as they see the wisdom of Benson's just playing Santa Claus with tax money once a year instead of every day in the year as the Democrats did to buy votes.

We are so lucky to have President Eisenhower, a true patriot, a man of rigid honor, a great organizer of experience and rare ability in foreign relations. All respect him as a supreme warrior, yet he is a kindly man who considers all men and practically worships peace.

What an example he sets for future administrations and for all citizens in their individual lives.

Wants Pine Ave. Made a Bazaar

TO THE EDITOR:

About five years ago, after talking many times with a top-notch city planner, I suggested that we make Pine Ave. a bazaar—a no-traffic north or south street, routing buses into town and out of town on Locust and Pacific, with alternate east and west streets one-way on Broadway, Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, and Seventh Sts.

The then city council shelved the idea but later they accepted scrambled crossings at intersections. Fine! This worked — and is a big time saver.

Now, honestly, wouldn't it be nice to park your car or get off a bus on a side street and enjoy free walking up and down, criss-cross or any way from one side to the other on Pine Ave., anywhere at all times without always worrying about traffic?

Refutes Critic's Sad Ballad

TO THE EDITOR:

Mervin Ranagan seems to have only one tune drumming its way through his mind. Minor variations in arrangement have been the only difference since its first appearance in your letter columns.

The lyrics are written around these refutable points:

1. Ike isn't really popular at all. It's just a myth.

2. Ike didn't do anything to end the Korean War.

3. Our present prosperity is false. (We Americans are possessed of a great imagination.)

4. The nation's press is solidly behind Ike. (Therefore doing the country a great disservice?)

Taking the topics of the Ranagan dirge one by one:

Any man's popularity would seem to hinge upon the esteem in which he is held in each individual's own mind. The widespread concern for Ike's health, which came from Democrats and Republicans alike, might indicate something as to his popularity.

Second: Ike may not have ended the Korean War singlehandedly, but my guess is that the number of Korean veterans thanking Ike for bringing them home is far greater than those who would thank Harry for sending them over there. Ranagan's lofty sentiments about "police actions" are noble indeed, and easy enough to hold when someone else has to wear the badge against the well-organized and superbly armed lawbreakers.

Third: If this prosperity is false, then there never has been nor never will be a true one. Unless it might be the type that has one-half the employment force manufacturing war implements and the other half using them.

Fourth: As a rule, newspapers will crusade for good rather than evil. For what helps the community, helps the newspaper itself. If the nation's press has formed a nearly solid phalanx for Ike, maybe everyone is out of step but Johnny (or Mervin).

The next time Mr. Ranagan offers his mournful ballad for publication, I hope he will set it to poetry. At least it will indicate an attempt at thought.

Trust Problem Nothing New

TO THE EDITOR:

The Senate Antitrust subcommittee's hearings on General Motors are being held, according to the subcommittee's chief counsel, to establish "what the national antitrust policy should be with respect to big business."

Whatever the subcommittee's findings and recommendations may be, the end results will not prevent big business from getting bigger.

The trust problem is an old one. Back in 1880 we got the Sherman Anti-Trust Act but the law did not prevent the formation of trusts. The concentration of wealth into fewer hands has been going on uninterruptedly.

The current hearings remind me of a very famous debate on the "trust problem," held in Philadelphia before the University Extension Society on Jan. 27, 1915, between Daniel De Leon, late editor of the official organ of the Socialist Labor Party of America, and William H. Berry, ex-State Treasurer of Pennsylvania.

It may come as a surprise to people who have weird notions about Socialism that Mr. De Leon argued that "the trust should not if it could, and could not if it would, be destroyed."

City's Teeners Will Dance Out Old Year

Look Before You Drive on One-Way Streets

MAP SHOWS one-way street patterns effective today in downtown Long Beach. Engineers estimate a 40 per cent increase in traffic capacity. Note extension of the present one-way designation of Locust Ave. from 10th St. to 12th St. Pine Ave. remains one-way southbound from 10th St. Bus routings have been revised where they are in conflict with new regulations.

I, P-T and Youth Council Back Auditorium Party

Teen-age Long Beach boys and girls will have their own city-wide New Year's Eve dance with Ray Anthony, billed as "America's No. 1 band," providing the music.

The dance will be presented by the Youth Coordinating Council for students from the 9th through the 12th grades, and will be staged in Municipal Auditorium.

Because this is the first time the city-wide dance has been offered, the Independent, Press-Telegram and the senior classes of the Long Beach Public schools have agreed to underwrite the event.

The Youth Council, organized in May 1955, is made up of representatives of all junior and senior high schools of the city. Their purpose is to study youth needs and problems and to gain community backing for worthwhile youth activities.

* * * * *

JOHN VAFIS, a senior at Poly high school, is president of the Youth Coordinating Council.

Other officers are: Ross Frank, Jordan, vice-president; Aletha Huston, Wilson, recording secretary; Roselind Schilling, St. Anthony's, corresponding secretary; Julianne Bescos, St. Anthony's, treasurer; and Bob Ward, Poly, parliamentarian. Mrs. J. B. DuBay is the Youth Council advisor.

For several years the youth of Long Beach have felt the need for name-band dances where young people could get together on a city-wide basis.

The council chose a New Year's Eve inaugural since there are few places where teen-agers can celebrate the New Years with wholesome festivity. If the first dance is well supported, other city-wide dances may be scheduled.

RAY ANTHONY, the "Young Man With a Horn" stresses versatility in his music, his orchestral presentations running the gamut from jazz and swing to novelties and sweet ballads for a well-balanced musical program.

One of the most important factors in Ray's rise to the top of the name band heap has been the tremendous popularity of his records with the nation's disc-jockeys.

Featured vocalists with the Anthony orchestra are Tommy Mercer and Marcie Miller with Brother Lee Roy performing with his baritone saxophone.

MEANY THE MAN

Labor Boss Profiled in PT Stories

This week, the AFL and the CIO will hold separate meeting in New York. The following week, they will join in convention, thus restoring a united front for the first time in 20 years.

The man behind the merger, who engineered in three years what other labor leaders had tried for years to accomplish, is George Meany, whose political acumen boosted him from a plumber in the Bronx to the president of 16 million workmen and women in this country and Canada.

What kind of man is Meany? How did he succeed where others failed? Will he be able hold the two factions together? What plans does he have for the merged union, politically and economically?

These and other questions are answered in a three-part series of articles written by one of the most accomplished labor reporters in the country, the AP's Norman Walker. Long an observer of the labor scene, he analyzes and interprets what's ahead with authority born of close association with the movement and its leaders.

The first of Walker's stories will appear in the Press-Telegram next Monday.

Year's Final Annex Ballot Due Thursday

This year's series of annexation elections will end Thursday as voters of a 120-acre South Lakewood area designated as Increment 127 ballot on joining Long Beach.

Five hundred and sixty-six registered voters are eligible for a contest which is expected to be decided by a narrow margin. Only 184 signed the petition for an election, filed last Aug. 16.

The polling place at 3717 N. Lees Ave. will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

* * * *

BOUNDARIES OF the area are Los Coyotes Diag., Heartwell Park, San Gabriel River, Hareo St., Karen Ave., Brittain St., Studebaker Rd. and a line midway between Keynote St. and Monlaco Rd. The estimated population is 2,220.

It will be the seventh annexation election of this year. All of the others resulted in majorities for annexation.

In addition, two other areas which voted to join Long Beach in 1954 were officially annexed this year, and still another section that was annexed as uninhabited territory was actually inhabited by the time the proceedings were completed.

* * * *

AS A RESULT of all these annexations, Long Beach population has increased from 298,158 on Jan. 1, 1955, to a current official estimate of 315,981.

Even if Increment 127 votes to annex, it won't become a part of the city this year. Formalities after the election require an average of nearly two months.

Safe Driving Keynote for Yuletide Shopper

Safe Driving Day will be observed Thursday throughout the nation, with communities in the Long Beach area joining in the observance.

The day is being observed at the start of the Christmas shopping season, when the need for safe driving reaches a peak. The anticipated traffic death rate dropped 15 per cent on Safe-Driving Day last year.

N. L. McLaughlin is general chairman of the event for the Long Beach Safety Council.

S-D Day will be the theme of the Chamber of Commerce Breakfast Forum at 7:15 a.m. Wednesday in the Empire Room of the Wilton Hotel. Ken Hemphill will be forum chairman.

Dana Bullock, manager of the Long Beach branch of the State Department of Motor Vehicles, will discuss traffic safety and the functions of his department during the forum.

* * * *

IN CONJUNCTION with the national S-D Day, thousands of circulars are being distributed to school children, safety messages have been spread on billboards and talks are being given at local luncheon clubs.

The Safety Council will continue to emphasize the S-D campaign for the ensuing two weeks, according to McLaughlin.

There were no traffic deaths or serious injury accidents here on S-D Day in 1954, he said.

"The response here has been fine so far," McLaughlin added. "We hope to duplicate last year's record here on S-D Day during every day of this year's campaign and then keep it up the year around."

Now You May Enclose Mail With Package

This year, for the first time, you may legally enclose a communication in a Christmas package sent through the mails.

You may do it by adding the 3 cent postage to the parcel post charges.

Effective Monday, a letter or message may be mailed inside a package under the postoffice department's new "combination" mail service, Postmaster George McMillin announced Saturday. His understanding is that this is for a 60-day trial period.

In the past, letters could accompany post packages when enclosed in an envelope attached to the outside of the package.

The new service provides that the mailer must put a statement reading "First Class Mail Enclosed" on each parcel below the postage and above the address. The proper amount of postage for each enclosure must be affixed to the parcel.

Health for Elders Subject of Surgeon

Dr. Richard Schug, member of the American College of Surgeons, will discuss "Preparation for Good Health in the Later Years" at 8 p. m. Tuesday in Room 405 at Poly High School. The public is invited.

Hospital Bond Supported by Civic Council

Determined to eliminate hazardous health conditions in Long Beach, the executive committee of the Community Welfare Council, composed of representatives of 68 local organizations, Saturday announced it had unanimously endorsed the $10,500,000 hospital program proposed for the Feb. 9 city election.

"Our support for this community wide health program will not be a passive one," George Logan, executive director of the council said. "We shall actively work to insure its passage so that this city will have the facilities needed to protect the lives of our citizens."

"The increase in the local hospital bed capacity, which is critically needed, is just one part of this proposed community health program," Logan explained.

* * * *

"OUR COUNCIL is also greatly interested in providing facilities for the first time in a local general hospital to treat patients with nervous disorders and those with communicable diseases and to enlarge the critically needed clinic facilities in our city. The providing of a school for training registered nurses, which is also included in the program before the City Council, is also a health must in our city."

Will H. Winston, president of the Long Beach Bar Association, and Dr. William S. Cheney met with the executive committee of the Community Welfare Council to discuss the parts of the hospital program and the critical need for such facilities.

* * * *

AS A PART of their program to acquaint the public with the fact that Long Beach is dangerously underhospitalized, the Community Welfare Council will invite representatives of more than 100 local organizations to participate in a luncheon meeting Dec. 9 at which time the hospital and health program will be explained.

Present at the meeting when the hospital program was endorsed were representatives of the AFL, the CIO, the Veterans Hospital, the Long Beach Council of Churches, the Long Beach Ministerial Union, the Parent Teachers Association, the Family Service, the public schools, the parochial schools, and the Jewish Community Council.

LET'S DANCE!

Yule Lighting Contest Deadline Dec. 20, Junior C of C Reports

Campaigning for the "true Christmas spirit," Long Beach Junior Chamber of Commerce Saturday announced plans for its annual Christmas Lighting Contest.

Last year's record entry list is expected to be equalled or surpassed, according to Stan Goldin, chairman of the JC community planning committee.

Goldin said Long Beach home and apartment owners are eligible to enter. Public and semi-public buildings and parks will be rated in a special category.

* * * *

ENTRIES WILL BE DIVIDED into indoor and outdoor classes in keeping with the entry blank which accompanies this article.

"It isn't how much you spend on your display that counts," said Goldin, "but rather the originality and ingenuity demonstrated."

Awards will be presented and the sweepstakes winner will be entered in General Electric's nationwide contest for $5,000 in prizes.

* * * *

THERE IS NO entry fee. Entries must be received at Junior Chamber of Commerce office not later than Dec. 20. Displays will be lighted nightly from 6:30 to 11 in the Dec. 20-Jan 1 period.

Further information may be obtained by telephoning HE-7-3501.

Douglas Dealing With Continental for DC8 Order

Douglas Aircraft Co. and Continental Airlines are considering possibility of a transaction for "several million dollars worth" of jet-powered DC8 airliners, it was learned Saturday.

Officials of the firms will confer within the next three weeks.

Douglas already has received 442 million dollars in orders for the planes, which will be built here, providing Long Beach voters approve extension of the Municipal Airport runway in a special election Feb. 8.

Menuhin's Kin Appears in Art Center Concert

Yaltah Menuhin, pianist, younger sister of Yehudi Menuhin, will appear with the American Art Trio in a concert at 4 p.m. today in the Municipal Art Center, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd. This will be the fourth of the current series of chamber concerts in the Center.

Other members of the trio are Eudice Shapiro, violinist, and Victor Gottlieb, cellist.

Miss Menuhin, who has concertized widely in Europe in recent years has devoted herself almost exclusively to chamber music groups.

MISS SHAPIRO, a member of the USC faculty, has appeared as soloist with the NBC Symphony, Los Angeles Philharmonic and Hollywood Bowl orchestra.

Gottlieb, first cellist with Universal Studios, has been a member of the Coolidge quartet and has taught at the University of Wisconsin.

The program will include Mozart Trio in G major, K 496, Deux Choros for violin and piano by Villa Lobos and the Schubert Trio in E flat major, opus 100.

The concert will be broadcast over radio station KFOX at 8 p.m.

Stone Hurler, 8, Hangs on—Ouch!

Dannie Murray, 8, of 1107 Loma Vista Dr., started to throw a stone into a large piece of pipe near his home Saturday afternoon. He forgot to let go.

His hand hit the side of the pipe and broke the left middle finger, police reported.

His father, Thomas Murray, took him to Seaside Hospital for treatment.

Beach Combing

with MALCOLM EPLEY

IF you or I heard an avalanche rumbling and knew it would be coming our way soon, we'd probably get a little excited and scared.

But over at the post office, where I made my annual pre-Christmas inspection yesterday, there's an air of calm confidence. The people there know there's an avalanche coming, but they're set for it.

It'll come in the shape of a staggering total of about one and three quarters million pieces of parcel post in December, plus millions and millions of letters and cards.

Last December, the L. B. post office and its substations handled about 985,200 pieces of incoming parcel post and about 565,300 outgoing pieces. This December, an increase of about 15 per cent is expected. That brings the total over 1,750,000 pieces, which is a lot of parcel post.

On five or six days in December, there'll be more than 1,000,000 letters cancelled here. Incoming mail will top that on some days.

But nobody seems to be scared over at Third and American or at the various substations around town. When I made my visit, everybody was going calmly about his work.

WHEN I asked if there were enough stamps on hand, Pepper Davis, the stamp custodian, showed up with his keys.

He unlocked the big cage in the vault where the stamps are cached—shelf after shelf of neat packages.

"There's about $1,500,000 worth here," he said. "Think that'll be enough?"

I agreed that it ought to do. He assured me it would be easy to get more if it doesn't.

OF course, the postal people know there are reinforcements coming along with the big mail.

The postal force will be about doubled for the Christmas rush.

There are about 930 regular employes, and 900 will be hired as special Christmas help. Some 1250 men and women have registered for special work, and no more registrants are being accepted.

Many of the Christmas workers have done similar work before. They'll be ready to go the minute they report on the job, with no special training needed.

Postmaster George McMillin said that college boys are particularly good as parcel post delivery men. They use their own cars and go after the job with a lot of enthusiasm.

PHYSICAL facilities have been expanded to handle the expected record volume of Christmas mail this year.

About 40,000 square feet of space has been assigned in a General Services Administration warehouse on Pacific Coast Hwy. just west of the river. All incoming parcel post will go there and will be distributed from there.

The post office also will use the National Guard garage on Stearns and Redondo, the Lindbergh Junior High cafeteria, and a couple of other school buildings at strategic locations. This will prevent a pileup of mail in the main office.

Arrangements have also been made to keep most of Long Beach's parcel post, coming from the east, from going into Los Angeles, where some big jams have developed in past years.

This all sounds pretty good.

LONG BEACH people, according to the postmaster, are quick to respond to published suggestions and warnings on mailing matters.

He's hopeful that card mailers will consider the advantages of using three-cent stamps instead of two-centers. Those with the threes on them will get first class mail handling and will be returned to the senders if they can't be delivered. Undeliverable cards mailed with twos aren't returned and eventually are destroyed.

McMillin also suggested use of insurance for parcel post. Unless packages are insured, no claims can be made for loss or damage.

And of course, the postal people hope everybody will mail as early as possible. That'll mitigate the effect of the avalanche.

THAT, in general, is my report on my post office inspection.

If the public cooperates properly, it looks as if the 1955 Christmas mail will come through, even if it cracks the volume records.

Ice Carnival Queen Leads Parade Today

Lakewood Lions Snow Carnival goes into its final day today with a 10½-hour program beginning at noon on the carnival grounds at Lakewood and Del Amo Blvds.

Railroad Association Sees Mail Deluge

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Association of American Railroads says postmen and trains will have to handle more than 53,000,000 mail bags between Dec. 1 and Christmas Day.

The association reports that "to transport the avalanche of gift parcels and greetings, the Post Office Department estimates it will need space equivalent to almost 5,000 solidly loaded 12-car mail trains." That would be "long enough to reach from Washington, D.C., to Chicago."

FEWER CARS, BUT

Driving More Risky in Italy Than in U. S.

ROME (AP)—If you are an automobile driver, passenger or pedestrian in Italy, your risk of getting killed is nearly three times greater than in the United States. The Italian Institute of Central Statistics listed 5,281 traffic fatalities for 1954. This compares with 38,300 reported killed in the United States in 1953. But there were 56,279,864 vehicles in the United States; 3,338,220 in Italy.

Sweden Close-Up Slated in Film Forum Program

An all-color Film Forum titled "Sweden in Close-Up" will be presented in the Jordan High School auditorium at 8 p.m. Tuesday by the Long Beach School for Adults.

Hjordis Kittel Parker will present a documentary study of Sweden today by telling the story of a representative young Swedish couple, their background, present life, and hopes for the future.

* * * *

MRS. PARKER'S film studies of Scandinavia have been recognized and acclaimed by both the Norwegian and Swedish governments.

"Sweden in Close-Up" will be presented at Wilson High School Wednesday night and at Poly High School Thursday night. Tuition tickets for the five remaining Film Forum programs will be on sale at the auditorium box office the night of each presentation.

France Selling Jet Aircraft to Israel

PARIS (UP)—Authoritative sources said Saturday that France, which is shipping arms to both sides in the troubled Middle East, may send Israel some Mystere jets capable of coping with early-model Russian MIGs.

They said contracts for the sale of an unspecified number of Mysteres to Israel have been signed but not yet approved by the government.

Fewer GIs Go Over Hill, Army Reports

WASHINGTON (UP)—Fewer servicemen are going over the hill.

The big drop in AWOLs and desertions was attributed by the armed services Saturday to educational programs, help on the GI's personal and family problems, and stiffer penalties authorized by President Eisenhower.

The Army reported it has cut its monthly AWOL rate from 15.2 per 1,000 enlisted men in 1952 to 5.2 per 1,000 this year. In 1952, the Navy had 29,490 "absence" offenses of more than three days, including desertions. Last year the number was cut to 18,542, and in the first eight months of this year only 6,841 sailors have gone over the hill for three days or more.

The Air Force, which had a monthly AWOL rate of 7.6 per 1,000 men in 1950 and 5.13 per 1,000 in 1952, has cut the number to 1.86 per 1,000 this year. The rate of Air Force desertions has dropped from .345 per 1,000 last year to .225 per 1,000 this year.

The Marine Corps said it had 5,849 "administrative desertions" in 1952 and cut that to 4,882 last year. For the first seven months this year, the number was 1,895.

AWOLs and desertions reached their peak during the Korean War. The Army in 1953 adopted a policy of sending AWOLs to combat duty in Korea. After the Korean War, the rate continued high, and President Eisenhower on Sept. 28, 1954, authorized stiffer maximum penalties.

The Navy reported that despite its cut in AWOLs and desertions, unauthorized absence "continues to be a major disciplinary problem."

Buy Conrad Letters

HANOVER, N. H. (UP)—Dartmouth College has purchased 80 letters written by the late English novelist, Joseph Conrad, it was announced today. The letters were written to Conrad's biographer, R. B. Cunninghame Graham, and cover the period 1894 to 1924.

Gas Producer Blasts Foes of Bill to End U.S. Control

DALLAS, Texas (UP)—A move by 35 eastern gas utilities to oppose passage of the Harris bill drew a blast Saturday from the head of Texas' largest organization of producers.

The 35 eastern gas utilities announced they were banding together to oppose passage of the bill to remove direct federal control from natural gas producers.

French Robertson, president of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association, said "independent gas producers are happy to see the real opposition to the Harris bill identify themselves. This ends the masquerade," he added.

The bill has passed the House and will be sponsored in the Senate when it reconvenes by Sen. William Fulbright (D-Ark.).

"A group of big utilities who are looking for whipping boys on which to blame their high prices are now out in the open opposing independent producers of natural gas in their fight for freedom from federal price-fixing," Robertson said.

"Heretofore, the utilities have been masquerading behind certain self-serving big-city politicians and spokesmen for socialization of natural resources," Robertson added.

University Has Novel Course, Europe Tour

WORCESTER, Mass. (UP)—A university's summer school will offer a new traveling course with a 50-day tour of Europe as the "textbook," it was announced today.

The course at Clark University will be known as "introduction to Western Civilization," and the classrooms will be an ocean liner and buses which will tour the continent.

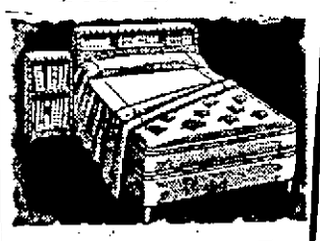

The course, covering three semester-hours of college credit, will be conducted by James S. Edwards, assistant professor of German and a veteran European traveler.

Enrollment will be limited to about 20 students and auditors on the college level. "Classes" will begin as the travelers assemble on June 8 in Montreal. The course will terminate in mid-August with a 3,000-word report to be submitted afterward as a "final exam."

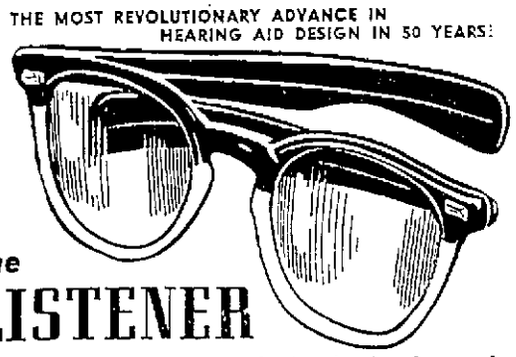

The course will cost about $1,000 per person, the university said.

Seek Handy Label

LONDON (UP)—The five Baghdad Pact nations still haven't adopted a handy tag for their defense organization. Headline writers have toyed with the idea of calling it METO (Middle East Treaty Organization, ala NATO) but it hasn't stuck yet. The charter members are Britain, Turkey, Iraq, Iran and Parkistan.

Eyes open, purses closed for my year-end denture offer

Dr. F. E. Campbell Dentist
Don't pay me one penny 'til next year
NO MONEY DOWN
Small Payments Start In January
HERE'S WHY
It's BETTER FOR YOU to get the new dentures you need now instead of waiting until next year—right at the time you want to LOOK YOUR BEST. Save your cash for holiday fun and expenses.
It's BETTER FOR ME, because I want to keep my offices a little busier than usual. This is ordinarily a slow season in dentistry.
That's why I want you to forget about the money until next year. Keep your EYES OPEN to service and dentures you want, but keep your PURSES CLOSED.
IMMEDIATE RESTORATION
New dentures may be put in the SAME DAY the last of your teeth are extracted. If your case permits it, and you desire it, impression is taken BEFORE teeth are extracted. Dentures are started immediately and finished the same day.
NEW DENTURES IN ONE DAY
This service offered any week day, except Saturday, if you come in BEFORE 10 A.M. A convenience to out-of-town and emergency cases. Other cases are finished in a few days.
NOW—At LESS THAN YOU MAY EXPECT TO PAY FOR ORDINARY DENTURES
SAVE ON PARTIAL PLATES
Modern methods of casting metal parts enable me to make them for Less Money than formerly. Now my prices for partials are Lower, with the best work I have turned out.
NOW—FREGO STRENGTHENER DENTURES
Thinner, yet much stronger
Imported FREGO STRENGTHENER, now available to dentists in this country, is a gold plated stainless steel mesh. It permits VERY THIN construction. Fragile looking dentures are strong with Frego Strengtheners.

Bells Ring for Salvation Army

Observing its 50th year of unbroken service to the needy of Long Beach, the Salvation Army is preparing for Christmas.

Salvation Army kettles are posted at the corners; Salvation Army lassies smile and tinkle little bells as coins drop into the kettles.

The slogan this year, says Maj. Howard Sloan, commanding officer, is "You'll enjoy Christmas more by helping the Salvation Army bring Christmas cheer."

"We hope that Long Beach residents will respond as generously and graciously as they did last year, because the need is urgent," says Maj. Sloan.

* * * *

THIS IS WHAT the Salvation Army did last year at Christmas time, and it will do about the same this year:

More than 340 families provided with Christmas dinners. (Families averaged five persons.)

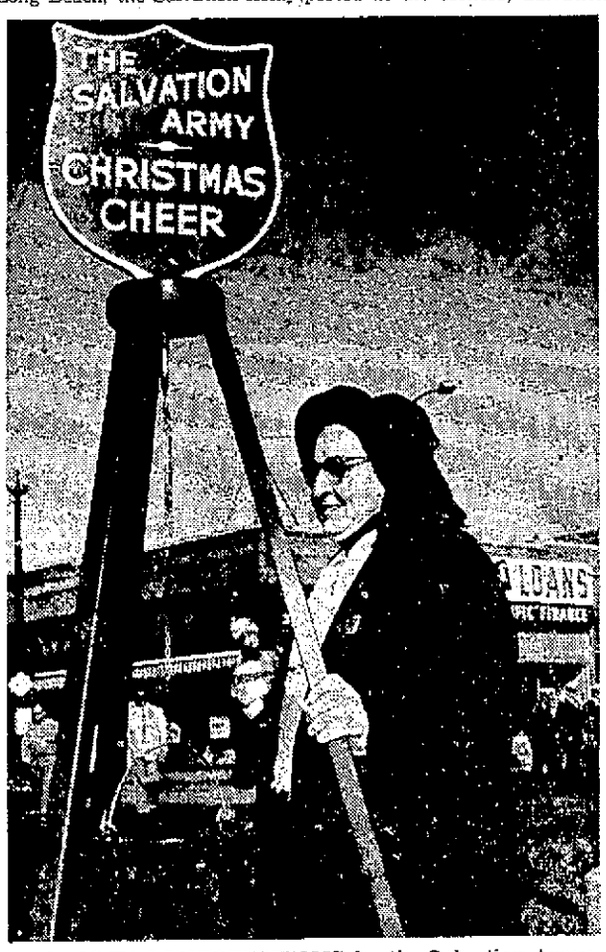

More than 200 families given clothing, shoes.

About 3,000 gifts given patients in Veterans Administration hospital and prisoners in Terminal Island prison. Christmas parties and services conducted both places.

Christmas dinner provided homeless and unattached men.

Christmas program and party for 400 needy children, with each child receiving candy and toys.

Christmas party given 300 Golden Agers with gift for each.

RINGING IN CONTRIBUTIONS for the Salvation Army Christmas cheer fund is Mrs. Alice Holden, 75. Her station has been 4th and Pine for 32 years.

Detectives Toil 3 Months, Find Watch's Owner

ATLANTA (UP)—Atlanta Detectives W. E. Peabody and and J. W. Elliott worked diligently for three months to find the owner of a $1,500 watch.

They located the watch in a pawnshop here and learned it had been found in a Miami Beach, Fla., theater. Next Peabody and Elliott wrote the factory where the watch was manufactured and were told it had been sold to James Lowell Oakes Jr. of Miami.

The Oakes family was then at a Spring Lake, N. J., summer home but when the detectives sought to reach them there, the family had gone to Europe.

Elliott and Peacock finally reached Oakes in Paris, France. Oakes expressed his thanks but added that he didn't even know the watch was missing.

Boys Held for Blast Near Russ Embassy

OSLO, Norway (AP)—Five teenage boys were arrested Saturday and accused of throwing fireworks at the Soviet embassy here Friday night.

The boys, all around 17, will be arraigned in magistrate court Monday on misdemeanor charges. The explosions broke two windows.

100 in All-Night Hunt Find Baby

DUBLIN, Ga. (AP)—One hundred white and Negro citizens engaged in an all-night search and found a 2½ year old Negro boy who had been lost in the woods for 18 hours.

The child, Melvin Reed, son of Otis Reed, had been left asleep in a car while his mother and father worked in the woods tapping pine trees for turpentine. They gave an alarm Friday afternoon and national guardsmen were called on to aid in a search.

The boy was found about 9 a.m., Saturday a mile and half from the car. He was suffering from cold but was unhurt otherwise.

Federation Meeting

Members of the Long Beach Branch 123 St. Philip Neri, Italian Catholic Federation, will meet at 7:30 a.m. Sunday, Dec. 4, at the Long Beach Veterans' Administration Hospital to assist patients to the chapel to attend mass.

Troops Open Fire as Car Runs Piston Plant Barrier

NEW CASTLE, Ind. (UP)—Indiana National Guardsmen fired shots at a car that tried to run them down Saturday as troops patrolled this strike-torn city.

Maj. John Anderson, Shelbyville, Ind., battalion commander, said the car stopped at a barricade, turned its lights off and smashed through.

Guardsmen hit the ground and fired twice at the auto, he said.

Troops had been ordered back to this east-central Indiana city when violence at the strike-ridden Perfect Circle Corp. foundry broke out anew Wednesday.

The Perfect Circle plant has been the scene of labor unrest since the CIO United Auto Workers went on strike here and at three other Perfect Circle plants in Hagerstown and Richmond July 25. Nine persons were injured in a wild shooting melee between strikers and non-strikers here Oct. 5.

Pope Leaves His Summer Quarters for Vatican Home

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius XII returned to Vatican City Saturday from his summer residence at Castel Gandolfo. He was cheered by men, women and children along the 18-mile route.

Twice the pontiff asked his chauffeur to halt his limousine so that he could receive flowers and spiritual offerings from the people.

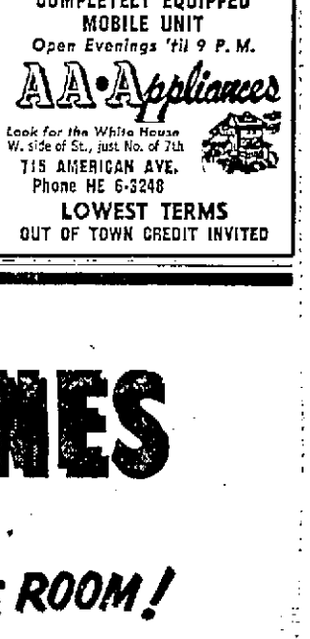

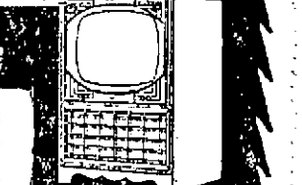

This noon, the Pope will hold a general audience. He then will begin week-long spiritual exercises in preparation for the Christmas season. During this period, he will have few, if any, audiences.

Teachers, Minister See Special Showing of Film

School teachers, parents and ministers crowed Fox West Coast theater Saturday morning and as the guests of the management saw "Good Morning, Miss Dove," a motion picture covering the life span of a schoolteacher in a small New England town.

Largely by flashbacks, it tells her influence on a group of pupils: a wayward boy becomes a priest, a Jewish lad becomes a playwright, a bad boy becomes a war hero, an unsettled girl becomes a good wife and mother.

"It is an accolade to the teaching profession, and we asked schoolteachers enmasse, officers of the 66 PTA groups in Long Beach and Lakewood and ministers of the Council of Churches to come down," explained Bill Sorenson, city manager of Fox West Coast theaters.

"It is a family picture—a picture that families ought to see and we think they will enjoy. It was brought out by 20th Century-Fox, tht company that did 'A Man Called Peter.' We notice a definite trend in pictures, starting with 'The Robe.' A picture like this is a relief from the rape, murder and mayhem pictures that plague us."

Red Cross Parley

BONN (AP)—West Germany's Red Cross president, Dr. Heinrich Weitz, is going to Warsaw soon to negotiate with the Polish Red Cross for resettlement of German citizens. Estimates are that a quarter million are living in former German territory now under Poland. How many want to be moved has not been determined. Several hundred have come here this year.

PRISONERS' PIN-UP

NEW YORK — Miss Cleo Moore, the Long-Kiss actress, is probably going to be elected "Sing Sing Sweetheart" or "The Prisoners' Pinup" since she started advocating that convicts be allowed to spend weekends with their wives or girl friends.

"I've already got a lot of fan mail from prisoners who want to talk the whole thing over with me and want to make an appointment," blond Cleo told me during a visit to New York.

Miss Moore insists that she's totally unselfish in this matter and that if she doesn't accomplish it now . . .

"Just wait till I become Governor of Louisiana!"

Pointing out that in Mexico, France, Switzerland and several South American countries, the prisoners are permitted to see their mates for a day or two instead of just a half hour through a screen, Miss Moore says, "Here in the United States we don't pay the least bit of attention to a man's emotions."

CLEO MOORE
Thinks Abouct Male Emotions!

"Would you have husbands visiting women prisoners?" I asked Cleo.

"Certainly! Women need somebody to love them more than men," said Cleo, bouncily.

"Would you have women visiting husbands at Alcatraz where women aren't permitted now at all?"

"No, the very bad prisoners should lose the privilege."

Perhaps at this time I should let you in on a secret. Cleo's in a movie, "Hold Back Tomorrow," in which she plays a gal who visits a prisoner in an unnamed country. In fact, she's been in several prison movies and feels like an ex-convict much of the time.

"I can see the good sense of having special guest houses for prisoners when their wives come to see them," Cleo said.

"Then when the prisoners come out they would be normal and able to lead normal lives again."

Cleo claims that she became interested in this cause after Sheilah Graham's husband, whom Sheilah calls "Bow-Wow," and whom other people call "Bow" for short, began advancing it. He is a social welfare expert who argues that womanless, loveless prisoners are being punished beyond decency.

"Don't forget that in some countries, men are even permitted to leave the prison for a few days for good behavior," Cleo mentioned.

Cleo continues to insist that, as the ex-wife of Huey Long's son Palmer, she's going to run for Governor of Louisiana.

"But I have to wait till I'm 30. I'm going to run and I'm going to win," she said.

"I'll make you a bet of a long kiss you'll never run," I said.

"Why?"

"Because when you're 30, you'll never admit it," I replied.

"I'll admit it, but the question is," she said, "when I'm 30, will you still want to collect the bet?"

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "One way to get Russia to smoke the peace pipe is to let 'em think they invented tobacco."—Bob Olin.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Taffy Tuttle told Guy Lombardo she'd gone fishing with worms: "And I'll never go out with those guys again!"

"A cocktail party is where people talk to strangers about friends who'll soon be enemies." . . . That's earl, brother.

Italy Sees Record Tourist Influx

ROME (AP)—Italy is heading for another record-breaking tourist year. The state tourist agency announces that in the first nine months 9,300,493 foreigners crossed the borders. In all of 1954, when all previous marks were exceeded by 20 per cent, 9,327,512 tourist were recorded.

Automatic Stock Waterers Boomed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Department of Agriculture has just issued a leaflet on automatic livestock waterers.

The department says "automatic waterers, kept ice-free in winter by electric heating elements, reduce costs and increase livestock production." And it adds "they rapidly are replacing watering tanks and troughs on farms in regions where temperatures often go below freezing."

COOP WITH A JENNY

Gary Cooper is pictured with one of the World War I Jenny airplanes used in the movie, "The Court Martial of Billy Mitchell," which Warner Bros., produced in CinemaScope and color. The film is about the historic trial of the man who later became known as the father of the Air Force.

Concert Tonight in Auditorium

Mischa Elman will play the Tschaikowsky Violin Concerto with the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra tonight in Concert Hall of the Municipal Auditorium.

Alfred Wallenstein, who begins his last year as musical director of the orchestra, has programed the Prokofiev "Classical" Symphony and Brahms' Symphony No. 2.

Tickets will be available at the auditorium box office from 6 o'clock on, and the concert will begin at 8:30.

Danes May Visit Russ

Lyle Talbot Joins 'The Theatre' Cast

Lyle Talbot, veteran motion picture actor will portray the lead role in "Time Out for Ginger," next production at The Theatre, 2400 Magnolia Ave. Pat Brown, director of the group, announced that Talbot had accepted the role and rehearsals are under way for a Dec. 8th opening. Talbot has appeared in over 130 movies during his long career in Hollywood, and recently has made frequent television appearances on the Robert Cummings show, the Burns and Allen show, Racket Squad, the Red Skelton show, Dangerous Assignment, and many others.

Movie work and television, however, have not kept him from getting "on stage" whenever possible. He has made occasional appearances on Broadway and with several theater groups in the Los Angeles area, the latest being with the famed Pasadena Playhouse where he portrayed the role of Howard Carol in "Time Out for Ginger."

The play opens Dec. 8, and will run Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday through Jan. 22. However, The Theatre will be closed Dec. 19 through Dec. 28 for the Christmas holiday.

Prize Livestock Judged in L.A.; Auction Monday

LOS ANGELES (UP)—The judging of 2,000 head of prize cattle, sheep and hogs began Saturday at the opening session of the 30th annual Great Western livestock show and rodeo.

Judging of the grand champion steer will be on Monday, and auctioning of winners will be on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. The showgrounds are at Atlantic Blvd. and the Santa Ana freeway.

GERMAN HENS EXPENSIVE, GIs WARNED

WARZBURG, Germany (UP) — The U. S. Army warned jeep-driving soldiers of the newly-arrived 10th Division Saturday to steer clear of German chickens — they're worth $52 each.

A year-old chicken costs only about $3.50. But Americans on maneuvers are subject to German law and must compensate German farmers for potential earnings as well as the dead fowl.

The potential includes eggs for two years plus the percentage of eggs that might hatch and produce chicks at $1.25 apiece.

IN "ROSE TATTOO"

Anna Magnani, Italian star, finally came to Hollywood to star in the Tennessee Williams' comedy-drama, "The Rose Tattoo." She plays opposite Burt Lancaster as a sex-conscious widow in frantic pursuit of a happier life who is courted by Lancaster, a banana truck driver.

Best-Dressed Men Selected

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Singer Marguerite Piazza recently took a blast at the sloppy dress of feminine stars, declaring that Hollywood is the one place where the men dress better than the women. Naturally, this led to the inevitable question., Who are the best dressed men you know? These are her choices:

Arthur Godfrey; Harlow Curtice, president of General Motors; Conrad Hilton, the hotel tycoon; De Lesseps (Shep) Morrison, mayor of New Orleans; Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. delegate to the United Nations; Cary Grant; Donald Douglas, the airplane manufacturer; Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt and Liberace.

Of the latter, she comments: "Sure, Liberace dresses for showmanship but always in good taste. The same can be said for Roy Rogers."

Johnny Green's 'Jennesa' Will Be Given at U.C.L.A.

"Jennesa," a 3-act drama by John Green, local playwright and director of the Lakewood Players, will have its premiere Tuesday at UCLA Campus Little Theater.

The play, which concerns a young girl whose fixation for her dead father leads to tragic complications within her family, will be produced by the Theater Arts Department of UCLA and is directed by Patricia Lavin as a thesis towards her master's degree in Theater Arts.

"Jennesa" also is to be filmed by an independent movie producer. The discovery of the play has been a series of accidents beginning almost a year ago when the author almost shelved the work after it had been returned from several agents in New York.

* * * *

HOWEVER, Larry Johns, director of the Long Beach Community Playhouse, read the play and encouraged Johnny to continue to look for a producer. Again the play was sent out to various agents and again the script was returned.

The current production at UCLA is the result of a casual conversation the author had with Mrs. Louise Lavin at a New Year's party in Beverly Hills. Mrs. Lavin was assisting her daughter, Pat, in a search for new scripts suitable for production. Mrs. Lavin took a copy of the script, read it and insisted her daughter read it. Miss Lavin liked the play and wanted to do it as her thesis. The play was submitted to the committee and was chosen to be the only original presented this year.

* * * *

CURRENTLY, Johnny is collaborating on a screenplay of "Jennesa" with independent movie producer Tom Gries. Television treatment of the play is also being prepared by Gries and Green for "Climax."

Two of Johnny's other plays—"Trio for Two Cats" and "A Night With the President"—have been presented locally by the Community Playhouse and the Lakewood Players.

Goes East for Fame

HOLLYWOOW (AP)—Margaret Hayes, the Baltimore-born beauty, is the latest movie star to reverse Horace Greeley's advice.

Margaret once was a contract player here at Paramount but got nowhere.

"It was nobody's fault," she recalls. "I was young and didn't know much."

Rather than stay out here and become a queen of B movies, she decided to go east.

"I just realized," she said, "that I needed some tools if I were going to make this business my life's work."

She went on the stage and got into television in its early days. She appeared in 200 television dramas, including the TV-prize winner "The Lottery." She also played Robert Montgomery's leading lady for two seasons. Hollywood called again.

As the sexy schoolteacher of "Blackboard Jungle," she is touted as a top academy award contender. She also did "Violent Saturday" and "Bottom of the Bottle" for 20th Century-Fox.

"I guess I'm ready to stay in Hollywood now," she opines.

Humphrey Wants U.S. Safety, Fire Bureau

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn) said Saturday he will introduce legislation next year to create a federal safety and fire prevention bureau.

He said the agency would coordinate all federal activities in this field with a goal of reducing "the appalling number of injuries and the accompanying dollar losses" due to fires and accidents.

Army's Largest Rotation Ends

BREMERHAVEN, Germany (UP)—The largest unit rotation in American army history ended Saturday with the arrival here of the last group of 10th Division soldiers replacing First Division men.

More than 1,700 10th Division troops arrived at this army port from Ft. Riley, Kan. to take the place of the famous first in defense posts near the Iron Curtain.

Operation Gyroscope, which began in July, moved about 38,000 soldiers, officers and dependents in both directions, along with cars, bikes, cats and dogs.

25 New Major L. B. Firms Have Opened Since Jan. 1

Twenty-five manufacturing and distributing firms have started production in Long Beach since the first of the year, it is noted by the Chamber of Commerce's Industrial Development Committee. "This represents an added annual payroll of over $10,800,000," said Edward Stubbs, committee chairman.

"We are continuing every effort through the City and Port's Industrial Development Advertising Campaign to put Long Beach on the industrial map," Stubbs added.

"It is not claimed," Stubbs went on to say, "that the campaign has been directly responsible for causing all of these manufacturing concerns and distributors to locate in this area. It is, however, obvious that the advertising helped create an atmosphere of welcome and influence. This is evidenced by a letter received from a well-known manufacturer who located here. The letter stated: 'The city's many industrial advantages, such as low taxes, large labor pool and profit-making climate, were the big factors which influenced us to locate here.'"

* * * *

THE INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT Advertising Campaign came into existence in January, 1953.

Prior to 1952 a number of citizens, concerned with the economic future of Long Beach, met informally in 1950 and 1951 to discuss ways of attracting new industries to Long Beach, with their added payrolls and tax revenues.

The city has long been known as a mecca for tourists and a convention city, but very few persons considered Long Beach as an industrial area. It was thought necessary that Long Beach be established as a place for industrial expansion to "put Long Beach on the industrial map."

The committee which had been appointed by the Mayor made an exhaustive study of the sites available for industry, the Long Beach market area, labor pool, electricity, gas and water, tax structure, raw materials available, transportation facilities, etc.

* * * *

AS A RESULT OF THE committee's report and its recommendation, funds were allocated in the City's 1952-53 budget. Later, the Chamber of Commerce was appointed to administer the Industrial Development Advertising Campaign — without cost to the City. The Chamber already had an Industrial Department and for many years had an interest in the industrial development and expansion of Long Beach.

Stubbs pointed out that well over $33,000 has been spent by the Chamber of Commerce on the Industrial Advertising Campaign since its inception.

"It is interesting to note," says Stubbs, "that since January of 1953 when the program began, that there has been a substantial increase in manufacturing employment, wholesale and retail employment, employment in finance, insurance and real estate and professional services. The increase in manufacturing employment, January 1953 to July 1955, was 7,450 persons, while the increase in wholesale and retail employment has been 6,250 persons. These figures were released by the California Department of Employment."

"Industrial Advertisements," Stubbs continued, "appear in about 13 monthly regional and national publications throughout the year which have a potential annual readership of approximately 13,989,924 persons."

"We will continue our campaign to attract many more industrial plants to Long Beach," Stubbs concluded.

Pembrook Village Designing Favored

Pembroke Village continues to attract buyers seeking homes with unusual and distinctive architecture, states Mel Mack, sales agent for the popular Garden Grove subdivision.

The rustic Early American design of Pembrook Village unit 5 is meeting the requirements of home buyers seeking old-fashioned charm combined with modern planning, Mack pointed out. The picturesque qualities associated with rustic Early Americana are incorporated in these Pembrook Village homes by the use of shake roofs, diamond pane windows and distinctive window trim, he explained.

The Southern California trend for traditional and modern combining to meet the desire for indoor-outdoor living is captured in the living rooms with walls of glass and real brisk fireplaces, and all the models make use of efficient circular hall planning. The large kitchens have garbage disposals and fans, with service porches adjoining the kitchen area. Golden hardwood floors are used throughout and there is forced air heating.

Pembrook Village homes are available with 3 or 4 bedrooms, 1½ and 2 baths. Veterans may purchase with no down payment. Non-veterans may purchase for as little as $995 down. FHA financing is available.

From Los Angeles, take the Santa Ana Freeway and turn south on Harbor to Chapman to reach the furnished model homes. From Long Beach, take 7th St. (Garden Grove Blvd.) and turn north on Harbor and watch for the Ojai Gate.

Clover Park Homes Show Heavy Sales

Many home buyers who have viewed Clover Park homes and then compared them with others are returning to buy in the Ber-J'n Construction Co. homes in Orange County, salesmen report.

This has been shown in the tremendous response to sales recorded in recent weeks.

Wall-to-wall carpeting is one of the many features of the homes and has been received enthusiastically by most viewers.

"We are trying to provide the buyers with a completely finished and ready to move in home," said the company.

"In addition to the wall-to-wall carpeting, buyers will find complete landscaping, both in front and rear, full fencing around the property, huge patios, sprinkler systems in front and rear, and towering fireplaces in all the homes."

A big 35-acre shopping center is directly across from the homes and it includes a large Raisin market. Schools and transportation are very close to the homes, the spokesman added.

Roy Berlin, a member of the firm, has complete charge of sales, this assuring the buyer of complete satisfaction in dealing with the builder direct in obtaining a home. Max Berlin, a brother, has had many years of building experience.

New Winstead Camera Store Opening Monday in Los Altos

A company policy calling for guaranteed satisfaction of customers has served to spell success for Winstead Bros., Inc., which celebrates the opening of its third camera shop Monday in the Los Altos Shopping Center located at Bellflower Blvd. and Stearns St.

One of the oldest and largest camera stores in Long Beach, Winstead's first started selling camera supplies and equipment in 1920. The concern was incorporated in 1927 and opened its second store in San Diego in March 1952.

The new Los Altos store is one of the most up-to-date camera supply shops in the greater Long Beach area, stocking all of the popular lines including Eastman, Leica, Bell & Howell, Graflex and Bolex cameras.

Specializing in both motion picture and still photographic equipment, the store will also offer complete photo finishing service. In addition, a comprehensive rental service of cameras, projectors and film will also be maintained.

Arthur L. Lee is president of Winstead Bros., Inc., with Douglas W. Lee acting as vice president. Perry B. Maxson Jr. serves as secretary-treasurer of the corporation.

Management of the Los Altos shop will be under the direction of William R. Shirey Jr.

"We are happy to be opening our third store in the Los Altos Shopping Center which we feel is destined to be the outstanding center in Southern California," President Lee said.

"Our policies of satisfaction on every purchase and courteous, friendly service will be maintained in the new store, and our trained employes will be able to help camera fans with any photographic problem," he said.

Customers at the new Los Altos shop will be able to purchase items on liberal credit terms as Winstead's carries its own contracts.

Located on the main mall of the shopping center, the Los Altos store will remain open Monday, Thursday and Friday nights until 9:30 p.m. for customer convenience.

Plans Swank Country Club

Forest Smith, wealthy restaurateur and owner of the Clock Country Club in Whittier, has announced that construction will soon begin on his swank Yorba Linda Ranch and Country Club.

According to Smith the 408-acre club will include a golf course, swimming pools, bridle trails, stable and half acre ranch type estates in the $25,000 to $100,000 bracket.

The course will be designed by golf architect Harry Rainsville and will be over 7,000 yards long. It will be ready for play by July, 1956, Smith announced.

Smith, who recently sponsored the first Women's Professional Golf Tournament on the West Coast, plans to make the country club in Yorba Linda unique.

It was also announced that the membership chairman for the new club will be Max Horn, vice president of the California Bank in Anaheim.

Iliff to Discuss Legal Decisions

"Recent Decisions on Commissions" will be the topic for the Breakfast Forum meeting of the Board of Realtors Tuesday morning at the Lafayette Hotel, 7:15 a.m. Guest speaker will be Edwin C. Iliff, board attorney, chairman Clive Graham announced.

Iliff will speak on some of the brokers' rights when a sale is not consummated. Following his discussion the attorney will allow 10 minutes for specific questions and answers from the floor.

Iliff has submitted his resignation, effective Dec. 31, as the Long Beach Board attorney. This will bring to a close three years of Iliff's active participation in realty activities.

Vets Offered Whaley's Newest Homes on Terms of $700 Down

New low down payment terms for veterans purchasing homes in Los Altos 25th Unit are announced by the L. S. Whaley Co., developers of the community located east of the Long Beach State College campus.

For the first time, veterans may now buy contemporary styled Junior Executive type homes of 3 and 4 bedrooms and 2 baths in the 25th Unit for as low as $800 down, plus closing costs and impounds. FHA terms are also available for non-veterans.

According to Alfred Reinertson, executive vice president of Home Investment Co., the new financing arrangements were developed in order to bring quality homes within reach of most every veteran's income.

Reinertson said: "We know that many home buyers are familiar with the quality of construction and high type of architectural styling which characterizes the thousands of homes developed by Lloyd S. Whaley. The new terms now make it possible for them to purchase in Los Altos," he added.

• • • •

Offering such interior features as forced air heating, color harmonized interiors, natural birch hardwood cabinets, sliding doors of glass to patio, acoustical type plaster in all rooms and select hardwood floors with 2-inch tongue and groove subfloor-ing the modern and thoroughly livable homes are meeting with wide acclaim by the buying public, Reinertson stated.

Exterior features include extra large lots, spacious 2-car garages with concrete drives, colored aggregate rock roofs, aluminum sash, genuine lath and plaster construction as well as landscaped parkways which adjoin the quiet residential paved streets.

• • • •

Emphasis on safety is also a key factor stressed in the Whaley constructed homes. In Los Altos 25th Unit, each home is equipped with a built-in fire alarm system which provides valuable protection for the entire family. The warning device also serves to reduce insurance premiums, it was disclosed.

Incorporated in the development are a varied number of floor plans and a variety of exterior elevations. Model homes, furnished by Aaron Schultz, are open daily from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. and may be reached by driving east on Atherton or Stearns Street to Palo Verde Avenue, then turn south and follow signs to the models. For convenience of home buyers, sales offices for the 25th Unit are located on the model site at 1411 Hackett St.

Realty Club to Hear Talk About Taxes

The North Long Beach Real Estate Club will meet Thursday morning at 8 o'clock at Mayo's Cafe, 5925 Cherry Ave. Cecil Fulcher, program chairman, will present Robert Ringler who will speak on "Income and Real Estate Taxes."

Many Features Attracting Colorama Homes Buyers

Buyers of 4 and 3-bedroom, 2-bath Colorama Homes come from various areas in Orange and Los Angeles Counties, it was announced by A. Anthony Kuri, builder of the new community in Santa Ana on Delhi Rd., just east of Bristol St.

Veterans and their families purchasing the homes to date at nothing down except costs and impounds are now residing in Santa Ana, Long Beach, Orange, Garden Grove, Rivera and Huntington Beach.

According to reports by the Don Coleman Co., exclusive sales agents for Colorama Homes, several purchasers have been Marines stationed at Camp Pendleton.

Monthly terms on the homes, priced from $13,300, are as low as $67.43 for principal and interest. Continuing on display as illustrative of the 21 distinctively individualized stylings by architect Martin Stern Jr., are 3 furnished model homes with decor by Greene-Hinkle.

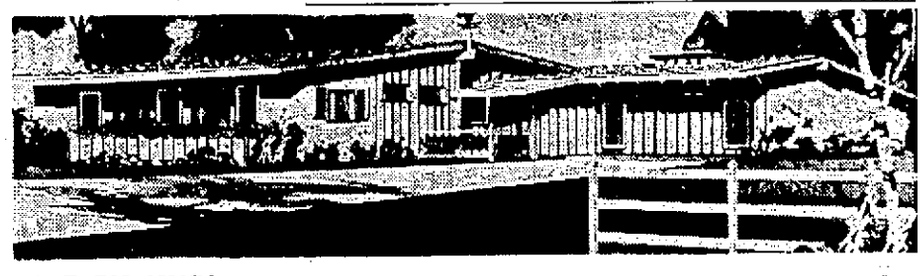

Purchasers' response to the completeness and built-in features of Colorama Homes is credited by the sales agents for the rapid sales pace.

Foremost with most buyers is the full landscaping of front, rear and sides with five-foot high redwood fence around the rear yard.

Modern homemakers with an eye to time and energy saving have cast their vote for the New Freedom gas kitchens with built-in Martha Washington range and oven, NuTone hood and fan, Conver-table nook and deck, Crosley automatic dishwasher plus Dish-Whiz, Waste King disposal, natural ash cabinets and Laminart-topped service bar.

Forced air heating, tiled stall showers, sliding glass doors, concrete patios and versatile exteriors are also among features pleasing visitors to Colorama Homes, where sewers, paved streets, sidewalks and street lights are among property improvements already paid for.

BUILT BY KURI

Transitional stylings, adaptable to contemporary or traditional interior decor, are proving among most popular at Colorama Homes, builder A. Anthony Kuri's new community of four and three-bedrom, two-bath homes in Santa Ana on Delhi Rd. just east of Bristol St. The Don Coleman Co. is sales agent for the dwellings, offered to veterans for nothing down but costs and impounds.

Excelsior Village Second Unit Opens

Grand opening of the second unit of Excelsior Village has been scheduled for this week end, Don Coleman sales agent announced. This unit will present new financing terms to qualified veterans.

The new unit of the family-sized four bedroom, two-bath homes are offered to qualified veterans for no down payment.

The first unit of Excelsior Village has been completely sold, Coleman said, attributing the quick sell-out to the home value offered and the location.

The homes are part of a completely planned community, and are situated across from an elementary school. A large shopping center is to be built within walking distance of the development.

Included in the homes are built-in range and oven, washer-dryer, forced air heat, Beech-wood Bel-Air cabinets and the new Fire-Belle alarm system.

Excelsior Village is within a few miles of the Long Beach area and the homes may be seen by driving straight out Westminister to Brookhurt Ave.

See Million Homes Built in New Year

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — Forecasts from industry and government put new housing starts next year at around 1,200,000 units.

The big question is whether there will be mortgage money enough to finance them.

Some groups feel there will be. Others, particularly the builders, are worried lest government credit curbs are clamped on too tightly.

The Commerce Department, in its annual look at next year's construction, estimated new nonfarm one-to-four-family housing starts at 1,200,000.

Earl W. Smith, president of the National Assn. of Home Builders, expected starts in 1956 to be between 1,150,000 and 1,250,000.

The U. S. Chamber of Commerce predicted 1956 "will not miss this year's record of an estimated 1,300,000 by as much as 100,000 units."

The chamber recognized the financing difficulties found in many areas but added "that it does not follow that the present situation will be indefinitely protracted."

Rising incomes and expected higher savings available for investment offer hope that more funds will be in lenders' hands next year. The chamber also pointed out that some potential home loan funds are being used now to help handle outstanding commitments. When these obligations have been met, it said, "bank funds will again be more readily obtainable by builders and mortgage companies, though not on the same scale, as last spring."

Although somewhat fewer homes are generally expected to be built next year, the total spent for them, according to Commerce Department forecasts will be about the same. Higher costs and the tendency for families to seek larger and more expensive homes will boost total outlay, the department predicts.

David May Voted Store Director

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP)—Election of David May II, Los Angeles, as a director of May Department Stores Co. was announced Saturday. He is the son of Tom May, company vice president and chief executive officer of the Los Angeles stores.

The company operates 30 stores in nine metropolitan areas. Directors meeting here declared a quarterly dividend of 55 cents a share, 10 cents above the previous rate, payable Dec. 1 to common shareholders of record Nov. 15.

BUENA PARK ESTATES

Exterior elevation, shown above, is typical of traditional style three-bedroom, two-bath homes previewing today at Buena Park Estates in Buena Park, themed as "Garden Spots"." These homes are completely landscaped, color co-ordinated inside and out featuring luxury in every room.

Buena Park Estates Pre-Previews Today

Today marks the pre-preview, the very first glimpse of the new 3 bedroom, or 2 bedrooms-and-a-den, 2 bath, 2 car garage homes opening in the newest planned community, Buena Park Estates, Buena Park, according to officials of Walker & Lee, sales agents.

Buena Park Estates have been themed as "Garden Spots" and present fully landscaped conventional-style homes lavishly decorated with board, batten and redwood exterior trim. There are 16 designs and 4 basic floor plans, avoiding any dull similarity within the development. Each lot is landscaped with front and rear lawns, twenty shrubs, parkway trees already in.

Executives of Baskin Construction Co. noted that these homes will be priced within the middle brackets and that veterans may purchase one of them for no money down except closing costs and impounds.

Color-coordinated outside and inside by the famed consultant, Margaret Lowe, these homes offer appointments seldom found in their price range. Luxury touches include mahogany paneling on living room or den walls; smart wallpaper in dining areas; enameled steel venetian blinds; stall showers with ceramic tile floor and full glass doors; aluminum metal tiling around stall shower and around tub with shower in master bath; pullman lavatories and oversize Mr. & Mrs. medicine cabinets with very large mirror.

Closet space is very large with walk-in wardrobes in the bedrooms, linen closet, and guest closet.

Construction is solid, of top quality, using lath and plaster interiors with accoustic type ceiling; oak hardwood floors over conventional foundations; colored crushed rock roofs on modern elevation designs; rock-wool insulation; forced-air heating.

All utilities, including sidewalks, curbs, paved streets, sewers and ornamental street lights are in.

Blue Bell Manor Offers Occupancy by Christmas

Imagine a new home for Christmas present!

The hope of owning a 3 or 4-bedroom, 2-bath home may have always been tucked away among your most cherished dreams—but it needn't be only a dream any longer, say the developers of Blue Bell Manor.

"You've always known that your home had to have extra, beauty-plus features such as a painted and wall papered interior, hardwood floors, accoustical ceilings, sliding walls of glass, a log burning fireplace with gas lighter, a central hall plan, spacious eating area and endless other superior qualities," a spokesman continued.

"Just such a fabulous beauty can be yours — and before it's time to put up the Christmas tree."

It is now possible to buy a Blue Bell Manor home in Garden Grove this weekend and feel assured that you will be able to move in on the same day lender's approval is given.

An added incentive for prospective home buyers is complete 5-foot high redwood fencing offered to those who buy one of the few 3 or 4-bedroom homes that are left in the first unit of Blue Bell Homes.

Ready for immediate occupancy, these homes are available to veterans for no money down except for the usual impounds. Veterans also have advantage of 30-year loans. Non-veterans move in with unbelieveably low down payments of only $990 plus the usual impounds. Liberal 25-year FHA loans are also available.

The answer to your Christmas dream can be yours for only $13,950 and $14,750.

$395 MOVE-IN PRICE

Provincial redwood trim and carefully selected decorator color exteriors add to the beauty of the fourth unit of Magnolia Manor, being previewed this weekend in Garden Grove. The Wonder Homes are offered to both veteran and non-veteran for $395 move-in price.

Another Magnolia Manor Unit Previewing Today

Preview showing of the 4th unit of Magnolia Manor in Garden Grove is slated for this weekend, Frank H. McFarland, sales agent for the new Wonder Homes, has announced.

Priced from $11,050 to $11,550, the 3 and 4-bedroom, 2-bath homes are available to both veterans and non-veterans for $395 down. These low terms, the sales agent pointed out, are not usually offered in homes of this quality class.

Furnished models will be displayed for the first time this weekend, McFarland said, showing the step-saving floor plans, the color coordinated interiors and the traditional designs available.

Entry halls, mahogany doors, wallpapered breakfast nooks, natural finish kitchen cabinets, formica counter tops, waste disposals, acoustical plastered ceilings and painted plastered walls are among the exceptional features listed by the sales agent. Buyers may select from 16 different exterior designs, McFarland added.

To attend the preview of the homes, visitors from the Long Beach area may drive straight out Garden Grove Blvd. The homes are just past Harbor Blvd. on Garden Grove Blvd.

Diamonds Found

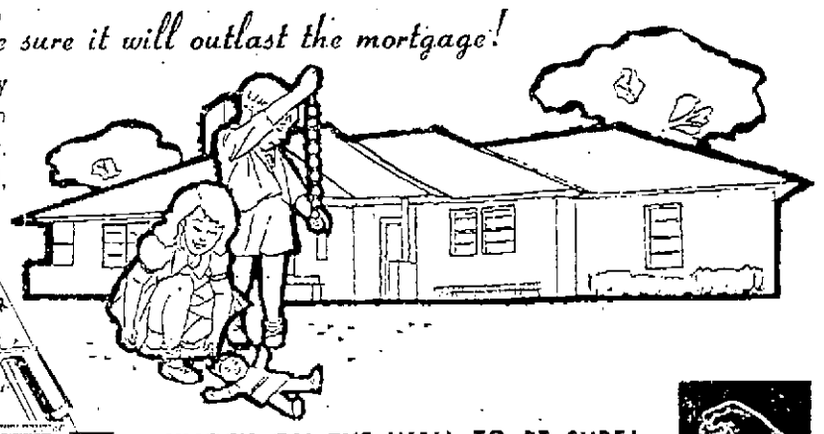

BANDJARMASIN, Borneo (AP)—Mining officials announced discovery of two big diamond deposits in Bahan Mountain, central Kalimantan, and said they should yield millions of rupiahs worth of stones monthly.

Stress Orangewood Manor Liberal Terms Given All

"We believe the terms for Orangewood Manor are the most liberal in Orange County," states Thomas Helt, spokesman for the McCarthy Co., sales agents for the popular Garden Grove development. Holt pointed out that not only can veterans buy in Orangewood Manor for absolutely no cash down, but veterans earning as little as $295 per month may qualify for a $12,750 home. Non-veterans may purchase for as little as $750 down.

Among the many popular features of these 3 and 4-bedroom, 2-bath homes are the beautiful kitchens which feature built-in range and oven in pastel colors to match the lovely Columbia steel cabinets. Real fireplaces and living rooms with ski-vue walls of glass, big patios, and built-in barbecues are added attributes.

Other custom features include: baths with Zolatone walls and asphalt tile flooring, Thermador electric bath heaters, stall showers and Standard colored plumbing fixtures; forced air heating, Pioneer 50-gallon water heaters, resilient cork tile flooring, walls of genuine lath and plaster, rockwool insulation, weatherstripping on exterior doors, heavy rock roofs in five decorator colors, and exteriors of California redwood siding.

From Long Beach, drive out 7th St. (Garden Grove Blvd.) and turn north on Magnolia. From Los Angeles, take the Santa Ana Freeway, turn south on Magnolia and continue four miles to Orangewood Manor.

ALDON'S 1956 SERIES

Shown above is one of the many new three and four-bedroom homes, all with two complete baths, making up the 1956 "Triumph Series" now on display at Buena Plaza, near Knott's Berry Farm, on La Palma Ave., east of Miller St., Buena Park.

Buena Plaza's Grand Opening of Big New Unit Is Continuing

Grand opening of the new "ahead of schedule" sixth unit of Triumph Series 3 and 4-bedroom, 2-bath homes at Buena Plaza will be continued this weekend, following an introductory week which pushed sales for the planned $50,000,000 community to nearly 1,600 dwellings for the first 11 months of this year.

This was announced yesterday by spokesmen for the fast-selling development on La Palma Ave., east of Miller St., just off the Santa Ana Freeway, in Buena Park. A top Aldon official commented:

"Opening of our newest advance-styled 1956-unit of homes was opportune, for it has given fresh impetus to interest in Buena Plaza's choice location, diversified stylings, interesting use of luxury materials and the availability of vets of nothing down but costs and impounds and non-vets terms as low as $990 down, plus costs and impounds."

Much of the steadily rising interest in the new 2100-home development, a spokesman said, lies in its acceptance as a thoroughly planned residential community, with great diversification of stylings, floor plans and color schemes, plus the Aldon-pioneered special treatment of exteriors to assure a unique degree of individuality.

The interesting uses to which such luxury materials are put by Aldon planners and craftsmen are illustrated for visitors at the "Greatest Home Show on Earth" in eight fully furnished model homes, with decor by Aaron Schultz, on La Palma Ave., east of Miller St., just off the Santa Ana Freeway in Buena Park. The exhibit offers both three and four-bedroom, two-bath homes of the new 1956 "Triumph Series."

"Buena Plaza is still able to offer veterans terms of absolutely nothing down but costs and impounds," an Aldon spokesman announced. "Monthly payments for vets are from $66.67 for principal and interest."

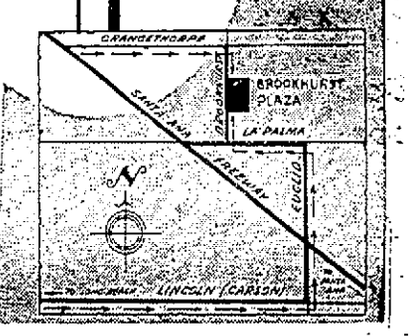

General sales agent E. "Billy" Hamburg stressed also that sales have been stimulated by the availability of special terms for non-vets in the new "Triumph Series" featuring down payments as low as $990 plus costs and impounds.

As developers of more than 25,000 homes in recent years, the Aldon Construction Co. crew of skilled craftsmen and designers have brought this tremendous backlog of experience to the fashioning of Buena Plaza, a $50,000,000 2100-home planned community of individualized dwellings.

Stylings range from California ranch, modern and colonial to provincial and farmhouse, with further differentiations in floor plans, color schemes and special use of richly textured woods, new colors and tone harmonies, cedar shingle sidewalls, V-joints, channel and board-and-batt redwood siding, shutters, varied roof pitches and highly diversified diamond pane, box frame and modern awning type window treatments.

Four special treatments of floor-to-ceiling brick or slumpstone fireplaces are reflected in the four-bedroom models, which also boast the generous use of many kinds of luxury panelling, the new "Aldon Glaze" on cabinetry and exterior wood trim.

IN MAGNOLIA ESTATES

Estates Sales Are Soaring

Promise of occupancy within twenty days and the favorable terms offered veterans and non-veterans alike resulted in unprecented sales last week at Magnolia Estates in Anaheim, it was announced by officials of Exhibit Homes, Inc., builder-developers of the community.

Prices start at $12,325 for the three or four-bedroom, two-bath, two-car garage homes and veterans may still take advantage of 30-year maturity loans with no down payment except closing costs and impounds. Monthly payments are from $63 and include principal and interest. Non-veterans may take advantage of the lowest possible terms, too.

Conventional in type, these homes have a minimum of 1325 square feet of living area, giving real spaciousness to all rooms. Designed by architect Daniel L. Dworsky, every home features large picture windows, roomy walk-in pantries, large dining areas, big service porches and all-metal sliding glass door to the unusually shaped patios.

Four furnished models are on view and may be reached from Los Angeles by the Santa Ana Freeway to Magnolia in Anaheim; then turn south on Magnolia to the property, located between La Palma and Crescent Aves.

The kitchens have natural ash cabinets and ceramic tile around the sink. Baths include stall showers with ceramic tile floors.

Heating is by forced air and large automatic gas water heaters are included.

Magnolia Estates is close to well established shopping centers, business districts, churches and fine schools, as well as to recreational centers and to new industrial hubs.

Buena Berry Park Starting New Unit

Don Coleman, sales agent for the Moss Building Corp., announced yesterday the beginning of construction of unit 3 for Buena Berry Park in Buena Park. Buena Berry Park, situated just one block east of famed Knott's Berry Farm, is only 20 minutes driving time from Long Beach and only 25 minutes from Los Angeles.

Coleman stated that no down payment is still available for a qualified veteran, except costs and impounds. He emphasized the cheaper than rent idea, and pointed out that monthly terms were as low as $58.92. Non-veterans, he added, need pay as little as $1600 down with FHA financing assured.

Outstanding features are built-in gas oven and range, forced-air heat, raised-hearth fireplaces in some stylings.

NO DOWN TO VETS

Buena Berry Park announced starting the third unit of homes such as this which veterans may purchase with nothing down except impounds and costs.

Exiciting homemaker advantages are decorative breakfast bars, two-tone kitchen cabinets, disposals, sliding glass doors to the patios, central hall plans.

Situated on dry, healthful terrain, with full-grown orange trees on some lots, Buena Berry Park homes are close to schools, churches, and shopping centers.

A new model home is on display daily, furnished by Sempliner's of Los Angeles.

From Long Beach drive out Carson which becomes Lincoln Ave. to Huntington Beach Blvd. (Hwy. 39), turn left to models.

Eastchester Park Popular

A survey among buyers in Eastchester Park, popular Fullerton development, reveals that the spaciousness of these homes combined with the indoor-outdoor themes of their architecture are among the more popular features, it was stated by Mel Mack, sales agent for the development.

"Eastchester Park homes of three and four bedrooms and two baths were designed for the growing American family," Mack pointed out. "Large rooms, ample cabinet space, oversize lots, fireplace in the 'ski-vue' living rooms, barbecues in patios are some of the features enthusiastically applauded by Eastchester Park buyers," he continued.

Mack also stated that for a limited time veterans can still purchase in Eastchester Park with no down payment, just costs and impounds. Non-veterans can buy for as little as $750 down.

Eastchester Park model homes are at Orangethorpe and Nicklett in friendly Fullerton. From Los Angeles, take the Santa Ana Freeway and turn east on Orangethorpe to Nicklett. From Long Beach drive out Carson to Highway 39, turn north to Orangethorpe, then east to Eastchester Park.

IVAN HELDE
From Lumber Jack to Broker

Ex-Lumberjack Is Honored as L.B. Realtor of Week

A former lumberjack who entered the oil business and then got interested in realty by chatting with a broker during his lunch hour is the Realtor of the Week honored by the Long Beach Board.

Ivan Helde, a native of Seattle, engaged in lumber cutting four years, after finishing school, then operated his own grocery store for a time. Later he joined Standard Oil and was transferred to Long Beach in 1945 in an office capacity.

"During my lunch hour I would walk around the downtown and I often dropped in the office of Jim Garth, veteran Long Beach broker," explains Helde. "He got me interested in real estate and I gave up my job and went to work for him."

For the past five years Helde has held his own broker's license and his office is at 1240½ E. 4th St. He has been successful from the start and specializes in income property.

Helde also is taking extension courses from the University of Southern California, studying appraising and real estate law.

Mr. and Mrs. Helde and their 2-year old twins, a boy and girl, live at 4410 Rosada Ave. He likes golf but admits he has little time to play the game.

PAT ROBERTSON, THE SALESMAN of the week, who came from "the land of snow," is one realty salesman who knows all about construction.

Coming from Carthage, Mo., to Hollywood with her husband and two children in mid-December of 1937, the family found California "sunny and just like heaven itself must be," she explains.

Music was her hobby, having played over a Joplin radio station, WMBH. She also had gone to work after arriving here, serving as office manager of an infant wear concern.

In 1940 Pat decided to do some building and she sub-contracted all construction for a home in Burbank. It was a success and she has continued to purchase and remodel old homes with equal success. One of the homes she improved was featured in the Southland Magazine last spring.

In July of this year she received her realty salesman's license and is now with the Morris Holmquist office at 2182 Pacific Ave.

She belongs to the North Long Beach Realty Club, the Long Beach Board of Realtors—where she hasn't missed a meeting. As for a hobby, she says realty provides that.

"I find that real estate has no limit in meeting new friends every day and I'm mighty proud to be in the profession."

She resides at 5818 Jaymills St.

Seeking $450,000 for Resort Damage

INDIO (U.P.)—Owners of a former resort community on the shore of Salton Sea seek $450,000 damage against the Coachella Valley County and Imperial Irrigation Water Districts.

The owners of the Desert Beach Corp. in the damage suit charged that the irrigation waste water pumped into the desert sea by the water districts has inundated and ruined the resort.

Special Showing Is Given by Ponty-Anaheim Homes

Three architect-designed model homes at Ponty-Anaheim have been completely furnished and landscaped for this week end's special showing which is highlighted by Developer George Ponty's anncuncement that vets earning as little as $85 a week may qualify to buy the spacious 1,394-sq.-ft. dwellings on Ball Rd., at Nutwood, in Anaheim.

Vets' terms, Ponty pointed out, are nothing down except costs and impounds which total $289. The 4-bedroom, 2-bath homes are priced at $14,250, described by the builder as being "substantially less than the prices of comparable houses in the fast-growing Anaheim area."

A spokesman for Walker & Lee, sales agents, forecast an early sell-out of the Ponty-built development of 73 homes, adding:

"These houses have 1,990 square feet under roof, almost 1,400 square feet of actual living area; they have an abundance of closets and cupboards; the backyards are completely fenced. In short, these are real family homes, in dimensions and in appointments.

"The automatic water heaters have a 50-gallon capacity. The forced-air heating system is 75,000 BTU, and has a summer cooling switch. One of the four bedrooms in each house has its own private connecting bath. In the central hall connecting the den and other two bedrooms of every model there are a large, deep wardrobe and two spacious linen closets. In the kitchen is a pull-out breakfast and serving bar, which is only one of countless thoughtfully planned time-savers for easy housekeeping."

Built-in gas ranges and ovens in a wide choice of bright colors, automatic clothes dryers, natural ash, kitchen cabinets, Superamic tile worktops, custom-designed brick fireplaces, French doors and huge picture windows in living-dining rooms, dens and bedrooms are luxuries every homemaker will appreciate. All Ponty-Anaheim homes have two-car garages.

Occupancy at close of escrow is assured, according to Walker & Lee.

Ponty-Anaheim is reached by turning right off the Santa Ana Freeway at La Palma, crossing tracks to Sequoia (which immediately becomes Brookhurst), continuing on Brookhurst to Ball Rd., then turning left and proceeding three-tenths of a mile to the furnished models.

Shown is one of many four-bedroom, two-bath home stylings now offered at Ponty-Anaheim on Ball Rd., between Agate and Nutwood. Homes have front, rear and side lawns planted; three trees and 15 shrubs.

Vet Needs Only $145 in Shamrock Park

New financing arrangements at Shamrock Park permit veterans to move in by paying only $145, stated Frank Hart, general sales manager of Walker & Lee, Inc., sales agents for the Garden Grove development. At the same time, Hart pointed out that there are a limited number of Shamrock Park homes available to non-veterans on a rent-with-option-to-buy plan.

In Shamrock Park buyers still can purchase needed appliances such as refrigerator, range and washer by having the price applied to their loan. This gives veterans an opportunity to move into a new home with appliances installed for absolutely no additional cash outlay. Monthly payments are $58.66 including principal and interest, with total prices starting at $11,575.

One of the most popular features at Shamrock Park since its recent grand opening is the large living rooms with walls of glass and real fireplaces, Hart noted.

Shamrock Park homes are designed for contemporary living to meet the demand for efficiently planned floor plans and elevations to suit family needs, Hart pointed out, and they include many luxury features usually associated with custom-built homes.

Shamrock Park is reached from Los Angeles and northern points by taking the Santa Ana Freeway to Harbor and turning south. From Long Beach, take 7th St. (Garden Grove Blvd.) and turn south at Harbor to Shamrock Park model homes.

New FHA Financing Terms on Brookhurst Plaza Home

New FHA financing terms have been announced for Brookhurst Plaza, popular Anaheim development, it was announced by Reno H. Sirrene, sales agent for R. & W. Construction Co., developers.

Nonveterans may now purchase Brookhurst Plaza homes for as little as $1400 down, plus costs and impounds, Reno Sirrene stated.

"These terms are, to my knowledge, the lowest for this type of home in the area. Monthly payments are as low as $78, which includes everything—taxes, principal and interest. Veterans may still purchase for no down payment," Sirrene added. The 3 and 4-bedroom, 2-bath homes are priced from $12,900.

Brookhurst Plaza was built by R. & W. Construction Co., and one of the outstanding features that has attracted attention to these desirable homes are the efficiently designed and handsomely appointed kitchens, which include built-in Western Holly ovens and ranges, easy to care for natural birch cabinets, electric exhaust fans, GE garbage disposals, convenient double compartments, sinks and breakfast areas.

Model homes are on Brookhurst Ave., just north of La Palma. From Los Angeles and northern areas, drive out the Santa Ana Freeway to La Palma, then east to Brookhurst and north to the model homes. From Long Beach, drive out Carson (Lincoln Highway) to Euclid Ave., turn north, cross the Freeway into La Palma, west to Brookhurst and north to the model homes.

Quality, Luxury in Beverly Gardens Home

George J. Heltzer and Associates, builder-developers of prestige communities, have keynoted homes with quality, luxury and many features for over 30 years. George J. Heltzer, president of the company said: "Every home in our newest community, Beverly Gardens in Garden Grove, gives the purchaser quality, value, luxury and individuality, plus features galore seldom offered in Beverly Garden's price range. All these things are deciding factors in the tremendous sales success of this development, we believe.

"Top value comes from top quality," Heltzer continued. "A Heltzer-built home stresses quality of material, of construction, of workmanship, of design and of appointments. We stand by our motto that there is no substitute for quality."

Heltzer pointed out that only the finest materials are used in Beverly Gardens homes, only the best construction goes into them.

Quality of design is assured by architects who have planned 20 different floor variations and 33 different elevations and architectural styles for the community.

Quality of appointments is integral in the famous brands used for luxury features like steel sliding glass doors and screens; forced air heating furnaces; built-in kitchen cabinets of natural finish; garbage disposers; bath fixtures including two-colored luxurious lavatories in Mr. and Mrs. Design, pullman cabinets in the master baths; coppertone range hoods with fans and lights; and formica drainboards on large sinks.

David R. Berman, Heltzer associate in charge of Beverly Gardens noted that Beverly Gardens offers everyone unusually easy 4½ per cent financing with small down payments and monthly terms of just $61.35, including principal and interest while veterans still pay no money down except closing costs and impounds.

Beverly Gardens is within easy reach of Long Beach via 7th St. (Garden Grove Blvd.) to West St.; turn left and drive to Chapman St. and the model homes in the huge Gateway to Quality Home Show of 14 furnished and landscaped homes.

The four-bedroom, two-bath "Georgetown" model, shown above, is typical of the smartly styled homes in Beverly Gardens in Garden Grove, featuring quality, luxury touches and many unusual appointments.

New Draft Beer Now Packaged

Long Beach beer drinkers may now buy a full-strength draft beer in bottles and cans, announced Charles J. Lick, manager of the Eastside brewery in Los Angeles, this week.

This is the first time in California that a draft beer has been packaged in bottles and cans, said Lick. The beer has the same brewing formula as the draft beer brewed by Eastside when a state law was passed in September, allowing the alcoholic content of draft beer to be increased to 5 per cent by volume, he said.

LOADED WITH LUXURY FEATURES

Builders of Luxury Homes in Garden Grove point to 44 extra features they are providing in the homes which are being offered in a grand opening this week end. This shows the living room of one of the models.

Grand Opening Today for New Unit of Luxury Homes

The builders of Luxury Homes in Garden Grove report that although male members of the family will be very much impressed wth the quality construction features of the home, housewives are expected to be especially excited with the ultra-modern conviences of the "Luxury" kitchen. Grand opening is underway for the homes this week end.

A few of the kitchen features include a convenient built-in gas oven and table-top range, handy garbage disposal, "easy-to-clean" formica drainboards, an abundance of imported mohogany cabinets and a cozy built-in breakfast nook with foam plastic seats.

Luxury homes have 44 extra features incorporated in each distinctive residence. Located at Brookhurst Ave. and Ball Rd. in Garden Grove, these custom-built luxurized contemporary homes are available on no down payment to veterans, with total monthly payments of $62.99.

FHA terms are available to all. That means any qualified buyer may secure a 25-year, government guaranteed loan, at only 4½ per cent interest and monthly payments for principal and interest are only $61.72 per month. Five model homes are on display daily between 10 a. m. and 8 p. m.

Another unusual planning feature of "Luxury Homes" is the emphasis on outdoor living. All homes are provided with a large backyard fully enclosed with decorative redwood fencing. Incinerators and clothes poles have also been provided. The distinctive front of each home is individually landscaped.

The homemaker will appreciate her choice of a wide selection of decorator colors for personalized color planning, including custom colored bathroom fixtures. Color co-ordination has been planned by J. Thomas Wilner and Associates.

A spacious stall shower in the second bathroom, is another popular "Luxury Homes" feature.

Forced-air heat, thermostatically controlled, offers scientifically planned air circulation throughout the house.

The tract is located in an area which combines the advantages of country living with the convenience of city commuting. New shopping areas bring everything the family desires within easy reach. New highways and freeways bring Garden Grove conveniently close to industrial and commercial Los Angeles, Long Beach, Santa Ana, Pasadena and other Southern California communities.

Low-Cost Plane

MAYFIELD, N. Y. (UP)—Owen S. Billman is a firm believer in "do-it-yourself." The 34-year-old salesman has built his own airplane from second-hand parts at a cost of only $500. The craft, about a third the size of a Piper Cub, has been granted a certificate of airworthiness by the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

Miracle Homes Location Big Factor in Good Sales

Scores of families visited Miracle Homes on the opening day of sales and appeared impressed with the location. Several cash sales were made, the developers report.

Many years ago Young-Loftus Construction Co. adopted as prime requirements in land acquisition the following: Property must be well located with reference to highways; it must be well-drained; the soil must be good; schools, stores and churches must be convenient; and the area must be growing and progressive; and employment sources must be within 30 minutes. Miracle Homes possess all these necessary items, officials pointed out.

Knott's Berry Farm, employing hundreds of part time and full time workers, is a quarter-mile away Disneyland is about 3 miles. The huge Anaheim, Fullerton, Los Angeles East Side and Long Beach industrial areas are well within a 30-minute drive. Some of the biggest names in industry such as U. S. Motors, Delco Batteries, Robertshaw, Douglas, North American are nearby.

Miracle Homes are well designed and well built, salesmen pointed out. Federal Housing Administration standards, which mean high grade work, are used. The homes have 3 bedrooms or 2 bedrooms and den. Some have fireplaces. Select oak floors 24 inches off the ground are used. All homes have rear yards completely fenced with airflow Redwood fence. Cement sidewalks and curbs, ornamental street lights, parkway trees, landscaping, lawn and shrubbery, all are included. Prices begin at $13,200 with no down payments except costs and impounds for Vets. Non-Vets will find the best terms with up to 30 years payment period.

Three furnished Model Homes are on display from 9 to 6 daily, on Grand Ave. at Crescent Ave. south of Knott's Berry Farm.

Innovations Attract Buyers to Park South in Buena Park

Innovations in homes of the middle price bracket are credited with sending sales to new heights at Park South in Buena Park by officials of Exhibit Homes, Inc., builder-developers.

Master bedrooms, 16 feet in width, have recessed dressing alcoves, king size stall showers in private baths, wall-to-wall bathroom mirrors and, as an optional feature, 21-inch TV built into the wall, with bedside controls.

Yet these houses are priced from just $14,650, available to veterans at no down payment except $300 in impounds and closing costs, and to non-veterans for only $1995 down.

These 3- and 4-bedroom, 2-bath homes may be reached from Long Beach by driving east on Carson St., which becomes Lincoln Ave., then turning north on Miller St. where four furnished models may be visited daily.

Thirteen exterior designs are offered with four basic floor plans, allowing buyers a free rein to individual taste. Homes are planned for easy furniture arrangements and housewives are pampered with big closets and large storage space.

A real innovation in Park South homes is the big kitchen-family room which opens into the living-dining area to provide an expanse 23 by 28 feet for entertaining.

And an "outdoor living-room" can be added with the flick of a finger just by sliding the big glass doors to the patio.

When privacy is desired a folding accordion door closes off the family-room-kitchen from the rest of the house.

Builders stated that another noteworthy feature in these homes is the big walk-in pantry which increases kitchen storage space by at least 50 per cent.

The kitchens themselves are outstanding with smart birch cabinets, garbage disposer, tile wainscot at the range, copper-tone exhaust hood with concealed light and fan, six-foot wide windows overlooking the play yard and built-in spice and cannister sets for that extra touch of luxury.

The planned community is reached via the Santa Ana Freeway to Valley View Blvd.; turn right and drive straight ahead to the property.

PARK SOUTH HOME

Pictured is four-bedroom home at Park South in Buena Park featuring wide eaves, rock roof, family room that may be shut off from living area by folding doors, and 16-foot master bedroom with private bath and recessed dressing room.

Garden Homes Draw

The Don Coleman Co., exclusive agent for the California Garden Homes subdivision, stated that 50 per cent of the first unit was sold last week end at the preview. This tremendous sales response was attributed to the outstanding features and Garden Grove location.

The 3- and 4-bedroom 2-bath homes are completely fenced and landscaped and feature built-in dishwasher, range and oven, range vent hood, built-in Formica table, hardwood cabinets, wall of glass overlooking entertainment size patios, sliding door wardrobes, coved formica sink tops, and pool-size lots, according to spokesman of the Don Coleman Co., exclusive agents.

The homes are of transitional, ranch and contemporary stylings and may be purchased by veterans under no down payment 30-year terms, it was stated by Coleman, and are priced from $12,700. The 158-home subdivision is within walking distance of schools, shopping and public transportation, it was stated.

The furnished models may be reached from Los Angeles via the Santa Ana Freeway to Grand Avenue (Hwy. 39), then south to Cerritos and left two miles to models. From Long Beach, drive straight east on Spring St. which becomes Cerritos and to the furnished model homes.

Report Many Sales in Paradise Square

Heavy sales credited to unusual home value were reported yesterday by Martin Friedman and Ted Leff, heads of the Tedmar Construction Co., developers of Paradise Square, new 3-bedroom-and-family-room and 4-bedroom, 2-bath homes rising in Anaheim just 4 blocks from the Santa Ana Freeway and three blocks from the new Broadway Department Store.

"Total purchase price of these spacious homes, with 1,300 square feet of living area," a spokesman explained, "is $14,565—yet it would be impossible to replace them today at this price.

"Included in this unusual value are wide lot, all city utilities, valued at $4,200; complete redwood fencing, landscaping and sprinklers, valued at $615 and the luxurized home itself, built by Tedmar Construction Co. at the low figure of $7.50 per square foot, with total value of $9,750."

Paradise Square, they explained, is just two short blocks from a grade school and but a mile and a half from the Anaheim civic and shopping center, high schools, city parks, churches and amusements. Also near at hand are three free junior colleges while the beaches and other fun spots can be reached in just a few minutes driving time.

Offered in a choice of three-bedroom and family room or four-bedroom models, all with two baths, the homes are still available on 30-year VA-guaranteed loans to vets for nothing down, except costs an dimpounds. Non-vets can choose between FHA or conventional loan terms with 10 per cent down, it was stated.

Popular features are built-in ranges, ovens and rotissiere; massive fireplaces, forced air heating, colored bathroom fixtures and two glass enclosed showers. Buyers have a choice of color in kitchen appliances; copper, stainless steel or pastel porcelain shades.

Also included are landscaping, fencing, sprinkler system, extra-large driveways, and such interior features as all-aluminum sliding glass doors, floor-to-ceiling sliding windows, overhead indirect lighting, natural finish birch cabinets, big double sinks with coved formica drainboards, garbage disposers, and exhaust fans.

'Stiff' Sentence for Two Youths

MITCHELL, S. D. (U.P.)—Municipal Judge Merton B. Tice turned stern schoolmaster recently and sentenced two Huron, S. D., young men to write 1,000 times, "I will not destroy anyone else's property." They were charged with malicious mischief for throwing beer bottles at a truck.

I WISH to express my thanks to the Long Beach Orthopedic Service, 2295 Pacific Ave., in 1951 I lost my right leg. I was fitted with several artificial limbs by other companies but was unable to walk successfully without a cane. My stump was ulcerated because of ill fitting limbs. The limbs I now wear was made by the Long Beach Orthopedic Service. I got a perfect fitting limb. I never use a cane and the ulcers are gone. Now I can walk well, can dance and climb on mountains.

"COVER GIRL HOUSE"
"Le Dernier Cri"—the last word to quote the French. General impression of one grand sweep of exterior seems to set up a happy partnership between life within and the out-of-doors. The open living room is keyed to enjoyment of all seasons with large fireplace, outdoor patio and swimming pool. 2 large bedrooms, panelled den with built-in bar, Hi Fi and TV, all-electric kitchen 2½ baths, w/w carpet and drapes —this one for a quick sale at $22,450 which is $15,000 below actual cost! $12,000 will handle. Shown by appointment only.

TV Tele-Vues

by TERRY VERNON

We're off again on a trip around one portion of the "Wide Wide World" on (4) at 1 p. m. as 60 cameras record what is going on today from coast-to-coast and border-to-border in these United States.

The New Orleans' French Quarter, San Francisco Bay, Vancouver, Carlsbad Caverns, the State of Washington, the San Fernando Valley and the Statue of Liberty all will be visited. And there'll be side trips, too, as Dave Garroway conducts a look at Gallery Row in New York where the works of famed Grandma Moses are on display. She may be around to talk with Lillian Gish, Thomas J. Watson and many other famous persons.

Six cameras will go underground for a look at the famous Carlsbad Caverns in New Mexico. This is a highly technical job for the engineers but they have managed to solve all the problems of televising 800 feet below the earth's surface.

EDUCATIONAL PROBLEMS—Taking over the time usually given to "Omnibus" will be CBS vice president Edward R. Murrow and his "See It Now" on (2) at 2 p. m. This 90-minute show will delve with all the usual Murrow thoroughness into our educational problems. In preparation for several months, "Ballots at Bear Creek: An Educational Western" promises to be an outstanding treatise on the subject. "Omnibus" is back next week.

AT 8 P. M.—Top Hollywood personalities will be in the audience at the Cocoanut Grove for the Modern Screen 25th Anniversary Party and annual award-giving which becomes the "Variety Hour" on (4). On stage will be Bob Hope, Lana Turner, Kirk Douglas, Claudette Colbert, John Wayne, Anna Maria Alberghetti, Gordon MacRae and many, many more. . . . "Ed Sullivan Show" on (2) features Pearl Bailey, comic Dick Shawn, The Goofers, the Collier's All-American Football Team, the Princeton Triangle Club and Licia Albanese, Met star, with her son, 3-year-old Gimma III. Only Westerner on the All-American is guard Hardiman Curcton of UCLA.

DRAMA—Peter Lawford gambles on getting away with murder as he takes the place of a dead man in an attempt to claim an inheritance during "Alfred Hitchcock Presents" on (2) at 9:30 p. m. . . . Melvyn Douglas stars as an eminent businessman who becomes a Presidential advisor and the target of a sharp-shooting congressional investigating committee during "The Alcoa Hour" on (4) at 9 p. m. . . . Lisa Kirk and Jack Carter co-star on the "G. E. Theatre" at 9 p. m. on (2). She is a famed recording star, he is her manager. They plan to be wed but each date that is set falls through due to his pushing her career. This adds up to too much for the girl, who suffers a mental breakdown. . . . Dinah Shore takes over the "Loretta Young Show" as hostess on (4) at 10 p. m. and presents Margaret Hayes and Gerald Mohr in a tale of love and jealousy set against a background of revolution in Central America.

GRANDMA MOSES
Has New Display

TELE-TIPS — The Rams and Eagles play football today and (7) winds up its coverage of Pro-Football for the season at 11 a. m. . . . Dorleon Porter, a Jordan High School dancer, will be featured on Al Burton's new "Club Revue" at 5:30 p. m. on (9). . . . An hour-long film of the Santa Claus parade in Hollywood held Saturday will be seen on (5) at 4:30 p. m. . . . "Great Churches of the Golden West" honors the chaplain service during a telecast from the USS Los Angeles anchored in the harbor on (11) at 11 a. m. . . . "Let's Take a Trip" to the Chicago Livestock Exposition on (2) at 1:30 p. m. . . . Drew Pearson reports on the opposition to Vice President Richard M. Nixon as a Presidential possibility during his talk on (7) at 2 p. m. following the pro-football game. Drew's column appears daily in The Independent. . . . A factual report on "Chamberlain at Munich" will be the "You Are There" offering on (2) at 6 p. m. . . . The best performances seen on the show during 1952 will be headlined again on "You Asked for It" at 7 p. m. on (7).

STORY LINES—Four football tickets to the big game kick-off a comedy sequence on "It's a Great Life," starring Michael O'Shea, James Dunn and William Bishop on (4) at 7 p. m. The trio of "college freshmen" wind up with more seats than they can handle. . . . Vi Praskins gets tired of accepting so she trades jobs with Susie MacNamara during "Private Secretary" on (2) at 7 p.m. and finds out about square pegs and round holes.

RADIO HIGHLIGHTS

Jack Benny is the special guest on the "Edgar Bergen Hour" at 4:05 p. m. on KNX and becomes involved with Charlie McCarthy over a trailer and Benny's Palm Springs Trailer Park.

Keenan Wynn plays the role of a famous clown in a drama of circus life on "Your Radio Theatre" at 2:05 p. m. on KFI. The clown vanishes from the circus in a search for his own identity.

A new Christmas song, "Round, Round the Christmas Tree" will be introduced by Gene Autry during his show on KNX at 7:05 p. m. Merle Travis, writer of "Sixteen Tons," will be honored guest on the show.

The Rams vs. Eagles pro game is on KHJ at 10:50 a. m.

Historian Dr. Arnold J. Toynbee will be the central figure of "America Town Meeting" on KABC at 7 p. m. and will be interviewed by a distinguished group of the clergy.

UC Library Gets Rare Church Book

BERKELEY (U.P.)—A rare copy of the Mormon book of commandments valued at "several thousand dollars" was presented Saturday to the University of California's Bancroft Library.

The book is known to most Mormons as "The Doctrine and Covenants."

Dr. George P. Hammond, library director, said the book was printed in 1832-33 at Zion, Mo., marking the farthest westward advance of publishing in America at that time.

Buildings at British USAF Base Sinking

BURTONWOOD, England (U.P.)—Buildings at this big U.S. Air Force base are sinking. Officials say coal mining operations are responsible and warned that after 1960 the runway system may not be safe. They are talking with local mine chiefs to see what can be done.

ID Tags for Children

BONN, Germany (U.P.)—West Germany plans to issue identification tags to children to help identify them in the event of catastrophe. The metal tags will bear the name, MV blood type and fingerprints of the owner.

Words and Music

By JOHN B. CALLAGHAN

Most of us say that Christmas is a time for the children . . . and it is. But we suspect that few of us adults are above enjoying the gifts that Christmas brings . . . of merriment, good cheer . . . and presents.

There'll be a lot of adults looking forward to a musical Christmas this year . . . because it seems that more and more adults are tur

Reflect Merriment of Season at Wonderland Ball

A GLIMPSE OF THE ELABORATE decorations to be used for the annual Rick Racker Winter Wonderland Ball, which will take place Saturday, Dec. 3, at Pacific Coast Club, is given by members Mrs. William Osborne, holding the miniature deer; Mrs. Richard Walker with the tiny red and white satin Santa in sleigh; Mrs. F. A. Utecht Jr. and Mrs. Irving Smith Jr. The formal dinner dance is a highlight of the winter social season in Long Beach. All proceeds go to the West Long Beach Girls' Club in Truman Boyd Manor. Mrs. Ethel Severson, ways and means chairman of Rick Rackers, is general chairman. (Additional picture on Page W-2.)

GOLD AND SILVER ANGELS will form a portion of the decor at the annual Rick Racker Winter Wonderland Ball as shown by Mrs. John Arnold, left, and Mrs. Sherman Toft, both serving on the decorations committee with chairman Mrs. Clyde Dunlap Jr. Six-foot wreaths of English holly, yuletide bows of Christmas red and two-foot regal angels will be used for decorations.

Christmas Fantasy Dec. 2-6 by Sandlarks

Quaint miniature Christmas trees, shimmering mobiles, festive door pieces, and the unusual in holiday centerpieces will be beautifully displayed when the third Sandlarks Christmas Fantasy opens Dec. 2 in the lobby of the Wilton Hotel.

Following an afternoon coffee preview, a formal opening will take place in the evening when trophies will be awarded to the winning donors and beautifully gowned Sandlarks will greet their guests at this outstanding event of the holiday season.

Donated by local merchants, florists, and individuals, the holiday decorations for the home will be on display for four days and sold to the public. Entire proceeds will go to the Children's Home Society to further its adoption work. Adding interest to the Fantasy this year is a special trophy being awarded in the florists category and another to the best entry from the Navy ships in the harbor.

Fantasy chairman is Mrs. Martha Ford, assisted by 18 active members of Sandlarks. Helping to greet the public and explain the work of the Children's Home Society will be 20 new sustaining members of the group.

Acting as judges this year will be Malcolm Epley, Mrs. Walter Desmond Jr., Ruth Allen, Howard L. Rogers and Jimmy Jones. Frank Lovejoy, TV and movie star, will present the cups and awards Friday evening, and Miss Ceylon of the Miss Universe Pageant will be among the guests.

Sandlarks, one of 70 auxiliaries throughout the state to work for Children's Home Society, was organized four years ago by a group of Long Beach women interested in adoption work. Children's Home Society is a member of the local Community Chest.

Show to Preview Yule Table Decor

A scene of holiday sparkle will be the Cavalier Room of Lafayette Hotel on Tuesday when the Auxiliary to the Long Beach Osteopathic Society will sponsor its first annual Christmas table-setting show. From 1 until 5 o'clock guests will view tables decorated in festive holiday array by leading merchandisers of the harbor area.

One outstanding display will feature a priceless rose Canton china Princess bowl on an antique rosewood table. All phases of holiday entertaining, with imaginative use of the most beautiful in silver, linens, china, and centerpieces will be seen.

Among the settings will be a formal buffet done in gold and white, "The day before Christmas in a pink kitchen," Christmas at Grandmother's" done in milk glass, a childrens' party.

Coffee Hour to Be Event for Alumnae

Plans for the year will be discussed when Kappa Kappa Gamma alumnae meet Tuesday at a coffee hour in the home of Mrs. James Shively Jr., 3715 Gaviota Ave. Mrs. Charles Secton, chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. Eugene Beebe.

A full schedule has been planned by the president, Mrs. Richard Smith. Among events scheduled are a Christmas party, fund raising occasion and a May brunch.

Rick Rackers Begin Holiday at Soiree

Like the miracle of winter's first snow that silently and beautifully dresses the earth anew, comes the time each year when informal summer days are gone and autumn casualness yields at last to the more elegant events of winter.

One of the most brilliant social affairs of the year, always anticipated with pleasure, is the annual Rick Racker Winter Wonderland Ball, the formal dinner dance whose gaiety belies its underlying purpose. The charity benefit proceeds are designated for the West Long Beach Girls' Club in Truman Boyd Manor. Mrs. Ethel Severson, ways and means chairman, is general chairman for the ball.

Mrs. Clyde Dunlap Jr. and her committee will dress the Pacific Coast Club in colorful garb on Saturday, Dec. 3. They will direct the placing of six-foot wreaths of English holly, and Yuletide bows of Christmas red, and will place on the tables angels full twenty-four inches high, regal in gold metallic skirts and ethereal with white angel hair.

Assisting Mrs. Dunlap will be Mmes. Ralph Anderson, Kenneth Davidson, Merretta Harris, Irving Smith Jr., Sherman Toft and Richard Walker.

Greeting dinner guests as they enter the club will be Mrs. Severson, her ways and means committee and their escorts. Receiving will be Messrs. and Mmes. Robert Bailey, Eugene Kirkpatrick, Jack Marquette, Kenneth Walker, Richard Walker and Jack Warnock.

More beautiful than the winter wonderland atmosphere will be the ladies in their lovely ball gowns.

Mrs. Severson will wear a Sybil Connally gown of Irish linen, pleated, and soft blue-grey.

Mrs. E. Decatur Mitchell, Rick Racker president, will wear a full-skirted ballerina length gown of ice blue Chantilly lace, with rock crystal and pearls gleaming a lovely accent on the bodice.

With an aqua dress featuring an opalescent sequin trimmed bodice, Mrs. R. Philip Dowds will wear glass slippers. A powder blue Cecil Chapman sheath is the choice of Mrs. John Turner.

Mrs. John Arnold will be gowned in a Martha Washington creation of white lace, worn with a red nylon sash and red satin slippers for the gayest of accents.

A ballerina length dress of champagne net over brown lace is the subtle color choice of Mrs. Robert Bailey. Winter white wool jersey, a sheath beaded with rhinestones and crystals and worn with rhinestone slippers is Mrs. W. A. Smith Jr's. selection.

Mrs. Larry Bonzer will swirl across the dance floor in a full-skirted ballerina length gown of black taffeta, smartly accented with red stitching. Red is the preference of Mrs. Ralph Anderson, whose chiffon pleated dress is in brilliant flame red.

Pearls and pink sequins will highlight a pale pink taffeta gown to be worn by Mrs. O. W. Van Deerhoof.

Hosts at the many cocktail parties preceding the dance will be Messrs. and Mmes. E. Decatur Mitchell, R. Philip Dowds and John Turner who will entertain together in the Mitchell home for 70 friends; the Harry Fultons who will have 11 couples in their home before the party; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Warnock and the Jack Marquettes who will fete 15 couples; Mrs. Ethel Severson and the W. A. Smiths Jr. who will entertain a large party in a private room at the Pacific Coast Club early in the evening before the dance.

Gathering at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Earl Wallace will be ten couples; Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Utecht Jr. will entertain 14 friends at their home; Mr. and Mrs. Dean Lucas have asked 20 friends to their home before the dance; the Clyde Dunlaps Jr. and the Richard Walkers will be co-hosts in the Dunlap home.

ALL DRESSED UP AND SOMEPLACE TO GO

By IOLA MASTERSON

Thanksgiving is over, there's snow in the mountains and you have just 24 more shopping days 'til Christmas! Hoo, boy. Now's the season to make like waltzing mouses with electronic brains.

From now on, in our book, all parties are holiday parties, whether they have tinsel on the table or not. Ferrel (Mrs. Richard) Schug and Naomi (Mrs. Harry) Vanley will bridge the gap between turkey day and the real swhoosh of the season with a brunch on Wednesday at the Virginia Country Club. Woodsy pine cones and bright, red berries will center the big buffet where about 150 guests will pick and choose with gusto from chafing dishes and bowls filled with yummies. Before brunch there'll be time for talk over coffee in the lounge.

Fran and Len Cowley opened their smart Park Estates home at 5401 El Cedral Wednesday night for a late "bonus" party for members of the Long Beach Dinner Club after club meeting and dinner at the Lafayette Hotel. Speaker Arch Coleman's topic, "What Our Undercover Men Uncover for Us," was reviewed over liquids and snacks. Cohosts of the late party were Dodie and Ben Balkema. Regardless of the exciting talk just heard, interest was just bound to center around Len's sister, Kay Noren, who flew into town from her home in Stockholm, Sweden, Sunday, and was a special, special guest of the evening. Kay, who is dividing her time between Fran and Len and her parents, the J. S. Cowley's, has made Svenska Land her home for the past 22 years ever since she fell in love with a dashing Nordic lad and married him!

If Ruby and Elmer List had written "welcome" in blazing neon letters 20 feet high and perched them on a hilltop they couldn't have made their meaning more plain than with the we're-glad-you're-here dinner party of last night. It took place in their home: "Round Hill," in Rolling Hills for a gang of friends, many just returned from far places.

Guests of honor included Edith and Leon Nettleton, who are residing in our midst from their home in New York while they study California's school system on a Ford Fellowship. Edith and Bill Thompson were among the honored because they're back from a trip around the world which consumed a good-sized hunk of the year. Sonnie Hemmi, just back from Europe, was an honoree, too. So were Cecille and Chuck Colvin, who didn't exactly wear out the world's roads but had a wonderful time on a fishing trip to Colorado.

The List's son and daughter-in-law, Donna and Jack, in town for the Thanksgiving holiday from home in Lancaster, joined the rest of the happy dinner guests including Eleanor and Herb Carlson, Grace and Elmore Jones, Bobbie and Bob Shoemaker, Gertrude and Will Winston, Maude and Wallace Taylor, Eleanor and Walter Boyd, Vi and Bill Dovey, Nina and John Harris, Zoe Thompson, Harry Bergquist and Esther McCaughan.

Needles, threads, glue and glitter flew in all directions last Monday at Kay Nesbitt's home, 4315 Myrtle Ave., when members of GOP Jrs. gathered to make party favors for the group's formal tea which will take place at Kay's home Dec. 15. Gals busy making pink felt Christmas stockings, be-sequinned and be-shined, were Joan Haden, Neville Tibbet, Vera West, Gladys King, Grace Fylpaa, Margaret Irwin and Flo Tarlton.

If you haven't met her yet, plan to be delighted. In fact, start finagling an introduction! She's petite, vivacious, dark eyed Ruth Murphy. Ruth is the wife of Admiral M. E. Murphy ("Murph" to his friends) who relieved Adm. Roland Smoot as Commander Mine Forces, Pacific Fleet. The Murphy's arrived in town last week from Guam and have taken up local residence at the Gaytonia.

Man with a glint in his eye is Jim Bickel, who with wife, Blanche, left Wednesday for another jaunt to Florida determined to catch the rest of the fish he left swimming around from last time there in February. First stop will be New Orleans where the two will stock up on oysters Rockefeller and sightseeing before heading on to the 'gator state in time for Christmas.

While gone, Blanche's cousin and her husband, Janet and John Johnson from Montana, are occupying their home.

"Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" and "$@%&* Yankee" will be among the shows which Carlene and Norman Jaques will be able to tell us all about when they return in a couple of days from a holiday trip to New York. They took the Mercury Flight (we're told it's a super-duper air ride), leaving last Tuesday. While in New York they're staying at the Waldorf and living it up, down and all around.

Classic remark of the week comes from the president of the Apple Valley Kiwanis Club. He called Bill Harris to ask if the Long Beach Kiwanis Club's German band would provide the program for a big joint party of his club and AV Lions. "Say," said musician Bill, "do you know how lousy we are?" "Sure," replied the president, "that's exactly what we want."

So figuring they'd been amply forwarned, the group, now known as "Die Schnetzel Bande," packed their Tyrolean costumes and tootle horns and headed for Apple Valley where, actually, they pleased their audience immensely. "Troupers" included Bill and wife, Norma, Ann and Gene Tincher, Maryon and Jerry Gillingham, Barbara and Ted Corcoran, Chet Moore, Gene Cutis and Lloyd Stanley.

If you can't get to Broadway the next best way to "see" the musical hit, "Fanny," is to catch Florence Cole's dramatic narration of the show, complete with the tape recorded top songs. She presented the show thusly to members of the Long Beach Community Players Monday evening and we've heard many a compliment for her "production."

They say coming events cast their shadows before them and there certainly were some long ones created downtown Tuesday by the appearance of Georgia Combs, accompanied by Dorothy Mullarky, who were actually working on official business for St. Mary's Hospital Guild's "Day at the Races" which won't roll around until April! Georgia is general chairman of the big event this year and you certainly have to admit she's an early bird!

Sampling the cuisine at Community Hospital this week has been Lil Hammond, who underwent surgery Tuesday. Home now, though, and purring like a kitten. Even Jack's cooking, consumed at home, tastes better to her than crepes suzette from a hospital tray! And if you've never tasted Jack's cooking you have no idea how glad she is to be back in her own bailiwick!

ANTICIPATE WONDERLAND BALL

Looking forward to Saturday night, Dec. 3, are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hughes, left, with Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Bothwell when they will greet guests at the annual Rick Racker Winter Wonderland Ball in Pacific Coast Club. General chairman, Mrs. Ethel Severson, will be assisted also by Messrs. and Mmes. Robert Bailey, Eugene Kirkpatrick, Jack Marquette, Kenneth Walker, Richard Walker and Jack Warnock. (See additional pictures and story on Page W-1.)

a table for two and many other examples of the newest and best in decorative ideas. Both modern and antique, as well as imported articles will be used.

A large stage at one end of the Cavalier Room will be decorated by a leading furniture store to represent a Christmas living room scene. Auxiliary members will sponsor a sale of festive aprons, Della Robia candy wreaths, homemade candies and other gift novelities. The affair will be a benefit for the new Long Beach Osteopathic Hospital, now under construction at 2776 Pacific Ave.

Mrs. Samuel R. Reese, of Palos Verdes Estates, is in charge of the affair, with Mrs. Ward DeWitt serving as vice-chairman. Receiving guests will be Mrs. Willis F. Baughman, president, and Mrs. Philip W. Reams, president-elect of the Osteopathic Auxiliary. Hostesses at the various display tables will be past presidents of the auxiliary, all beautifully gowned in tea dresses. Mrs. Gilman Johnson, of Los Angeles, state president, and Mrs. Claire Pike, state president-elect, will preside at the tea table.

Among local members of the Osteopathic Auxiliary who have worked in the table-setting show are Mmes. William Miller, Thomas Simcox, Melvyn Wade, Walter Mattocks, Robert Brown, Raymond Trendle, Ethan Allen, James Jensen, Willis Tunnell, Thomas Spencer and Henry McDowell. The event is open to the public, and tickets may be obtained at the door.

Tioga Sorority to Name Officers

Tioga Sorority will elect 1956 officers at a Dec. 7 meeting in the home of Mrs. Chet Holm, 254 Barclay St. Final plans also will be made for the annual Christmas dinner-dance Dec. 10 in the Coral Room of the Hawaiian, with husbands, and Mr. and Mrs. Meredith Newman of Long Beach, as honored guests. Dancing at Allen Center will follow dinner.

Secret sisters for the year will be revealed when members meet Dec. 21 to exchange gifts and accept new secret sisters at the Los Altos home of Mrs. Thomas Franklin, 2201 Gondar Ave.

Dancers to Present Spanish Program

When the internationally renowned dancer, Carola Goya, and her gifted young partner, Matteo, appear here Monday evening at 8:15 o'clock at the Wilson High School Auditorium under the auspices of the Civic Music Association, they will present a panorama of the choreographic art of Spain encompassing the classical, flamenco and regional, running the gamut of emotions from aristocratic graciousness, to gypsy passion and abandon, to the carefree gaiety of the populace on a holiday.

In addition there will be shown shining examples of typical dances of other picturesque lands from Scotland, Italy, India, Ceylon and Cuba, the costumes in each instance reflecting the glittering colors of its country.

There will be 20 dances on the program — of these each artist will give six solos, while the others will be danced together. Miss Goya's solos will include several with which she scored great success all over Western Europe and South America during the three seasons she was leading feminine dancer in the Jose Greco Spanish Ballet Company. One is the dynamic "Malaguena" which gives her opportunity to display her remarkable facility with the castanets. Another is a Nautch dance from northern India in which she wears ankle bells.

Matteo's solos include devil dances from the island of Ceylon done to native tom-tom accompaniment, an Italian dance featuring the tambourine, a Scottish medley with bag-pipe background and a classic "Bolero" of the 18th Century. Outstanding among the duo numbers is a tense little drama which is accompanied only by the eloquent castanets of the artists in which despair and joy are thrillingly pitted against each other.

Miss Goya received her entire training in Spain and has carried the banner of Spanish dance around the world. Back of her mastery of Spanish dancing, however, was her early training in the classic ballet under the great dancer and teacher, Fokine. In her American career Miss Goya has appeared in 300 cities of the United States and Canada. Prior to joining the Jose Greco Spanish ballet in 1949, her annual solo dance recitals were featured in New York.

Matteo has traveled extensively and brings to the concert stage an all possessing love for the dances of all nations. Because he knows the origins, sources of inspiration, motivations and history of these dances, he feels there is a fundamental cultural kinship among the peoples of the world and that a better understanding among nations can be promoted through the medium of the dance.

Raymond Sachse is the musical director and plays the piano accompaniments.

Mistletoe Ball by Juniors

The seventh annual Mistletoe Ball sponsored by the Junior Auxiliary of the San Pedro Assistance League will take place Saturday, Dec. 3 at the Portuguese Bend Club from 8:30 p. m. to 2 a. m., according to Mrs. Arnold Sundali, general chairman.

The semi-formal invitational affair is a money raising project to further clinics sustained by the Senior Assistance League, among them, dental, deafness prevention and the Weavers Club for the visually handicapped.

Assisting Mrs. Sundall is Mrs. Michael Bozanich as co-chairman; Mrs. George Early, decorations; Miss Jean Hawkins, invitations; Mrs. Harry Aiken, buffet; Miss Anna Mae Early, reservations; and Mrs. Robert Thompson, patrons.

Decorations will feature silver stars, red with silver glitter, red candles and glitter centerpieces.

Patrons list includes Messrs. and Mmes. Roy Becker, James Burke, Bernard Caughlin, Everette H. Daves, Joseph A. Denni, Lorenzo Di Carlo, Pascal B. Dilday, Charles P. Donetti, Donald H. Earl, Arch E. Ekdale, W. J. Gotschall, Vernon M. Haden, Frank L. Johnson, Adolph Larson, Leo Meseson, A. B. Newton, Sandy Neill, Bryce Pixey, John Real, Frank J. Rechenmacher, Chet Rodgers, Charles Soderstrom, H. E. Stone, Frank K. Swift, Sr., Nicholas Trutanic and Harry P. Tyler.

Medical Center to Be Discussed

Dr. William Adams of the UCLA Medical School staff, and an authority on leukemia and cancer, will be guest speaker at the regular meeting of the UCLA Kappa Alpha Theta Mothers Club, at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday at the Chapter House, 736 Hilgard, Westwood. Dr. Adams will discuss the new UCLA Medical Center, according to Program Chairman Mrs. Warren Schultz of Woodland Hills.

Presiding over the meeting will be Mrs. J. Weare Pearson II of Rolling Hills. Principal business will be discussion of plans for the Christmas Benefit Tea scheduled Dec. 13, with Mrs. Robert D. Ashton of Whittier as chairman. Following the meeting, the mothers will enjoy tea and a visit with their daughters.

Two Distinguished Guests to Appear Before WCC

John W. Wilson, lecturer and educator, will be guest speaker for Woman's City Club when the group meets Dec. 2 at 1:30 p. m. at Morgan Hall, 835 Locust Ave. Wilson, principal of Jordan High School, is known throughout the community for his inspirational lectures.

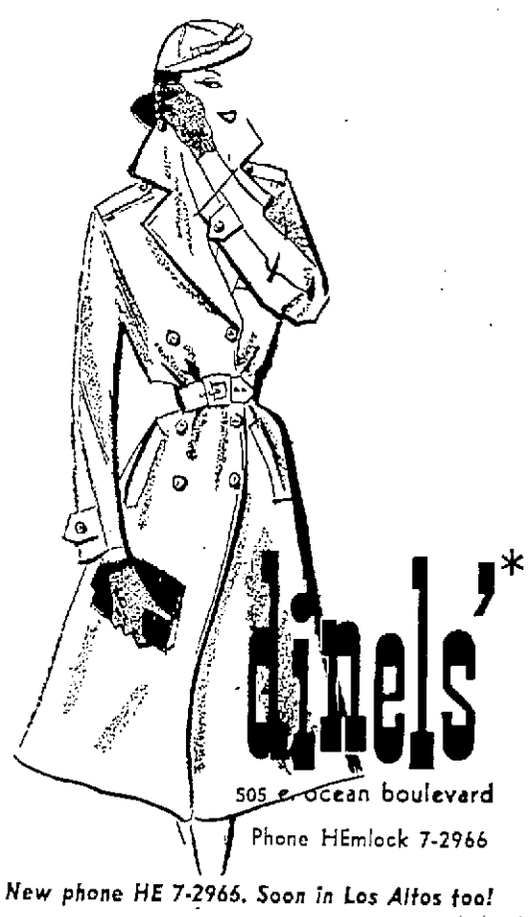

The speaker, also an authority on current events, will follow this as his subject Friday. In such a rapidly changing world, club members and guests will find this an excellent opportunity to hear an analysis of world affairs. He will be presented by Mrs. Oliver L. Benediktson, program chairman.

Song stylist, Suzan Wallace will be introduced by Mrs. Myranna R. Coon, music chairman. Miss Wallace will present her One Woman Song Theater on which she takes her audience on a delightful adventure with songs of many lands and times, accompanying herself on a variety of instruments.

Mrs. Ruth C. Runyan, president, will welcome the members after the club's Thanksgiving recess and conduct the brief business meeting of the day.

Mary Lou Cahoon Is Autumn Bride

Now at home to their many friends at 20 64th Pl., following return from a honeymoon trip to Apple Valley are popular newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. John William Witaschek (Mary Lou Cahoon). The couple took nuptial vows in a recent ceremony at St. Bartholomew's Catholic Church.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Dewey Cahoon, 2290 Maine Ave., was given in marriage by her father. She was beautifully gowned in a Cahill original dress of bouffant Swiss lace over tulle, fashioned with fitted bodice and petal neckline. Her illusion veil cascaded from a seed pearl cap, and she carried a white orchid on a white pearl prayer book.

Margaret Ann Cahoon attended her sister as maid of honor, and Sue Silverberg was bridesmaid. Miss Cahoon was attired in petal pink lace over pink taffeta, while the bridesmaid wore flesh pink lace over white taffeta. Their hats of pink velvet petals complemented the color tones of their gowns, and they carried colonial bouquets of pink and white blossoms.

Fallon Evans was asked to serve the bridegroom as best man, and guests were escorted to their pews by Hugh Rideout and David Cahoon.

Reflecting the pink and white theme set by the gowns of the bride and her attendants were lovely arrangements of white chrysanthemums and pink carnations at the altar. White satin bows on the pews marked the center aisle.

A wedding breakfast at Lafayette Hotel followed the early morning vows, and floral arrangements again repeated the pink and white theme with stocks and roses. Recording names of the guests was Miss Carolyn Phelps. The bride's mother wore a gown of blue lace over taffeta with white accessories, while the bridegroom's mother chose champagne taffeta with blue accessories. Both wore pink rosebud corsages.

Mrs. John William Witaschek

The bride was graduated from St. Anthony's High School and received her bachelor of arts degree from Long Been a teacher at Burbank Been a teacher at Burbank school the past two years. A member of Kappa Phi Gamma Sorority, she relinquishes membership in Bachelorettes with her marriage.

Her bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Adams Witaschek of Denver, Colo., received his early education in Denver, and received his masters degree in Art at the University of Denver. He has been teaching the past year at Carmelitos Junior High School in Lynwood.

Goodwill to Sponsor Doll Sales

Woman's Auxiliary to Goodwill Industries will meet Tuesday at Goodwill Industries, 5th St. and Golden Ave. The business meeting at 11 a. m. in Cassill Chapel will complete details for the annual Christmas doll sales.

The doll committee has spent many hours dressing and repairing dolls for the Christmas season. Some have been shipped abroad as gifts; others will meet local needs. Women of the Lakewood Community Methodist Church and Kappa Phi Gamma girls of Jordan High have also dressed dolls for the Auxiliary.

The Christmas sale this year will be held in Goodwill Stores at 247 E. 4th St., and also in Bellflower and Redondo Beach. Members of the Auxiliary are volunteering as sales persons. Christmas treats are being planned for the 100 employes of Goodwill Industries.

Mary Swift Beeks, vice president and program chairman, announces that the Tuesday meeting will hear James Worsham of the Safety Council discuss "Preventing Accidents in the Home." Miss Lucille Vail will lead devotions. Reservations for luncheon may be made by calling the office of Goodwill Industries.

Center Announces New Juried Show

By VERA WILLIAMS

Independent, Press-Telegram Art Editor

Announcements of the annual Long Beach juried exhibition have just gone out from the Municipal Art Center. The show this year will be Dec. 11 through Jan. 8. Entries will be accepted Nov. 30 and Dec. 2, 9-5 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. Judges will be Patrick Malone, director of the La Jolla Art Center, and Leonard Edmondson, head of the design department at Los Angeles County Art Institute.

Each artist may submit two entries in each of the two classes: paintings, drawings, prints; sculpture, ceramics, woodwork. All pictures must be framed and tightly wired, they may not exceed 3 x 4 including frame, and all entries must be labeled on the back with the artist's name, address and the price of the work.

The competition is open to any adult resident of Long Beach and vicinity.

A new showing of 30 paintings by Richard V. Johnson will open today in Everett Boyette's restaurant, 5907 E. Second St. Music is slated for 2 to 6 p.m.

Paintings by Darwin Duncan are shown in the Bank of Belmont Shore, 5334 E. 2nd St.

Marines by James Blacatcer, a Laguna Beach artist, are displayed in Pauline's Art Mart, 5915 E. 2nd St.

Laguna Beach Art Gallery will be closed Monday and Tuesday for the hanging of the new exhibits for December.

The permanent memorial collection, which is shown every year for a month, will be hung in the foyer gallery. This exhibit of paintings by the founding members of the association, which through the years has been collected by Mrs. William Swift Daniell, chairman of the permanent memorial collection, includes examples of the work of most of California's leading artists of the past half-century. Mrs. Daniell reports new acquisitions: a painting by the late Lillian Ferguson, given by her daughter, Mrs. Duncan Gleason, and a painting by the late Minnie Tingle, which eventually will be added to the collection and now is being lent by her niece, Mrs. E. Gene Anderson of Corona.

Garden Club Luncheon Set

A Yuletide luncheon will be enjoyed by 25 members of the Philanthropy Committee of the Alamitos Bay Garden Club Thursday, Dec. 1, at the home of Mrs. Robert McKissock, 5 57th Pl.

Co-hostesses for the party will be Mrs. Woodrow Smith and Mrs. William S. Jensen. Special guests for the day will be the club president, Mrs. Emmert Sink, and Mrs. Alice Cade.

Gifts for 50 women on the rolls of the Bureau of Public Assistance will be presented to luncheon guests with R. Lopez and Mrs. V. Strong, representing the Bureau. Each Christmas-wrapped box will include a carry-all apron and matching pot-holder made by the committee; costume jewelry, handkerchiefs, perfume and a crisp new dollar bill.

The December-January members show will be hung in the two main galleries. The jury of selection and awards comprises Joane Cromwell, Eugene Frandzen and Burt Proctor.

The new shows will open Wednesday. The official opening will be the Sunday tea Dec. 4 sponsored by the Dana Point Art Guild.

Women will find unusual interest in the exhibit "Shopping Centers of Tomorrow," which the Los Angeles Municipal Art Commission, will sponsor at Barnsdall Park, beginning Wednesday.

The display of photo-murals, models, detailed plans, film slide projections and motion pictures will be shown in the Frank Lloyd Wright-designed Municipal Art Gallery in Barnsdall Park, Vermont Ave. and Hollywood Blvd., Los Angeles, through Dec. 11. Admission is free.

Put a circle around Saturday, Dec. 3. On that evening, at 8:30, in the Henry Weinberger auditorium of the Westside Jewish Community Center, 5870 W. Olympic Blvd., Los Angeles, will be an art auction including works of some of the finest artists of Southern California. A reception is slated at 7:30 p.m. for participating artists and the friends of Art Association.

English and American cook books of the 16th, 17th and 18th centuries are shown in the Henry E. Huntington library, San Marino. Continued also are George Catlin's North American Indian paintings, the Walt Whitman "Leaves of Grass" centennial exhibit and Four Centuries of Fine Bindings.

Lakewood Holiday Parties Reunite Relatives, Friends

By BERNICE AHRENDES

Thanksgiving Day this year found families in Lakewood enjoying the company of their families and their friends.

Mayor Angelo Iacoboni and his family entertained his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Iacoboni; his brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Don Iacoboni and daughter Kathie of Burbank.

During the evening the mayor boarded a train for Miami, Fla., where he will attend a three-day mayors' convention.

Mr. and Mrs. Rex Jeppson and daughter, Cheryl, of 5432 Castana Ave. were guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Jeppsen in Compton. Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Douglas of 5735 Candlewood St. were joined at the turkey feast by Mrs. Douglas' mother, Mrs. Eva Worth. The table was spread to its entire length at the Reese Hall home, 5918 Coke Ave. The families of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Morris of Norwalk; Mr. and Mrs. Bud Hall of Bellflower; Kenneth Hall of Compton, Wallace E. Hall of Norwalk, Thomas Strong of Bellflower, Fred Hall, the father of the group and Mrs. Jerry Hall of Compton were seated comfortably around it.

Pershing Carron of the USS Comstock in San Diego was the guest of the James Foggs, 6049 Pepperwood. Mrs. Lillian Terry and Veneta Smith were also there. Mr. and Mrs. Jess White of 6142 Hayter Ave. entertained Mr. and Mrs. Norman Russell, Phyllis and Kathie Russell of South Gate. Mrs. Creta Ford, Mrs. White's mother; and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shimer of Culver City.

Camping was the choice of Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Macke with son Mathew of 5818 Faculty Ave. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Ritschke and daughters Barbara and Sharon of Costa Mesa on a three-day trip to the Colorado River, where they enjoyed fishing.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorin Daniels and family of 3502 Tulane Ave. were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lang of Long Beach as were Mr. and Mrs. Lorenz Hortnagl. Besides celebrating Thanksgiving, three birthdays were observed when Mr. and Mrs. Robert Winn and family of 4924 Autry Ave., Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Young Jr. and daughter, and Martin Young gathered at the Los Angeles home of Mrs. Dora Young.

Spending Thanksgiving Day with their children was joyful for Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Eynon, formerly of North Long Beach. They have been on a 25-month mission for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, working with the Indians in Arizona and New Mexico. They labored among the Waloppi, Supi, Yavapi, Zuni, Hopi and Navajo Indians. They just returned last week and are staying with the families of their two sons, Thomas, at 5553 Ashworth St. and William L. at 6129 Premiere Ave.

HOLIDAY PREPARATIONS

Lucky the friend or relative who receives Christmas baking from the oven of Florence Merriam, left. She's a home economist who spends added time in the kitchen making desserts and liking it. Miss Merriam came to Long Beach from Washington, D. C., in August to make her home with her mother, Mrs. Hazel Merriam, right, 20 Lindero Ave.—(Staff photo.)

We Welcome . . . .

Home Economist Treks West

By JEAN B. MOORE

Take a young and pretty girl who still likes to make bread the old-fashioned way and you have Florence Merriam, an attractive addition to Long Beach since the end of August.

As a home economist, it is perhaps natural that she should like to make baked goods from that magic ingredient—scratch.

Tempted as she is sometimes to use the quick package mixes, she prefers the less jet propelled manner simply because she enjoys mixing the ingredients. Of course, the proof's in the eating, and Florence admits she loves to make any kind of dessert, as long as it's fattening.

Florence came to Long Beach from Washington, D. C. to make her home with her mother, Mrs. Hazel Merriam, 20 Lindero Ave. Her name preceded her by many years, for she is the granddaughter of the late and loved ex-California Gov. Frank Merriam of Long Beach.

She claims she is one of the few people in Washington who did not work at the Pentagon. Her job with the National Association of Frozen Food Packers was to send consumer information releases to food editors on newspapers and radio stations throughout the country. Many of the frozen food tips you have heard or read in the past four years probably came from Florence's office.

Here in the Southland she is still pursuing her vocation. Next month she will head the home service department of the Southern Counties Gas Co. office in San Pedro. In this capacity she will answer women's questions on gas appliances, explain the workings of various stoves, and gas refrigerators, and speak and demonstrate before women's groups in the company auditorium.

Her background for her field began at Kansas State College in Manhattan, Kan., where she majored in home economics, was a member of Alpha Delta Pi social sorority and a junior women's honorary.

Born in Hiawatha, Kan., she continued working in the Midwest after college. The gas service company added her to its payroll in Wichita and later Kansas City, Mo. Steadily climbing the ladder of responsibility, she became home service director in the mission office, the company's term for its main operating division.

Then followed her job in Washington, and now California. In Washington Florence held offices in the American Home Economists Assn. and the Home Economists in Business branch of the association. She was secretary of the Zonta Club, service group of women in executive positions, and recently joined the Long Beach Zonta chapter.

While she's occupied in her leisure time getting ready for Christmas, she finds time for reading fiction, taking side trips in the Southland with her mother (this is the first time she has actually lived in California) and writing letters to her many friends in the East to let them know she has become a Southern Californian.

P-T.A. Council Leaders to Meet

Executive committee of the Long Beach Council of Parents and Teachers will meet at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday in room 15 of the John Dewey School Annex.

Members of the executive board of the 33rd District of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers will meet on Monday in Beverly Hills. Attending from Long Beach will be Mmes. Everett Findlay, John H. Koekkoek, Albin Larson, Harry Serex, and A. V. Laughlin.

Republican Women Hear Mrs. Kenyon

Mrs. R. G. Kenyon of San Marino, popular and dynamic speaker, was a special guest of the North Long Beach Republican Women Federated when they gathered for their November meeting at Houghton Park Clubhouse.

In addressing the group, Mrs. Kenyon urged the club to be strong financially, and to increase its membership to promote future events. She also gave highlights from her recent visits in New Orleans, Yakima, Wash., and Washington, D. C.

She conveyed a friend's report of the national spirit in Denmark displayed through Danish flags fluttering from each window on the king's birthday. She is keenly interested in promoting that same devotion in the United States through a more universal demonstration on appropriate holidays.

The meeting marked the fifth anniversary of the group's organization, and Mrs. Jennie Pritchard, first president, introduced charter members as honored guests. Mrs. George P. Taubman Jr. gave an inspiring talk on the first meeting held to form the club and its purposes.

Tables were strikingly ornamented for the festive season with Indian corn, antique silver and Puritan decor. The luncheon menu was of early New England origin, and waitresses were dressed in keeping with the theme.

Theta Unit to Meet Friday

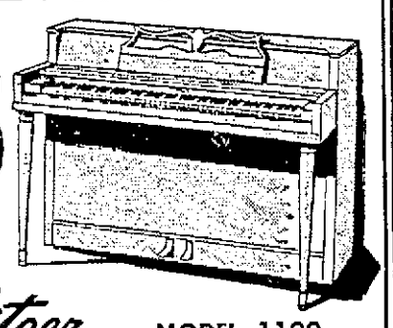

Theta Unit of National Parliamentarians will meet at 9:45 a.m. Friday at Municipal Art Center for a discussion on "Budget and Finance" led by Mrs. Ralph Eusden. New officers named to fill vacancies on the board include Mrs. Elsie Combs, president, and Mrs. Lydia Nunes, vice president.

HOLIDAY GLITTER

L. B. Tri Deltas to Attend Gay Sleigh Bell Luncheon

When the merry ring of sleigh bells heralds the beginning of the Sleigh Bell Luncheon and Fashion Show in Biltmore Bowl at 12:30 p. m. on Dec. 6 representative Long Beach Tri Deltas will be among the many luncheon guests.

The Bowl will be aglow with glittering bells and sleighs, designed by Oliver Bente, in colors of silver, gold and Christmas blue. A sparkling white tree will decorate the stage. Highlight of the luncheon will be fashions by Marusia, with Walter Robison's orchestra playing the musical background. C. Earle Memory will be master of ceremonies and Mrs. William H. Dudley will commentate.

Given annually by the Medical Research Committee of the Southern California Council of Delta Delta Delta, the benefit has as its purpose this year the raising of funds to support one of the sorority's philanthropies, hematology research of the Los Angeles Children's Hospital.

Representing Long Beach on the committee, whose over-all chairman is Mrs. Emery W. Dearinger, are Mrs. W. K. Stow, chairman of the local medical research committee; Mrs. G. H. Erickson, president of the Long Beach Alliance; Mrs. Willard H. Van Dyke, and Mrs. Rupert McCook. Mrs. Erickson serves as co-chairman of the hostess committee for this year's event.

Patronesses from the Long Beach Alliance are Mrs. Herbert E. Waite and Mrs. Thomas E. Noble. Mrs. Archibald W. Warnock of San Pedro is also among this year's patronesses.

This year marks the eighth consecutive benefit; from the events more than $36,000 has been given to medical research. The annual donation has increased until now it amounts to $6,000.

CHRISTMAS BEAUTY

Elegance, humor, sentiment and tradition will be reflected in the fifth annual Beauty of Christmas Show slated by the North Long Beach Women's and Junior Women's Clubs Dec. 3 and 4 at Houghton Park Clubhouse. The show, featuring Christmas decor, is open to the public both in entry and spectator catagories, and is the Christmas gift of the clubs to the community. Among those instrumental in arrangements for this year's event are (left to right in background) Mrs. Douglas Morris, Mrs. Carl Puckett and Mrs. Lee Carter, senior president. Seated on the floor are Mrs. Fred Harris, left, junior president, and Mrs. J. S. Cowley.

Among Career Women

Executive, Legal Secretaries in Festive Pre-Holiday Whirl

By ANNE GILCHRIST

Those comrades of the business world, executives and their secretaries; and those comrades away from business hours, their respective wives or husbands, joined together Monday evening for another of Executives' Secretaries Firm Night parties. Presented by the Bank of America, with R. E. Robbins, vice president and manager at Fourth and Pine, evening's host, it was given in the Cavalier Room of the Lafayette Hotel.

Firm Nights are designed for company heads, represented by membership in Executives' Secretaries, to explain to executives of other firms as well as E/S the services and meaning of that company.

Monday was no exception to the festive spirit that prevails at these affairs. After the informal social hour and dinner, charming Dorothy Kane Oleson, president, extended club greetings to the more than 100 people assembled. Door awards from the host firm were distributed with Margaret Stimson officiating.

Quips rattled from the head table at a merry rate with the introduction of Doris Nolt, E/S hostess of the evening, who reiterated her club slogan, "I'd like to get you a-loan," and with informal joking from host Robbins, himself, as he introduced a sizable number of Bank of America officers present for the party. Leveling off with serious banking discussion for a few minutes, Robbins explained the history of his bank and, in particular, paid tribute to the founder, A. P. Giannini, whom he described as "a man with a big heart and a great vision."

The Bank of America was even represented in the musical program, indirectly, as the Accordion Chordettes played a variety of numbers and among the young performers was Mr. and Mrs. Robbins' talented blonde daughter, Linda. The group was led through their lilting ryhthms by genial Lloyd Todd, director.

Sybil McEwen, national vice president of the secretaries and a charter member of the Long Beach club, spoke for the philanthropy committee of which Ruth Dye is chairman. She told of the buffet and cocktail party to be given Dec. 9 for the club by James Nicholson (Kit Trailer Manufacturing Co.) in his home as a benefit to provide 180 foster children of Long Beach with Christmas gifts. "Admission" charge will be one or more gifts for these children.

The night marked the first meeting attended by several new members and guests. Among the members and executives introduced were Angela Thompson (National Plastics) and Kingsley Tate; Betty Terrell (Bethlehem Steel Co.) and John Shay, the company's sales manager; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Whaley, and Catherine Slaten, an executive of Foasberg Laundry.

Legal Secretaries

For Legal Secretaries the month of November stands for San Pedro for, in this month, it is tradition for the San Pedro members of the Long Beach Legal Secretaries Assn. to hostess the meeting. Fort MacArthur Officers Club was party scene this year and 125 members and guests were present for the jolly evening. Marion Fall and Dolores Frodyma were hostesses. President Ruth Stuart conducted the meeting and introduced Judges Joseph Maltby, Fred Miller, Joe Raycraft and Gordon Shallenberger, Ray Choate, Ted C. Sten and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Pfanstiel as special guests.

Highlight of the program was the performance by members of the Harbor Bar Assn. of a humorous skit, "If Men Played Cards as Women Do." Rose DeVore, program chairman, also presented three young ballet dancers.

Attorney Charles Kent concluded the program in a more serious vein with a reading of Don Blanding's poem, "The Gnat and the Sequoia."

New members receiving official status at this meeting were Janice Avants, Rhoda Hawes, Marie McHenry, Constance Russell and Ann Thompson.

Long Beach BPW

At a recent dinner meeting of the Long Beach National Business and Professional Women's Club in Jones Dining Room Mrs. Ruth Murphy, public affairs chairman, presented as guest speaker of the evening Norman Dietzel of Richfield Oil who spoke on the need of "unitization" method in the conservation of oil and gas in California oil fields. "Unitization," the engineer explained, means operation of a reservoir as a single unit, the way nature designed it. Pointing up the benefits of such an operation he cited a recently completed survey in California which showed a 41.7 per cent recovery of oil in unitized reservoirs as against 23.4 per cent before unitization. Concluding the program was an appearance by Miss Marline Porter, accordionist, introduced by Cornelia Pollard.

Mrs. Kathryn Campbell, club president, announced that the Toni Walking Doll with its extensive wardrobe made by club members will be on display in windows of businesses operated by club members.

Insurance Women

Helpful Exes — past presidents of Insurance Women's Club — met recently in the home of Reva Stewart for a delicious buffet dessert and sewing session, devoting the evening to making gay cocktail aprons which will be sold at a "Santa Suggests" tea Dec. 10. The tea will be given in the home of Helen Smith and invitations are being extended to other insurance clubs in the area as well as local club women and guests. Money derived from the sale of the cleverly designed aprons will aid the club's scholarship fund.

WBA Review Schedules Anniversary Celebration

Woman's Benefit Association, Review 15, will celebrate its 60th anniversary Wednesday with an all-day schedule of activities, under the direction of Mrs. Eleanor Ashby, president.

An afternoon session will feature a study of health, followed by a 6:30 p. m. banquet at Lafayette Hotel. The evening meeting, with the public welcome, will be called to order at 8:15 p. m. at Machinists Hall, 728 Elm Ave.

Work of the group from its founding in 1895 to the present day will be exemplified by Review members, assisted by the Union Drill Team from Los Angeles. Supreme, state and local officers will be guests of honor and refreshments will be served.

The group was organized in 1895 in the Old Foresters Hall, Long Beach, as a Hive of the Lady Maccabees, auxiliary to Long Beach Tent Maccabees, with a charter membership of 30 persons. Early in the 1900s the name was changed to Woman's Benefit Association, a branch of the WBA organized in 1892 by Miss Bina M. West in Ohio. The group's present Home Port is Huron, Mich. The association was born through a desire of the women to protect their homes through a fraternal association organized and controlled by women.

Long Beach Review has met continuously for 60 years, twice each month, and from a small beginning, has grown to a membership of more than 500. The WBA as a whole has thousands of members in every state in the Union, Canada and Hawaii.

Miss Salhus in Recital

Charlene Salhus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pickard of this city, will present a recital Wednesday at 8 p. m. in the YWCA concert hall. A student of Grace J. Johnsen, Miss Salhus will sing selections by classic and American composers, light opera melodies and popular songs.

Helen Davenport will be accompanist and Shelby Hano, Sarah Howard, Mami Jo McConnell, Margie Reed and Glenellen Cooper will usher. Miss Salhus is a member of the a cappella choir at Polytechnic High School.

Public Invited to 'Night of Fun'

The Lakewood Women's Chapter of City of Hope has extended an invitation to the public to join them in a "Night of Fun" affair to take place Dec. 3 at 8:30 p.m. at Scouten Lodge, 9725 Rose St., Bellflower. There will be games to suit everyone's taste and admission tickets, which may be purchased at the door for a nominal sum, will include refreshments.

Beauty of Christmas Show Heralds Holiday Season

With the holiday season fast approaching, members of the North Long Beach Women's and Junior Women's Clubs are busy completing plans for the fifth annual Beauty of Christmas Show Dec. 3 and 4 at Houghton Park Clubhouse.

The show was originated by Mrs. Kenneth McCafferty as an expression of one of the ideals of Women's Club, that of "mutual improvement of our community." The contribution of beauty is evident when one first enters the gaily decorated clubhouse and views table after table of Christmas arrangements for all parts of the home — keepsakes, handmade Christmas cards, Nativity scenes and many others.

There is no admission or entry charge for the show. Tea and cookies will be served under the direction of Mrs. M. L. Bonnewitz and her committee.

Mrs. Kenneth McCafferty, Mrs. Carl Puckett and Mrs. Douglas Morris, co-chairmen, urge that anyone in the community enter displays whether or not a member of the club. Mrs. Lee Carter, president of the Seniors, and Mrs. Fred Harris, president of the Juniors, extend an invitation to everyone to attend and add to the beauty of Christmastime.

The clubhouse will be open Saturday, Dec. 3, from 9 a. m. to noon for entries. The display will be open Saturday, 1 to 9 p. m., and Sunday, Dec. 5, from 11 a. m. to 9 p. m.

Southlanders Win College Honors

Two Southland girls, both sophomores, served as honored princesses to the homecoming queen at Whitworth College at Spokane. They were Miss Julie Cherry of Palos Verdes and Miss Tirbah Baird of Los Angeles, formerly of Long Beach.

Miss Cherry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon E. Cherry, 2229 Chelsea Way, Palos Verdes Estates, is an education major and cheerleader. Miss Baird, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Edward E. Baird, 142 S. Normandie, Los Angeles, is a Woodrow Wilson High School graduate, a biography major, assistant in the zoology laboratory and head cheerleader.

Children to Share Artistry of Music

WHETTING THEIR APPETITES for great music, and learning in the classroom how to understand it, are these three students of Keller Elementary School, from left, Tommy Metzer, Patsy Sumner and Bob Mortenson. They are selecting records of some of the classics they'll hear at the Third Annual Los Angeles Philharmonic Concert for Long Beach school children to be given at Wilson High School Auditorium Tuesday morning. Alfred Wallenstein will direct the orchestra as it plays for 1,600 students at two concert sessions. Classroom preparation for these concerts is part of the musical education for children of both elementary and secondary school age.

THESE TWO STUDENTS of Cubberley Elementary School, Bobbie Jean Mears and John Stanton, are learning that art and music are closely related as they listen to great music as part of their classroom studies and then transmit the mood to their drawing pad. The music they are hearing—and illustrating—will be played for them by the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra under the baton of Alfred Wallenstein at the Third Annual Los Angeles Philharmonic Concert for children Tuesday morning at Wilson High Auditorium. The concert is given under the auspices of the Long Beach Public Schools.

Days of Forty-Niners

LONG BEACH STATE COLLEGE EVENTS

—by PLACER MINER—

Long Beach State College is going progressive. Courses in jazz will be offered next semester to any and all interested students. The music department located on the lower campus will probably be rocking to the melodious strains of the "Muskrat Ramble," "How High the Moon," "Clarinet Marmalade" and "Rose Room." LBSC, in following the trend set by many colleges and universities, will offer courses in jazz arranging, composition and playing.

Sometimes making a mistake is better than doing something right. The case in point is about a sign at LBSC. It was just a plain ordinary sign telling of a spaghetti dinner for the senior class. But someone noticed that the "G" was missing and it simply read spahetti. Actually someone was bound to notice, because in a state college that's hot for teachers, someone is liable to be able to spell. The "spahetti" dinner has received more publicity now than it ever would have if the sign had been spelled right in the first place.

The LBSC orchestra will make its first appearance of the year next Wednesday, when a program of Bach, Haydn, Beethoven and Ibert will be presented to all interested persons in the Little Theatre at 8:30 p. m. The orchestra has been rehearsing since the start of the semester, and last week limbered up on the Long Beach Women's Music Club at the Ebell Theatre.

"Close," as the man says "is only in horseshoes." But in one of the many polls conducted by various organizations for rating student publications the Forty-Niner came close to making the top. The Associated Collegiate Press awarded a "first place" honor to the LBSC paper noting in an attached letter that for the lack of 20 points an "All-American honor would have been awarded." In reading the number of "Outstandings," "Excellents" and "Creativeness" cited by the Associated it is hard to see what would have been said if the top award had been won, or for that matter what does it take to win the "All-American" honor?

Discussion of the LBSC drama dept. production of "The Crucible" was to be heard all over the campus following the three performances. Arthur Miller, prize winning author of "Death of a Salesmen" concerned himself with one of the dark pages in American history by presenting a type of drama in the Salem witch hunts. Everyone agrees that it was a tough play to do, and that the drama department did itself up proud in presenting this formidable play, about an earlier type of witch hunt.

Fashion Note—Colors dominate the dress of the state college student this year, not the basic shades but colors like coral, shocking pink, turquoise and avocado green are the fad now. For the girls, it's matching skirts and sweaters, ballerina skirts, with lots of petticoats to swish when she walks. For the men, it's denims or khaki pants, continental sport shirts, bucks, coupled with sweaters and wind breakers. For dates and more formal occasions, for the male, it's sport coats of brown, or charcoal in patterns less than conservative, and slacks of flannel, or a worsted material. At least that's what they are wearing now.

Barbershop Quartet Singing Contest is all set. Basses, tenors, sopranos have been practicing for the contest scheduled next week. Judging the contest will be representatives from the SPEBQSA, or the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America. The contest is being sponsored by the Sigma Pi Fraternity.

The old-fashioned cake sale has proved to be a boon for clubs trying to raise some extra cash. It seems every week there's a small booth set up near the canteen and all the sweet-toothed campus heroes flock to buy the homemade goodies. This week, it's the Eta Pi, selling cakes and cookies to help buy glasses and frames for the underprivileged.

Hopes for a national scholarship society boomed at State last week, when Dr. Lawrence R. Guild, national secretary-treasury of Phi Kappa Phi, made an inspection tour of the local campus.

Now that the soft, fluffy, white nonsense called snow has started falling in the mountains the usual very unusual group of persons have started awakening and noticing what's happening around them. There's only one type that hibernates in the summer and comes to life in the winter, and that is of course the skier. The prominent notice around campus these days is very short and to the point. Ski Club will meet at noon in N-1, Dec. 1. Plans for a trek to the mountains during Christmas vacation are on tap.

ACE Slated Bookfair

The Long Beach Chapter of the Association for Childhood Education, International, is sponsoring a pre-Christmas Bookfair Dec. 9 and 10. This year the Bookfair will take place in the student lounge in the bookstore on campus at Long Beach State College.

Leo Politi and Taro Yashima, popular children's writers, will be guest authors and will be present to autograph their books all day, Saturday, Dec. 10. Yashima's books which will be featured are "Plenty to Watch," "The Village Tree" and "Crow Boy." Leo Politi will have several of his books available, among them "The Mission Bell," "Pedro, Angel of Olvera Street," "A Song of the Swallows," "Little Leo" and "Juanita." Both authors will autograph any of their books purchased at the Bookfair.

Many hundreds of books have been carefully selected by a committee of librarians, teachers and parents. These books represent the very best available books for children from all major publishing houses.

June Dehls, president of the local ACE chapter, invites the public to visit and purchase books of their choice from the select books made available at this Bookfair.

All proceeds go to furnish scholarships for qualified students at LBSC.

Heredias Headline Program

Authentic Spanish gypsy dances, songs and guitar music spanning several centuries of the unique and colorful Flamenco art will highlight the program to be given by La Familia Heredia of Granada, Spain, at the Concert Hall of the Long Beach Auditorium Saturday, Dec. 10, at 8:30 p.m.

The program is presented by Ray Bowman, formerly of Long Beach, who is now a Hollywood writer and impresario.

The Heredia family spotlights Sarita Heredia, premier guitarist-dancer; Fatima and Zoraida Heredia, gypsy dancers and chorcographers; Rene "El Nino" Heredia, 16-year-old Flamenco guitar virtuoso, and 12-year-old Carmen, already a budding "Bailaora." Ami Aloni, brilliant young concert pianist from Haifa, Israel, will assist at the keyboard.

Originally from Granada, Spain, the Heredias are an authentic gypsy family and their artistry is a native thing, vital and meaningful.

Sarita Heredia rejoined the family recently, arriving directly from Spain where for six years she starred as both dancer and solo guitarist with such internationally famous Spanish artists as Lola Flores, "El Pili" and Rafael "El Gallina" Romero.

Intricate footwork, hand-clapping, and finger-snapping as performed only by the gypsy dancers of Spain will be featured by Sarita, Fatima and Zoraida Heredia.

Tickets for La Familia Heredia in Cuadro Flamenco are available at Humphreys Music Store, 130 Pine Ave.

Sallye Saunders Lovely Bride

Traditional white satin fashioned along princess lines enhanced the bridal loveliness of Miss Sallye Constance Saunders, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Alonzo E. Saunders, 4145 Locust Ave., when she exchanged nuptial vows and rings with Bruce Munson Henry of South Pasadena last Sunday evening at First Baptist Church. Dr. Winfield Edson officiated before 400 guests.

Mrs. Bruce Munson Henry

A scoop neckline traced with re-embroidered pearl studded Alencon lace complemented the fitted bodice and long fitted sleeves. Panels of the lace on either side detailed the skirt of satin, with double layers of tulle forming a graceful back fullness and full sweep train. The charming brunette bride's fingertip length veil cascaded gently from a seed pearl adorned tiara, and she carried a white orchid with stephanotis, bouvardia and lilies of the valley on a white Bible. She was given in marriage by her father who is a former president of the Southern California State Dental Association.

Miss Carolyn Ann Riedman attended the bride as maid of honor, and Mrs. Dale White and Miss Lee Ann Shumway were bridesmaids. All were gowned identically in coral satin dresses, fashioned with fitted bodices and full skirts. They carried arm cascades of white anthurium. Sandy Sue White was flower girl.

Russell Henry attended the bridegroom as best man, and ushering duties were performed by Monte Brice, Ken Riedman, Bob Ormsby and Don Jordan.

Mrs. Leo Lynes and other friends of the bride's family were hostesses at the reception which followed in the church social hall. The popular newlyweds were assisted in receiving guests by their mothers, Mrs. Saunders selected for the occasion a theater suit of candlelight taffeta with a fiesta shade feather hat. The bridegroom's mother wore paper taffeta in changing shades of gold, pink and aqua with pink accessories. Both wore champagne-shade orchids.

Following a honeymoon visit in Laguna Beach, the newlyweds will reside in Cut Bank, Mont.

The bride, granddaughter of the late Dr. George D. Knight, former pastor of First Baptist Church here, attended Polytechnic High School and the University of Redlands, and was graduated this year from Colorado A & M. Her affiliations include Delta Kappa Psi Sorority, Spurs and Sponsors.

Prior to her marriage she was a teacher at Birney School.

Her bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Leon Henry of 2030 South Pasadena, received his early education in that city, and was graduated this year from the University of Redlands where he was an Alpha Gamma Nu. He also holds membership in the American Association of Petroleum Geologists.

ROMANTIC NEWS

Plans for an early June wedding are being made by Donna Lee Korver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Korver of Long Beach, and Thomas L. Rogers, son of the Carl Rogers of Huntington Park. The bride-elect is an alumna of Jordan High School and City College. Her fiance received his schooling in South Gate.

Kappa Zeta Bazaar Planned

Ways and means committee of Kappa Zeta Chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha, led by Mrs. Burl Dial, will meet Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Howard Mossman to make final arrangements for the group's bazaar on Tuesday from 2 to 5 and 7 to 9 p. m. in the Mossman home, 5419 Pageantry Ave.

All items to be featured have been made by members during several months of intensive effort. Proceeds will benefit the Exceptional Children's Foundation of Long Beach, which the chapter helps support. The public is welcome.

Festive Parties Hint of Yule Season in Gatherings Casual and Formal

By VIRGINIA NEWTON

The yuletide season is starting with all its glitter, gaiety and giving; and among the first parties to honor the Christmas season will be the annual Christmas party of the Officers Wives Club of Long Beach. To be held on Tuesday, Dec. 6 at 12:30 p.m. at the Officers Club, Allen Center, the many members planning to attend are reminded to bring a gift not to exceed the price of $1.

Senior hostesses will be Mrs. Leo G. May who will be assisted by members of the executive board.

Reservations must definitely be made not later than Dec. 3, with Mrs. R. M. Whelpley or Mrs. J. M. McAnn.

Then on Dec. 14 the busy Nautical Club will enjoy an evening buffet party at the cocktail hour at Allen Center to which husbands have been invited.

Leaving right after the holidays for new duty and residence in Hawaii will be Lt. Comdr. and Mrs. J. H. Knoop and family. Lt. Comdr. Knoop goes from NAS, Los Alamitos, to the VS-21 unit at Barber's Point, Hawaii.

Up for Thanksgiving to be with their folks, Comdr. and Mrs. Forrest Brown, were Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Maches and little Bruce and Steve, from San Diego.

Setting the pace for holiday festivities ahead, Mrs. William Brandon is entertaining board members of the Wives of Navy Doctors' Club at a luncheon in her home Monday at noon. Following luncheon Mrs. F. W. Thompson, president, will present her plans for the Christmas project, which is, as in the past, caring for the holiday needs of two needy Navy families. Also plans will be discussed regarding the Dec. 14 luncheon meeting.

Newly-elected president of this popular club is Mrs. R. A. Lowry and vice president, Mrs. Harry Hirshland.

Enjoying the long weekend at Palm Springs as guests of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Bagley at the Raquet Club are Comdr. and Mrs. M. Steltenkamp and daughter Kay.

Comdr. and Mrs. Benjamin Chiswell and children of the Coast Guard set are visiting friends in San Diego for Thanksgiving and this weekend.

It's always a wonderful pleasure this time of the year to wish that well-liked fellow, the postmaster, Rear Adm. George J. McMillin a very happy birthday; and this year the huge birthday cake was placed on the table at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lightbody and their four children, when the relatives got together there for a very fine Thanksgiving dinner. Among the guests attending the dual celebration were: Rear Adm. and Mrs. George J. McMillin, George J. McMillin Jr., Mr. and Mrs. A. I. Lightbody, Dr. and Mrs. Dan O'Toole and Mr. and Mrs. F. Allen from Laguna Beach.

Col. and Mrs. N. Rainbolt have as their house guests, R. Alexander, postmaster, from Waco, Tex., and Joseph Sewell from Thomas, Okla.

The chaplains wives of this area enjoyed a recent luncheon event at the home of Mrs. Ward McCabe of Belmont Shore and plans were made for the holiday season.

Mrs. J. R. McNaught entertained at a luncheon event in her home last week Mmes. Margie Willett, Caroline Wilkins and Francis Joiner.

Col. and Mrs. William Funderburk have as house guests here from Alkart, Tex., the Air Force officer's parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. O. Funderburk.

Tuesday night several hundred guests attended the first of the holiday season parties of the Amphibious group when officers attached to Amphibious Squadron Seven and their wives and guests met at the cocktail hour at the Officers Club, Allen Center.

Lt. (jg) and Mrs. W. E. Morrow Jr. have as their house guest from Alliance, Neb., Betty McGinley, who is here for the holidays.

On Dec. 2 the noon hour will be the gathering time for the Officers Wives Club of the Long Beach Air Force Base who will have their monthly luncheon party in the Officers Club at the base. Hostesses will be Mrs. William Funderburk and Mrs. Marie Pirire. The Barbara Blakeley Cover Girls will present a Christmas Fashion Show for the members at that time.

Today at the teatime hour there will be a reception at the Officers Club, Allen Center honoring the 180th birthday of the United State Navy Chaplain Corps. It will be attended by all chaplains and their wives in this area and by high ranking military leaders and their ladies.

Chaplain and Mrs. Ward McCabe and children had guests from San Diego for this holiday weekend.

Holiday Spells Fun for Coeds

Among the many colleges closing their gates for the brief Thanksgiving holiday is the University of Arizona, thus giving Miss Joanne Schumacher an opportunity to entertain several out of state friends.

Joanne, a pledge to Gamma Phi Beta sorority on the Arizona campus, arrived in Long Beach with three schoolmates to enjoy Thanksgiving dinner with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Schumacher, 3913 California Ave., and to visit Knott's Berry Farm and Disneyland.

Her houseguests are Sue Forster of Battle Creek, Mich. and Sue Chiles of Omaha, Neb., both pledges to Kappa Kappa Gamma and Jo Blotz of Rocky Ford, Colo., a pledge to Alpha Phi sorority.

They will return to their studies today.

Card Party Set

St. Pius X Young Ladies Institute will sponsor a card party at 8 p.m. Tuesday at Our Lady of Refuge Hall, 5195 Stearns St., with proceeds to be used for Christmas decor in the wards at the Long Beach General Hospital, adopted by the institute.

Bridge, 500 and pinochle will be played, with awards for high scorers. The public is welcome and tickets may be obtained from any YLI member or at the door. Mrs. Bernard Hughes is chairman.

Winter's Magic to Enchant Ball Guests

Amid shimmering stars and glittering baubles, members of the Lakewood Plaza Women's Club are busy this week completing decoration plans for the fourth annual Snowflake Ball to be given Saturday, Dec. 3 in the Supper Room of the Lafayette Hotel.

Perhaps the growing interest in this delightful semi-formal affair stems from Californians latent desire to experience, even in a synthetic atmosphere, the beauty of nature's transformation in a world snow-clad.

Mrs. Stanton Stites, chairman for the event, has arranged for Roger Bacon's orchestra to play for dancing. Mrs. Ralph Russell heads the decorations committee and Mrs. Walter Richardson has undertaken the responsibility of ticket arrangements.

Beautiful gowns will add their glamor to the ballroom scene and to delightful cocktail parties at which intimate groups will gather before proceeding to the gala dance.

Mrs. Robert Brown will wear stunning black taffeta, accented with rhinestones as she and her husband greet guests in their home, at 2509 Studebaker Rd. Among their guests will be Messrs. and Mmes. Robert Means, Richard Larson, Clay Llewellyn and Roy Brinkley.

Mrs. Stanley Carter has invited cocktail guests to join her and her husband in their home at 2568 Vuelte Grande. Among them will be Messrs. and Mmes. Walter Schminke, Ralph Russell, Kerman Ellzey, Ted Olson, Hall Butler, John Meyers, John Saterino, Joseph Humfeld and Perry Oliver. Mrs. Carter will wear a black cashmere sheath gown.

Mr. and Mrs. George Underhill of 2519 Studebaker Rd., will show their newly-decorated home to Messrs. and Mmes. Donald Hummell, Fred Lee, Thomas Comiskey and Herbert Baldwin. Mrs. Underhill will wear an imported red velveteen sheath.

Statuesque Virginia Mills and her husband, Robert, will pour cocktails for Messrs. and Mmes. Samuel Straley, William Wilkin, Vernon Stewart and Aldon Irwin. Mrs. Mills has chosen a full-skirted black taffeta ball gown.

Red lace over taffeta is the effective choice of Mrs. Stanley Wells for her cocktail-length dress. She and her husband will entertain neighbors before the dance, having bidden Messrs. and Mmes. Stanley Haskett, Richard Hilliards, William McQueens, Claude Jennings and Mrs. Margaret Dennission to be their guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Stites (she is the dance chairman) will welcome their out-of-town guests at a party in the Lafayette Hotel before the ball. She has selected a gown of champagne satin with pearl accessories. They have issued invitations to Messrs. and Mmes. Jack Anderson, George Gurgos, Dale McCullough, Walter Wilkinson, Thomas Morris and Jack Thornton.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldred Olson will honor Mrs. James Hayes, new club president, and her husband at a convivial party. They have asked Messrs. and Mmes. Carter Schneider, George Scanlon, and Paul Johnson to join them. Mrs. Hayes will wear one of her gorgeous saris, which she receives directly from a friend in Egypt, accented with native Egyptian jewels.

SNOWFLAKE BALL

Lady Lions to Entertain

One of the gayest of the club parties of the holiday season will take place Thursday evening as Belmont Shore Lady Lions, together with Belmont Shore Lions, give a festive Christmas dinner dance at Towne Club, with Mrs. Archie Belshe and Mrs. Ned Christensen as hostesses.

This very active group of women is known for great interest in philanthropic endeavor through all the months of the year. Mrs. Phil Hahn, chairman of the club's toy drive for the children of Long Beach General Hospital, announces that special gifts will be sent for Thanksgiving to the little children at the hospital, aided greatly by a surprise gift of $20 received for this purpose from an anonymous donor.

Why Grow Old?

Arms Fat, Flabby, Thin? Exercise Will Help Them

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Our arms are always hanging around! However, we do not get a good look at them unless we gaze into a full length mirror. If they are too thin or too fat or are flabby, we should do something about it because they are a part of the picture which others have of us.

A certain glandular deficiency may cause an extremely large upper arm. We sometimes see this on a woman who is not overweight generally. However, having a large upper arm does not necessarily mean that you have a deficiency of this sort. We inherit the shape of our arms and our weight distribution just as we do the shape of our ears or our nose.

If your upper arm is too fat exercise will be beneficial. Try this one: Stand tall. Raise the arms forward, shoulder length, keeping elbows stiff as possible. Swing the arms backward with stiff elbows, and touch the backs of the hands together. Continue swinging forward and clasping and backward to touch the backs of the hands.

If your arms are flabby or are too thin do the following exercise. Stand tall, with your arms hanging down at your sides, a weight in each hand, palms facing forward. Bend the elbows and raise the arms forward-upward to touch the weights to the upper arms. Lower the weights. Continue, raising and lowering the arms and the weights.

Also, remember that your elbows are crucial spots on your arms. Do not neglect them. They will become rough and unattractive unless you give them special care.

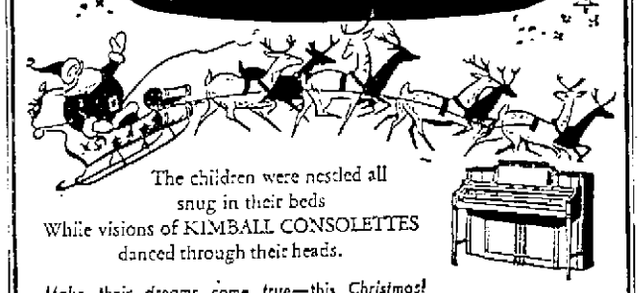

They take a beating. You lean on them and the skin there must continually give and take as your elbows bend and straighten. It is a good idea to soak the elbows in little dishes of soapy water periodically. You can follow this with a soft bath-brush scrubbing.

It also is essential to massage cream into the elbows regularly. Every night is not too often.

If you would like to have my exercises for the arms send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 11 "Armfuls of Beauty" to Josephine Lowman in care of the Press-Telegram.

Save Your Family Squabbles 'Til Youngsters Are in Bed

By ANGELO PATRI

To grow up to a healthy maturity of mind and body, children must live in an atmosphere of harmony. There must be no bickering between their parents. Any disagreement before the children makes them fearful, unsure and causes them to lose faith in their parents' ability to protect them.

Being human, a father and mother think differently about many things. They have different ideas about the values of life and that will make them put emphasis on different phases of family interests. Maybe mother wants to own a house in the country or the suburbs while father feels the city is the best place. One wants to spend money for a vacation trip while the other wants to save it for the college education of the children. There are times when they differ about the discipline and the training of the children. This is only human. People must think and they must have opinions and hopes and dreams. But parents should, for the sake of their children's welfare, settle their major differences privately and present a united front to their children.

Modern life has added new causes for differences that threaten to darken the happiness of many a newly-established home. Both parents work. The problems this sets can be acute and again, for the sake of the children they should be settled privately.

Every home must be maintained by personal work. The labor-saving tools must be driven by the hands and brains of somebody, so the house can be clean, the meals cooked and served, the dishes washed and placed on the shelves. There's the laundry, the marketing and the baby-tending. Who is to do what?

First thing to settle is the necessity for the mother to work outside the house. Which is the more important and pressing: earning money or mothering the family? Then, how is the housework to be done? Help is scarce to the vanishing point. How much is the father to do? How willing or competent is he to do it? Who is to care for the children?

Such problems are causing plenty of troubles in homes today. They must be settled by the parents concerned. Each set have their special difficulties and must find the right solution for them. What is most important to all concerned is the health of the minds and bodies of the children. Worry is poison to anybody, but it has a particularly ill effect on children—filling them with dread and fear and causing them to feel lost and inadequate for their tasks.

Life is never placid for any length of time. There is no such thing as security. But children can and should be shielded from family squabbles.

Pilfering is characteristic of childhood, but children pass through this stage if they are guided properly. Dr. Patri's leaflet P-27, "Pilfering," tells what to do about it. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to him, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York, N. Y.

Child Care

Deodorants Suggested

By JEAN H. SELIGMAN and MILTON I. LEVINE, M.D.

Q. "During the past year my nine-year-old daughter has developed an underarm odor despite good health and cleanliness habits. I haven't used deordorants on her, fearing they are rather dangerous for a child's skin. I don't want this to become a source of embarrassment to her and would appreciate your suggestions for eliminating this problem."—Mrs. R. B.

(A) Underarm perspiration usually starts somewhere between the ages of nine and 12. Since no two children are exactly alike, the age varies. The odor is caused by bacteria and is absolutely normal. Probably nobody is free from these odor-causing bacteria.

There are two ways of approaching this problem. One is to use a soap which has bacteria-killing properties. There are several good ones on the market, pleasant smelling and completely safe to use. Deodorant preparations by themselves are usually not irritating or dangerous to a child's skin unless she happens to be allergic to something in them. If your daughter uses a deodorant and it seems irritating, then try another kind.

Some deodorants are also anti-perspirants. These should be avoided at this early age as they tend to close up the pores and might have some irritating effect.

It would be unwise for you to make too much of this question with your daughter lest she think she is somehow abnormal or even undesirable. Simply tell her that as we grow up different changes take place in our bodies, and one of these is underarm odor.

All questions possible will be answered through this column. Send them to CHILD CARE in care of The Press-Telegram.

SHOPPING SENSE

BY Lisa Towne

As the last few days of November ebb, there are two questions that have replaced the usual amenities about weather, health and family. . . . "Have you bought your Christmas cards yet?" and, "Have you done your Christmas shopping yet?" A few smug affirmatives have resulted, but human nature being what it is, the odds have it that come Christmas Eve the stores will still be doing a booming sales job. If a suggestion or two may be offered, study Shopping Sense as well as the other gift ideas in your Independent, Press-Telegram and make out a Christmas list before you venture forth into the tinseled and glittering arena to do your shopping. You'll save wear and tear on your feet, your temper, your budget and your gasoline. This week, too, spruce up your home for the holidays so that it will be clean and lovely and safe for all the stunning candlelight effects so much a part of the Noel season.

A fabulous antique crystal chandelier from Czechoslovakia dominates Fred Hershorn's redecorated VICTOR HUGO RESTAURANT, 730 East Broadway, and sets an elegant mood for relaxed dining pleasure in the lovely Garden Room or Copper Room, where luncheon is served daily from 11:30 A. M., and dinner is from 4 P. M. to midnight. Cocktails are from 10:30 A. M., and three banquet rooms are available to accommodate 12 to 120 people. Phone HEmlock 5-4117 for your reservations for delightful dining.

Attorney James M. Munholland

Chef of the Week

Barbecued Pheasant Wins Thanks for Brevity, Ease

By MILDRED K. FLANARY
Independent, Press-Telegram Home Economics Editor

He'll bargain with anybody—be it his family, his in-laws or his friends, to whip-up for him a batch of dumplings. The good old-fashioned kind, usually accompanied in the kettle by a chicken, and liable to drop if the lid is lifted. Which meal of the day may be coming up, makes little difference. Chef of the Week M. Munholland loves domesticity, too, if by pressing a button the job gets done.

Jim's family preceded him to Long Beach, coming in the year 1903, and residing at Ocean Blvd. and Elm. Ere his arrival, they had moved out "in the country"—9th St. and Chestnut.

His early memory of Long Beach includes the jitney bus — the Pacific Electric car which ran down the bluff to Seal Beach, the Belmont Shore area when it was just a slew, and his duck hunting treks on "Halibut Pond," presently the location of the Lowell School.

He and the Horace Mann School started their academic careers the same year, Jim continuing on through Jefferson Jr. and Wilson High, the Southwestern School of Law, eventually taking his pre-legal work at University of Oregon. While at Wilson, he was on the receiving end of the student body rooting section, having been a member of both their football and basketball teams each of his four years there.

His athletic prowess also includes a hitch with the old Press-Telegram basketball team. He played squash in the inter-club Pacific Coast Club tournament; and he and his brother "chef" John, were former entrants in sailing races on Alamitos Boy.

Munholland was admitted to the California Bar in 1935, following which he spent six years in the City Prosecutor's office and four with the City Attorney. He joined the law firm of "Munholland and Munholland" in 1948.

A member of the Beta Theta Pi Fraternity, the Alamitos Bay Yacht Club, the Wayfarers and the Pacific Coast Club, Munholland is also second ceremonial master El Bekal Shrine Temple, and a member of Seaside Lodge No. 504, FAM. He also belongs to the Chamber of Commerce and can produce the proverbial Elks tooth.

A family man, Jim is a fanatic at barbecuing, whether it be at his Idylwild mountain cabin or at home. His recipe today, probably the shortest ever dreamed-up by a "chef," is for a barbecued pheasant.

BARBECUED PHEASANT

Quote — Put butter inside pheasant. Barbecue, 20 minutes per pound on a spit, basting with one-fourth pound butter and 1 can undiluted frozen orange juice which have previously been melted together. Unquote.

School Menus

Hot Dishes Top List at Cafeterias

The following menus will be served in Long Beach Elementary Schools in the week of Nov. 28-Dec. 2:

MONDAY: Hot dog in bun, garden peas, fruit gelatin, graham crackers and milk.

TUESDAY: Tasty beef open sandwich, fresh sliced carrots, cherry sauce with whipped cream, Lorna Doone cookie and milk.

WEDNESDAY: Hot roast beef, mashed potatoes with gravy, pineapple cottage cheese salad, raisin bread & butter and milk.

THURSDAY: Chopped steak gravy on buttered rice, buttered green beans, Jonathan apple slices, cinnamon biscuit and milk.

FRIDAY: Tuna noodle casserole, julienne beets, fruit cup with sliced bananas, ½ peanut butter sandwich and milk.

The above items make up the Elementary children's lunch 25c. Soup, salad and dessert from the Junior-Senior High School a la carte menu are sold in the Elementary Schools, but they may be purchased by the children only after they have purchased the tray lunch.

A la carte: Vegetable soup, Italian spaghetti, garden peas, pear cottage cheese salad, pickled sliced beet salad, minced ham on whole wheat sandwich, Lady Baltimore cake, chocolate pudding with whipped cream.

TUESDAY: Hamburger on bun with pickle chip, potato salad, sliced peaches, Lorna Doone cookie and milk. A la carte: Chicken rice soup, hamburger on bun, cut green beans, molded amber salad, lettuce hearts with roquefort dressing, mock chicken sandwich, boysenberry pie, fruit gelatin with whipped cream.

WEDNESDAY: Chopped steak gravy on mashed potatoes, garden salad, autumn fruit cup, ½ peanut butter sandwich and milk. A la carte: Tomato soup, chopped steak gravy on mashed potatoes, whole kernel corn, sliced orange salad, tomato cottage cheese salad, deviled egg sandwich, apple Betty with custard sauce and dark sweet cherries.

THURSDAY: Chili beans, frozen spinach, fruit gelatin, toasted cheese special and milk. A la carte: Cream of chicken soup, chili beans, frozen spinach, banana nut salad, salad bowl with tomato garnish, meat & pickle sandwich, chocolate cake with fudge icing and apricot halves.

FRIDAY: Tuna noodle casserole or cheese enchilada, buttered green beans, spicy applesauce, raisin bread & butter and milk. A la carte: Potato chowder, tuna noodle casserole or cheese enchilada, buttered green beans, molded pineapple & cucumber salad, deviled egg salad, tuna salad sandwich, cherry pie and fresh fruit cup.

Soup sells for 12c, the main hot dish 12c, vegetables 7c, vegetable salads 12c, plain cottage cheese 10c, fruit salads 12c, sandwich 15c, all desserts 10c. Milk, orange juice, fruit and ice cream are sold every day. Students in the Junior and Senior High Schools are not required to purchase the tray lunch before purchasing a la carte items.

Nursery Schools Can Fill Many Needs

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case Q-306: Anne Jones, aged about 25, teaches first grade in the Riverside Presbyterian week-day school at Jacksonville, Fla.

"Dr. Crane, I want you to visit her room with me," said Dr. Albert J. Kissling, the popular pastor of that great church. Anne loves every child in her room. And she accomplishes miracles with them, too.

"She also has a lot of ingenuity as you'll see as soon as we reach the door to her classroom."

And Dr. Kissling was correct. When we arrived at the white door, we found black imprints of children's feet across the top and down both sides.

Miss Jones had let each of her youngsters place its foot in some black paint and then make its individual footprint around the frame of the doorway.

And across the top was printed this appropriate statement to make those footprints more relevant:

"We will walk into this day with God."

"Fixing up this doorway was an exciting little ceremony," Miss Jones said.

"It simply required a little black paint, turpentine, a ladder and many wee feet, plus a strong back to lift the children high as we approached the top of the door.

"When all the footprints were clearly made, we knelt at the threshold and prayers were said in simple love and trust to the Guide above.

"And ever since that memorable dedication, we always kneel at the same threshold the first thing each new morning."

It was a very pleasant surprise to me to find such a beautiful school being run as an adjunct of this Presbyterian church. It started originally as a day Nursery School for toddlers. But their parents were so delighted with the results that they petitioned to have the school extended into the first grade.

And now that those same youngsters have finished first grade, the parents have asked to have them kept through the second grade.

Several leading denominations, such as the Lutherans and Roman Catholics, have maintained church operated grammar schools and even high schools for their youngsters.

Most of the other denominations have not seen fit to compete with the public schools in teaching arithmetic, geography, etc. But certainly it would be a desirable innovation if most of our city churches conducted Nursery Schools for the toddlers under kindergarten age.

For then the working widows would be able to relax more fully, knowing their youngsters were in a church operated Nursery School.

Furthermore, many harassed mothers who can't find baby sitters on a moment's notice, could avail themselves of the church Nursery School when they needed to fulfill a dental appointment or do necessary shopping.

Not only could the women's societies of the churches make money for missionary projects by thus operating pay Nursery Schools, but they would furnish an opportunity for more women volunteers to help.

And a big problem of churches nowadays is the over supply of willing workers who want something specific to do.

"What can I do? they demand of their priests or ministers. So we need to widen the useful functions of churches and thus render more service to the community.

Church day Nursery Schools thus offer a concrete outlet for the altruism of thousands of fine women who beg for opportunities to do good. Remember, a livewire church should function at least 12 hours per day and seven days per week.

This feature appears daily in the Independent.

Women Still Best Drivers

The safest drivers in America will increase to almost twice their present number within the next 10 years.

So says Miss Betty Skelton, test driver, who refers to the growing horde of women behind the wheel, currently 25,000,000 strong and expected to reach 47,000,000 by 1965.

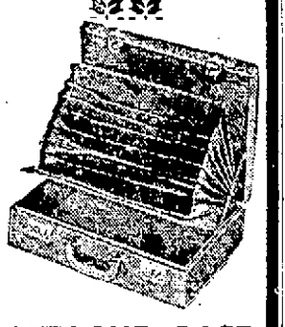

"And these women," says Betty, "are the safest drivers in America."

Betty can rattle off some pretty impressive statistics to prove her point about the safety record of the one-third of our licensed drivers who are women.

"They have only one-tenth of all the accidents," says Betty, who is the only woman test driver in the automotive industry and something of a champion of the reputation of the much-maligned American woman driver.

She goes on to explain that surveys have revealed that men drive from two to four times as many miles as women. Still, the male ratio of accidents, she continues, is more than 10 times as great.

Taoleans Plan Yule Musicale

Christmas festivities for Taoleon Club will be heralded at their 10th annual musicale in Mottell's Chapel Sunday, Dec. 4 at 3 p. m. Miss Dorothy Crabtree, president, will greet the guests and members and present the program.

Appearing on the program for the fourth successive year will be Dr. Peter Slack, organist. Dr. Slack has broadcast over coast net works and was organist at the New York World's Fair. He is musical director and staff organist of KGER, and is heard daily in afternoon recitals.

Other featured artists will be Arthur Bradley, tenor soloist, rendering "The Holy City" and other numbers accompanied by Mrs. Annette Gridley on the piano; and Don Pratt, well-known cornetist, with Ruth Nichols as accompanist.

A dramatization in keeping with the Christmas spirit, arranged by Mrs. I. B. House, will be given by the Junior Taoleons. Included in the cast are Phillip Hood, Douglass Hood, Phillip Sheridan, Bob Gayton, Tom Norcross, Dennis Marsh, Craig Craigo, Dick Murphy and Gregory Bartlow. Introduction by Gregory Lobdell. Climaxing the production will be a visualization with Mrs. Don Nicholson as the Madonna. The setting will be under the direction of Mrs. Jack McInnis. Mrs. Albert W. Hood is in charge of reception.

Alpha Chis Entertained at Buffet

Members of Alpha Chi Omega Alumnae Club were entertained Tuesday at a buffet luncheon and meeting in the home of Mrs. Charles Putnam with Mrs. Merle Dempsey Jr. assisting.

Mrs. Eileen Sutliff, philanthropy chairman, told of needs at Tucker School for handicapped children, and plans were made to buy long playing records and a special exerciser for the school.

Plans also were made for a Dec. 11 Christmas party for husbands and escorts in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne L. Linscott, 3861 Country Club Dr., followed by a dinner dance at the Towne Club. Alpha Chis in the Long Beach area are welcome, and may make reservations with Mrs. Linscott or Mrs. Peggy O'Reilly.

Mrs. Claude B. Norris of Riverside, district alumnae chairman, was a special guest. Others attending were Mmes. Gordon Aumack, Chalmers Bower, Jess A. Bush, Henry D. Cooke, Loris K. Cox, Donald R. Cruse, B. H. Cunningham, Robert Ekoos, Eugene Erickson, Henry L. Goerlick, Vaughn Holliday, Carter Harrison, Weldon H. Long, Edgar C. Outten Jr., H. A. Peterson, Howard S. Taylor, M. Edward Wagner, W. R. Way and B. R. Zacher.

Chapter One Sets Bazaar

Final plans for their Tuesday bazaar and turkey dinner will be announced Monday at a 7:30 p.m. meeting of Chapter One, Blue Star Mothers of America, at the YWCA. Blanche Bell will preside.

The bazaar, an annual event, will begin at noon Tuesday in Linden Hall, 505 E. Broadway. Booths will be stocked with needlework suitable for Christmas giving, cooked foods, baked goods and candy. A turkey dinner will be served from 6 to 9 p.m. The public is invited and reservations may be made with Mrs. J. E. Urquhart, 1201 Ximeno Ave. Clara Crozier and Nellie Foulk are bazaar chairmen, and Mary Cavanaugh and her committee will be in charge of the dinner.

Open House, Tea Set at YMCA

An "Open House Silver Tea" will be given at the North Long Beach YMCA, 6095 California Ave., Tuesday afternoon from 1 to 4 p. m., by the North Long Beach Women's Club in observance of their community project, to commemorate the furnishing of the North Long Beach YMCA reception room.

Needed community improvement for better living and better citizens is the main objective of the project sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and cosponsored by the Sears Roebuck Foundation.

The public is invited to come and see the wonderful work which has been done.

Kappa Delta Unit Installs New Leader

Mrs. Alexander Cameron of this city recently was installed as president of the Southern California Council of Kappa Delta which comprises 12 alumnae associations. The white candle ceremony was conducted in the Kappa Delta Chapter house at USC with Mrs. J. H. Jefferson, past president, as installing officer. Mrs. Cameron is past president of the Long Beach Kappa Delta Alumnae Association.

During the business discussion following, the council reported that proceeds from the sorority's benefit fashion show will be used to purchase a bus for the Los Angeles Chapter of Muscular Dystrophy.

Attending the installation from Long Beach were Mmes. C. B. Brothers, Jonathan C. Booth, E. John Hanna, John T. Valuch, Joseph R. Kellogg and Sterlin H. Fisher.

Emblem Club

Mrs. Sam Landsworth will be hostess to an Emblem Club 106 board meeting at 8 p. m. Wednesday in her 1247 E. 10th St. home. Plans will be made for a Christmas party given by officers and chairmen.

Molly Mayfield

Her Conduct Is Questionable

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

I have a roommate who in my eyes is the world's best. I've known her for years. But lately I can't help but think she is being unfair.

A while back she met a very nice fellow . . . only thing is his divorce isn't final (or even started) yet. Recently he got an apartment. Since then I have seen little or nothing of my friend. Oh, there are all sorts of flowery excuses why she has to stay over there at night . . . i.e., car won't start, or the two of them just "accidentally" dozed off.

It's been over a week and not one night has she spent at the apartment with me.

Occasionally she drops in to do some chores or change clothes . . . then it's on to his place. I come home from work at night and everything is just dead. No meal . . . or food, either . . . and most of the time I eat out . . . if I do eat.

I hate to eat alone or just buy for myself. My roommate (mine or his?) helps with the bills and seems to feel that's all she is required to do.

You know, Molly, half the fun of having a roommate is sharing together. But how can I make her see this? I don't want to offend her but I don't like these all-night junkets, even though she swears they are all innocence. I can't prove otherwise, but I don't honestly think they are. I'm not that naive, I hope.

What should I do?—PRETTY DARNED DISGUSTED.

DEAR DISGUSTED:

I think you'd be perfectly justified in suggesting to her that you two make other arrangements. As you say, it's no fun having a roommate who is never there. And it's distressing having one that's carrying on such a flagrant (at least it seems flagrant to me) affair with this married man.

No, I think I'd take my nerve in hand and just tell her that the arrangement isn't working out and that you feel a change is in the order of things.—M.M.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

Two years ago I was very much in love with this girl from my home town and I was planning on marrying her. We had gone together for over two and a half years and were pretty sure of ourselves. Then, all in a week's time she met and eloped with a man whom she thought was THE ONE after all.

I was much hurt, I'll admit, so I joined the Air Force to forget. It took over a year to forget her—at least I thought I'd forgotten her. Then I ran into her, and we started dating. I learned her husband was in the armed services and away.

Now I realize I've fallen in love with her all over again and I think she feels the same. What should I do? Quit seeing her? Try to win her again? I'll leave the deciding question up to you. — LOST WITH LOVE.

DEAR LOST:

Maybe you do love her, but I can't believe you can be fully happy sneaking around behind her husband's back dating her. Furthermore, if she jilted you once, she could do the same thing again. And also what kind of woman is she who is so willing to cheat now that you're on the scene again?

There's one more thing. You did succeed in forgetting her once. I believe it might be even easier if you try again.—M.M.

Oswald Jacoby

Book Play No Help Here

How do you play the South hand shown today at a contract of three no-trump? The chief problem lies in the proper play of the club suit, since the correct solution goes against the grain.

West opens the five of hearts, and you play the nine from the dummy. East comes up with the queen, and you win with the king of hearts. This favorable opening lead gives you three sure heart tricks, but you still need four club tricks to assure the contract.

The "book" safety play is to cash the ace of clubs and then enter dummy with the ace of spades to lead another club from dummy. This play would get you nowhere in today's hand, for you would never get to your hand often enough to bring in the long clubs.

The correct technique is to lead a low club at the second trick. You naturally hope that the queen will fall on this trick, but actually East wins the trick with the ten of clubs.

East returns the jack of spades to dummy's ace, and you now lead a low club from dummy, intending to finesse if East can follow suit.

You wouldn't worry about losing such a finesse, since this would surely establish the rest of the suit even if West could win the trick. Your object is to make sure of keeping East out of the lead for the rest of the hand. You don't want the long spades to be led through you again.

As the cards lie, East must discard on the second round of clubs. You therefore give up a second club trick to West, saving a top heart to make sure that you can get back to cash the rest of the clubs.

West cannot hurt you by leading spades, and if West shifts to diamonds you will go up with dummy's ace and run your nine tricks before the mice get at them.

lorious holidays! Families gather, friends exchange greetings... and the latch-string is out to "all who love this home." Our cover catches the fancy of the time, and shows the most welcome guest of all, old St. Nick, in the foyer of your home...getting ready to hang his cap on the family hat rack.

In sending these pages your way, Buffums' hopes to join your family scene. Here are dreams-come-true for the children... and a heart-stirring gift for mom. Find, also, a handsome thing for a hero, and the only gift worthy of the most precious woman in the world.

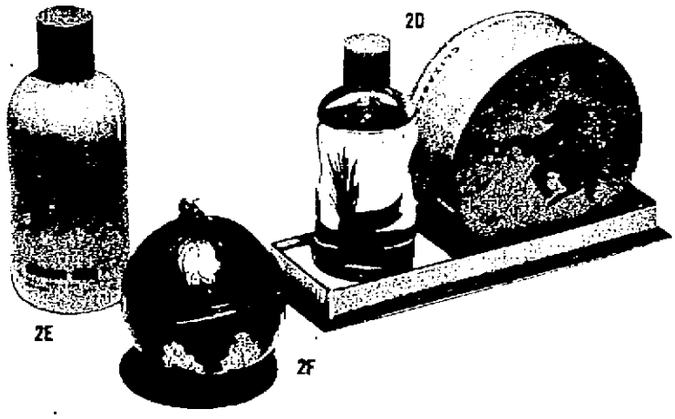

Why not make out your Christmas list now, and keep this book for future reference, too.. in case you've forgotten someone. For selections you've made today, call our Personal Shopper and give her the number shown for each gift. She will complete your order, wrap each gift beautifully, and send it off to its lucky receiver. And happy you! What is left for you to do but thoroughly enjoy the wonderful Christmastime?

GENERAL ELECTRIC

Why G.E. Sleep-Guard Blankets are Worth More...

1 — They warm YOU, you don't warm them.

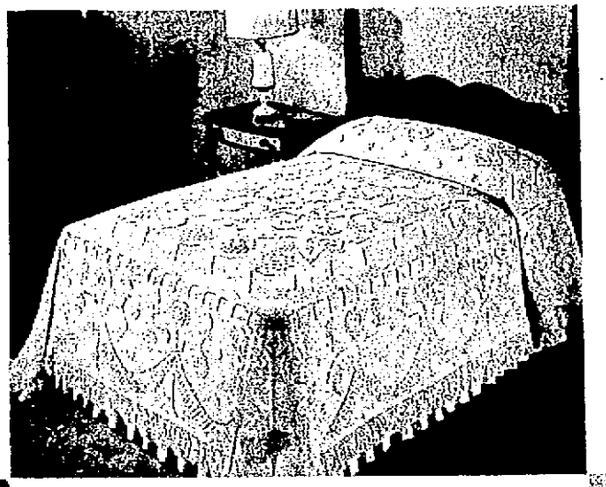

2 — The warmth is safe and steady... warmth is increased or decreased automatically during the night.

3 — Sleep-Guard gives complete protection. Current is cut off if blanket temperature exceeds a certain limit.

Blankets, Fourth Floor, Long Beach; Lower Level, Santa Ana

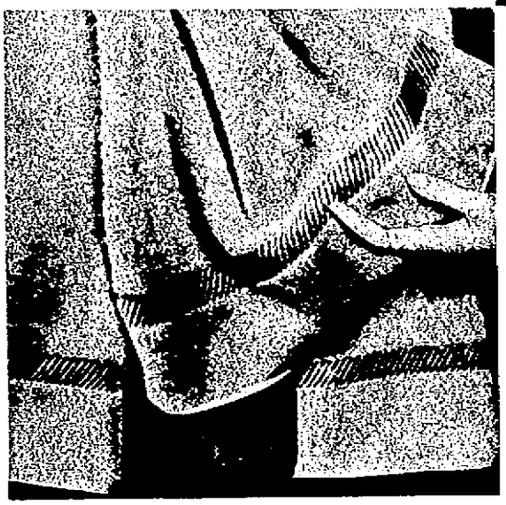

The contoured corners make bed-making a simple affair. The bed stays neat and smooth... blanket won't slip off or ride up.

SPECIAL ISSUE:

PARADE VISITS RUSSIA

A firsthand report by Jess Gorkin, Editor of PARADE

Photography by David P. Preston

A message from the Publisher

ABOUT THIS ISSUE...

Today's PARADE is unique in our 15-year history. Never before has an entire issue been devoted to a single subject. But the subject of this issue is so important that we are departing from our usual well-rounded editorial fare.

Since World War II, nothing on earth outside America's borders has been more important to America than the other giant power among nations: the Soviet Union. What Russia does—what Russia is—affects every one of us.

This is why PARADE recently sent Editor Jess Gorkin and staff photographer David P. Preston for a close journalistic look at the Soviet Union. They were the first such reporting team to be allowed into Russia. They came out with so many good stories and such a wealth of photos that even this special issue cannot do them justice.

This special issue will give you, the American reader, a chance to see for yourself — and judge for yourself — a cross-section of Soviet life today. It is apparent, I think, from this report that the standard of living in the Soviet Union is still 30 to 40 years behind America. However, it is also apparent that genuine material progress is being made — progress which if directed against us could be dangerous indeed to our way of life. My conclusion is this: Behind the smiles of the leaders and the improving life of the people they dominate still lies a potential threat to America so long as Communism rules them.

I am sure you, too, will find this issue provocative of sober, serious thought.

Sincerely,

Arthur H. Motley

NO. 1 RED Nikita Khrushchev (r.) tenders PARADE's Editor a beaming handshake as another American correspondent performs the introductions.

THE DOOR OPENS—A LITTLE

by JESS GORKIN

Because they are on ball bearings, the five Red Stars atop the Kremlin spires in Moscow (see front cover) change direction as the wind shifts.

An American correspondent looking out of his National Hotel room, across Red Square from the Kremlin, could read a hidden meaning into those shifting stars. Today's Soviet leaders have shown they, too, know how to change direction. To paraphrase an old Leninism: The new approach in 1955 has been to smile, smile and once again smile. (Those smiles can be deceptive — and to date there are no signs that the basic goals of Communism have changed.)

In order to bring PARADE readers a close-up of the new look in pictures and text, Dave Preston and I toured Russia for a month. We went into the Kremlin — and beyond it. We talked to factory worker Alexei Trokhov, collective farmer Boris Borislovich, athletic coach Vassily Sedorka, school principal Nicholai Yermichken and scores of other Russians. We met top Government leaders and took color photos of them.

In many places we were the first Americans the Russian people had seen and they were genuinely friendly. The anti-American propaganda that has been ground out wholesale for the best part of 35 years apparently had not penetrated very deeply into these individuals.

But an air of secrecy does prevail.

Until six months ago it was considered a serious crime to give statistics to a foreigner. It remains nearly impossible to obtain telephone books or maps of city streets. The last national census was taken in 1939 and there are no accurate figures available on the size of any city in the Soviet Union.

Like other visitors, we were taken in tow by able, educated guides and interpreters supplied by Intourist (the state tourist office). Their function seemed to be exclusively to show off museums, libraries and scenic vistas. Requests for a look at anything else brought out the old Russian proverb: "An uninvited guest is worse than a Tartar."

This attitude also carried over into some of our other dealings. Twice in Moscow we enlisted the help of English-speaking Russians who were not on the Intourist staff. One then departed suddenly on a two-week vacation and the other developed a high fever during the night. Or so we were told.

Fortunately, we discovered early in our visit that an Intourist guide usually respects the person who refuses to take no for an answer and occasionally shouts at him. So we began mixing tact with shouting, and the results decidedly improved.

What You Can — and Can't — Snap

As the door opened, we traveled to a number of leading Russian cities, including Kiev, Odessa, Tiflis, Rostov and Stalingrad. We visited and photographed a textile factory, a collective farm, a People's Court, a maternity hospital, a fashion show, a movie studio, food markets, beer halls, homes of factory workers, primary schools and universities, new housing projects, sports events. We were not permitted to photograph bridges, military installations, railroad tracks, airports, heavy industry or locks on the Don River Canal.

We learned two points of paramount importance from our Russian trip: 1) To appreciate even more our American way of life; 2) That the U. S. must remain strong and alert while exploring the bumpy road to peace and friendship.

Many things to remember . . .

Russia at random: The U.S.S.R. lacks adequate ground transportation, so people in a hurry get around by air. This included us (above). The largest commercial planes, we found, are two-engined jobs similar to our pre-war DC-3. Short hops at low altitudes, dirt landing fields, no seat belts, no meals served — these were standard. . .

The crew consists of a pilot, copilot, radioman, engineer, sometimes a stewardess. Pilots don't warm up their engines before take-off. At least two pilots like chess as much as flying — we found that out when we were grounded because of lightning storms. (The Russian air fleet takes no chances with turbulent weather.) Maintenance? Each time a plane lands, it is checked by at least one mechanic with a screwdriver . . .

Small Russian cars (Pobeda and Moskvich) invariably stall while waiting for traffic lights. Compared to other European capitals, Moscow has very few bicycles . . .

Most men's neckties are drab — and few men wear them. No men wear bowties. Hats are less popular than caps (for men) and kerchiefs (for women) . . . To the U. S. eye, Russian women seem unfeminine. Not many are pretty by our standards. Many do heavy labor. It's hard for an American to look on and allow a woman porter to pick up luggage — but when in Russia, do as the Russians . . .

Movie studios in Russia turn out 45 films a year. Cost per movie is about $600,000 and 85 per cent are in color. Directors earn 3,000 rubles a month ($750) and a 60,000-ruble bonus per film. Practically no Russians have heard of Marilyn Monroe . . .

Big shots' cars have white curtains in the rear windows . . . Many of the men in the Republic of Georgia look like Stalin, who was a Georgian: short, swarthy, with thick black hair and mustaches . . .

Russian beer halls are called pivnoyzals and have individual stand-up tables instead of a bar . . . Most Russians parrot identical answers to political and economic questions. The masses have been led to believe people in the U. S. are starving . . .

War material is closeted from Western view, but several times we heard big guns booming in the distance while waiting for our plane to refuel. Only once did we see a jet plane overhead — on the outskirts of Rostov . . .

Few Russians smoke pipes or cigars. Their cigarettes, roughly Turkish in origin, require half a dozen matches apiece to keep lighted . . .

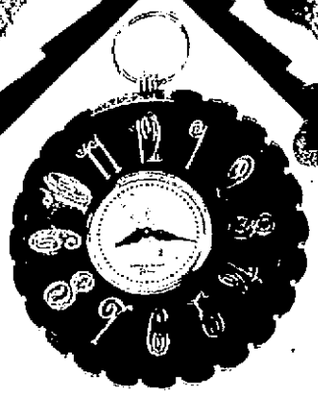

A bulletin in the courtyard of an apartment house in Stalingrad had this pertinent information: "Study circle begins first of month, prepare yourself. All neighbors in flats should live in peace and not quarrel. Trees and bushes planted here are not to be destroyed, people should take better care. Save lights" — and then the crowning blow, a list of people who hadn't paid their rent on time . . .

The most commonly used words in the Russian language are: spaseba (thank you), nyet (no), pozhaluista (please) and khorosho (good) . . .

Russia's "classless" society now consists of five classes: Communist party members; top military; bureaucrats and intellectuals; police and enlisted men (all services); factory workers and peasants. Draw your own conclusions. ■

SOVIET SYMBOLS

Dead hands still guide the nation

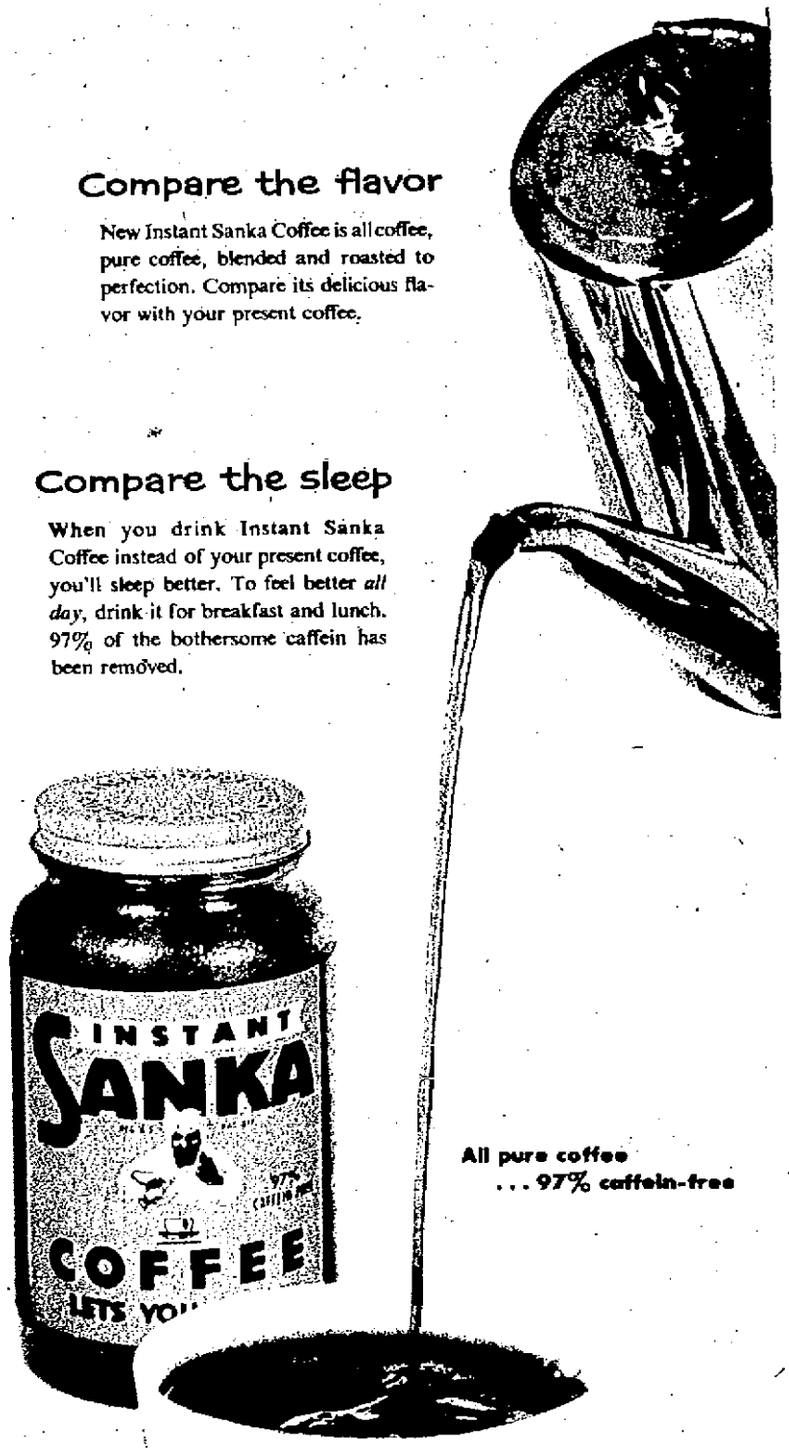

Mausoleum. Building being repainted (l.) is St. Basil's Cathedral, now a museum.

Something no visitor to Moscow ever forgets is the patient lineup waiting to enter the Lenin-Stalin Mausoleum in Red Square. Open 15 hours a week, the flat-topped granite building draws queues up to a mile long. Men, women and children shuffle along, snaillike, in all weathers, climaxing perhaps hours of waiting with a few seconds inside. There, in a "crystal bubble" bathed in pink light, lie the heavily guarded bodies of Lenin and Stalin (allegedly embalmed, but looking suspiciously like wax effigies). The people stop, peer, then move on.

Lenin died in 1924, Stalin in 1953. Living, they strove ruthlessly to make Communist Russia world-dominant. Dead, their influence still pervades the nation. The lineup outside the Mausoleum is one symbol of this. There are others throughout the U.S.S.R.

"Sorry—you'll have to wait—today is the day of the week I put Drāno in all the drains."

A sink's best friend is Drāno—when it comes to getting rid of dangerous sewer germs that lurk in every drain. Those germs breed in muck that liquid disinfectants can't budge. But Drāno's churning, boiling action dissolves the muck, keeps drains germ-free and free-running.

Make one day a week Drāno day. Put Drāno in every drain for about a penny a drain. Won't harm septic tanks. Makes 'em work even better. Get Drāno now at any grocery, drug or hardware store, here or in Canada.

There's nothing like Drāno . . . to keep drains free-running and sanitary.

"And tell them I always use Windex Spray."

Who wants old-fashioned, window-cleaning drudgery when you can do the job in half the time with Windex Spray! Swish! Spray it on! Whish! Wipe it off! Windows, mirrors, all glass surfaces shine sparkling bright in a jiffy. They stay bright longer, too—it leaves no waxy, dust-collecting film—no streaks!

Windex Spray's so thrifty in the handy 6-oz. size. Even more economical in the big 20-oz. refill size. Get Windex Spray today at your grocery, drug or hardware store. Also sold in Canada.

So quick, easy, thrifty, it outsells all other glass cleaners combined!

Everybody's crazy about DĀZY

New DĀZY Spray Air Freshener banishes household odors instantly. Makes home air fresh as a daisy! Costs only 49¢ with reuseable sprayer at your grocery, drug or hardware store. Made by the makers of Drāno and Windex.

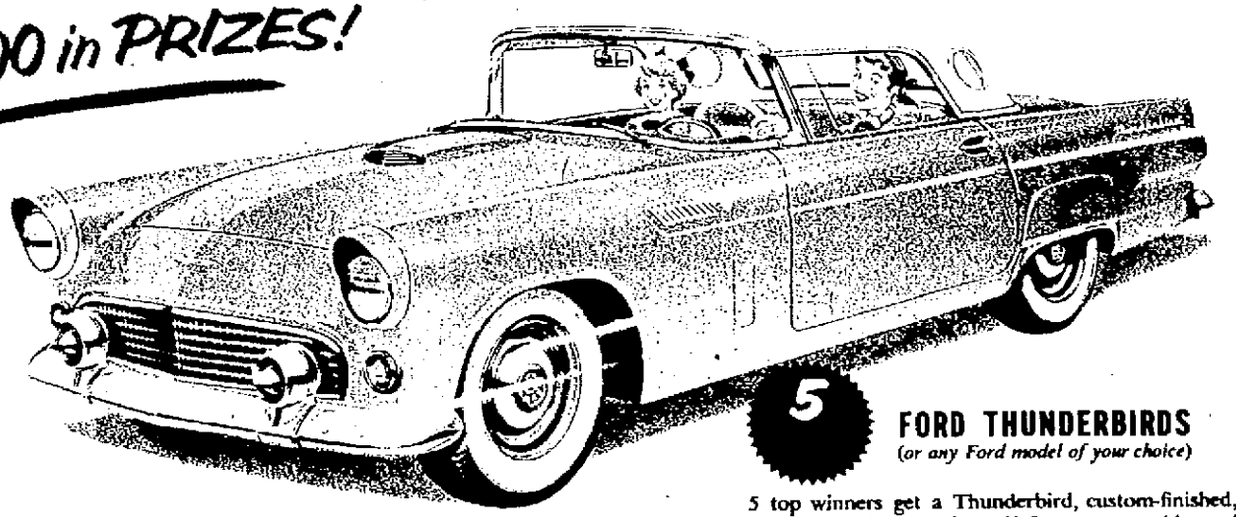

SOLDIERS are everywhere despite the new Communist "line": that Lenin's cry of "inevitable" class war has given way to "coexistence." Some troops goose-step like the Honor Guard of the Moscow garrison (above); millions learn one job: fighting.

'Long live the Soviet Union, created by the will of the people.'

Looking like a group of Christmas carolers on a Currier & Ives card, orange-scarved Young Pioneers raise their voices in the Hymn of the Soviet Union. The occasion is a patriotic assembly in their Pioneer Youth Palace in Rostov-on-Don, in the Ukraine. Behind these fresh-faced children loom the profiles of the Russian deities Lenin and Stalin, ever-present reminders of the ever-present state. A single school may be sprinkled with as many as 50 such "inspirational" pictures, posters and statues.

SURROUNDED BY SLOGANS, pigtailed youngsters are spoon-fed Marxist line at this Pioneer Youth assembly. Slogan on right pylon exhorts, "Fearlessly develop self-criticism and criticism of others." Such assemblies, with uniform programs, are a regular feature at Soviet schools and youth palaces.

YOUNG, DEDICATED – and RED

School, youth programs and indoctrination keep Russian children busy. Here is a close-up of the generation that holds the key to world peace

BEHIND THE borders of Russia, millions of children — even the Russians do not know the exact number — are growing to adulthood. They hold the key to the world's future: they could develop into a new crop of die-hard militarists, or they might ask nothing but to live in peace. Today, the seeds are being sown in a way alien to most Americans. In some ways, Russian children — rosy-cheeked, warm-hearted, many of them — resemble nothing so much as American kids in ill-fitting uniforms. But there are differences — strong differences — in them, and in their way of life, that stand out in sharp relief.

Even before a Russian child is born, he feels the impact of the state. His mother receives free pre-natal care and listens to a steady drumfire on the glories of motherhood. Her child will never escape this mother-hen benevolence, this hammering indoctrination.

When he is two months old, he will be placed in a state day nursery, while his mother returns to work. At 4, he enters kindergarten; at 7, school; at 9, membership in the Young Pioneers youth movement; at 14, possibly, membership in the Young Communist League. Among them, they will provide his education, his recreation, his religion, even his very dreams, thoughts and ambitions. Youth is the hope of the Soviet Union, and every resource converges on him to see that he never forgets that destiny.

Does the child resent it? PARADE talked to dozens of Russian youngsters in the schools of Moscow and Tiflis, the "Youth Palace" of Rostov-on-Don; to older students in Kiev. A single word sums them up: dedicated. One girl of 16 was asked to describe her hopes for the future. "I hope," she answered a little stiffly, "to be allowed to go to Siberia and help to build a new country." So it is hardly surprising when apple-cheeked youngsters like those at left show no symptoms of restlessness, but instead pitch fervently into the Young Pioneers anthem. A youth leader translated their hymn for PARADE like this:

The Pioneer Youth Anthem

"Whose smiles are these? Whose eyes are sparkling?

"It is those who will become Young Communist League members and who are now Young Pioneers.

"Pioneers don't waste a moment.

"Never, never be idle or sad.

"Every morning greet with the Pioneer salute.

"We are going to build our country, with the Pioneers marching joyously forward.

"We are going to help the adults to build a happy life in our country."

The anthem's "keep busy" theme cornerstones the whole youth-training program. Russia has little juvenile delinquency, although newspapers recently have been shrilling about "hooliganism," and one reason is that children simply have no time to misbehave.

A typical 13-year-old seventh-grader staggers under a six-day, 30-hour school load, spends a minimum of two hours a day twice weekly at the Pioneer Youth Palace and is assigned at least three hours' homework a night. His summer vacation lasts only from July 1 to September 1, though augmented by a week in winter and a week in spring.

His curriculum is stiff as well as busy. In Sokolnichesky District School No. 1 in Moscow, which PARADE visited, a seventh-grader studies history, constitutional U.S.S.R., mathematics, physics, biology, chemistry, Russian grammar, music, gymnastics. The school is one of a few offering a course in English; usually the second language, which begins in fifth grade, is French or German.

From third grade on, studies are heavily larded with Marxist doctrine. History emphasizes the class struggle and the Revolution, distorting the past to conform to the Soviet gospel. Biology teaches that there is no God. Constitutional U.S.S.R. gives the ABCs of Marxism. Each day at the school PARADE visited begins with childish voices quavering, "Long live the Soviet Union, created by the will of the people." From nearly every wall and every niche, busts and pictures of Lenin and Stalin stare down. Regularly, students crowd into the assembly hall to hear "pep talks" on Marxist dogma.

Even by American standards, educational facilities are good. While Muscovites huddle together because of the chronic housing shortage, schools are tagged for priority construction, and both city and country are studded with spacious new schools. While the con-

G-E Automatic Skillet with thermostat makes cooking easier, tastier

Only G.E. offers a choice of beautiful turquoise or polished cast aluminum. $19.95*

High-domed lid, $3.00* extra

*Manufacturer's recommended retail or fair trade price.

Here's a new idea in cooking—now you set the temperature when you fry and cook just as you do when you bake! Like a modern oven, the General Electric Automatic Skillet has a thermostat. You dial the heat, put the food in when the light signals, and after that the temperature never varies.

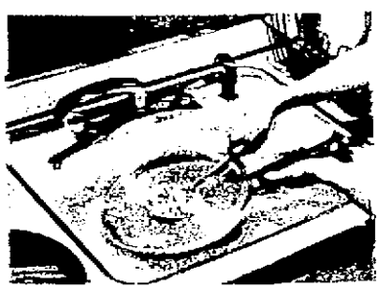

The secret to digestible fried foods: it is only when fat gets too hot—begins to smoke—that it becomes indigestible. The G-E Skillet prevents this.

Food tastes better, too! For now we know that—like cakes and roasts—every food has a "just-right" temperature. And the skillet not only fries, but makes stews, pot roasts, upside-down cakes, casseroles. (Use a standard 12" cover, or get G. E.'s.)

So convenient—cook at the table, keep food warm between servings. Just put the skillet on the table-cloth. General Electric Company, Small Appliance Division, Bridgeport 2, Conn.

Saves constant watching, because you can dial the correct temperature. Much easier than cooking on a stove burner where heat builds up and up unless you keep adjusting.

A cinch to wash—immerse it in water to the end of the temperature chart. Special finish keeps food from sticking, round shape makes it easier to clean. Visit your G-E dealer soon.

MARCHING MEN wheel through column-left in back yard of Moscow school. These boys, 10th-graders in "physical education" class, will enter military service at 18 unless qualified for a university or institute. School principal told PARADE, "Please tell Americans that we wish to continue in peace."

ENGLISH CLASS, under display of posters in English, listens to instructor read story. Class is equipped with records, microphones. Russian schools have fine technical equipment, particularly in chemistry and physics labs.

WILDLIFE EXHIBIT includes specimens raised by boys in their classes. Boys wear blue-black wool school uniform, which costs 300 rubles ($75). Girl students are required to wear dark wool skirts, wool stockings, heavy blouses.

Young Russia's recreation: study

HOPEFUL BALLERINAS whirl through practice session at Moscow's Bolshoi Theater School. Ballet, pride of Russia, requires nine years' intensive study, two-thirds of time spent on ballet. In final year, students are paid 200 rubles ($50) a month, but must attend ballet classes from 9 to 6 six days a week.

sumer market is short-changed on gadgets, school laboratories bristle with the latest in technical equipment. What American educators would call "teacher-pupil ratio" is good: Sokolnichesky School No. 1 has 617 pupils, 47 teachers and a principal.

Hard as he works in school, the Russian child gets only more of the same in his "recreation." At the Pioneer Youth Palace which PARADE visited at Rostov-on-Don, in the Ukraine, 12-year-olds spend their spare time studying physics, mathematics and Russian history in 15-student groups called sokols. The Rostov palace — formerly a four-story bank building — contains 36 rooms, supervises 2,500 members from 9 to 14 with a staff of 70 teachers and a million-ruble ($250,000) budget, and offers 112 sokols. Some are doggedly serious and others are laced with fun; members can choose sokols in dancing, model-airplane building or football (soccer) as well as heavier subjects.

In the "culture parks" and woodlands around Russian cities, you often come across Young Pioneers on picnics, feasting on the traditional roast potatoes and sausages, playing games and bouncing through folk dances. Pioneer Youth places strong emphasis on outdoor life and fitness. Many children spend one of their two vacation months at summer camps financed by the state.

PICNICKING PIONEERS sit down to meal of traditional roast potatoes, melons, in Rostov park. Supervisor is Young Communist League member, training for future leadership. Most pioneer leaders are women, work a three-hour day, draw a salary of 700 rubles ($175) a month.

With Mama and Papa both working, Pioneer Youth is a foster-parent

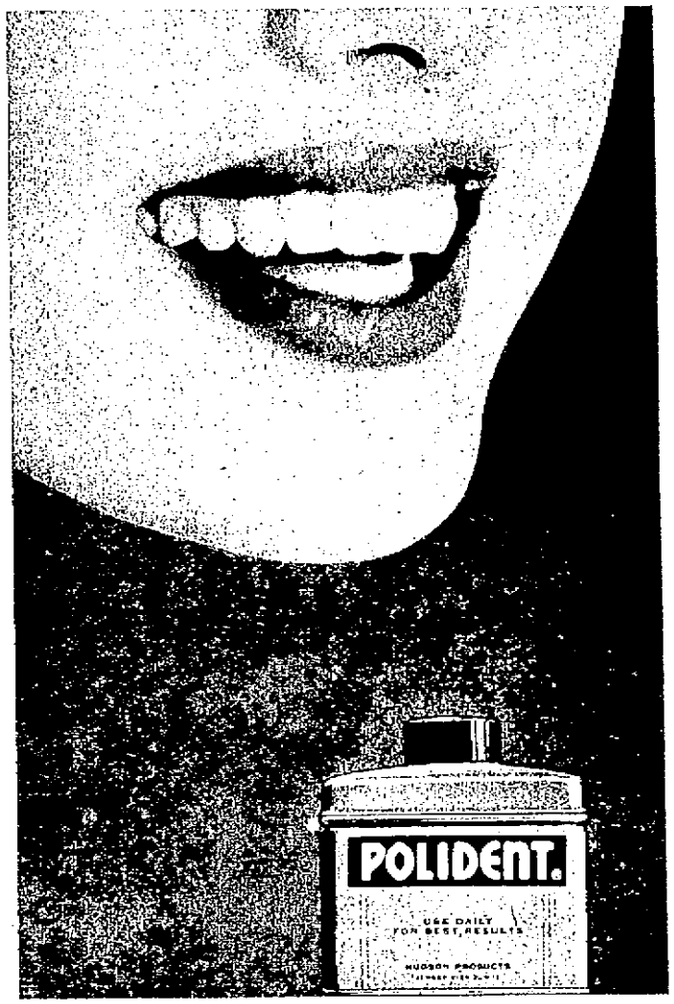

TOTS AND TEENS dance at Pioneer picnic. Some youngsters like American jazz, but recently state cracked down on jam session at Moscow University.

Although the minimum program at the Rostov palace is only four hours, many youngsters spend much more time there. (Pioneer Youth is not compulsory - -"but a child would be a social outcast if he didn't belong," a leader told PARADE.) The palace, open six days a week, is crowded each night until 7 o'clock — closing time. Partly this is because mothers as well as fathers are working (in one school PARADE talked to dozens of boys, found only one whose mother held no job), and there's no reason to go home after school; but largely it is simply more evidence of Russian youth's deep dedication to knowledge. PARADE asked one girl why she spent her spare hours poring over lessons after a busy day at school. "Because Lenin said, 'Study, study, and once more study,'" she answered gravely.

You run into that same deep vein of seriousness in children of all ages. PARADE asked one boy how he felt about coeducational classes, an innovation in 1954. "Of course, I like it better with girls in the class," he said, without cracking a smile. School Principal Nicholai Ignashi Yermichken told PARADE his school has no disciplinary problems and no corporal punishment. "There isn't much mis-

Banners flying, athletic clubs march into 70,000-seat Dynamo Stadium for sports rally, physical exhibition. A new Moscow stadium will seat 100,000.

Girl gymnasts stride off field after intricate display of calisthenics. Athletically minded Russians spend 22 per cent of trade-union funds on sports.

FREE TO CHOOSE, very young Russians roll hoops. These youngsters are almost old enough for Pioneers; once they join, spontaneous fun will give way to planned recreation.

How to prepare for life in a 'classless' state: compete

chief, and when there is, we just have a talk with the student and that's enough," he said. A visitor entering the classroom spurs the whole class to attention, and they remain standing, rigid, until greeted with the standard "Drasvootye" (Good day).

With the heavy role played by the child's foster-parent, the state, the family relationship is somewhat soft-pedaled. The family usually spends Sunday together; a typical amusement is a day in a "culture park," which is the Western city park under another name. Often the parents will take their children to a state agricultural exhibit or to one of the stadiums to watch a football game or a sports rally. Sports-minded Russia turns out in droves to watch calisthenics displays as well as football, and you can easily promote an argument by denying that the U.S.S.R. will win the 1956 Olympics.

The Soviet leaders would consider an Olympic victory the crowning jewel in their campaign for international glory, and a vast program to train athletes already is underway. Similarly, youngsters with ballet talent may be enrolled in a rugged nine-year training program aimed at maintaining Russia's acknowledged superiority in that field. In the 16 republics 11 ballet schools turn out about 30 or 40 dancers a year. The famous Bolshoi Theater School in Moscow, founded in 1773, has an enrollment of 309 students, roughly half girls and half boys; the applicants each year are many times that number. A student who is admitted must live in a youth hostel and study ballet six days a week.

What makes Ivan run at this hectic pace? Oddly, the keystone of preparation for the "classless society" is competition. The youth is goaded on by a merit system and the promise of medals for outstanding attainment. (So difficult are Pioneer Youth medals to win, for instance, that, in the history of the Rostov palace, only two have been awarded.)

But more than mere baubles are involved. When a child reaches 14, he is eligible for the Young Communist League; before he can be admitted, he must face a stiff weeding-out process. If he is not tapped for the League, he can still enter a university, a trade school, or, at age 18, military service (the Government, of course, chooses for him, when he is in eighth grade); but the top jobs are closed to him. And even League membership is no guarantee of the future. At 26, he becomes eligible for the Communist Party itself, but the party, whose membership is an exclusive 3 per cent of the population, wants only the very cream.

Youth and the Future

Nothing so simple as competition can explain the intricate complex that keeps Young Russia's eye on the ball. The whole atmosphere — school, recreation, family, the ever-present slogans and statues, the very pace of life — reeks with the determination that Russia and the Communist system will be pre-eminent in the world. Perhaps, as many experts believe, Russians will eventually tire of their wearying load and "go stale"; but right now you come away convinced that the old order of revolutionary peasants has passed, to be replaced by dedicated servants of a streamlined police state. ■

MOSCOW AT NIGHT

The capital now has a night club—its first

Despite the glowing photos on these pages, Moscow at night is probably the quietest major capital on earth. It has no "Gay White Way," no brightly lighted entertainment area such as you find in every U. S. city. The average Ivan and his wife can't afford to go out on the town.

The city's only night club, the Novui Yar (opened just last month), charges $15 for dinner with one drink. Result: It is patronized only by high military and government officials — and their teen-age children.

In a good restaurant (there are precious few), dinner runs about $12. Tickets to the Bolshoi theater and the opera are expensive, scarce and peddled by scalpers.

Sports events are restricted to the daylight hours.

That leaves only the movies (well-attended at $1 per ticket), walking in the streets and window-shopping (a favorite pastime), standing in a beer hall (there are no seats) or participating in an "intellectual study group" at someone's apartment. This last is dedicated to preaching the Communist party line.

By contrast, country people on collective farms are organized into social clubs. They see Russian movies two or three times a week, hold dances, stage amateur plays.

But throughout the Soviet, playing chess or checkers still represents a "big night" for most citizens. ■

Most dramatic night view in town is the huge, fortress-like Kremlin. Lighted

PREMIER Bulganin trades quips with correspondents. He is very camera-conscious, tries to present best profile.

CRONIES: Bulganin talks intimately with Marshal Zhukov, resplendent in a green uniform blossoming with medals.

IN CORNER, Bulganin and one of his hosts, a Finnish official, discuss recently signed Russo-Finnish treaty.

Six Soviet VIPs, moving as one, are snapped at Moscow's Central Airport by PARADE'S telephoto camera. (When the leaders appear in public, foreign newsmen must keep their distance.)

PARADE'S COLOR CAMERA IS THERE

WHEN THE LEADERS LOOSEN UP

All the photos portray the official unbending which, since last spring, has set the tone for Russia's foreign relations. When Khrushchev, in his cups in Yugoslavia, welcomed foreign correspondents to Moscow; when he and Bulganin went home from the Geneva "summit" meeting talking about an end to the cold war, the world listened and marveled. Could it be true? Had a new, friendly Soviet sprung from the ashes of dictator Stalin's funeral pyre?

The answer is yet to come. But in recent months Moscow probably has played host to more delegations — from heads of state down to trade, cultural and a wide range of other missions — than in the previous 20 years. And the prevailing mood has been cordial, even effusive.

CATCHING ON belatedly to newsman's joke, Malenkov smiles sheepishly. While others at reception wore dark suits and white shirts, Malenkov was conspicuous in a blue shirt.

STORY: Khrushchev tries one out on Zhukov. Dour at first (top), Zhukov grins (center), then roars — with Khrushchev.

BETWEEN US . . .

Friendly hand on Khrushchev's shoulder, Bulganin exchanges some off-the-records remarks with the Communist Boss of Russia.

With "Open Door" policy in full swing, Russians expect to greet 40,000 visitors by end of 1955

The reception PARADE attended, though proffered by the Finns, was dominated by the two top Reds: Khrushchev and Bulganin. The Premier joshed correspondents about their waistlines and joked about his own widely headlined "ill health."

One correspondent asked about extending his visa, due to expire that evening. When someone pointed out that this would make the correspondent a criminal, Bulganin patted the latter on the cheek and cooed: "Yes, he does have a suspicious face."

Khrushchev, though drinking less than on some other occasions, also made jokes, chatted and gave every evidence of enjoying himself. His attitude further implied, "Come on, everybody — have a good time."

This invitation runs like a Red thread through the pattern of current Soviet dealings. No one in Moscow has forgotten the visit of India's Prime Minister Nehru, last June, when the glitter of official red carpet was outshone only by the massed colors of the flowers held by Muscovites lining the route of Nehru's party.

Later VIP visitors came from both sides of the Iron Curtain. From inside: Red Indochina's Ho Chi Minh, East Germany's Premier Grotewohl. From outside: West Germany's Chancellor Adenauer, Finland's President and Premier, U. S. Supreme Court Justice Douglas and a clutch of Congressmen, Canada's Foreign Minister Pearson, Burma's Premier U Nu, Norway's Premier Gerhardsen. Official representatives of foreign governments usually left with at least a gesture of Soviet good will (for example, the promise to return a long-held Finnish fortress).

Currently the missions to Moscow are continuing. Expected soon are Egypt's Premier Nasser, Saudi Arabia's King Saud, Sweden's Prime Minister Erlander, Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito and others.

Add to this stream of top-level callers a flood of lower-bracket delegations — farmers, journalists, trade unionists, scientists, cultural experts, sports teams and others. (In many cases, Russian hospitality extends to picking up the tab for a whole party's entire guided tour.) Add also the individual visitors like Sonja Henie, who recently tried to arrange an ice show in Moscow. The total is more than 40,000 foreigners expected by the end of this year.

Meanwhile, Soviet groups have been traveling the other way (though in smaller numbers). Besides an Asiatic junket for Khrushchev and Bulganin, the latter has said he will visit both London and Cairo. Other top Reds may turn up elsewhere. The "Open Door" is at least ajar.

At the moment, the extended Red hand does not seem to hold a dagger. Russia genuinely needs outside help to overcome its weaknesses in agriculture, industry, housing, transportation — and it needs time to strengthen the base of Communism at home and in the satellites.

Today's good-humored Red leaders have lulled the mistrust and suspicion Stalin created. They are winning Russia time — and, in some areas, friends. ■

BOUQUETS in hand, Russian trade-unionists greet a British trade-union delegation at Tiflis, Georgia, airport. Britons visited two weeks, with all expenses paid by Soviets.

Why do they always "rev" the motor of a used car?

Most prospective buyers seem to enjoy "revving up" the motor of a used car that has caught their fancy. Perhaps the reason is that as they accelerate to a high pitch, their confidence in the car goes up too.

But just sheer volume of power can't produce half the assurance you get when the used car you buy is backed by our reputation as a Chevrolet dealer offering warranted satisfaction.

Because, what you really want to know is, does the dealer stand behind the car you buy? We do, with a written warranty on all our OK Used Cars. The car that bears the red OK tag has been thoroughly inspected; reconditioned for safety, value and performance. Its price is likely to be lower because we want to maintain a fast turnover to make room for more trade-ins on brand-new Chevrolets. And because of the high-volume of Chevrolet sales, your choice of makes and models of OK used cars is greater than ever.

EDITORS of Krokodil, headed by Acting Editor Ivan Kostjukov (r.), judge cartoons. Sculptured crocodile, magazine's symbol, is famed character in Slavic children's books.

Jokes with a Purpose

Soviet cartoon humor is largely social satire

In a socialistic society, even humor serves the state. Most of what the Russians consider funny is so closely bound up with Communist life and doctrine that it seems a good deal less than side-splitting to an outsider.

For years, poking fun at the social system was strictly prohibited. Later it was decided that a certain amount of it might provide a good safety valve. Today, as a result, digs are constantly being given the various ministries, the school system, the farm and industrial programs, neglectful building superintendents, lazy and inefficient farmers and anonymous minor party officials. About the only "sacred cows," safe from the lampooners' barbs, are the top Government leaders.

The leading exponent of wit and whimsey in the Soviet Union is the 34-year-old comic magazine Krokodil. Published monthly by a staff of 30 at the Moscow headquarters of Tass (the Russian news agency), Krokodil is a handsomely printed, 16-page publication containing numerous four-color cartoons and humorous essays. It sells for the equivalent of 30c, has a current circulation of about 600,000.

Until last summer, Krokodil continually lambasted the West and its leaders. Since the Geneva Conference, it has been hewing closely to the new party line of international conciliation. On this and the facing page are cartoons from recent issues, to give you an idea of the sort of thing that makes Russians laugh. ■

GIBING at backward students, cartoon shows overgrown dullard alibiing to his teacher, "Excuse me, but you're much too young to teach me."

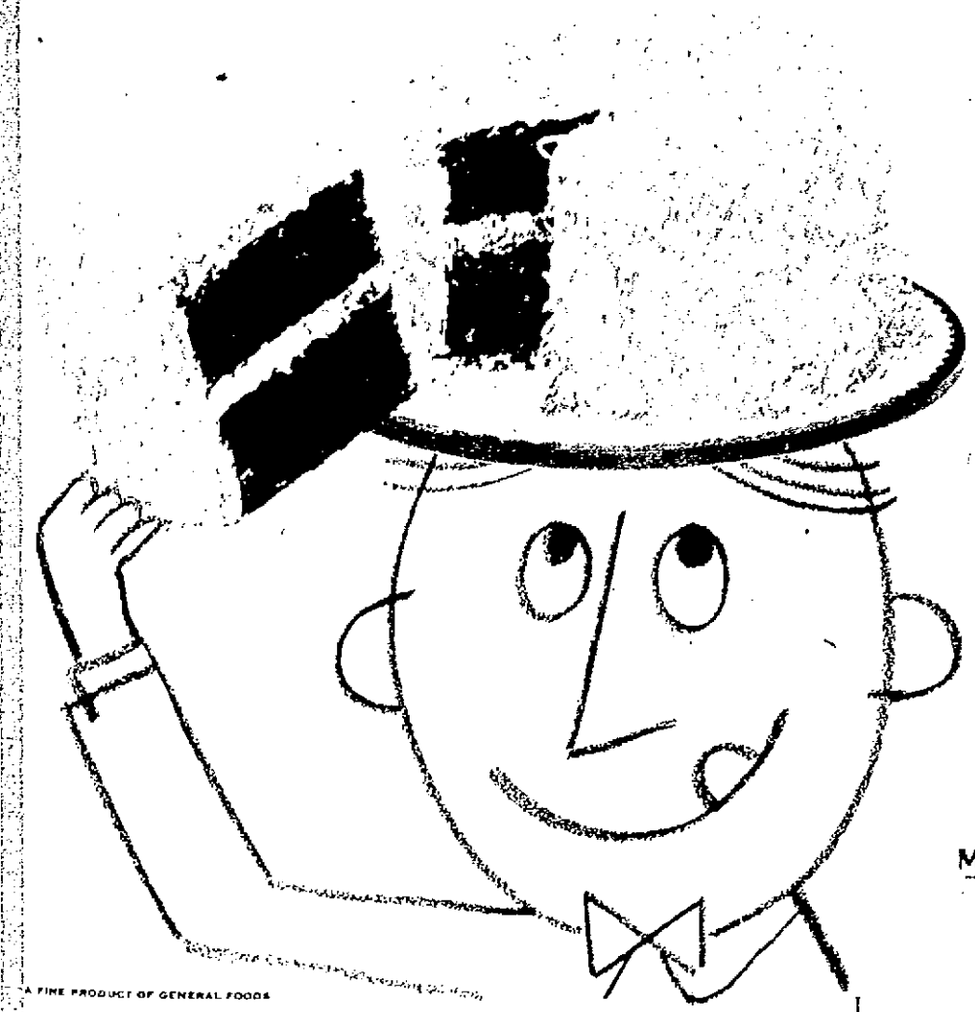

FARM profiteering is lampooned in drawing of fat farmer "weighing" skinny farrow. Caption: "Here's how some farmers fatten up their pigs."

INDICATIVE of Krokodil's new slant since the Geneva Conference, road roller labeled "International Cooperation" crushes "Cold War," "Sanctions" and "Mutual Mistrust" on the road to "Peaceful Coexistence of Nations."

SATIRIZING failure of Ministry of Fisheries to meet quotas set for catches (note graph on wall, left), crocodile is shown being entertained at the bureau. His embarrassed host apologetically explains, "Begging your pardon, Comrade Krokodil, we can offer you everything but fish."

At home with a Mother-Heroine:

THE GORUSHKINS pose in their living room for a PARADE portrait. Two of the children — both boys — were missing; they had to attend college classes! The medals on Mrs. Gorushkin's chest are for her prolific production of babies; her husband got his, the Red Star Order, for wartime factory efficiency.

COOKING her husband's supper, Mrs. Gorushkin works at a four-jet gas burner in her 9'-x-9' kitchen. Most Russian foods, PARADE found, are fried, tend to be very greasy.

HOW RUSSIA LIVES

Everything still costs a lot and is hard to get

SHOPPERS survey food on sale at the Kiev central food market. Collective farmers bring their produce here, get top prices in a supply-and-demand market. It's the only free-enterprise market in the U.S.S.R.

THE SOMBER, keen-eyed women pictured below are shopping in the Russian version of a supermarket. What they buy, they pay for in cash, for there's no buying on the cuff in the Soviet Union.

The official reason for the clamp on credit is to check inflation. More likely, though, the Russians couldn't whip out enough TV sets, washing machines and refrigerators to meet the demand if installment buying were allowed (since their factories have long been geared to turn out heavy machinery and war goods).

Right now all luxury items still are far beyond the reach of the average Russian pocketbook. The average factory worker earns between 700 and 800 rubles a month (the ruble is four to a dollar officially, but actually worth much less). To buy luxury goods, here are typical prices he'd have to pay and the amount of time he'd have to work to earn the money:

- 800 rubles (one month) for a table radio.
- 2,240 rubles (three months) for a washing machine.
- 9,000 rubles (13 months) for a four-passenger car.

Even the necessities of life — food and clothing — carry sky-high price tags. The average Russian has to work three months to pay for a woman's cloth coat, a day and a half for a white shirt, two days for a pair of pajamas, almost a week for a dress and one to two months for a man's suit. Food is even higher. Most Russians spend six of every 10 rubles they earn on food. A pound of beef, for example, costs the equivalent of $3.50, a pound of butter $3, a quart of milk 70 cents.

And the Russian shopper must stand in line to pay those prices. Everywhere PARADE went there were long queues of waiting people. "You've got to queue up for nearly everything you buy," people admitted. As a result, women spend two to three hours a day — every day — shopping.

For some women, though, life in the U.S.S.R. can be beautiful. There is Anastasia Gorushkin (above), for instance, a Moscow matron of 48 who has achieved fame, some glory and a great many rubles by giving birth to 10 children. To a baby-booming government, Anastasia is a "Mother-Heroine." With the title she has received a string of medals, a "big" four-room apartment for her brood and her husband, plus cash rewards that so far total 42,000 rubles.

PARADE spent an evening with Ivan and Mrs. Gorushkin and their 10 children, who range in age from 7 to 29. Their apartment had been painted just a few days before — probably no coincidence, since the Government had arranged the visit. Nevertheless, the rooms were dull and uninteresting, with tasteless wallpaper, cheap linoleum, rickety furniture, bare electric bulbs. Sleeping arrangements taxed every room (including hallways) except the tiny kitchen and bath (which the Gorushkins, unlike most Moscow apartment dwellers, do not have to share with their neighbors).

EATING the meal — fried onions, potatoes, sausages, pancakes, salad, jam, honey, brown and white bread -- Ivan digs in, at first self-consciously, later with relish. In bottle is a watery beer.

The Gorushkins' life is far more pleasant than that of most Russians. As a skilled machinist, Ivan, 56, earns 1,900 rubles a month (after about three weeks' pay a year has been deducted for Government bonds that won't be redeemable for 20 years). His oldest son (a student in the evening) contributes 1,000 rubles a month. Out of this 2,900-ruble kitty, Mrs. Gorushkin spends about 2,700 to feed her large family, uses the remainder—plus her cash awards — for clothes and rent (which is only 50 rubles a month).

That leaves little money for entertaining themselves, but the Government provides for Mother-Heroine Gorushkin. Each year she receives a three-week vacation, with all expenses paid by the Government. Her husband gets a four-week vacation with pay from his job, but they must take separate vacations because of the children.

It would seem that the life of the Gorushkins — plush by Soviet standards — would inspire other families to produce more children. The average city couple, however, has only two children; those in the country only three. Probable reason: They can't afford any more. Continued on page 28

TWO RUSSIAN DISHES ANY U. S. HOUSEWIFE CAN MAKE

PARADE liked these dishes in Russia, brought back the recipes. Both have been prepared — and enjoyed — in PARADE'S test kitchen.

Caucasian Shashlik

2 lbs. boned lamb shoulder
2 lemons, juice
½ cup finely chopped parsley
1 teaspoon dried dill
1 garlic clove, slashed
Salt and pepper

Cut lamb in 1½-inch cubes; put in deep bowl. Combine remaining ingredients; pour over lamb. Chill several hours. Drain lamb. Run skewers through the lamb cubes and cook over charcoal or under broiler, turning often to cook evenly, about 20 minutes, or to desired degree of "doneness." Makes four servings.

Russian Kasha

1 cup coarse brown buckwheat groats (Kasha)
½ teaspoon salt
2 eggs
1 cup chopped onion
3 tablespoons fat or oil
3 cups boiling water

Combine first three ingredients; let stand at room temperature. Cook onion in fat or salad oil until golden brown. Add buckwheat mixture; mix well. Stir in boiling water; cover tightly. Cook over moderate heat 15 minutes or until all moisture is absorbed. Makes four servings.

GREASELESS!

STAINLESS!

RENTS ARE LOW, BUT APARTMENTS SCARCE

In cities the overcrowding is dreadful. But in rural areas there's something new: home owners

If you're a Russian citizen lucky enough to live in the rare apartment house with an elevator, you ride up. But, to save electricity, you walk down.

More likely, though, there is no elevator. You and your family are squeezed together in the single room of a walk-up apartment house, sharing a dingy kitchen and bathroom with four, five or even more families. Some of these houses are fairly new. Others, in slum areas, are so old they've been condemned, but the tenants must stay: there's no place to go.

In the suburbs and rural areas, the picture is brighter. Some families live in their own homes, which they rent from the state. Nearly all are one-story, stucco affairs with two or three rooms. They're usually heated by a pot-bellied stove, have the toilet outside the house and lack running water.

A few families in Russia today own their homes — but a string is attached. For example, there are bungalow-size houses in the country called dachas, which can be purchased for the U. S. equivalent of $5,000 to $7,000. And in Rostov, PARADE found a small community whose residents had bought their small houses for $1,250 to $2,000 — depending on whether they built the houses themselves or bought them ready-made.

But here's the string: the state owns the land on which the houses are built. The owners pay rent on the land — which can be taken from them at any time.

Currently, lack of housing in the major cities is one of the Government's biggest headaches. Families, after being assigned to apartments by the city Housing Trust or the factory where they work, can't move without permission. Nearly every apartment is bulging with people. Families are often ordered to take in complete strangers; as many as four or five may eat and sleep in one room.

There's a happy note, though. The rent is low — usually 5 per cent of a worker's income. As a result, most tenants of three-room flats pay only 40 or 45 rubles a month (about $10); those with five-room apartments pay as little as 70 rubles (about $17). Rent for homes is just as low.

The scarcity of apartments traces to the '20s and '30s. It was made infinitely worse by World War II, which flattened from 75 to 95 per cent of the buildings in Kiev, Stalingrad, Rostov and scores of other cities and eliminated many villages entirely. At war's end a steel-willed Stalin ruled that Russia's factories must be rebuilt first; so machines moved into new plants while people doubled up.

Today the Soviets are grinding out new apartment houses at a furious rate to make up for those lost years. In their haste, some of the houses have been sloppily built. Recently a Russian delegation came to the U. S. to learn U. S. mass-construction methods.

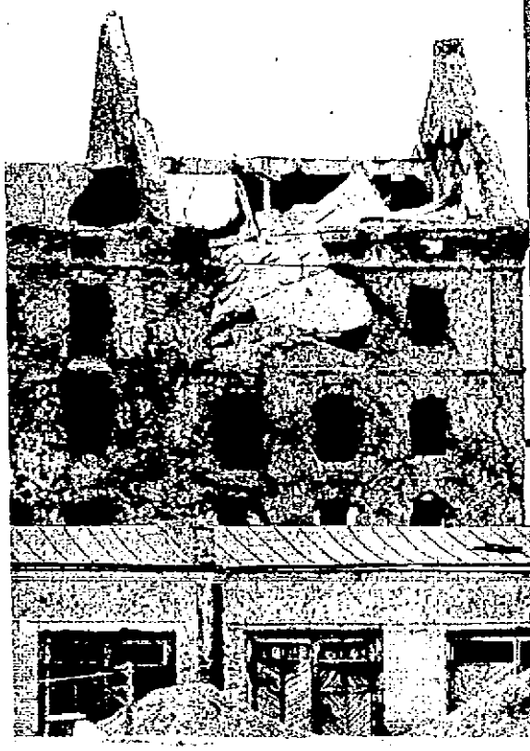

Big Shots Do Better

Some city families, however, have no housing problem. They're the privileged few in Russia's "classless" society: party bigwigs, top writers and actors, skilled workers who regularly top their production quotas. One such worker is Alexei Trokhov (right), a 30-year-old repair worker at the Sherbokoo silk factory in east Moscow. Quota-topping Alexei lives in a comfortable three-room apartment which he shares with only his wife, son and sister.

Alexei's factory owns the lease to his building and assigns its workers to apartments. So long as he continues to beat his quota — it's always being pushed up — Alexei keeps the three rooms for himself. He works eight hours a day, six days a week, averages 1,900 rubles a month ($475). Out of this he pays 50 rubles ($12.50) for rent, phone and electricity.

Like all Russians, Alexei is a piece worker; his pay is based on the number of machines he repairs. When he's sick, he gets his average pay. He can't quit; he can be fired. In that case he easily could get another job—but he'd lose his choice apartment. And in today's Russia that would be a catastrophe. ■

MORE GOODS —AT A PRICE

This is Russia today: Food and clothing are sky-high, there's not enough housing in the cities, "luxuries" are as scarce as hen's teeth. Yet, for the man in the street, life in 1955 is a little better than it used to be.

Today he has enough food, though his wife must scurry frantically from store to store to get a day's supply. He can buy overcoats, suits and shoes (almost nonexistent a few years ago), though he usually must wait in line and pay exorbitantly for them. And he can go to the stores — all owned by the state — to gape at "luxuries."

But service in bakeries, drugstores, clothing shops, food markets and so on still is exasperating. (Lacking competition, employes don't care whether you buy or not.) Stocks, moreover, are none too varied. Big exception: Moscow's GUM (state universal store) which sells nearly every consumer item made in the U.S.S.R. Open six days a week, GUM (where the pictures on these pages were taken) gets up to 150,000 visitors a day.

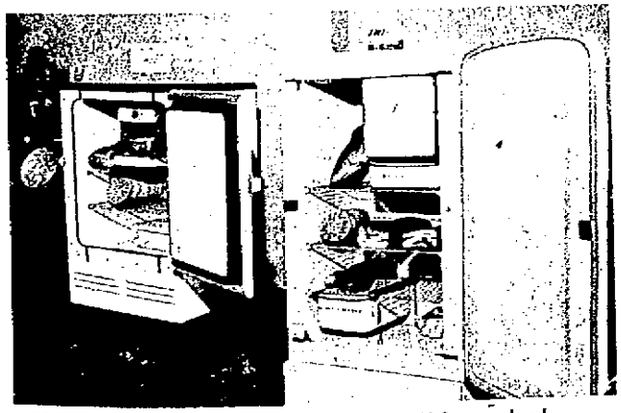

GUM, and the state department stores in other large cities, now have more to sell because the Kremlin has recently stepped up the production of consumer goods. Nevertheless, PARADE found that no one in Russia today — except for the top few — lives as well as the average American skilled workman. ■

FASHION-SHOW audience avidly eyes a model's skirt and blouse. The store prefers to sell just the pattern for an outfit—letting the customer have it made by a dressmaker. GUM takes clothes orders, but delivery requires a month.

TV SCREENS run no larger than 17" model at left; it's the most popular. Signs give prices in rubles ($675 and $600). Only three cities—Moscow, Kiev, Kharkov—have TV, mostly showing newsreels and movies (but some are new ones).

REFRIGERATORS are small, expensive by U.S. standards. Small one above costs $375, larger one $500. Inside are food dummies for display purposes. Most kitchen equipment, PARADE found, compares to ours of the late '30s, early '40s.

AT ALTAR of 11th-century Greek Orthodox Church near Tiflis, priest holds 250-year-old illuminated Bible in Georgian script. A peasant, he taught himself at home for priesthood.

As a closeup shows, most of Baptist congregation are old people. Baptists claim

PACKED in auditorium, some 2,000 worshipers listen to Pastor Yakob Gitkov's sermon in Moscow's Baptist Church. Congregation is 75 per cent women. Few children attend church services.

The churches are open, but...

There is a new policy on religion in Russia: to let it 'die on the vine'

After four decades of trying to stamp out organized religion (with a World War II respite when churchgoers were encouraged to pray for victory), Russia's Red rulers have evolved a new strategy. In place of the classic advice — "If you can't lick 'em, join 'em" — they now are following the cynical line, "Isolate 'em."

This means that some churches currently are open in the Soviet Union. Priests, ministers and rabbis are allowed to preach the word of God. The faithful are free to come, listen and believe. But all this goes on in a virtual vacuum — for the state is effectively strangling the churches' lifeblood: the young people.

Religious instruction for the young is banned. Instead, boys and girls are fed the atheistic doctrines of Marx and Lenin via every available channel. The obvious assumption is that, within another generation, no one in the U.S.S.R. will believe in God or need religion. So let today's older generation enjoy its faith while it lives. After that, who will care?

Some recent observers have left Russia with other conclusions. Church-state relations are improving, they say. A "religious revival" is going on. Such views, PARADE believes, stem from a misinterpretation of the visible evidence.

In Moscow, for example, there now are 55 Greek Orthodox churches open (this is the "official" Russian church), plus one Catholic, one Protestant and three synagogues. All are well attended and membership is large (about 2,000 in the Catholic church, St. Louis; about 4,000 in the Baptist, which serves all the capital's Protestants; about 4,000 for the synagogues).

But these figures do not take into account the fact that Moscow's 60 churches serve a city of 7,000,000-plus — compared to 400 churches back when the population was only 2 million. Many of the missing 340 have been converted into museums glorifying the Soviet "faith." A few have become living quarters. Some are simply in ruins.

Further, the make-up of today's sparse congregations reveals the true nature of the Government's policy. As shown on these pages, it is almost entirely older people, and those mostly women. Those who attend Moscow's Baptist church, as Pastor Yakob Gitkov himself admits, are largely intellectuals, civil servants and pensioners (men and women of 55 and up).

True, some children appear in Soviet churches. Almost invariably they come with grandparents, left in charge of them while LEANING on cane, a parishioner descends the steps of Moscow's only Catholic church after Mass. In her bowed pose the visitor can read the planned doom of religion in Russia.

Church still hopes to save religion

parents work. This also explains the recent comment on the number of child baptisms—"surprisingly large"—and the report that more than half the children in the Orthodox Church are believed to be baptized. Parents who accept the state's antireligious line (through conviction or fear) need not be concerned over what the grandparents do: they know that the children soon enough will be swallowed up by organized Soviet materialism.

If the nature of their congregations is striking, so is that of the churches themselves. Few have had more than the most nominal repairs in many years (though the Government, for nationalistic reasons, has had certain historic cathedrals touched up from time to time). The state rations paper and printing for church literature, including Bibles. The Protestants do manage to get out a small magazine six times a year. It is not widely read.

Within his pulpit, the pastor still is master. So long as he confines himself to spiritual topics, he is let alone. But that is about as far as it goes.

Religion, Lenin once announced, is the opiate of the people. Communist boss Khrushchev recently added: "We remain atheist and we do everything we can to liberate a certain part of the people from the opium attraction of religion which still exists."

Against this official vow of enmity, the churches of Russia can offer little but the hope Pastor Gitkov voices. "God," he says, "will send us more new members." ■

IF CONSTIPATION
IS YOUR PROBLEM

Try Nature's Great Food Combination

ALL-BRAN AND MILK FOR FITNESS AND REGULARITY

Improves Your "Intestinal Tone"

Adds Important Food Essentials to Diet

You know what milk is. It is generally considered nature's most nearly perfect food.

But do you know about bran . . . All-Bran? If you're interested in a natural aid to regularity and fitness, you'll be interested in these facts.

W. K. Kellogg pioneered Kellogg's All-Bran almost 40 years ago. He set out to make it three great cereals in one: 1) a good-to-eat cereal; 2) a cereal which in combination with milk would provide very solid nutritional benefits; and 3) a natural remedy for one of mankind's most common ailments, constipation due to insufficient bulk.

This he achieved. For Kellogg's All-Bran, the original whole bran cereal, has become the most widely accepted and used of all bran cereals. It has literally helped millions.

Now as to Kellogg's All-Bran itself and why it is such a great food—the answer is simple. All-Bran is made from the vitamin and mineral rich outer layers of the whole wheat grain. And not only does All-Bran supply vitamins, minerals and protein—it is scientifically milled to bring you the natural food bulk you need in its most effective and appetizing form. All-Bran stays crisp in milk and is easy to eat.

Yes, All-Bran does things no drug-type laxative can even begin to accomplish—it actually improves your "Intestinal Tone" which may be below par due to insufficient bulk.

And Kellogg's All-Bran, served with milk, contributes nine body-builders you need daily for fitness.

So why not get the safe, gentle, natural laxative cereal you know you can depend on. Kellogg's All-Bran, the original. Eat a half cup of Kellogg's All-Bran every morning for 10 days. If it doesn't bring you satisfying, effective relief from constipation, you get double your money back. That's a promise from Kellogg's of Battle Creek, Mich.

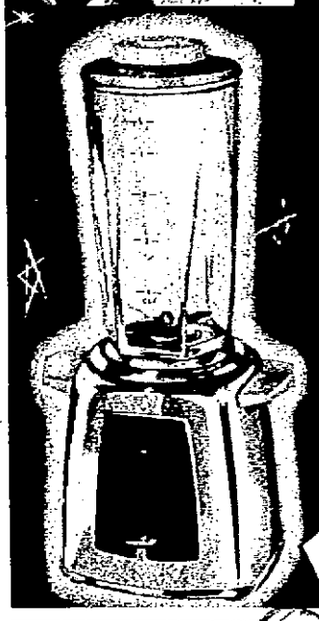

News for folks who eat their All-Bran at restaurants—new foil-wrapped package makes sure your All-Bran is extra fresh.

Contrast on WHEELS

The photo above, taken just off 8-to-12-lane Gorky Boulevard in Moscow, shows that drivers there obey the sign "STOP" (English word, Russian characters). It does not show the pace of Moscow traffic, where every driver blows his own horn and pedestrians are fair game. But it points up the contrast between the capital's mechanized transport (including buses, taxis, trucks, subways) and the simpler kind (right) still prevalent in most of the Soviet Union.

Even in Moscow, cars are comparatively few. They cost too much (a worker's annual pay for the low-priced Moskvich), gas is $1 a gallon and there's really no place to drive (Russia has 50,000 miles of surfaced roads; the U. S., more than 2,000,000). So most autos are state-owned and assigned to officials, who prefer the expensive, prewar-Packard-type Zis. The few American cars, owned by foreign embassies, attract curious crowds almost everywhere. So do bright socks, a Polaroid camera or a stick of chewing gum. ■

Stop sign lines up low-priced Moskvich (top); medium Pobeda (center); disabled vet's boxed-in motorcycle. Main Moscow streets include "express lane" for big shots in a hurry.

BELOW: CARTS NEAR ODESSA

Rural traffic retains horse-and-buggy flavor. One collective farm has four cars, six motorcycles for 1,618 people; for farm work, six tractors, two combines — and 192 horses.

Never sick enough to stay in bed yet never really well. The GRAY SICKNESS keeps millions pale, tired and weak . . . never able to enjoy life to the full!

*IRON deficiency anemia has been aptly called the GRAY SICKNESS. Not only because its victims have lost their once healthy color, but also because life itself has become gray and drab for them. For you simply can't enjoy work or play when you have to drag through day after weary day feeling tired, weak and listless. And sleep doesn't seem to refresh you for you wake up tired.

The GRAY SICKNESS means your blood isn't getting enough iron. It becomes weak, thin, washed-out . . . just can't supply your body with the full supply of oxygen it needs for buoyant health and radiant color. Signs of the GRAY SICKNESS may be due to other causes so you should see your doctor regularly.

REBUILD STRENGTH FAST

Fortunately the GRAY SICKNESS responds quickly to proper treatment . . . and normal healthy color, strength and vigor return. In cases like this doctors usually prescribe an iron tonic containing many times your daily iron requirement. Each therapeutic dose, 6 tablets daily, of IRONIZED YEAST, contains 10 times your daily iron need . . . and this iron is fortified with vitamin B_{12}. Now this iron goes right to work . . . within 24 hours . . . to start building rich red blood . . . the kind of blood that soon brings back your normal strength and energy . . . fills you with your old-time pep . . . brings healthy color back to your cheeks again.

FEEL STRONGER IN 7 DAYS

Actually in just one week you'll start to feel your old self. You'll begin to enjoy doing a normal day's work again. So get IRONIZED YEAST tablets today. They are very economical to use even when taken in maximum dosage of 6 tablets daily. Just be sure you get genuine IRONIZED YEAST.

Progress Is Our Most Important Product

GENERAL ELECTRIC

TYPICAL LETTER (l.) shows these pupils are grasping unfamiliar English script as well as vocabulary. Above is the writer, Georgè Kosmiody, struggling with composition.

Soviet Pen Pals?

Pupils write letters, hope for U. S. answers

"Please write me a few words on how you live. What do you study? What books do you read? What games do you play? What films have you seen? Please, answer me . . ."

These simple phrases, written in labored English, occur and recur in 21 letters PARADE brought back from Moscow's Sokolnichesky School No. 1 (see p. 10). The idea of writing them sprang from the obvious interest of the pupils — 19 boys and two girls, aged 12 and 13 — in everything American, particularly Americans their own age.

The next step is up to U. S. youngsters (and their parents). If you would like to answer a Soviet child, here's how.

Pick a name from this list (the first two are the girls): Irin Tarasenko, Tanya Tsvetaeva; Igor Agabecov, Valery Frolov, Vladimir Gureev, Yra Gusev, Nick Ivanov, Vitaley Ivanov, Alec Kopijilov, Nickoly Korchagin, George Kosmiady, Ury Kusmich, Alexander Lookashev, Vladimir Malcov, Leva Nickolaev, Nick Oscolkov, Alexander Ponomarev, Dima Pankratov, Oleg Punkrutov, Oleg Skramtaiev, Belza Svyatoslav.

The address is: Class 7-A, School No. 1, 4th Sokolnichesky Street, Moscow B-14, U.S.S.R.

Postage, regular mail: 8c first ounce, 4c each extra ounce (takes about three weeks); airmail: 15c each half-ounce (takes about three days).

PARADE hopes to hear from readers who try this novel experiment.

BLONDE Tanya Tsvetaeva asks two questions of any youngster who may answer: "Do you like books?" and "What marks [grades] have you?"

DARK-HAIRED Oleg Skramtaiev inquires: "Where do you live?" "How many pupils are in your class?" and "What books do you like to read?"

"Window test" proves blue Cheer washes so white you can see the difference!

because only Cheer has the Blue-Magic whitener!

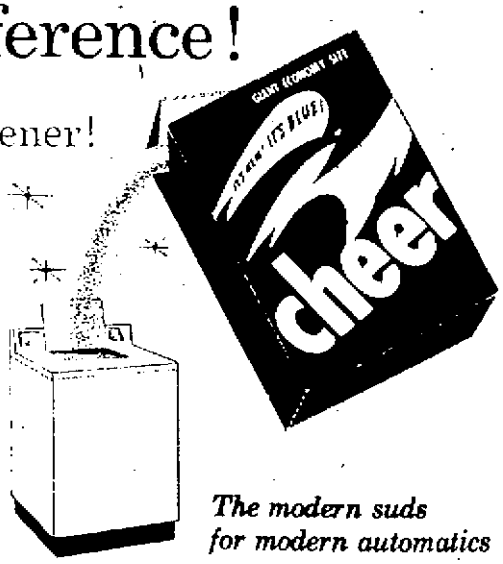

Cheer's Blue-Magic whitener is not just a bluing . . . it's more than a bluing . . . it's a new, better whitener for all your wash.

One look tells you . . . blue Cheer brings a new whiteness to your wash. And this simple yet dramatic "window test" proves it.

Just take some Cheer-washed clothes to your window. In that revealing light (or even on a gray day), you'll see a startling new whiteness in all your wash. And on hardest-to-whiten things like nylon, you'll see a real difference in whiteness never possible before Cheer.

What's more, blue Cheer washes dirtiest work and play clothes crisply clean, adds new brightness to colored washables, too. And you really know Cheer's in a class by itself when you see the difference in whiteness Cheer gives you.

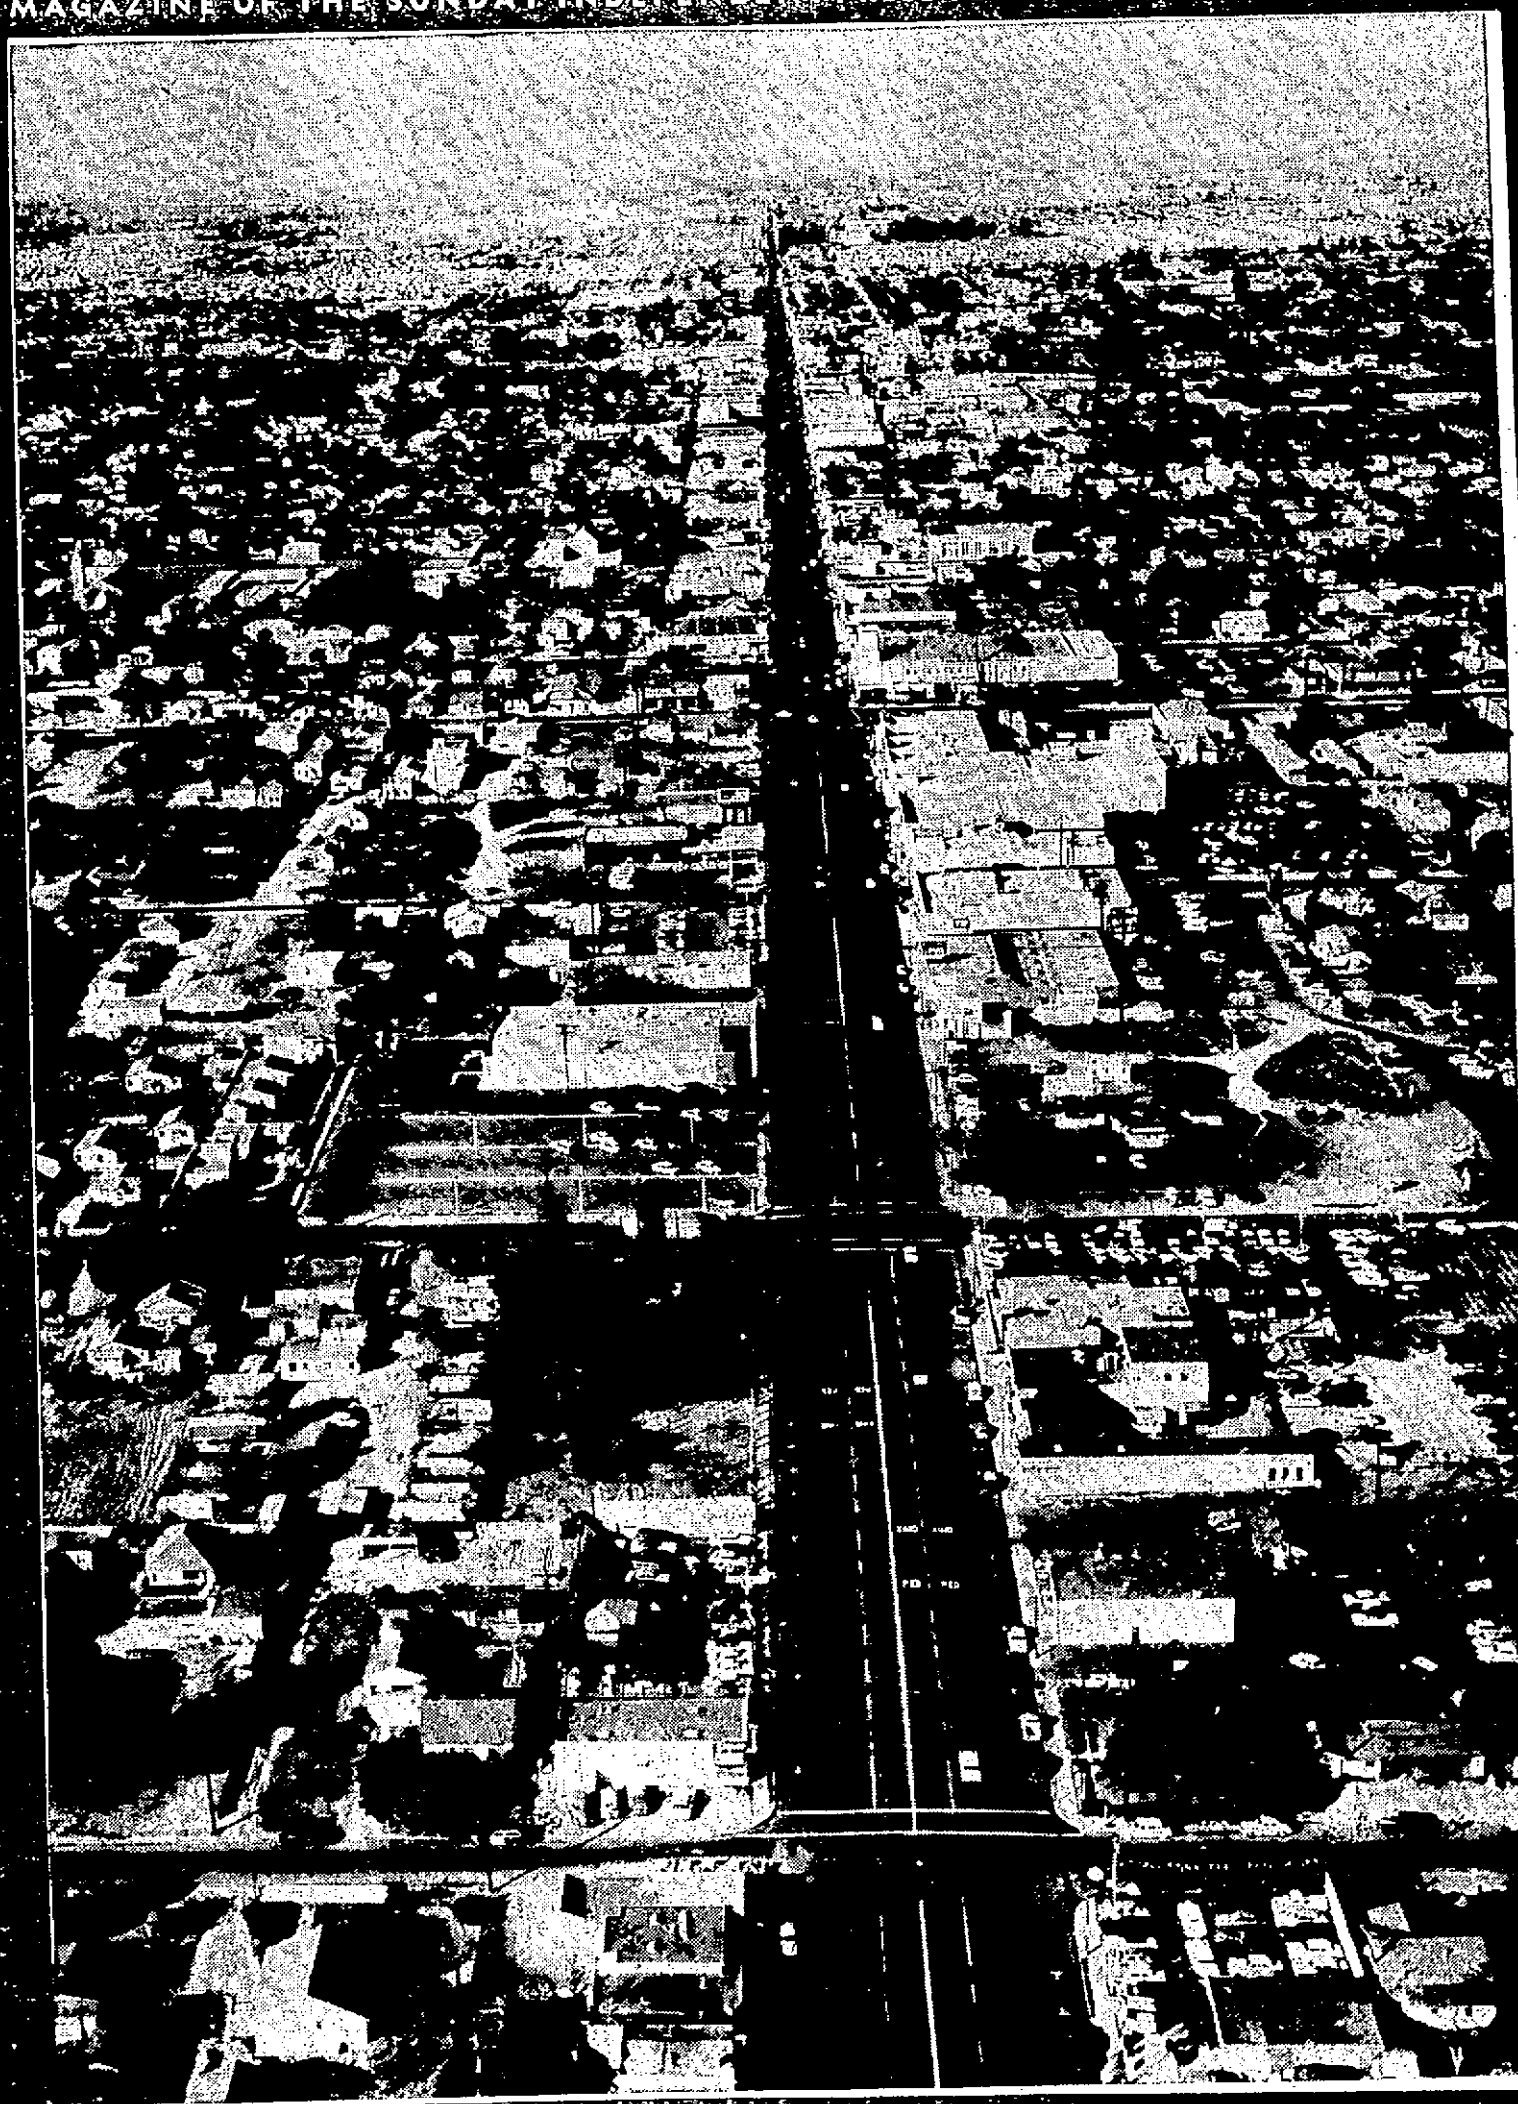

TRY CHEER in your automatic washer. Remember that blue Cheer has the active, hard-working kind of suds recommended by leading makers of automatics and preferred by 8 out of 10 women who own agitator automatics.

Bellflower Today: This is the thriving business district of Bellflower, one of the Southland's fastest growing, most promising cities.

CITIES OF THE SOUTHLAND

Wide Streets and Wooden Shoes

By Clarence Bernard Propes

PERHAPS it is because Bellflower, although a city and an entity, has never been incorporated. Perhaps it is because of its geographical position between the two largest cities of Southern California. Or perhaps it has to do with the time of its settlement, approximately 1906, in the leisurely turn-of-the-century era. It may be for any of these reasons, or for one less easily analyzed, but whatever the cause, Bellflower, along with all its modernity, has kept much of the feeling, the flavor, the leisurely charm of early Southern California.

From a dusty, country crossroads stop on the newly laid Pacific Electric line to Santa Ana in 1904, Bellflower has grown to a lusty business center of southeast Los Angeles County.

THE ORIGINAL townsite was laid out for acre "small-farm" homes. This has left its mark even today as it allowed for spacious growth, giving the community a well-balanced and mellow residential area.

Perhaps the feeling of mellowness comes from nothing more definite than coming around a corner and glimpsing a Monterey type house or dusty eucalyptus silhouetted against a hill. Suddenly, early Southern California is there.

New homes are rising rapidly and there are few large vacant areas remaining, but many of the older homes are on one or two-acre lots filled with fruit trees and gardens. These streets are tree-shaded and the grass in all the yards is green. It is a town easy to live in.

"THERE'S A STRONG community spirit here," said Dale Clanton of the Chamber of Commerce. "The people think of the good of the community as a whole rather than their own particular section of the city." . . .

There is civic pride in Bellflower, but the community remains unincorporated. Two years ago the citizens voted on the question and rejected incorporation by a thumping majority of two to one. They know they have a handsome, smiling city. They are afraid of what a city government might bring.

Remaining a county area has certain disadvantages. Bellflower residents are dependent on county services, which are often painfully slow. The county has erected a handsome group of offices to speed its services but many believe that that can never be quite as satisfactory as city offices.

Policing by the sheriff's office is efficient. The crime rate, both for adults and juveniles, is remarkably low.

Bellflower has all the county's fire trucks protecting it, for the county firemen, like all smoke eaters, are dedicated to getting to fires and getting them out as fast as science will let them.

Capt. Kenneth Green of the Bellflower Fire Station said: "When we answer a fire we send out three pumpers, a ladder truck, a rescue unit, and there's always a battalion chief on hand. We get there fast."

Bellflower's unincorporated status has led to the loss of a sizeable piece of the city. The residents of the Mayfair district voted to join Lakewood. This reduced Bellflower from 60,000 to 54,000 and caused murmurs of politics.

"They may be on the Lakewood City map," said one businessman, "but those people still feel like they belong in Bellflower. If anything like that happens again I bet we'll incorporate like a shot."

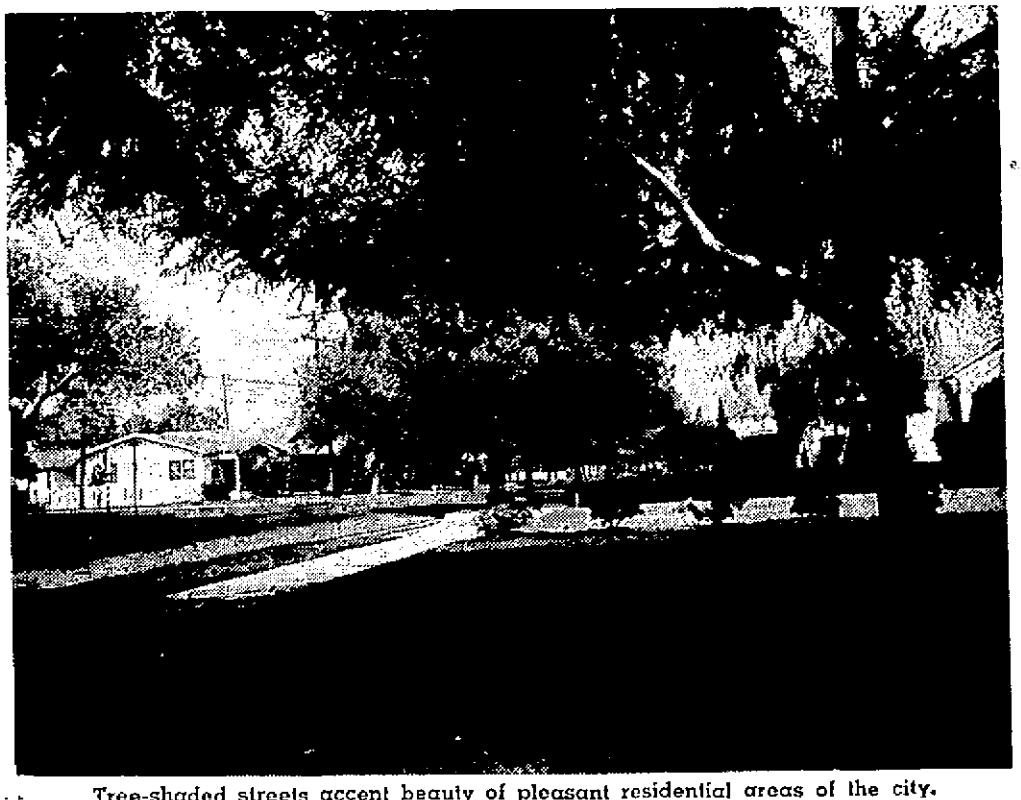

According to Joe D. Williams, printer and Bellflower historian, the city got its start in 1906 when a 1,000-acre tract was pur-

Bellflower Yesterday: Horse-drawn and horseless vehicles mingled as the residents of Bellflower gathered to celebrate Independence Day in 1915.

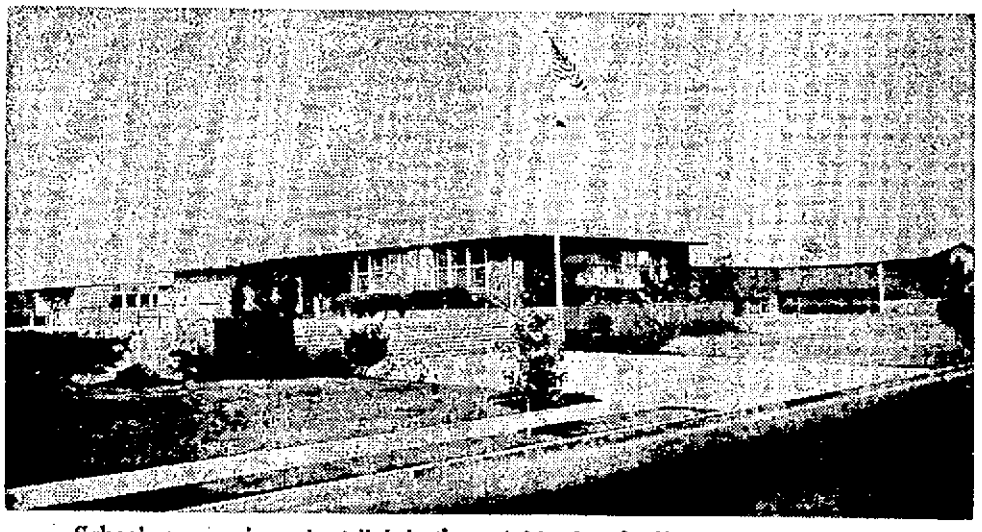

Tree-shaded streets accent beauty of pleasant residential areas of the city. Bellflower is not incorporated but a strong community spirit prevails.

In a community built from treeless fields into a modern city, parks also have come in for attention. This building is part of Sims Park.

One of California's finest private schools is St. John Bosco School for Boys, an imposing landmark situated along busy Bellflower Blvd.

Schools are an important link in the neighborhood life of all communities and Bellflower is no exception. This is the modern Bellflower High School.

Government functions in Bellflower are offered by Los Angeles County and these are county office buildings erected to speed such services there.

Two ardent Bellflower advocates: Claire Thompson Jr., son of the founder of district's first business, and Dale Clanton of the chamber of commerce.

chased from the Bixby Company. Within a few years it was transformed from a huge ranch into one-acre homesites.

ITS FIRST NAME was Firth, but at the request of the Bixby family it was changed to Somerset. Post office officials then rejected that name, for there was a Somerset, Colorado. They felt that a letter addressed to Somerset, Colo., would be likely to wind up in Somerset, Cal., or vice versa. It was finally decided to name the town Bellflower after a fine bellflower apple orchard within the city.

Mrs. Dorothy McCulloch, of the Independent, Press-Telegram office in Bellflower, has seen the town transformed from treeless fields to a tree-shaded city. In 1921, her father, C. W. Menzer, purchased two acres for $3,000 and moved to Bellflower. Within three months he sold one of the acres for $3,000. "He decided right then to go into the real estate business," said Dorothy. "My brothers are still carrying on the family business over on Bellflower Ave."

Claire Thompson Sr. established Bellflower's first business house, a general store. "We used to get everything there," said Dorothy. "Groceries, household supplies and even mail." The general store has grown with the city and has become three modern furniture, appliance and hardware stores, owned and managed by the sons of the founder.

Hollanders made Bellflower the center of Southern California's dairy industry. Some dairy farms remain but they are gradually disappearing as land values become too high for profitable operation.

THE CITY REMAINS a hay and feed center. Hay is shipped in from all over the Southland to be reshipped to dairymen and stockmen. The Triangle Feed Co., for instance, supplies feed to dairymen from the Mexican border to Fresno.

The flavor of Holland remains even though the dairymen are moving out. The Queen of Holland made a point of visiting the Bellflower area when she came to Southern California a few years ago. The Holland-American Market is a modern grocery store with one section devoted to Holland imports. Mynheer may select from a wide variety of cheeses, or he may choose from a bewildering assortment of long-stemmed, deep-bowled pipes. In the store window is an arresting display of wooden shoes.

One of California's finest private schools for boys lies in the northern part of town. Saint John Bosco is a Catholic school for both day and boarding pupils. Its standards are high and it has a program of constant activity, either in the classrooms or the playing fields.

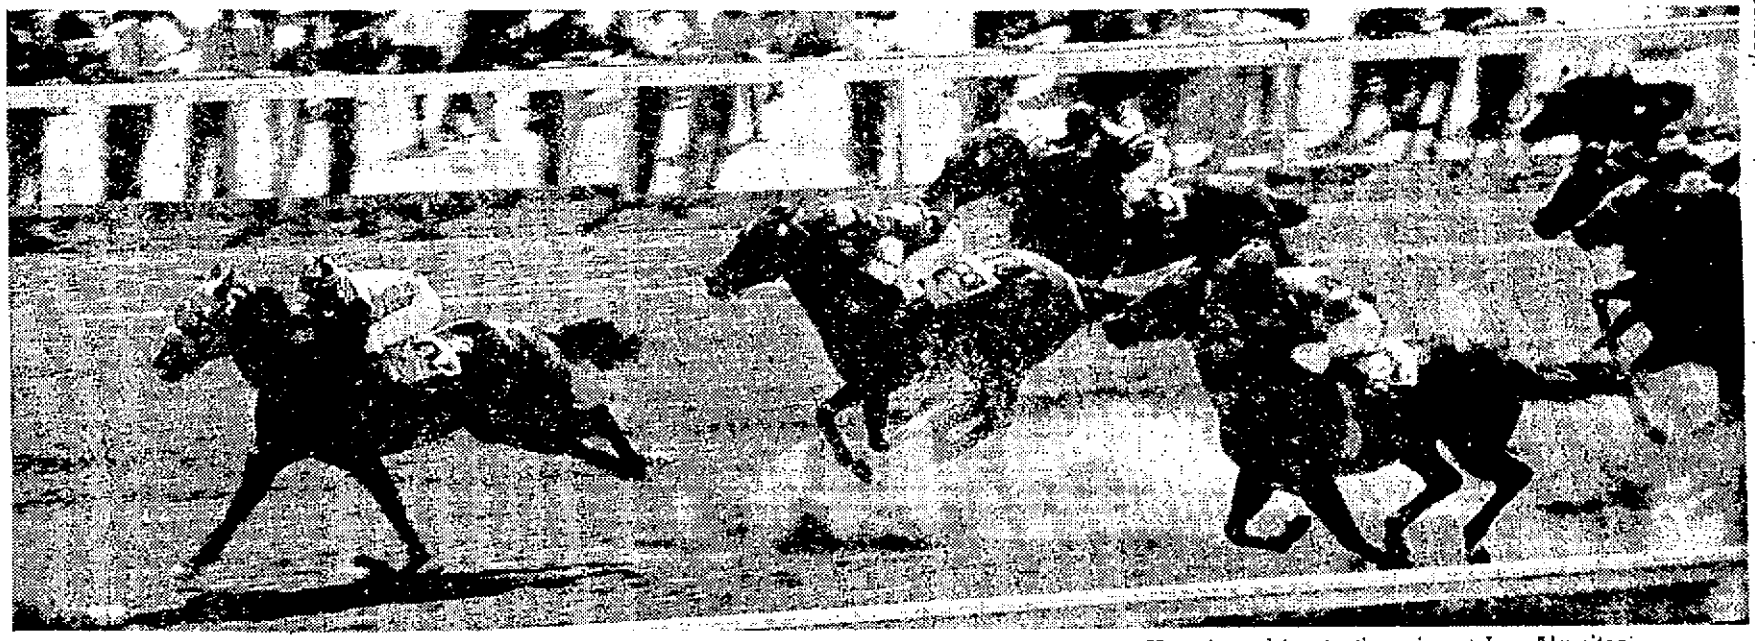

PUBLIC SCHOOL enrollment is now 8,000 and Dr. Norman Wampler, superintendent of schools, expects a peak of 12,500 in a few years. "We feel we have our building and classroom problem pretty well under control," he said. "The enrollment has grown from 3,400 in 10 years, but there are only six half-day classes. We'll soon have those pupils on an all-day schedule."

On Nov. 1, the citizenry voted to transfer to the Bellflower Unified School District the high school, which also includes the elementary and secondary schools. Another advance will be the establishment of a junior college within the old Excelsior Union High School District.

Children have left their mark in this community that has kept its feeling of a "Tom Sawyer town." In one of the parks is a bronze Statue of Liberty erected through the activity of the Boy Scouts. Bellflower is a town for youngsters. It is modern in all its facilities, but there remains the big green lawns, wide, tree-shaded streets, the dusty eucalypti, and room for a child to live and find himself.

Boy Scouts backed Sims Park Statue of Liberty.

Quarter horse speed is exceeded only by ostriches and antelope, "short horse" fans say. Here is a drive to the wire at Los Alamitos.

Saddle the Small and Outrun 'Em All

By Jack Teele

DOWN IN TEXAS, where almost anything is liable to happen, they raced a horse against a Cadillac last summer. Even more startling is the fact that not one of the Stetson-wearin' dowpokes who saw the horse beat the automobile by the margin of a fender was surprised at the outcome!

The official chart of the race was worded in typically terse Texan:

"Pretty Buck, out of Patsy Clover, defeated 1955 Cadillac de Ville, by General Motors out of Detroit. Distance 220 yards."

In all fairness to the Cadillac it must be revealed that the competition was no ordinary horse. The automobile was racing against a quarter horse and, podner, any son of the sage knows that quarter horses are the fastest critters north of the Alamo, west of the Pecos and south of Laramie!

Beauteous Myrna Foley is queen of meet coming up.

Frank Vessels Sr. is Los Alamitos' guiding light.

WHILE THE HORSEPOWER contest with General Motors' pride and joy was a step up in class for the quarter horse, the "short horses" have been winning match races since the day the first cowboy took out after a maverick.

Quarter horses are built for speed!

In 1611, 17 native English stallions and mares were imported to Virginia and were crossed with Spanish horses to produce a heavily muscled and compact horse. The resulting breed could run a short distance faster than any other breed — and still can.

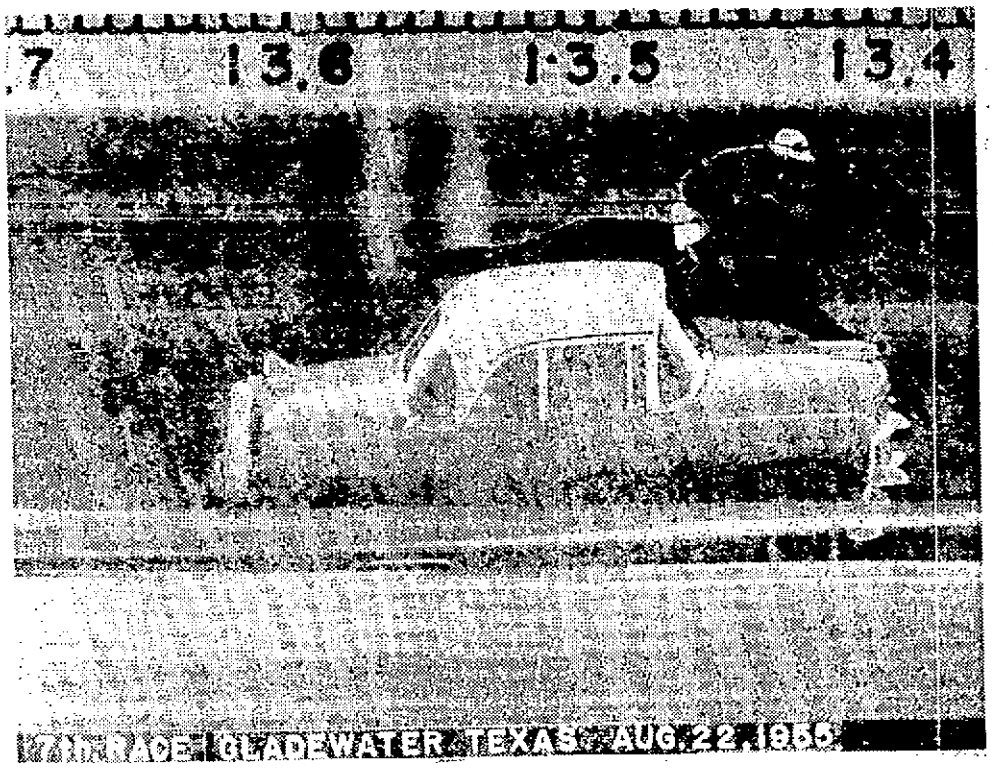

That was the beginning of the quarter horse and ever since cowboys have been saying, "Admire the tall, but saddle the small."

"Saddling the small" is exactly what they will be doing at Frank Vessels' Los Alamitos track, beginning Monday. The sixth all-quarter horse meeting — with beautiful Myrna Foley as reigning queen — opens at the beautiful suburban course and promises to be the finest in the history of the sport.

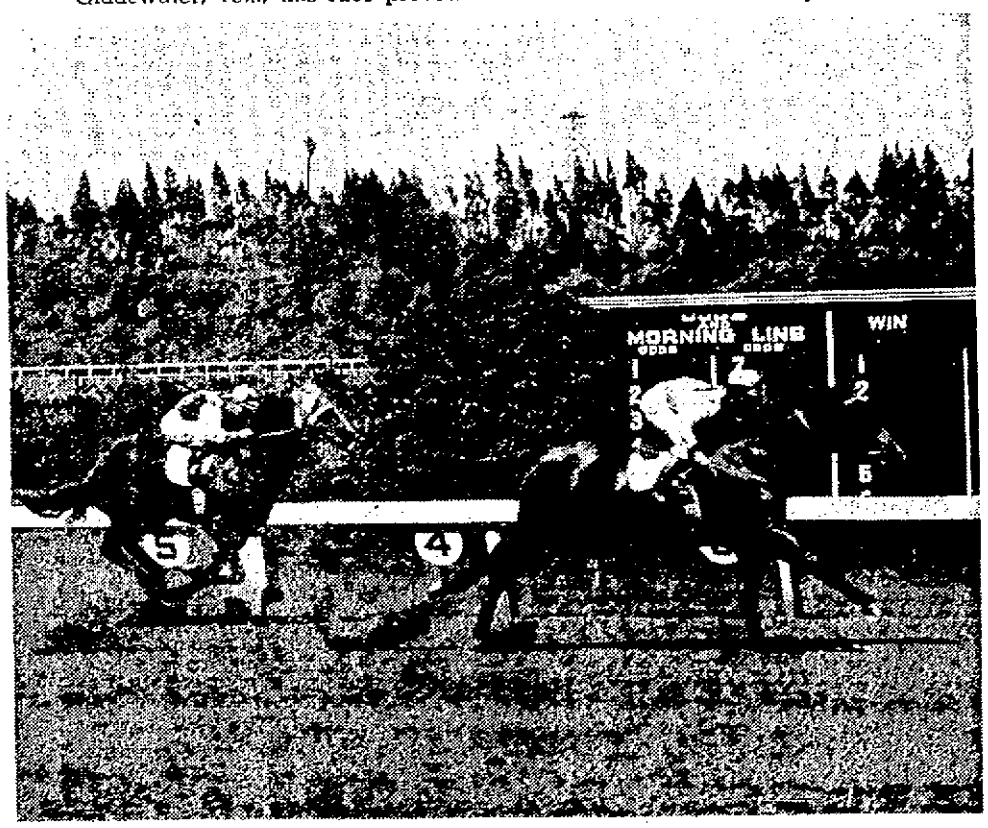

AT LOS ALAMITOS, racing fans will be able to see the finest products of the quarter horse breed. The horses will be running 220 yards in a fraction over 12 seconds and 440 yards in a hair over 22 seconds. If sustained, these speeds would be about 40 miles an hour.

Only ostriches and antelopes, says the Encyclopedia of Sports, can run faster. So, barring the unlikely possibility that some smart operator saddles up an os-

At 220 yards, a quarter horse can beat a Cadillac Coupe de Ville, and at Gladewater, Tex., this race proved it. Here's the horse, winner by a head.

Speed of the quarter horses was again demonstrated at Hollywood Park in 1947 when Barbra B., a "short horse," defeated thoroughbred Fair Truckle.

Ultrasonic Bathtub Saves Lives

DOUGLAS AIRCRAFT technicians have a $150,000 answer to the problem of weeding out faulty airplane parts before they get into the sky, thus saving lives.

They use an ultrasonic bathtub.

By beaming the high-frequency sound waves through aluminum die forgings immersed in water, the technicians can spot internal flaws in the metal.

These roughly-shaped pieces of metal are tooled by Douglas workers into vital stress parts like wing fittings and landing gears. And the metal has to be tough enough for the job.

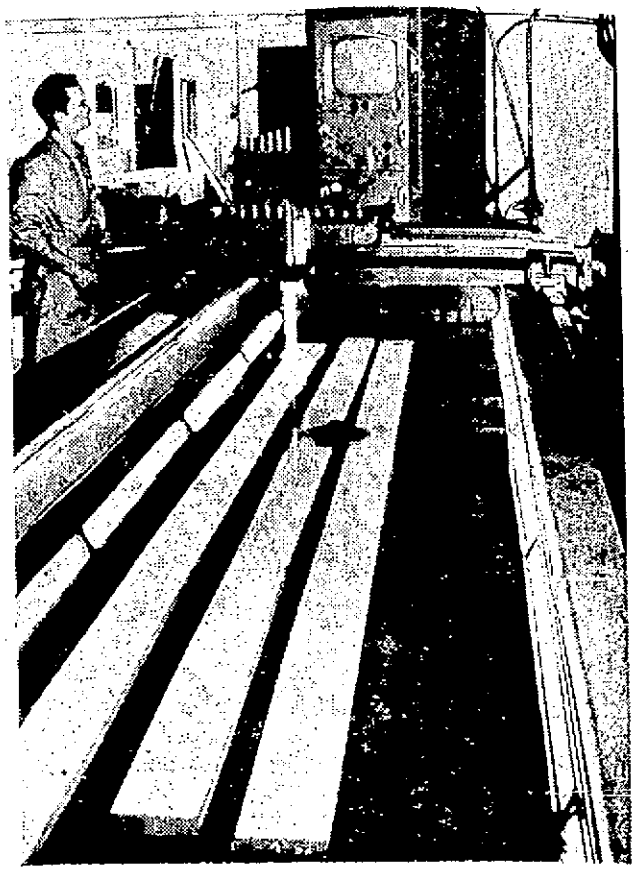

The "ultrasonic bathtubs" are tanks specially designed by Douglas and fitted with a high-frequency sounding device like the Navy's Sonar. But instead of making sound waves echo from the bottom of the ocean, this device bounces sound from the top and bottom of the piece of metal being tested.

Any flaw in the metal shows up as a blip on a cathode ray tube—or TV screen—watched by a technician.

ULTRA HIGH-FREQUENCY waves are produced by a quartz crystal that sends out 400 bursts of sound every second. This sound reaches 25,000,000 cycles a second—more than a thousand times higher than anything audible to human ears.

The ultrasonic inspection program at the Long Beach Douglas plant was set up two years ago under the direction of Chief Inspector E. W. Makin and Asst. Chief Inspector W. F. Stryker. F. L. Clark is assistant foreman of the ultrasonic lab and D. G. Brusse is general foreman of the fabrication-and-receiving inspection department.

Eight technicians work in the ultrasonic lab now, giving safety checks to between 60,000 and 70,000 die forgings a year.

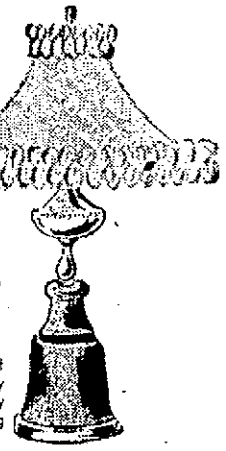

Ultrasonic safety check in water-filled tank is given three aluminum bars that will be used for plane parts. Technician B. E. Kempton checks TV screen for flaws.

SOUTHLAND'S MOVIE PREVIEW

The Not-So-Terrible Miss Dove

Already a distinguished actress, Jennifer Jones adds to her stature as a great artist in the screen role of a young girl who returns home from finishing school to face the sudden death of her father and the grim task of paying off $11,000 he had embezzled from the bank of which he was president. As a schoolteacher, she earns the name of "The Terrible Miss Dove" as she devotes year after year to her work. But former students, many of them now grown, change their minds when she is stricken with a dread disease and is rushed to a hospital for a delicate operation. That's a thumbnail plot of "Good Morning, Miss Dove," a powerful new 20th Century-Fox drama produced in CinemaScope and DeLuxe Color. Costarring is Robert Stack.

On her return from school, Miss Dove's father (Leslie Bradley) outlines a round-the-world tour he wants her to take. She says she's in love. A few minutes later, the father falls dead. Miss Dove learns he took bank funds.

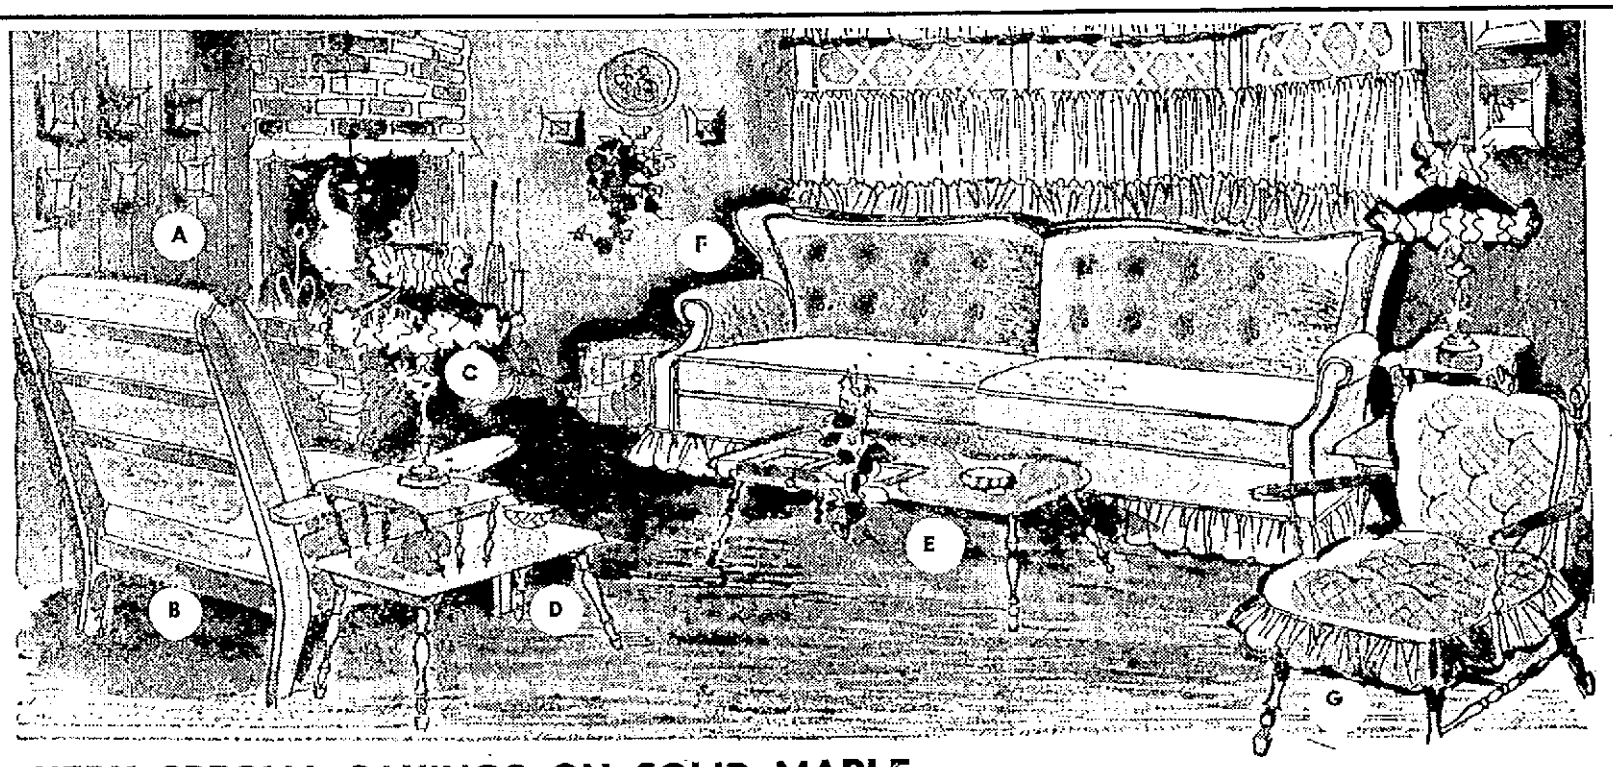

Miss Dove gives up marriage to teach and pay off father's debt. "The Terrible Miss Dove" is strict but also fair.

And former pupils are grateful for her deeds, among them Dr. Baker (Stack) whom she reunites with expectant wife.

Then disease strikes and Miss Dove places her fate in hands of ex-students Dr. Baker and Nurse Green (Peggy Knudsen). The operation is a success. Dr. Baker is presented with twins. Church bells ring and cheers come from street below.

"How do you keep from being lonely when you travel and don't know anybody in cities? I can see how you spend the days sightseeing but what about nights?"

THIS SURELY is a problem, especially for a girl and you see quite a few of them sitting in hotel dining rooms and having a dull time. It seems to be better in places where there are sports. Like the Austrian Tyrol in the winter. People get acquainted easily in places like this.

Otherwise, I would say bus travel is better than anything else. Having just done three days on CIAT, the Italian bus line, I met a lot of Americans.

Everybody on the bus at day's end was acquainted. You simply have to get into situations where you meet people. You don't meet them in hotels or on trains or airlines or walking around the streets.

"We hear that Europeans dislike Americans. Think they're braggy with their money. Does this affect you when traveling?

MOST OF THE American tourists these days are not so loaded with money. The American in Europe now is generally middle class and apt to behave better than you think. That international set you find hanging out in the Excelsior in Rome or the Ritz bar in Paris or the Savoy in London — the wealthy ex-patriate—are surely our poorest exports. But I think we are getting a better reputation lately.

I find the Italians extremely friendly. The Germans a little cool. The Swiss, Spanish and Portuguese very nice. The British very friendly. The French apt to be cool and calculating. This is pretty general, though. Depends on who you run up against and you can spend a friendly attitude yourself and buy more than you can with dollars.

"I just know I am going to be terribly confused about money when I go to Europe. Should I carry dollars? How do you avoid leaving a country with a lot of foreign money in your purse?"

All the European money is fairly stable now. If you have leftover on foreign money, just take it to your bank when you get home. They'll get it exchanged and you lose only a minor percentage.

I carry $50 traveler's checks plus about $100 in $5 and $10 bills. So, when you leave a country and want to make a small purchase without cashing a big check, you exchange a small bill.

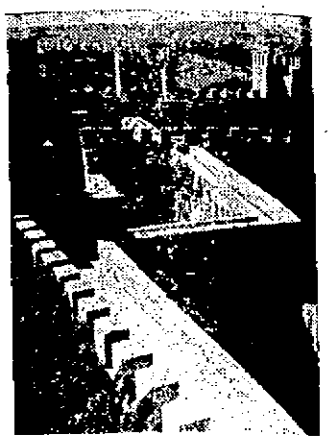

For example, I ran out of small bills. So I cashed a traveler's check in Switzerland into Swiss 20-franc notes (about $5). These cash anywhere just like dollars. You could do the same with English pounds or German D-marks, both being hard money. The only fluctuating currency is French francs. Best not to get caught with too much of these. The others cash in at home with no problem at all.

Your mailed questions will be answered (no phone calls). Send stamped and addressed envelope to: Stan Delaplane, Southland Magazine, Independent, Press-Telegram, Sixth and Pine, Long Beach 12, Calif.

Catching Time

Time flies along with the international vacationer, but, according to TWA's London office, seems to stand still in the many historic English towns boasting performing clocks. Hampton Court Palace contains one made for Henry VIII in 1540 which shows the 12 signs of the Zodiac, the hour, the day, the month, the sun's position, the moon's phase, the number of days from the beginning of the year, and the time of high water at London Bridge. British Travel Association researchers report one of the oldest clocks — a single-handed timepiece geared to a more leisurely century — in Lincolnshire.

RESORTS AND TRAVEL

Visitors to Portugal find many reminders of antiquity such as the ancient stone castle of St. Jorge, built in the 10th century by the Moors, and sturdy enough to withstand quake of 1755.

3-Story Cafe

Atop Monte Mario, overlooking Rome, is the three-story restaurant Palazzi, magnificent villa once belonging to Mussolini's mistress. Only the villa's interior has been changed to provide several dining rooms, a dance floor, a swimming pool, bar and sitting rooms on two floors and an open-air grill on the upper terrace. A graceful ramp connects the first and second floors; a wide circular staircase leads to the third. One wall of the spacious entrance hall is actually a glass birdhouse where parakeets, cockatoos and other birds twitter gaily. Exterior grounds of the mansion boast beautiful gardens, where dinner may also be served on summer evenings.

Rudy Comes Back

By Vera Williams

REMEMBER Rudy Vallee — the "Vagabond Lover," heart throb of the 1920's?

Remember Rudy Vallee, director of the 11th District Coast Guard band in Long Beach during World War II?

He is on the comeback trail. Playing — of all roles — Rudy Vallee!

The original crooner plays the Rudy Vallee of today and the Rudy Vallee of 25 years ago in "Gentlemen Marry Brunettes," United Artists release. In addition to Vallee, the picture also has Technicolor, CinemaScope, Jane Russell, Jeanne Crain, Allan Young and Scott Brady.

RUDY CHUCKLES over the cablegram from Paris which said, "Have strong part for Rudy Vallee in 'Gentlemen Marry Brunettes,' but it all depends. What does the guy look like these days?"

Says Rudy, "The question was not casual curiosity. Executive producer Robert Bassler and writer-director Richard Sale wanted to know whether I could play myself as I was approximately a quarter of a century ago with any degree of physical verisimilitude. Was I so far gone that make-up would involve major surgery? Or was I at least a reasonable facsimile of the old Rudy?

"MY FIRST REACTION was indignation at the all-to-obvious implication that I was something prehistoric, like a dinosaur, and might have to be reconstructed by ear from a fragment of shinbone.

"I still have all my hair and even the wave has not vanished, although there's gray at the temples. I've got all my teeth; my fighting weight is 150, which at my height, 5 feet 11, doesn't allow much for middle-age spread. That's not too bad for a man taking his ease in the comfortable lap of the early 50s."

Rudy Vallee in a recent portrait and, below . . .

. . . the original crooner with megaphone, "sax."

NORRIS BERNSTEIN

Bavarian Pie . . . Ummm

ALL KINDS of pies are served daily throughout Long Beach—fruit pies, meat pies, pizza pies, Eskimo pies and even, on occasion, mud pies.

There is only one restaurant in Long Beach, however, where you can sit down and enjoy real, honest-to-goodness Bavarian cream pies.

This restaurant is Bernstein's, 5232 E. 2nd St., Belmont Shore. Its pies are prepared from old Bavarian recipes that have been in the Bernstein family for years. The demand for these pies (made from sweet cream, sour cream, sugar and spices) has grown so remarkably in recent months that Bernstein's has added a number of new varieties. As a result, patrons may now choose strawberry, apricot, lemon, boysenberry, cherry or pineapple.

Host and Co-Owner Norris Bernstein points out that the pies are included, at no extra cost, on all of Bernstein's luncheons and dinners.

BERNSTEIN'S reputation is not based on its pies alone, however. Its salad dressings, now sold in markets throughout the country, have brought the restaurant praise for years. And its dinners, always moderate in price, are a continual conversation piece for epicures. For example, Bernstein's features a delectable cut of prime rib for only $2.45 on a big complete dinner, but you'll have to get there early in the evening to enjoy it, because it's usually sold out within an hour.

Another splendid dinner item is barbecued Long Island duckling with broiled pineapple ring, $2.25 on a complete dinner. Still another is filet mignon tips en brouchette, also $2.25. The tips are amazingly tender and prepared in spices and wine before being charcoal broiled.

As this column has mentioned before, Bernstein's complete dinners are really COMPLETE. Included are a selection of chilled appetizers, choice of soup, tomato juice or cold borscht, choice of different salads and dressings, souffle potatoes, hot rolls, beverage and dessert.

COOKING

If It's Hot and Spicy, It'll Do Very Nicely

By Mildred K. Flanary
Press-Telegram Home Economics Editor

Hot spiced punch, made from concentrated, quick-frozen lemonade and cranberry juice, will welcome guests who will be dropping in during the holidays.

WITH CHRISTMAS SEASON dead ahead and the New Year treading hard on the heels of Santa Claus, it's a wise mistress of the household who is planning now for something out of the ordinary to serve at the happy and informal gatherings of friends and relatives or when folks just "drop in."

There'll be invitations, too, to "come to our house" for a sip and a bite and a visit.

For these occasions, festive food and drink is imperative, but need not be elaborate—just different and good.

Hot spiced punch made from concentrated quick-frozen lemonade and cranberry juice spells a welcome for all who come. Serve the punch in mugs and decorate each serving with a bright red or green cherry and a quarter slice of orange on a toothpick. Then pass a platter of finger sandwiches (date nut bread spread with softened cream cheese), a creamy dip circled with crisp potato chips, a big bowl of mixed nuts. And better have refills of the punch ready in the kitchen. The recipe for hot punch is featured elsewhere on this page.

Here are some other recipes to help your planning:

Tipsy Cake
Sopa borracha

Prepare sponge cake from packaged cake mix or buy one at the bakery. Two days before serving pour the following syrup over cake, a little at a time. Wine syrup: Simmer 1 cup water with 1 cup sugar until it forms a light syrup. Flavor with ½ cup sweet sherry and 1 jigger light rum. Serves 8.

Baba Au Rhum
(Cake with Rum Sauce)

1 (3/5-ounce) cake compressed yeast
¼ cup warm milk
2 cups sifted flour
½ cup shortening
3 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
¼ teaspoon salt
3 eggs

Soften yeast in milk. Beat in ½ cup of the flour; cover and let sponge rise until light. Cream together shortening, sugar, lemon peel and salt. Add eggs one at a time; beat well after each addition. Add remaining 1½ cups of flour slowly; add sponge and mix well. Pour into greased 2-quart ring mold and let stand until triple in bulk. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven for 25 minutes. Remove cake from pan and allow to cool. Pour Sauce for Baba over it and let stand until all the sauce is absorbed. Wrap in freezer packaging material. Yield: 1 cake (about 8 to 10 servings).

Sauce for Baba
½ cup sugar
1 cup water
4 teaspoons rum flavoring
½ teaspoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon almond extract

Pour sugar and water into saucepan. Switch to "high" until boiling; switch to "low" and cook 10 minutes. Remove from unit and add flavorings. Pour sauce over cake at intervals until all is absorbed.

Creme Brulee With Pineapple
1 cup milk
1 cup light cream
2 eggs, slightly beaten
¼ cup granulated sugar
Dash of salt
1 tsp. vanilla
¾ cup brown sugar
6 pineapple slices

Heat milk and cream in top of double boiler to scalding. Combine eggs, sugar and salt, and gradually stir in hot mixture. Cook in double boiler until mixture coats spoon, stirring constantly. Add vanilla. Cool. Pour into a shallow baking dish. When custard is thick and set, place baking dish in a large pan and surround with ice. Sprinkle with brown sugar to cover, or just around edge, as preferred. Broil until sugar is bubbly and melted. Keep cold until serving time. Serve over chilled pineapple slices. Serves 6.

Stuffed Prawns
½ pound lean pork
2 or 3 fresh green onions
½ cup canned water chestnuts
½ cup mushrooms
dash of salt, ⅛ tsp. accent, ¼ tsp. white pepper

Chop fine the pork, onions, water chestnuts and mushrooms. Measurements are for chopped ingredients. Mix well and add seasonings. Shell and split the raw prawns or shrimp and stuff with above prepared filling. Wrap each shrimp with a very thin slice of bacon and secure with toothpicks. Dip in milk and roll in flour. Cook in medium hot deep fat for 8 to 10 minutes. Do not have fat too hot or outside will brown before stuffing is done. Allow 3 or 4 very large shrimp per person, more if smaller. Serves 4.

Hot Lemonade Punch:

4 to 7 whole cloves
1 stick cinnamon (2½ inches)
2 cups bottled cranberry juice
3¼ cups water
½ cup sugar
¾ cup (6-ounce can) concentrated quick-frozen lemonade, thawed

Combine spices, cranberry juice and water in saucepan. Bring to a rolling boil. Cover, remove from heat and let stand about 3 minutes. Strain to remove spices. Add sugar and stir until dissolved. Pour over concentrated lemonade in heat-proof pitcher. Blend well. Serve hot. If desired, garnish each serving with half an orange slice and a sprig of mint or a green cherry. Makes about 6 cups, or 12 four-ounce servings.

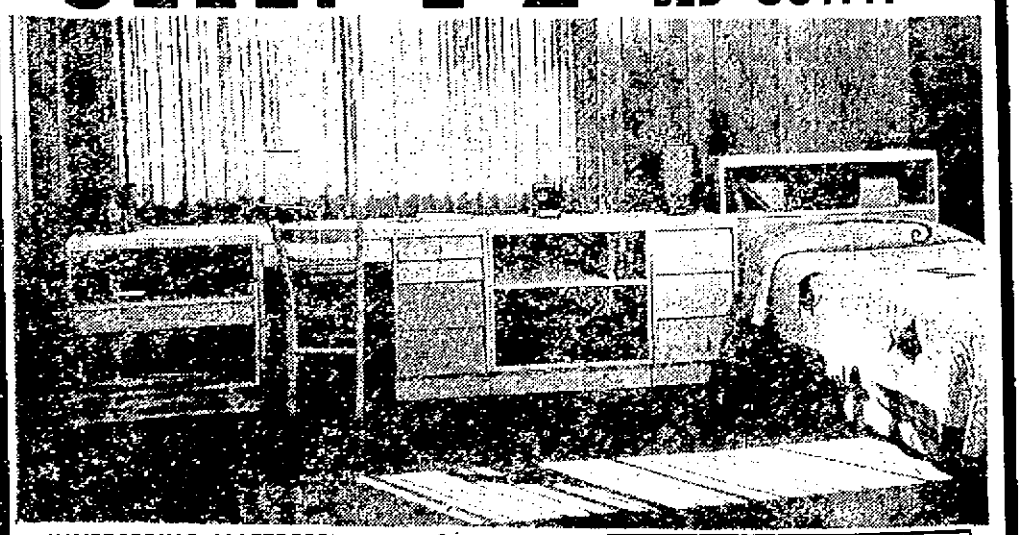

Kitchen Tip:

Chocolate frosting will have a new and delicious taste if you add one tablespoon of peanut butter.

Tricks With Pictures for Christmas Cards

HOW OFTEN have you longed for a picture of your family on a Christmas card only to cringe at the phrase, "Use your favorite snapshot"? There are few group pictures that flatter every member of the family. How many times have you heard, "It's a horrible picture of me, but it was the best of the others, so we chose it"? I have discovered a simple way to get around this obstacle, and add originality and fantasy to my cards at the same time.

By wise posing and printing, family faces can grace yule cards. Author and Mel McClain here ride Santa's sleigh; Mark and Mike ride Rudolph.

By Darlene Mitchell McClain

The trick is to put pictures of yourself into scenes suggestive of Christmas. In the first place, you have to plan the scene you want, and get the pictures you need for background. The Santa and sleigh shown in accompanying illustration came from a 25-cent edition of "The Night Before Christmas." Whatever you use, after you have determined your layout, you are ready for the pictures of your family.

There are two ways of using pictures. If your scene calls for you to be in a certain unusual position, as we are sitting in Santa's sleigh, take several pictures and choose the best. The best may not be perfect, but the scene overshadows the details of poor poses. The picture of the boys on the reindeer was taken in a department store, where "Rudolph" could be ridden for a dime. If that hadn't been available, I would have pasted their photos on some other picture,

They Call It 'Cotton Ball'

STRANGE PLANT of a strange land, the cotton ball cactus with 132 heads grows in Death Valley and is an interesting phenomenon for the thousands of visitors to the valley each year.

The rare botanical specimen grows near the highway between Death Valley Junction and the entrance to Death Valley National Monument. Each of the heads of this odd plant is about the size of a small nail keg

A short side road, marked by a sign, leads from the highway to the plant which is protected from knife-happy tourists by a high wire fence. — BERTHA BLANCHARD.

Phenomenon of the desert, this cotton ball cactus is one of the many strange attractions of Death Valley.

SOUTHLAND HOMES

A Bungalow Grows and Adds a Pool

Glass doors slide back to open the newly added family room to poolside in home of Mrs. Sally Nelson and children. Wrought iron adds to appearance.

By Eileen Ball

HOW A MODEST Los Altos bungalow grew from 1,350 feet to 1,600 feet and gained a sparkling swimming pool too, is the story of Mrs. Sally Nelson's home at 2921 Radnor Ave.

The warm dignity of good traditional mahogany furniture characterizes the living room and bedrooms. New Orleans white wrought iron "frosting" embellishes the front porch. And the kitchen, aglow with glossy brown-flecked decorator tile and natural birch cabinets, overlooks a patio roofed with a scalloped aluminum canopy which, in turn, leads to the poolside. All in all, the potential of this house has been realized to the fullest. And how beautifully it serves the family it houses!

Soft putty-beige coloring has been used in large areas throughout the formal living room. The rather steeply pitched ceiling has rafters painted this neutral tone. In keeping are fine-meshed silk boucle curtains that hang to the floor and are beautifully framed with rich side draperies and pleated valance of copper-rose faille. The intricately-pleated valance and the draperies are edged in silk tassel fringe of identically the same color as the fabric.

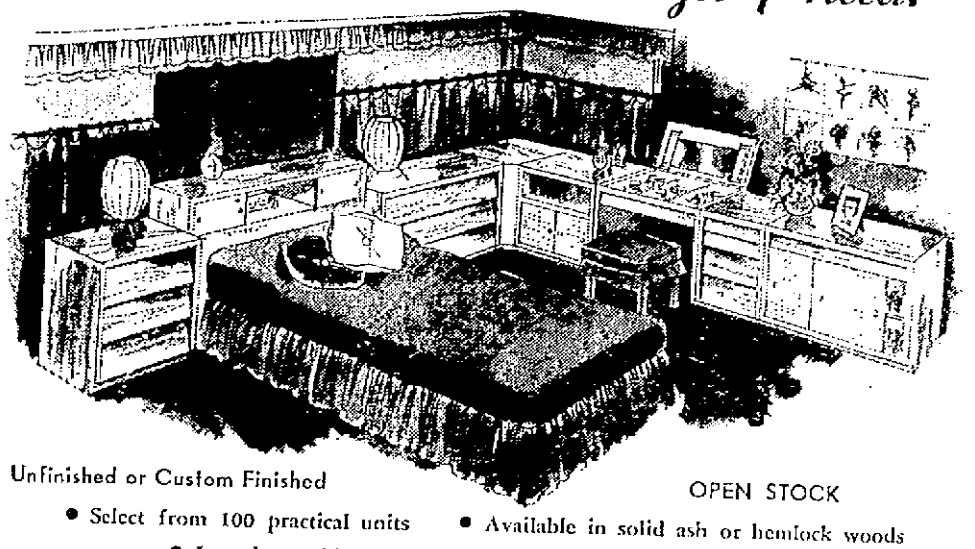

THE END of the living room containing the fireplace has been completely paneled in natural waxed Philippine mahogany. To carry down the putty color of the rafters and unite ceiling and wall is the putty-colored molding which frames a narrow red brick firebox opening. A huge plate glass mirror surmounts the mantelpiece in traditional form, its reflection adding feet to the apparent size of the room.

A wall-to-wall carpet of sandalwood finish provides a pleasing background for the pair of blue brocade channel-back chairs that flank leather-topped lamp tables before the picture window. Equally well complemented is the oversized formal sofa upholstered in deep green sculptured nylon.

Largely responsible for the sedate, almost quaint, atmosphere of the room is the wallpaper used for the long wall opposite the front door. Due to the ceiling pitch this is an important wall for height as well as length. Wallpaper imported from England portraying groupings of dainty pastoral scenes in "frames" of soft blue-green foliage impart to the room a feeling of quiet repose.

SLIDING, LOUVERED doors open to the dinette and kitchen. Walls for the dining area have been papered in a soft sandalwood tan background paper portraying a pine needle pattern in bronze and gold. Crisp white tie-back curtains hang in full folds at the window overlooking the patio. Maple dining furniture adds sturdy coziness to the dinette and is echoed by a smaller table and chairs at which the young Nelsons, Penny and Jon, dine.

Formal dignity keynotes this living room with sweeping, beamed ceiling; carefully chosen appointments.

Penny Nelson's bedroom is centered around a canopied bed that is finished in colors of cocoa, as dainty a room as any 6-year-old miss could desire.

Adjacent to the kitchen and dinette is the enlarged family room where Mrs. Nelson sews and irons while the children enjoy their favorite television programs.

Paneled in pine with exposed beam ceiling, this room has the sort of casual warmth desirable for an area wherein every member of the family can pursue his own hobby.

COCOA CARPETING provides soft but sturdy underfooting while draperies of turquoise add necessary coolness to the room. The entire end of the room is composed of sliding glass doors that open directly to the pool.

A desk, with plenty of storage for business and personal papers; leather furniture, a sewing machine and television set furnish the family room and attest to the various purposes which it serves.

Two walls in the master bedroom are painted a soft blue-grey, while the remaining two are papered in white portraying pale pink and gold cherry blossoms. Mahogany four-poster twin beds with heritage spreads of antique ivory give a note of femininity to the room. Lavishly full and sheer white nylon criss-cross curtains complete the dainty scheme.

Blue and soft ice-pink tweed paper carries out the color scheme in the guest bath. Pink ceramic tile and soft pink nylon rugs complement the powder blue tile trim.

The master bath is turquoise and pink with accents of gold.

Saddle the Small, Outrun 'Em All

trich, quarter horse fans will be watching the fastest possible races at short distances.

Although Vessels' own dreams and hard work have had a lot to do with bringing California quarter horse racing into the big-time, the wealthy rancher-construction company executive must give an assist to an Arizonan named Ray Gill.

IT WAS GILL who sent word to Hollywood Park in 1947 that he had a quarter horse which could outrun any thoroughbred on the grounds at 440 yards.

The late Charles S. Howard owned a thoroughbred swiftie named Fair Truckle and offered to put up $50,000 for a match race if Gill would do the same. Gill put his money where his mouth was and the race was set.

Johnny Longden, the winningest thoroughbred rider in the nation, was up on Fair Truckle and broke him on top.

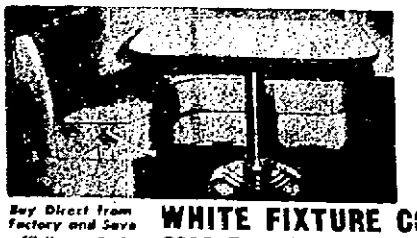

A toothless jockey of Mexican heritage and ancient vintage rode Gill's Barbra B. Those who viewed the race claimed afterwards that the old boy had spurs which approached twin buzz saws in size.

TO MAKE THE STORY even shorter than the race, when the Mexican dug his spikes into the flanks of Barbra B., she flew past Fair Truckle and went on to win by a length and a half.

That match race was the sensational introduction to the quarter horse for many West Coast fans. Today, within a few minutes of Long Beach, Vessels has built one of the most modern and beautiful of all racing plants.

It's a far cry from the wide-open spaces of the old days, but the 10-gallon hat brigade can ride through the spacious paved parking lot with heads held high. "Get a horse" can be a terribly insulting salutation if one happens to be driving a Cadillac!

Yule Cards Switch to the Lighter Side

By Samuel Golden

THE ANNUAL sharing of friendly sentiments should be more fun than ever this year, thanks to a number of well known artists with keen eyes for today's popular interests, vogues and avocations. Are you a tape-recording fan? An enthusiastic philatelist or do-it-yourself dabbler? You may smile at yourself and invite your friends to smile with you by choosing a Christmas card that takes a light-hearted view of your hobby.

Among the many important cartoonists, book illustrators and cover designers whose colorful views of contemporary life will surely entertain many at holiday-time are Barney Tobey, Oscar Fabres, Don Freeman, Dorothy McKay, Alajalov and H. A. Rey. These and other artists offer amusing comments on the current scene in the Christmas cards they have created for the new Designers & Illustrators collection. This is the less serious of the two famous collections which are published annually by the American Artists Group.

SOME OF THE DESIGNS, like Tobey's "Portraits in a Gallery" and Jack Markow's "Recording the Carols," are amusing character-sketches as well as pertinent observations on the popular culture of the day. Others use imaginative whimsy or sheer fantasy to highlight the entertaining aspects of a modern fad or custom. A Christmas card by Al Piane, showing an underwater Santa attaching prize catches to the hooks of less amphibious fishermen, is a find for the skin-diving hobbyist. It is Santa again — the star performer in many of these pictures — who, with the help of H. A. Rey, points up a problem in metered parking; it takes a lot of nickels, with eight reindeer to accommodate!

The popularity of poodles makes pantomimic fun for Fabres' urbane brush. The revival to polite society of the manly cigar is a recent influence discreetly indicated in John Teppich's witty portrait of Santa Claus as a gentleman of substance and distinction. Happily, either of these Designers & Illustrator cards would be fun to

"NOT A SINGLE CAVITY IN OVER 2 YEARS" WITH ANTIZYME TOOTH PASTE

Because: Antizyme is the first and only tooth paste with completely

SAFE FLUORIDE-LIKE ACTION!

You've heard about the wonders of fluoride in drinking water—a proved way to cut tooth decay. Now fluorides have been added to tooth pastes. But there is only one tooth paste with fluoride-like action that is completely safe.

Antizyme Tooth Paste works like fluoride, but is completely safe

Antizyme is the only tooth paste with a fluoride-like action that is safe for children under six . . . safe even where water is fluoridated. The active ingredient in Antizyme is a concentrated compound found in many common foods. It works with the anti-enzyme ingredient as a team to fight decay two ways: 1) safe, fluoride-like action to strengthen teeth against decay, 2) continuous anti-enzyme action that stops the major cause of tooth decay 12 to 24 hours after each brushing. This has been proved in 9 out of every 10 cases tested.

WARNING!
OTHER TOOTH PASTES SAY

"If your local water supply contains fluoride, consult your dentist."

Be sure you read before you buy! These warnings are on all fluoride tooth pastes; NOT on ANTIZYME, the only tooth paste with completely SAFE fluoride-like action.

. . . the only tooth paste with completely safe fluoride-like action!

A gay, inexpensive handmade doll rides a proud felt charger, and both help stretch the Christmas budget.

Dolls that Stretch Christmas Dollars

By Goldie M. Harper

IS THE OLD wallet getting a wilted look? Is the list of children that you would like to remember with a gift growing daily? There is an easy answer. Make small dolls and those stuffed horses that are so popular now, and your gift problem is licked.

For 25 cents, transfer stamp patterns for a cute eight-inch doll are available, with full size patterns for custom-made doll clothes included.

Use pink or beige broadcloth for the dolls. Pin the pattern to eight thicknesses of cloth, cut around it and you will have four dolls.

Lay them out, one front and one back together. Be sure the coloring is on the outside of each piece. Put in the hair and the features on the extra pieces with crayolas. Lay a piece of waxed paper over them and press with a medium warm iron (set at "cotton" on the register) and you will have something prettier than the original transfer, and washable, too.

Place the right sides together inside, baste, then stitch, leaving a 2½-inch opening under the right arm for stuffing. Turn right side out.

STUFF CAREFULLY, a small piece of cotton batting at a time, working it in evenly with a bone crochet hook and the eraser-end of a pencil. After the legs are stuffed, and before continuing with this job, stitch along romper leg lines, so that the doll can sit down. When completed, slip stitch the side opening together.

This is the only boring, tedious part of the project. (Some women get all the dolls ready to stuff at one sitting, then take them to a meeting of the Chat 'N' Sew Club.)

Work half moons of white satin stitch embroidery in the dolls' eyes to give them sparkle. Put a real ribbon bow in the hair and sew a button on each foot at the slipper strap line.

For the clothes, practically any scrap bag will supply enough bits of material. A 16-inch length of 2¾-inch eyelet embroidery or ruffling from an organdy curtain will make the petticoat. Use seam binding or bias tape for the casings, with heavy twine for the drawstrings. Scraps of print make the dress and pajamas.

FOR THE HORSES, if the gift is for an infant, use cotton broadcloth or print. Before cutting into the material, wash it in a solution of warm water and baking soda (one teaspoon to the quart) and you will have a sterilized toy, in case the tot decides to chew on it. Full-sized patterns for the horses with step-by-step illustrated instructions for making the horses are offered free at Davis Furniture Co., 1975 American Ave., as long as the supply lasts.

For the older tot, felt is more popular. Nine inches of 72-inch felt will cost about 90 cents and will make three horses, leaving scraps for coasters, pen wipers, doll purses and hats. If you wish to make the mane and tail of a contrasting color, felt is sold at 12 cents per inch. Dark green or brown for the horse, white for the mane and tail is very attractive.

Felt cannot be washed; use blotters on it if it gets wet. When they become soiled put them in an old pillow slip or flour sack and swish them around in cleaning fluid, then dry. Do not do this near an open flame if fluid is flammable.

send or receive, even if one is not a dog-fancier or a smoker.

FAMILY LIFE, the entertainment world, sports, and even the serious professions supply subjects for amusing yuletide commentary by outstandingly original artists. Dorothy McKay pictures a city family of three putting their shoulders to the task of carrying home a Christmas tree that's bigger than all of them! Tom Naegele sees a chef dressed like Santa demonstrating to housewives at home — while studio lights stream down and cameras grind — that roasting a turkey is easy if you do it on television, where (as every viewer knows) recipes always turn out right. Don Freeman sensibly sends Santa for a medical checkup, then looks on with the doctor in astonishment as a heart looking just like a red Christmas bell shows up on the fluoroscopic screen.

Gaily fanciful, sophisticated, or heartily comic, these Christmas cards show a proper respect for the season's precious traditions. Their amused and amusing observations on modern life will add fresh zest to the familiar experience of sending and receiving holiday greetings.

"Recording the Carols" is a bit of Jack Markow wit.

Al Piane has diving Santa rewarding the fishermen.

Pale turquoise silk boucle curtains filter the south sun that high lights the pale pink and metallic gold wallpaper.

PENNY'S ROOM might be the dream of any 6-year-old miss. Her quaint, canopied bed has a ruffled coverlet of cocoa chintz trimmed in salmon pink. The lavish canopy is of pink trimmed with an accenting ruffle of cocoa. The pineapple poster bed of mahogany is as dainty as the little girl who chose it.

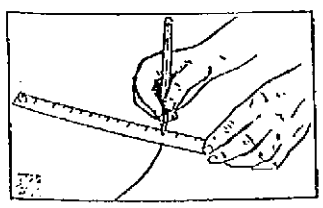

Two walls of Penny's room are papered in an old-fashioned scenic print utilizing palest pinks, cocoas and soft greens for its motifs. The remaining walls are painted delicate cocoa.

Penny's 4-year-old brother, Jon, boasts a room that is carried out along more masculine lines. Maple furnishings, and wallpaper of gold and chocolate tweed set the pace.

The exterior of the Nelson home came in for its share of redecorating as well. Vertical siding across the front of the house has been painted a bright and clear turquoise that goes nicely with the cocoa stucco used for the sides and the back of the house.

Low planter boxes of weeping red brick and the lavish use of scrolled white ironwork help complete the happy transformation of the house into a dream-cottage-come-true!

Female Private Eye

In a field that is largely a business for men, pert Marian Kent is forging ahead as a private detective.

By Julius Golden

Associated Press Writer

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. A 25-YEAR-OLD Albuquerque girl, who earned a living for two years trailing and checking on people, now is setting up her own business as a "private eye."

"I'm beginning to get results too," said Marian Kent, who started her own business just a few weeks ago after two years with an Albuquerque agency.

"Maybe it's just curiosity at hearing about a woman private investigator, but people are coming to me. Of course, since most clients of agencies are women, some just want to talk to a woman."

The pert, blond Miss Kent, who gives an impression of naivete because of her glasses and dimpled smile, graduated from Albuquerque High School in 1950. She held several secretarial jobs and worked for a telephone company as a long distance operator.

THEN SHE MET her future husband, another private detective, and "I just naturally drifted into the work." She was married last Dec. 2.

Contrary to popular belief, a private investigator is not in a cloak and dagger profession, Marian says, "nor is it a dirty business."

"Being a private eye is unusual and a very fascinating life. Most people have the impression it's a dirty business, but it's only as dirty as you make it. People get the wrong impression from television and the movies. They're actually surprised when they learn the truth.

"Sometimes, I think they're disappointed."

MARION SPECIALIZES in domestic investigation. The cases she's handled range from checking on marital infidelity to blackmail.

"My job is to prove or disprove the allegations made by my client," she said. "Most of my clients are women, which makes investigation a good field for a woman. A man is more likely to solve his own problems where a woman will seek help.

"Often I just go and talk with the other person involved and check his character. Many times my job involves trailing people. Incidentally, whenever I'm trailing someone or I'm on a stakeout, I always notify the police so they'll know what I'm doing. The average case takes two to three weeks."

Marion went to work for the Acme Detective Agency when she learned it was looking for a woman interested in that type of work. "I was real excited because I guess it's not something the average woman would do."

Although her first case was an interview and she turned the information over to another operator, she soon graduated to working on her own. At first she received a commission and then $50 a week. Soon she was getting periodic raises.

"But lately I wanted to go on my own," she said. "I'll only handle domestic cases and any other kind of work will be turned over to other private investigators."

MARIAN INSISTS that anything a police officer can do, a private investigator can look into also. For example, she said, she recently turned up a missing teen-ager after three days work. The mother of the girl wanted to find her daughter without going to the police. Marian discovered where she was through a friend of the girl. The mother let the girl stay with her friend hoping she would come back on her own.

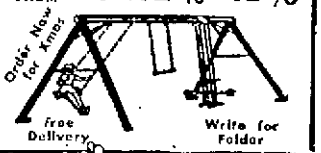

Marion comes from a pioneer New Mexico family. Her grandfather was a longtime fire chief in Raton. Her family "doesn't mind my working as a private investigator. In fact, they encourage me."

Marian wants to be a marriage counselor someday and "I think my work now is wonderful experience.

"Besides, I love it."

What's So Funny About That?

Cartoon from "The Coffee Break"

"Let's see now, you want that letter from Johnson and Corbett. . . ."

THE LADY TOURIST stood amid the ruins of the Coliseum (not the one of Figueroa St.) and said to the guide:

"I suppose there must be quite a story behind all this?"

And then there's the one about the beautiful girl and the inevitable man, inevitably stranded on the inevitable ocean. A discussion is concluded as she says to him:

"I'd know, that's who'd know."

Harper's has just published "The New Yorker Album, 1950-1955" ($5) containing 450 of the best cartoons that magazine has printed in the past five years.

And if those aren't enough to tickle your funnybone, you might consider "The Coffee Break," (Dutton, $2.95). Charles Preston selected these cartoons from The Wall Street Journal, usually devoted to more grim business (pun intended).

These are more likely to make you chuckle if you are already in a position to chuckle; i. e., if you've got it made. Typical cartoon shows the business man reporting to his wife:

"I got a raise, now I can afford last year's income tax."

Or the executive telling the aging clerk:

"You'll have it admit it, Smith. We both had equal opportunities when we came here to work for my father."

Lawrence Lariar has selected cartoons on marriage and published them in "You've Got Me—And How!" (Dodd, Mead, $2.95).

Here's you'll find hubby seated at the table, waiting for supper and declaiming:

"I'm so hungry I could eat an old shoe."

And that's just what wifie is baking, in the background.

All of offerings range from chuckling funny to hilarious, and all are offered at an opportune time. You'll have plenty of time to read these, yourself, before using them as Christmas presents.

Characters reacting to typical situations in an unethical and highly personal way make the original paperback "The Power of Negative Thinking" (Ballantine, 35c), edited by Charles Preston, a lively cartoon collection. For instance, there's the one of the two men standing in a cemetery where one headstone is illuminated by a brilliantly lighted neon, "John Smith." Said one of the men, "John always was a great showman."

And finally there's "Nothing Brightens the Garden Like Primrose Plants" (Hanover House, $1.50), in which Denys Parsons compiles, for howls of laughter, a collection of misprints and pi lines from newspapers. He's aided and abetted by R. Taylor, who illustrates half a hundred of the transpositions. Take the one of the two lively roaches with human heads; beneath is this paragraph from a Minnesota paper:

"Mr. and Mrs. Wally Burman of Sioux Falls have just arrived at the Lindau home where they will be housepests for several days." G. C. F.

NEW INSPIRATIONAL and self-help books are appearing each week, and many of them are very worthwhile. One of the best to appear this fall is "Inspiring Messages for Daily Living" (Prentice-Hall, $2.95), in which Norman Vincent Peale, author of the biggest best-seller in years, "The Power of Positive Thinking," brings down-to-earth answers to the hundreds of daily problems faced by a family in this modern world. Also good is "How to Use the Power of Your Word" (Dodd, Mead, $2.50). In it, Stella Terrill Mann, author of "Change Your Life Through Prayer," discusses man's powers and how to use them to attain desired goals. Philip Blair Rice, in "On the Knowledge of Good and Evil" (Random House, $4.50), discusses 20th Century ethical theories and possible solution of problems raised by the moral philosophy of the period.

"Experiment in Depth" (Pantheon, $4.50) explores the potentialities of the deep unconscious, the creative and destructive forces latent in the human psyche from the standpoint of three eminent students — C. G. Jung, T. S. Eliot and A. J. Toynbee — with the author, P. W. Martin, suggesting the possibility of man using modern psychological technique as a stepping stone to a more creative way of life.— F. T. K.

UTAH STORY: "Papa Married a Mormon" (Prentice-Hall, $3.95) is John D. Fitzgerald's tale of a mixed marriage, Catholic and Mormon, and of the young people's problems, an exciting story gathered from old diaries, love letters and newspapers. And it is more: it is the tale of one of the country's most colorful sections. Former jazz band leader and reporter, Mr. Fitzgerald, now a Southland resident, tells an animated story, and wastes not a page as he spreads out his wide canvas.— J. J. K.

HUMOR, SEX and science-fiction form almost equal components of Frederic Brown's new novel, "Martians, Go Home" (Dutton, $2.75). Included also is a bit of philosophy which makes the book thoroughly entertaining.—J. G.

When the gals had Woman's World Week at City College, the boys never had it so good. Here's an example, as Sue King helps Art Doornbos with notes.

Coeds Put Finger on Campus Heroes

"IT'S A WOMAN'S WORLD," or at least it was for one week at Long Beach State College.

The Associated Women Students got tired of waiting to be asked to a dance, and watching as the males selected and elected assorted college sweethearts.

They did what any red-blooded American woman would do—they rebelled, and did something about it. They had a stag dinner, their own dance (inviting their own dates), and they chose their own campus sweetheart and called him Diamond Jim.

The girls liked having the shoe on the other foot (by making the campus heroes wait until the last minute before asking them to the dance) and the stag dinner was lots of fun. They also liked Art Doornbos of Lynwood because they elected him "Diamond Jim."

The women say "from now on, every year, there will be a Woman's World Week at Long Beach State College." The males say, "A woman's week" every week is all right with them.

Sandi Daniels and Nellie Bell add smiles to whistles as a lucky male passes by on his way between classes.

It's a great life for Ken Kirwen, too, with Sue King offering him a light, Nellie Bell, Sandi Daniels setting up refreshments as part of Women's Week.

Here's How to Wrap Your Gift

First, have all materials handy, then tackle job of wrapping yule gifts, advises Barbara Colby.

Measure paper, then cut and stick in place with cellophane tape. Ribbon and stickers come next.

Simple first knots hold ribbon firm. If mailing, this gift box must have padding in bigger box.

By Ralph Freese

SOON the time will arrive to begin wrapping packages for Christmas. It's fun, of course, to shop for Christmas presents or other gifts for friends and relatives, but, if packages that must be shipped through the mails are not properly wrapped . . . well, there is just not much sense in sending them at all.

The next time you are at the post office, just ask to visit the parcel post room. You'll be amazed and somewhat shocked when you see some of the poorly wrapped packages that the post office clerks have to handle. You'll want to praise the personnel for their careful handling of the packages and you will wonder that damage to parcel post material is as rare as it is when some people do such a poor job of wrapping.

Or stand in line at the parcel post mailing window and hear how patiently and courteously the clerks explain why certain packages offered just don't pass the good-wrapping test. Packages must be properly wrapped if you are to be sure that they will reach their destination in tiptop condition.

As a young mailer you can do two things to help the people at the post office:

First, mail your packages as early as possible . . . don't wait until a few days before Christmas. Get your shopping, your wrapping and your mailing done as soon after Thanksgiving as you can. Then you can really enjoy the Christmas season without all the last minute hustle and bustle; and you'll avoid waiting in long lines at the post office.

Second, learn to wrap your packages so that they will hold their own regardless of what may happen in transit.

Here are a few suggestions that may help you when you wrap your gift packages. You need only good materials and a little "savvy" to become an expert. Make a written or mental note of these simple procedures.

1. MATERIALS:

Wrapping paper . . . tissue paper, gay colored or designed paper and heavy brown kraft paper. The heavy kraft paper should be 30 pounds in weight. . . It is tough and still easy to handle. Next comes twine. Get strong six-ply twine or string. Now if you want to seal with gummed-paper be sure that the tape is two inches wide. Flexible corrugated paper is a "must." You can get it at any stationery store, or you can beg some corrugated cartons from the corner grocery store. . . Also, outside packing boxes in several sizes may be obtained from the market.

To have a complete collection of supplies get cellophane tape, stickers, addressing labels, waxed paper and some sort of material which can be used as stuffing to absorb shocks. This last can be excelsior, shredded glassine, or newspapers which you have carefully shredded to the proper size. The stickers should be variously marked Fragile, Glass, Photos, First Class, etc. Labels will have a place for address and return.

2. NOW YOU ARE ready to pack.

Suppose that your gift is a fragile object like a glass vase. Wrap it from the inside out after stuffing with shredded paper. The first wrap should be soft tissue paper held together with a bit of cellophane tape. It's a good idea to remember this also . . . the cheapest uncoated tissue paper has the greatest cushioning value.

3. CORRUGATED PAPER is next.

After you have the tissue paper on, make a sleeve out of your corrugated paper. Use enough so that the sleeve will overlap the ends of the gift not less than an inch. It's a good idea also to use enough corrugated paper for double thickness. You can use a series of small sleeves like covers if your gift is of odd shape. . . Use several to make the whole thing work out to a uniform size.

After the corrugated paper wrap in colored paper.

4. NOW THE BOXES:

If you really want to be careful, use a double box. In the inside box, make a nest of shock-absorbing material, and don't be skimpy. Shredded newspaper doesn't cost much in time or elbow grease, use plenty of it. And pack a lot in the space between the two boxes —top, bottom and sides.

5. NEXT THE SEALING or tying:

If the cartons you are using are in good condition, you can seal them with the gummed-paper tape and not use any outside wrapping paper. Put the tape around the corners and across the top and bottom. One way to wet the gummed paper is to use a small paint brush which can be dipped in a saucer of water. Moisten it well but don't soak the tape. The tape gives a strong, dust-proof, moisture-resistant seal.

Let me warn you that cartons sealed with tape must carry printed labels giving the postmaster permission to open them. These printed labels also remind you to put your return address on the package. Use your instruction stickers if the package contains glass or other fragile matter or photos.

If the box is not in good condition, it is always advisable to use heavy brown kraft wrapping paper outside and tie the package securely with twine. Use plenty of paper and twine. Post office personnel cannot be blamed for a broken string if you used only one strand on a heavy box.

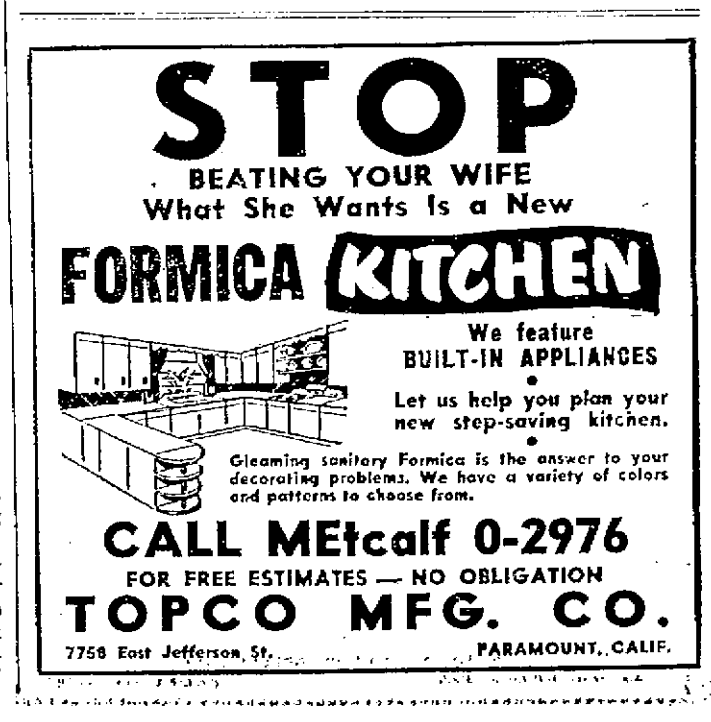

Also, if several gifts are to be packed in the same box, be sure to wrap each gift separately and put plenty of shock-absorbing material around each package. And don't forget to put the properly addressed gift cards on your packages . . . inside the main box, that is. Aunt Minnie might not like the coffee cup you intended for Uncle Charley.

PET PARADE

Quacky Duo That's Just Ducky

Patty and Russell Brandt, 5337 Monlaco Rd., find that ducks, Weedle and Waddle, make happy pair of pets.

By Eleanor Avery Price

COTTON CANDY in hand, Patty Brandt, S, of 5337 Monlaco Rd., trekked around the last Lakewood Community Fair Grounds viewing all the booths put up by local clubs and wondering where best to spend the few coins in her sticky palm.

She noticed that at one booth the prize for tossing and keeping dimes in a saucer was a live, fluffy duckling. Patty decided to try her luck, and, to her surprise, for this is tricky business, quickly found herself with a squirming, yeeping duckling in her arms.

The Edward Brandts had hitherto no intentions of owning a pet duck, but they didn't have the heart not to let their daughter keep it. Instead, "Daddy" Brandt went right over to the fair and tossed dimes into the saucer until the ducklings numbered two. They called them Weedle and Waddle.

ALTHOUGH the Brandts, especially the three children, enjoy their fast-growing pets, they have this to say: If you want a pet duck that will follow you around and clamor for affection and attention, get just one duck. Two ducks have each other's companionship and become quite independent except for that all-consuming matter of food.

Ducks have voracious appetites. They eat duck mash, and they will finish up left-overs, pick bones dry, help themselves to the dog's food and the cat's milk and egg. They go into quacking rapture over hot dogs and hamburgers. And new owners who see them ravishingly gobbling up garden bugs and snails, sing out, "Oh, happy day!" Then they discover that the ducks are inclined to top off such delicacies with a few choice flowers. Keeping other food on hand will help prevent this.

WEEDLE AND WADDLE will come up to the back door and knock on it with their bills if they run out of food. In an effort to keep them filled, the Brandts have enlisted the aid of their friendly neighbors for contributions of stale bread, which seems to be a super treat for the ducks.

Flea or louse powders developed for dogs and cats can be used on a duck if insect parasites appear. These are made with several different safe and tested drugs. Dust the pet away from his food and water and let him flap around a bit in confinement.

Ducks as pets are not recommended for very young children.

THE OBEDIENCE Convention for obedience people will be held Dec. 4 at Lakewood Country Club with tracking starting at 8 a. m. Breakfast will be available. Luncheon tickets cost $2.25, dinner tickets $3.25. Afternoon speakers will include William Johns from the San Rafael Seeing-Eye Dog Guide School; Carl Spitz, who will talk on pioneering obedience; and Howard Cross who will point out exhibitors' mistakes. Main evening speaker is to be Bill Koehler, who trained Wildfire for the MGM show, "The Bar Sinister."

HOW TO Achieve Proper Placement of Shop Equipment for Most Efficient Use

1. DIAGRAM BELOW shows good placement of shop equipment. Some fundamental idea details that make a good shop are these: (a) Systematic storage of tools lets you work faster; (b) Work benches serve you best when they're built for strength and simplicity. Hardboard tops give you smooth surface that can be replaced when worn; (c) Power tools placed at 45-degree angles to woodworking bench give maximum clearance for long work and a minimum of inter-machine interference; (d) Proper lighting makes your shop safer, and lessens eye-strain. Individual lights over power tools make them safer; and (e) Utilize space under work bench for storage. Shelves above it make ideal storage space for small items. Use major part of open space for lumber.

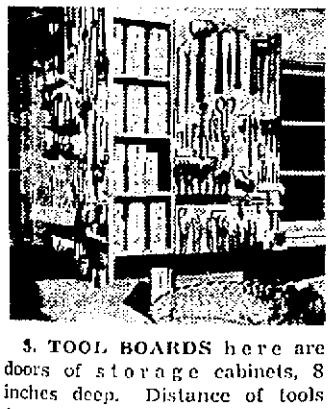

2. ORGANIZATION of tools keeps them within easy reaching distance at all times, like lathe equipment zoned on this tool board.

5. CLASSIFICATION of drills enables handyman to determine size needed; just slip bolt or screw to be used through holes in aluminum gauge fastened to top edge of the drill drawer.

4. CHART LOCATES supplies in workbench drawers so that each drawer won't have to be pulled out to locate items. Chart is marked off in squares, each one representing a drawer and explaining what's in it. Labels on drawer fronts are key to the chart.

3. TOOL BOARDS here are doors of storage cabinets, 8 inches deep. Distance of tools from walls solves the rust problem, although the owner also uses rustpreventive on each tool. L-screws hold tools to boards. Cabinets are used to store nails, screws, paints and other shop items.

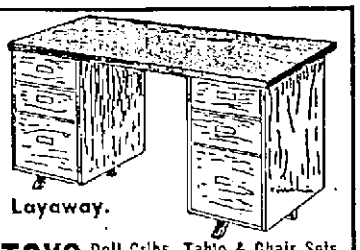

6. SAFETY SWITCH for table saw keeps both hands free when ripping or crosscutting lumber. Light-weight aluminum rod connects switch with lever worked with either foot. Lift up with toe to turn saw on, step down to turn it off.

GARDENS

'Supersonic' Lily

By Bob Gilmore

GARDENING, TOO, has a "supersonic" speedster, and much older than the swept-wing craft of aviation. This "jet" of the flower world is the lily of the valley which can be rushed from planting time to bloom in just three weeks!

Lazy gardeners and those who want flowers in a hurry should welcome the lily of the valley with open arms. The culture recommended is so simple that a five-year-old child can grow prize-winning flowers.

Throughout Southern California the lily-of-the-valley is grown mainly as a house plant. The flowers are exceedingly dainty, being quite small and pure white. They present a light and airy appearance, looking very much like small bells. The florets are produced in clusters on stems about nine inches tall.

This ornamental is propagated by planting what are known as "pips." These are stored under refrigeration and removed from the cold just before being sold. Growth will start at once so as soon as you obtain planting stock the planting should be accomplished.

Lily-of-the-valley should be planted in a relatively shallow bowl that has been filled with sand, light soil, or specially prepared bulb fiber. The latter is preferable and costs just a few cents for a quart size package. This medium should be thoroughly dampened before being placed in the container.

THE TIP END of the lily-of-the valley pip looks like the tip end of an asparagus stalk. But the opposite end has a tremendous root growth. It may be necessary to remove some of the roots for the average-sized container will not accommodate the entire growth. About one-third of the length of the roots may be pruned off without causing any harm to the pips.

Six pips can be accommodated in a container measuring six inches across. The tip end of the pips should barely show above the surface after planting.

A temperature varying between 60 and 70 degrees should suffice. Cold storage pips do not require any bottom heat.

The planting medium should be thoroughly moistened before being placed in the bowl. Then squeeze out the excess moisture. It is advisable to use water having the same temperature as that of the room. This is also true for the temperature of the water applied during the growing season. Any great difference between the room temperature and that of the water may shock the plants. The growing medium should be kept moist at all times.

The pips must be kept in the dark for at least the first week. After about ten days the plants may gradually be introduced to the light. Direct sunlight should be avoided at all times although full light will not prove harmful after the flowers appear.

THE SPROUTS should be about three inches tall when removed from the dark room. They should be kept cool at all times. Exposing the plants to light prematurely causes a drawing up of the stems and inferior development.

Lily-of-the-valely pips are often available already planted in colorful mugs or containers. This makes their culture quite easy. All you need to do is supply the moisture and a dark location. In just three weeks you will have a lovely indoor floral decoration. Dozens of florets will appear at the same time, providing, in addition to the graceful blooms, a delightful fragrance.

Little showers of flowers in just 21 days—that's the "supersonic" lily of the valley speed!

Third of root growth of lily of valley should be trimmed in planting; container takes six pips.

Tips on Gardening

GARDENING TIPS for the week . . . This is a splendid time to start lily of the valley pips. The plants flower in an amazingly short time, just about three weeks after starting. The pips should be placed in a fairly shallow bowl. Prune the roots back if necessary to get them into the bowl. Keep in the dark until the buds appear.

Ferns are not used as much as they should be. They impart a pleasant, quiet atmosphere. The Woodwardias are quite hardy and the Australian tree ferns will prove most appealing.

Ranunculus and anemones enjoy a long planting season. The two are grown from corms and are often called the "twin flowers" because they look alike and grow alike. They want lots of moisture.

Foliage Plants Are a Garden Joy

Foliage plants in colors that range from gray-white through green, to red and orange enhance gardens.

By Walter Finch

FOLIAGE PLANTS are much more colorful than is generally realized. Dozens of distinct shades and color contrasts are available in this plant category. Tones range from white or gray to extremely dark greens. It is interesting to note that the bright red coloring of the poinsettia is due to a modified leaf known botanically as a bract; it is not a true flower.

One of the most interesting ornamentals in the plant kingdom is centaurea candidissima, better known as the Dusty Miller. This subject is grown mainly for its foliage effects, the small yellow flowers being relatively inconspicuous. The leaves are whitish-grey and exceedingly eye-catching in the garden. The Dusty Miller thrives throughout the Southland.

YOU CAN UTILIZE this plant in the border, for bedding purposes or as a specimen subject. The light grey leaves have a leathery appearance and are sharply indented at the edges. The plants grow to about two feet at maturity, are perennial in habit and may be propagated either from seed or transplants.

Another exceedingly interesting foliage specimen is aucuba japonica, often termed the gold dust plant. Its name is derived from the tiny gold specks appearing on the glossy green leaves. This particular aucuba requires a shady location and performs well as a foundation plant. It is a heavy drinker and demands excellent drainage. The aucuba is an evergreen and in addition to being used in the open garden may also be utilized as a tub or pot plant.

One of the most beautiful ornamentals in existence is the silver tree, known botanically as the leucadendron argenteum. The leaves are coated with long, silky, silvery tissues which account for the name of the tree. At maturity the silver tree will reach a height of 25 feet. It must have excellent drainage and not too much water. Waterlogged soils frequently spell doom for this lovely garden subject.

FOR A BRIGHT-TONED contrast select the silver-edged English holly. The leaves show contrasting tones of silver and light green. This plant, like most hollies, is at its best in cold regions and in Southern California it should be planted either in shade or semi-shade. In addition, if one part of your garden is colder than other sections then choose the coolest area for this holly. It is a fairly heavy drinker.

The ivy family also offers some interesting foliage specimens. The variegated ivy, also known as hedera canariensis yellow-edge is a natural for this area. The leaves are quite large and show varying tones of green and creamy yellow. Shade or semi-shade is recommended for this subject although it seems to thrive almost anywhere.

Two arborvitaes, known as the golden column and golden pyramid, will add color to your garden. The leaves of the former are golden green, while those of the latter are green tipped with golden bronze. These plants are widely used in Southern California and require very little care. They are comparatively pest-resistant. Other interesting foliage specimens include dracaenas, coleus, pittosporum, callas, junipers and sansevieria.

Letters to Santa Around the World

The happy task of sending letters from Santa Claus to children throughout the world has been taken over again this year by Pan American World Airways.

As in previous years, Pan American will do everything except lick the stamps and write the letter — parents and other well-wishers have to do that. Since the program began in 1948, more than 500,000 children have been astonished to find a personal letter from Santa Claus in their Christmas mail.

Here's how to go about it:

1. After committing the information to memory, burn this so it can't fall into the hands of children.

2. Get Santa Claus writing paper and envelopes from any Pan American office or authorized travel agent.

3. Write the letter on the stationery and sign it Santa Claus.

4. Put the letter in the Santa envelope and address it to the offspring. Don't forget to put a 6-cent stamp on it.

5. In another envelope, mail the Santa letter by air mail to Pan American World Airways, Fairbanks, Alaska, its nearest station to the North Pole, or return it to the Pan American office or travel agent's office where the stationery was obtained.

6. The letter should reach Pan American at Fairbanks before Dec. 15.

If received by Fairbanks before that date, the child will receive the envelope and letter with the Santa Claus imprint well before Christmas.

Which Northrup King Lawn Seed should you plant this fall?

It's up to you . . . decide on the kind of lawn you want. And get the Northrup King seed that will give it to you!

FOR A SUPERIOR LAWN, Golf Brand Lawn Seed. Grows a lawn your neighbors will envy! Contains 11 perennial grasses, to give you thick velvety turf in sun or shade.

The fine perennial grasses in Golf Brand offer maximum return for the watering, fertilizing and weed control that a truly beautiful lawn requires. While starting slowly, a Golf Brand lawn will grow ever thicker and more luxuriant, until you have a rich close-knit turf that helps keep weeds out.

In 1 lb. and 5 lb. boxes, and 25 lb. bags

FOR A GOOD LAWN, Fore Lawn Seed. Grows a sturdy attractive lawn your family can "live" on and care for with ease! A blend of perennial grasses and clover, suited to sun or moderate shade.

In 1 lb. and 5 lb. boxes

FOR A PLAY LAWN, Homelawn Grass Seed. Grows a quick and rugged lawn for children and pets to romp on. Quick-germinating grasses assure you a hardy lawn fast, easily.

In 1 lb. and 5 lb. boxes

...and feed your lawn 2 important ways with Northrup King Golf Brand Lawnfood. Here's a complete lawn fertilizer. It contains: (1) fast-acting chemical nitrogen to give grass immediate sparkle and a deep green color (2) organic nitrogen, plus other needed food elements, for the steady slow feeding that means sound and continuing growth. Goes further! One pound does the work of three pounds of ordinary fertilizer. In 10 lb. cartons; 25 lb. and 50 lb. sacks

LANCE

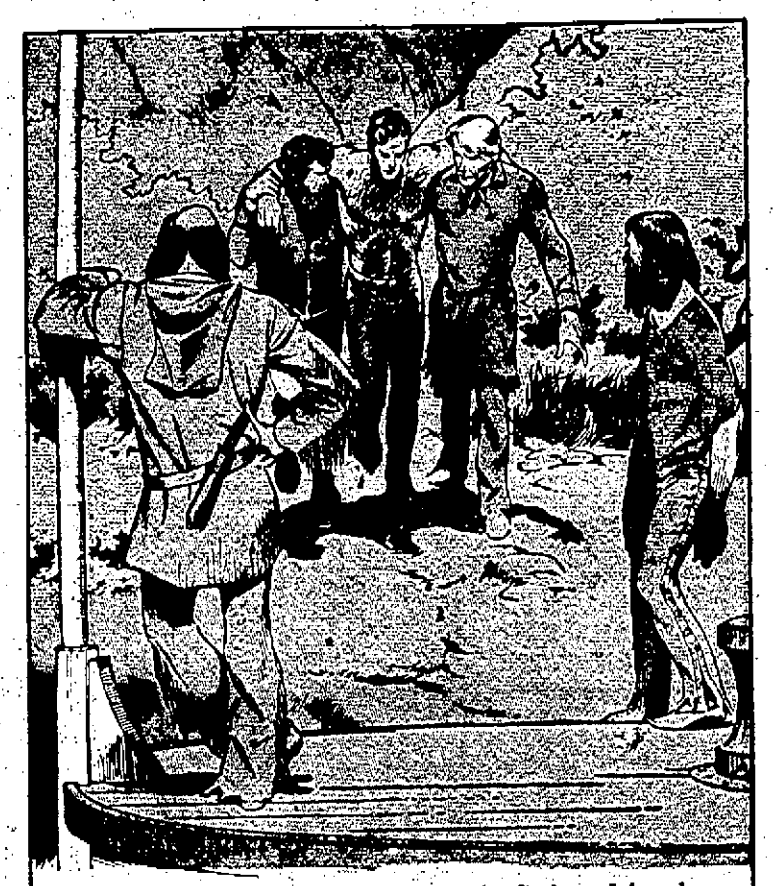

WARREN TUFTS

Two days ago Big Fallon challenged Lance to a test of endurance—a race for three days and nights!

Now the mountain men can't find Lance's body. They are about to give up hope when a lookout cries: "Hol' up! THAR HE BE!"

Tom Fitzpatrick and Blaze bring him in, exhausted and groggy with sleep.

"C-Couldn't make it," Lance mumbles. "Fallon outran me . . ."

"I don't reckon he did," Tom says.

". . . Fallon, he pulled away from ya come dark th' first night, but then he doubled back an' has been sleepin' on th' boat ever since! He run only 30 miles—I reckon you run 150!"

Fallon scoffs. "Hunnert an' fifty ain't nawthin'! I could of did three, four hunnert easy!"

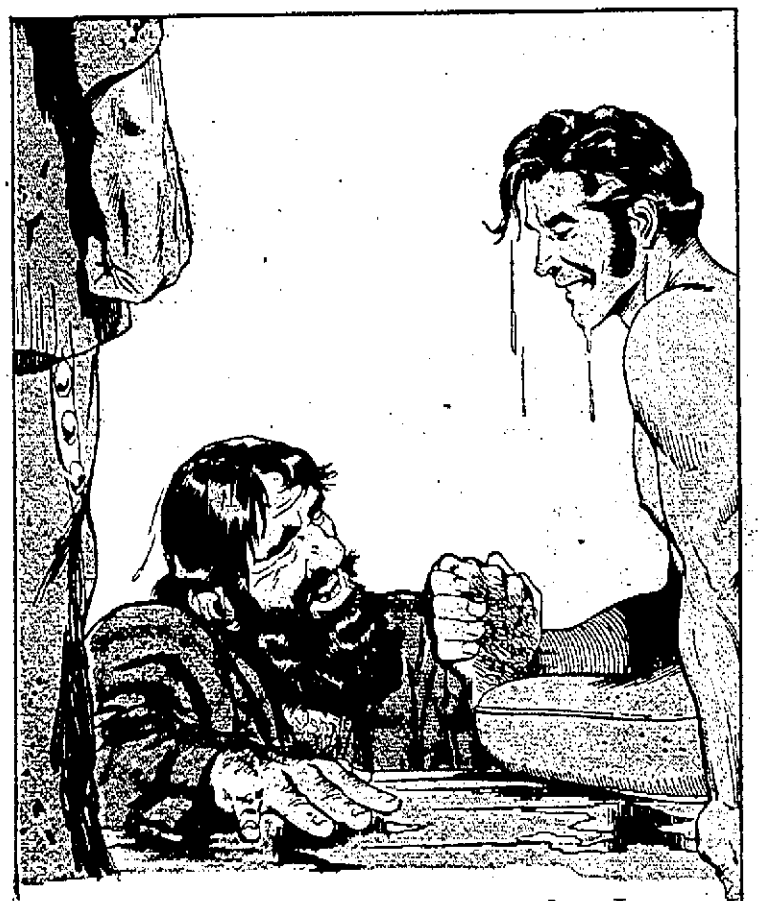

Lance's jaw tightens. He moves forward.

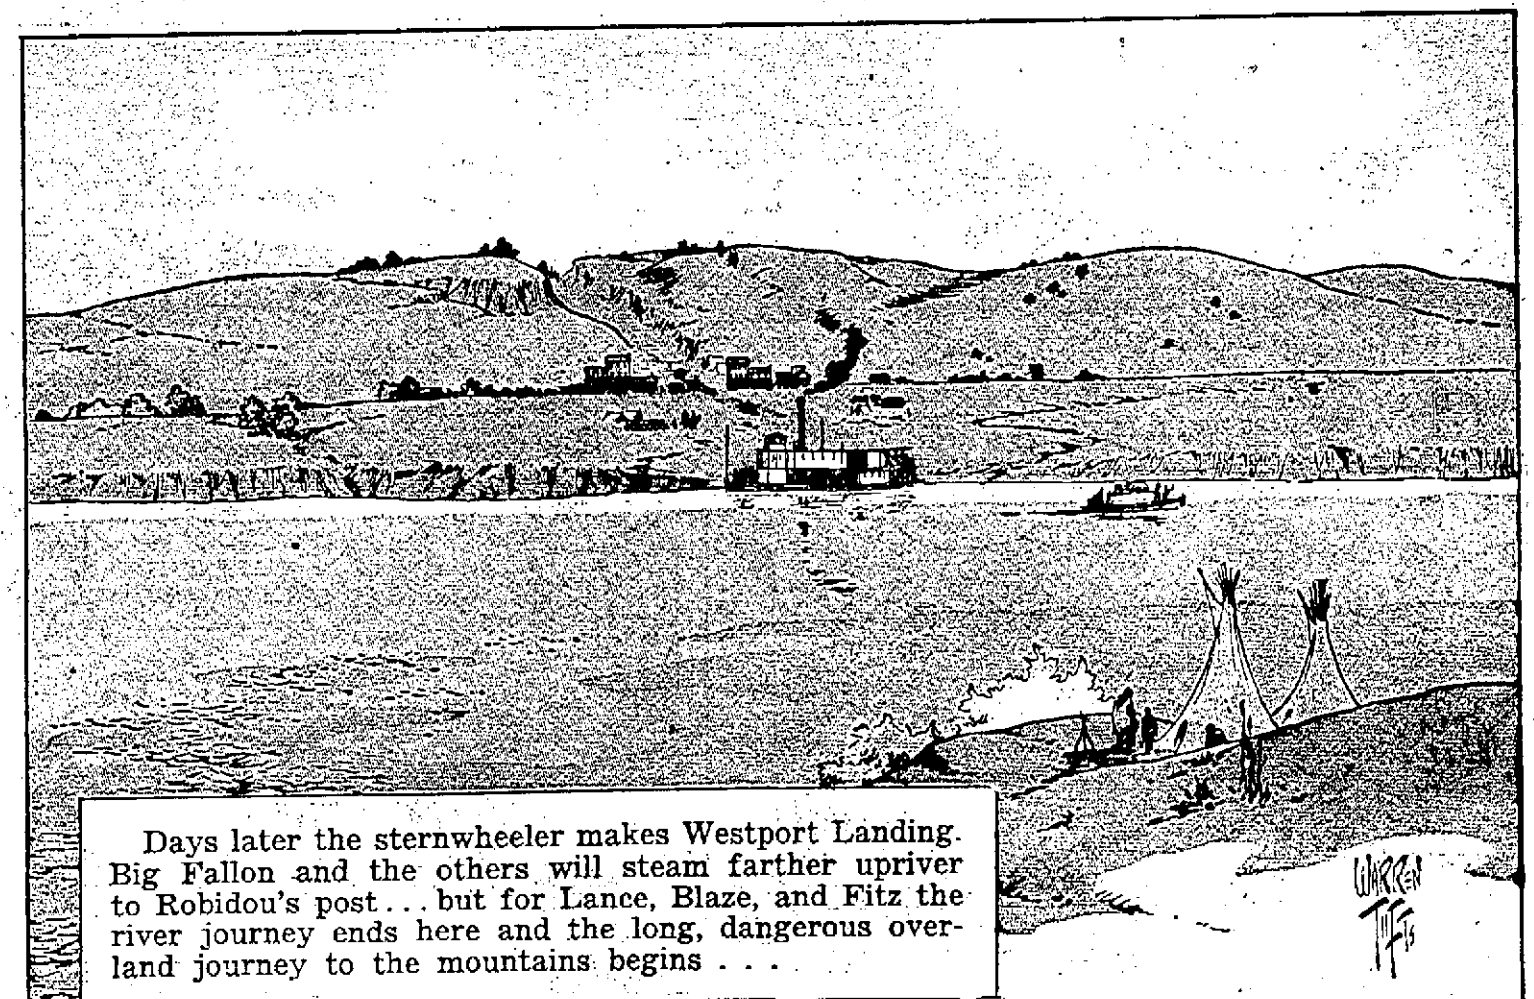

"Wait, now, jist rein up a minnit, boy—don't do nawthin' yew'll be sorry for. Here, have a real Spanish SEE-gar—"

"—rrooOOOLLLP!!" Lance hits him like a ton of bricks . . . Their thrashing bodies churn the water to foam.

When they are hauled out to dry, Lance and Big Fallon decide they can't afford to be enemies. A friendship is made, founded on mutual distrust!

Days later the sternwheeler makes Westport Landing. Big Fallon and the others will steam farther upriver to Robidou's post . . . but for Lance, Blaze, and Fitz the river journey ends here and the long, dangerous overland journey to the mountains begins . . .

MOST FATHERS LIKE TO STRUT ABOUT WHILE MAMA WORRIES ABOUT THE BIRTH OF HER YOUNG...

BUT NOT THE MALE SEAHORSE, FOR HE TAKES IT ON HIMSELF TO DO THE BROODING

INTO HIS SPECIAL "APRON POCKET" THE EGGS ARE PLACED AND THEN THE FLIGHTY FEMALE DESERTS HIM

FOR A MONTH AND A HALF THE LITTLE FISH SWIMS ABOUT WITH HIS BURDEN

AND WHEN THE EGGS ARE READY TO HATCH, THE EXPECTANT FATHER ANCHORS HIMSELF BY HIS TAIL

THEN HE HANGS ON WHILE SEVERAL HUNDRED TINY COLTS POP OUT OF HIS POCKET AND SWIM AWAY.

FROM THEN ON, THE YOUNG SEAHORSES ARE ON THEIR OWN, FOR PAPA HAS DONE HIS SHARE

TRAIL WAYS

THE TINY SEAHORSE MOVES ABOUT SLOWLY IN AN UPRIGHT POSITION, PROPELLED BY A SCULLING MOTION OF HIS FINS

TRIUMPH OVER TOOTH DECAY

Crest Toothpaste with Fluoristan actually strengthens tooth enamel to lock out decay

FLUORISTAN IS FLUORIDE IN ITS MOST EFFECTIVE FORM—PREVENTS CAVITIES FOR ADULTS AS WELL AS CHILDREN

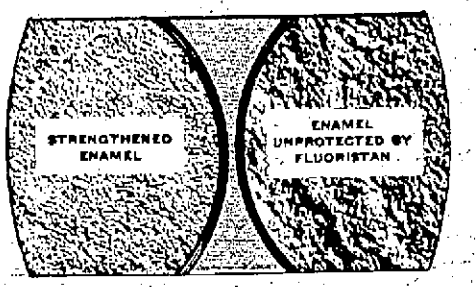

Miracle of the Towns Without Toothaches. For years, children growing up in several Western towns were virtually without tooth decay. Then science learned why: nature's decay-preventive, fluoride, was present in their drinking water!

Science Long Tried To Put Fluoride—only medically approved preventive of decay—in a toothpaste. But merely adding fluoride does not work. At last, university scientists and Procter & Gamble found the answer: Fluoristan, exclusive fluoride compound.

Fluoristan Makes Possible Crest Toothpaste—world's greatest weapon against tooth decay. Unless you get Fluoristan, you cannot get the full benefits of fluoride in a toothpaste. Protects all permanent teeth, for adults and for children, six and over.

Actually Strengthens Enamel. Crest combines with and strengthens tooth enamel as you brush. Microphoto at left shows how enamel strengthened by Crest ingredient defies decay acids, while unprotected enamel (right) is eaten away by decay acids.

Prevents Most Cavities Where Toothbrush Can't Reach! Even between teeth, where food particles lodge (arrows), Crest gives the greatest protection ever known. Crest penetrates between teeth, strengthens enamel of entire tooth against decay.

Never Before Such Decay Prevention! Crest has been proven in the most extensive and best-documented research ever conducted on a toothpaste. The record of decay prevention established by Crest has never been equalled by any other product.

Tastes Wonderful—Refreshes Your Breath! Crest locks out bad breath caused by decay as no other toothpaste can. Gives you cleaner, whiter teeth. Best tasting, by actual tests. Remember: Every Crest brushing strengthens tooth enamel against decay! Get Crest today!

Fluoristan is Procter & Gamble's trademark for a tooth decay fighter.

Bellflower Today: This is the thriving business district of Bellflower, one of the Southland's fastest growing, most promising cities.

CITIES OF THE SOUTHLAND

Wide Streets and Wooden Shoes

By Clarence Bernard Propes

PERHAPS it is because Bellflower, although a city and an entity, has never been incorporated. Perhaps it is because of its geographical position between the two largest cities of Southern Califor: ia. Or perhaps it has to do with the time of its settlement, approximately 1906, in the leisurely turn-of-the-century era. It may be for any of these reasons, or for one less easily analyzed, but whatever the cause, Bellflower, along with all its modernity, has kept much of the feeling, the flavor, the leisurely charm of early Southern California.

From a dusty, country crossroads stop on the newly laid Pacific Electric line to Santa Ana in 1904, Bellflower has grown to a lusty business center of southeast Los Angeles County.

THE ORIGINAL townsite was laid out for acre "small-farm" homes. This has left its mark even today as it allowed for spacious growth, giving the community a well-balanced and mellow residential area.

Perhaps the feeling of mellowness comes from nothing more definite than coming around a corner and glimpsing a Monterey type house or dusty eucalyptus silhouetted against a hill. Suddenly, early Southern California is there.

New homes are rising rapidly and there are few large vacant areas remaining, but many of the older homes are on one or two-acre lots filled with fruit trees and gardens. These streets are tree-shaded and the grass in all the yards is green. It is a town easy to live in.

"THERE'S A STRONG community spirit here," said Dale Clanton of the Chamber of Commerce. "The people think of the good of the community as a whole rather than their own particular section of the city."

There is civic pride in Bellflower, but the community remains unincorporated. Two years ago the citizens voted on the question and rejected incorporation by a thumping majority of two to one. They know they have a handsome, smiling city. They are afraid of what a city government might bring.

Remaining a county area has certain disadvantages. Bellflower residents are dependent on county services, which are often painfully slow. The county has erected a handsome group of offices to speed its services but many believe that that can never be quite as satisfactory as city offices.

Policing by the sheriff's office is efficient. The crime rate, both for adults and juveniles, is remarkably low.

Bellflower has all the county's fire trucks protecting it, for the county firemen, like all smoke eaters, are dedicated to getting to fires and getting them out as fast as science will let them.

Capt. Kenneth Green of the Bellflower Fire Station said: "When we answer a fire we send out three pumpers, a ladder truck, a rescue unit, and there's always a battalion chief on hand. We get there fast."

Bellflower's unincorporated status has led to the loss of a sizeable piece of the city. The residents of the Mayfair district voted to join Lakewood. This reduced Bellflower from 60,000 to 54,000 and caused murmurs of politics.

"They may be on the Lakewood City map," said one businessman, "but those people still feel like they belong in Bellflower. If anything like that happens again I bet we'll incorporate like a shot."

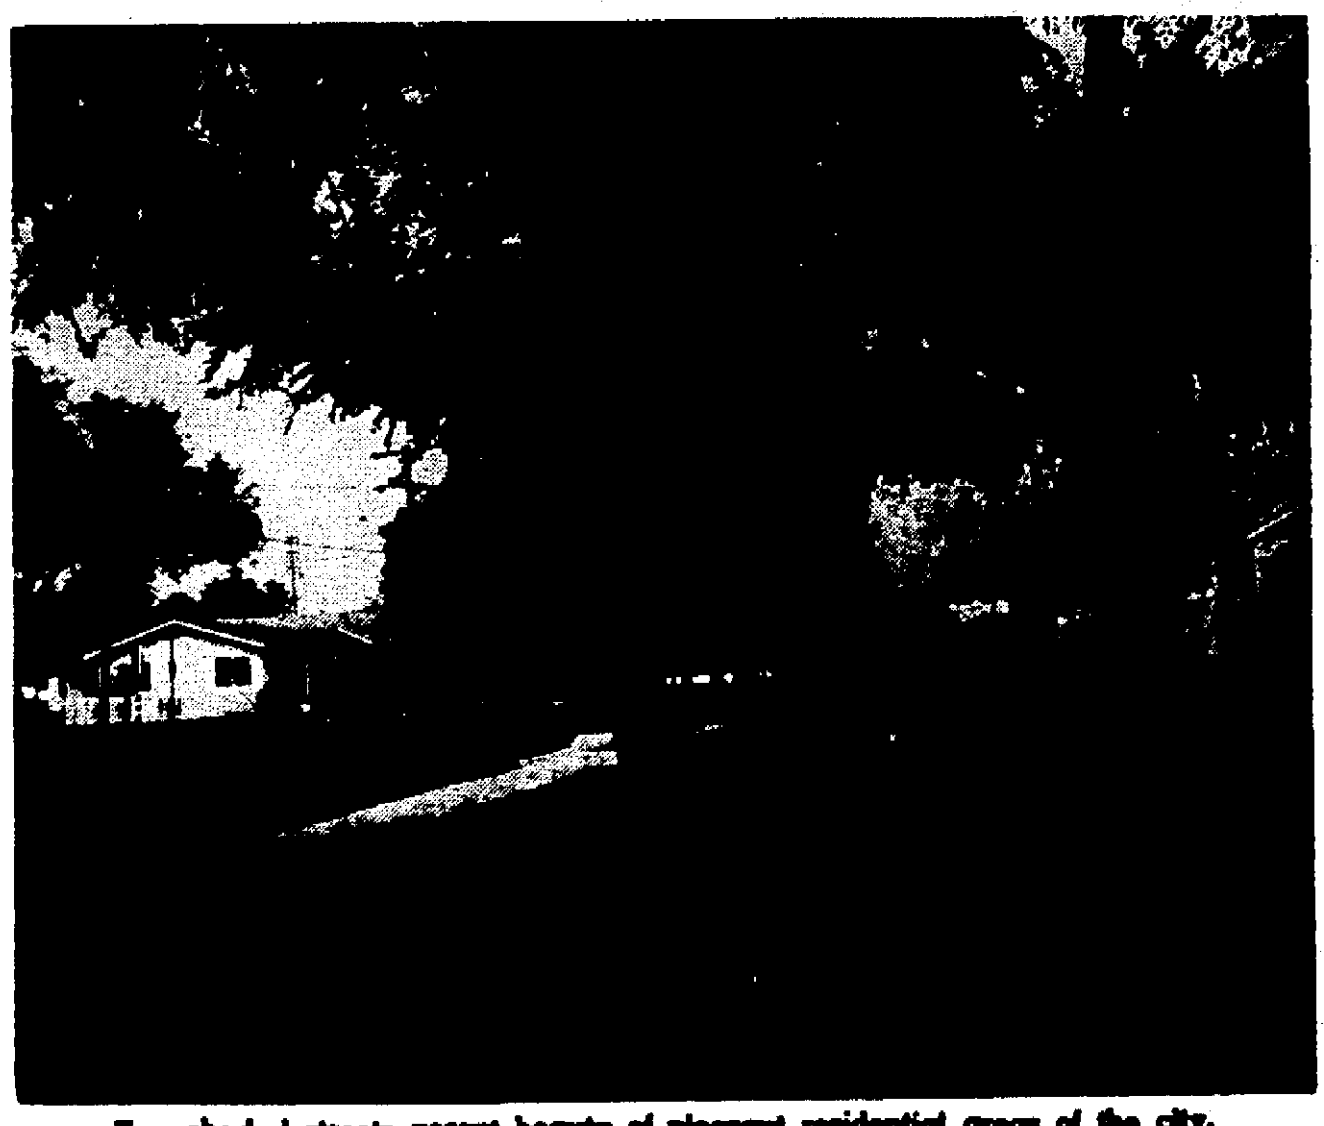

According to Joe D. Williams, printer and Bellflower historian, the city got its start in 1906 when a 1,000-acre tract was pur-

Bellflower Yesterday: Horse-drawn and horseless vehicles mingled as the residents of Bellflower gathered to celebrate Independence Day in 1915.

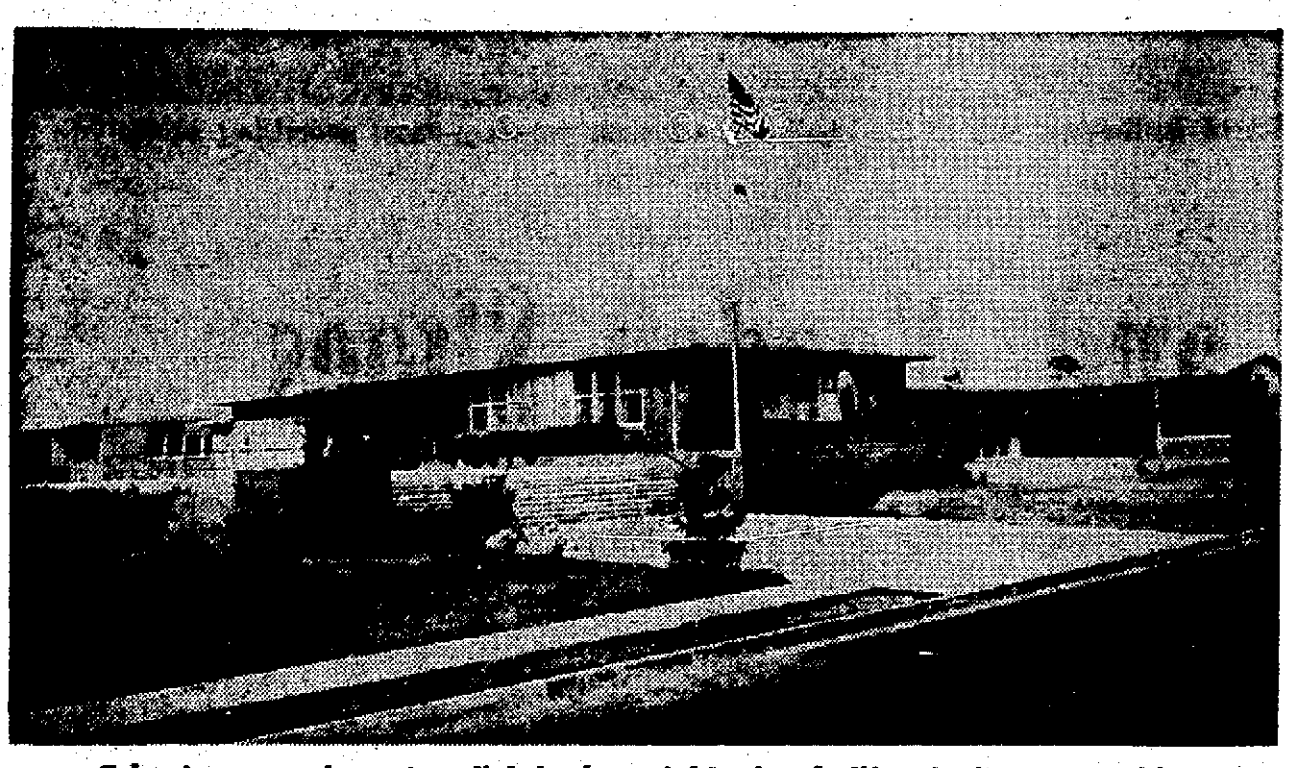

Tree-shaded streets account beauty of pleasant residential areas of the city. Bellflower is not incorporated but a strong community spirit prevails.

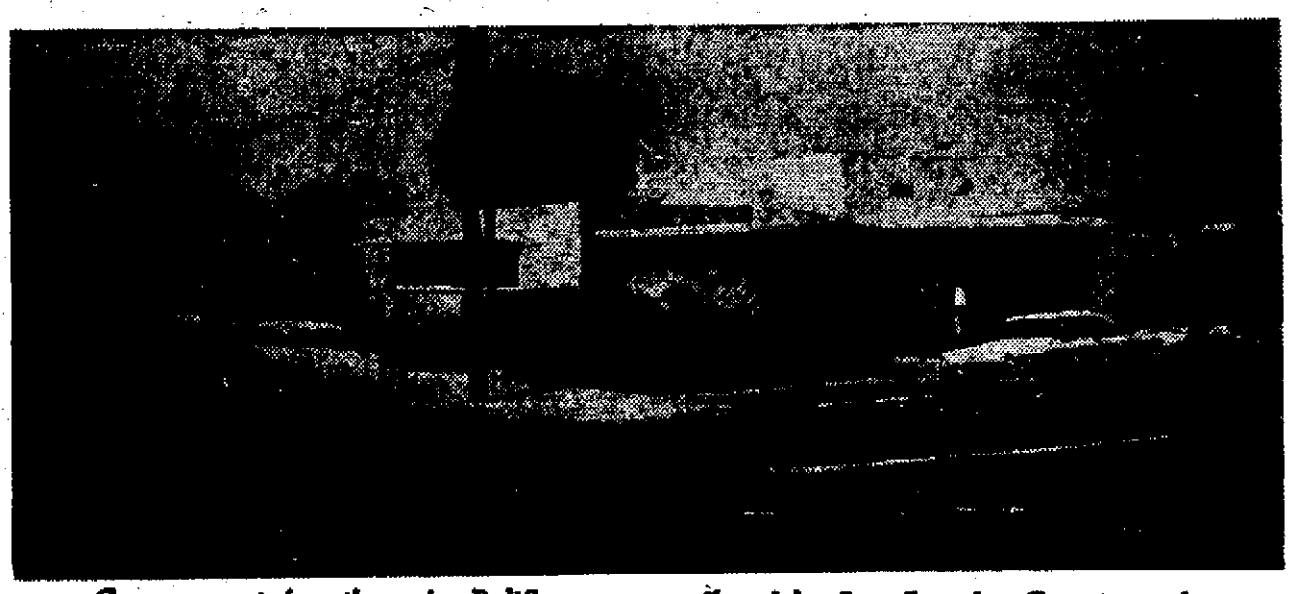

In a community built from treeless fields into a modern city, parks also have come in for attention. This building is part of Sims Park.

One of California's finest private schools is St. John Bosco School for Boys, an imposing landmark situated along busy Bellflower Blvd.

Schools are an important link in the neighborhood life of all communities and Bellflower is no exception. This is the modern Bellflower High School.

Government functions in Bellflower are offered by Los Angeles County and these are county office buildings erected to speed such services there.

Two ardent Bellflower advocates: Claire Thompson Jr., son of the founder of district's first business, and Dale Clanton of the chamber of commerce.

chased from the Bixby Company. Within a few years it was transformed from a huge ranch into one-acre homesites.

ITS FIRST NAME was Firth, but at the request of the Bixby family it was changed to Somerset. Post office officials then rejected that name, for there was a Somerset, Colorado. They felt that a letter addressed to Somerset, Colo., would be likely to wind up in Somerset, Cal., or vice versa. It was finally decided to name the town Bellflower after a fine bellflower apple orchard within the city.

Mrs. Dorothy McCulloch, of the Independent, Press-Telegram office in Bellflower, has seen the town transformed from treeless fields to a tree-shaded city. In 1921, her father, C. W. Menzer, purchased two acres for $3,000 and moved to Bellflower. Within three months he sold one of the acres for $3,000. "He decided right then to go into the real estate business," said Dorothy. "My brothers are still carrying on the family business over on Bellflower Ave."

Claire Thompson Sr. established Bellflower's first business house, a general store. "We used to get everything there," said Dorothy. "Groceries, household supplies and even mail." The general store has grown with the city and has become three modern furniture, appliance and hardware stores, owned and managed by the sons of the founder.

Hollanders made Bellflower the center of Southern California's dairy industry. Some dairy farms remain but they are gradually disappearing as land values become too high for profitable operation.

THE CITY REMAINS a hay and feed center. Hay is shipped in from all over the Southland to be reshipped to dairymen and stockmen. The Triangle Feed Co., for instance, supplies feed to dairymen from the Mexican border to Fresno.

The flavor of Holland remains even though the dairymen are moving out. The Queen of Holland made a point of visiting the Bellflower area when she came to Southern California a few years ago. The Holland-American Market is a modern grocery store with one section devoted to Holland imports. Mynheer may select from a wide variety of cheeses, or he may choose from a bewildering assortment of long-stemmed, deep-bowled pipes. In the store window is an arresting display of wooden shoes.

One of California's finest private schools for boys lies in the northern part of town. Saint John Bosco is a Catholic school for both day and boarding pupils. Its standards are high and it has a program of constant activity, either in the classrooms or the playing fields.

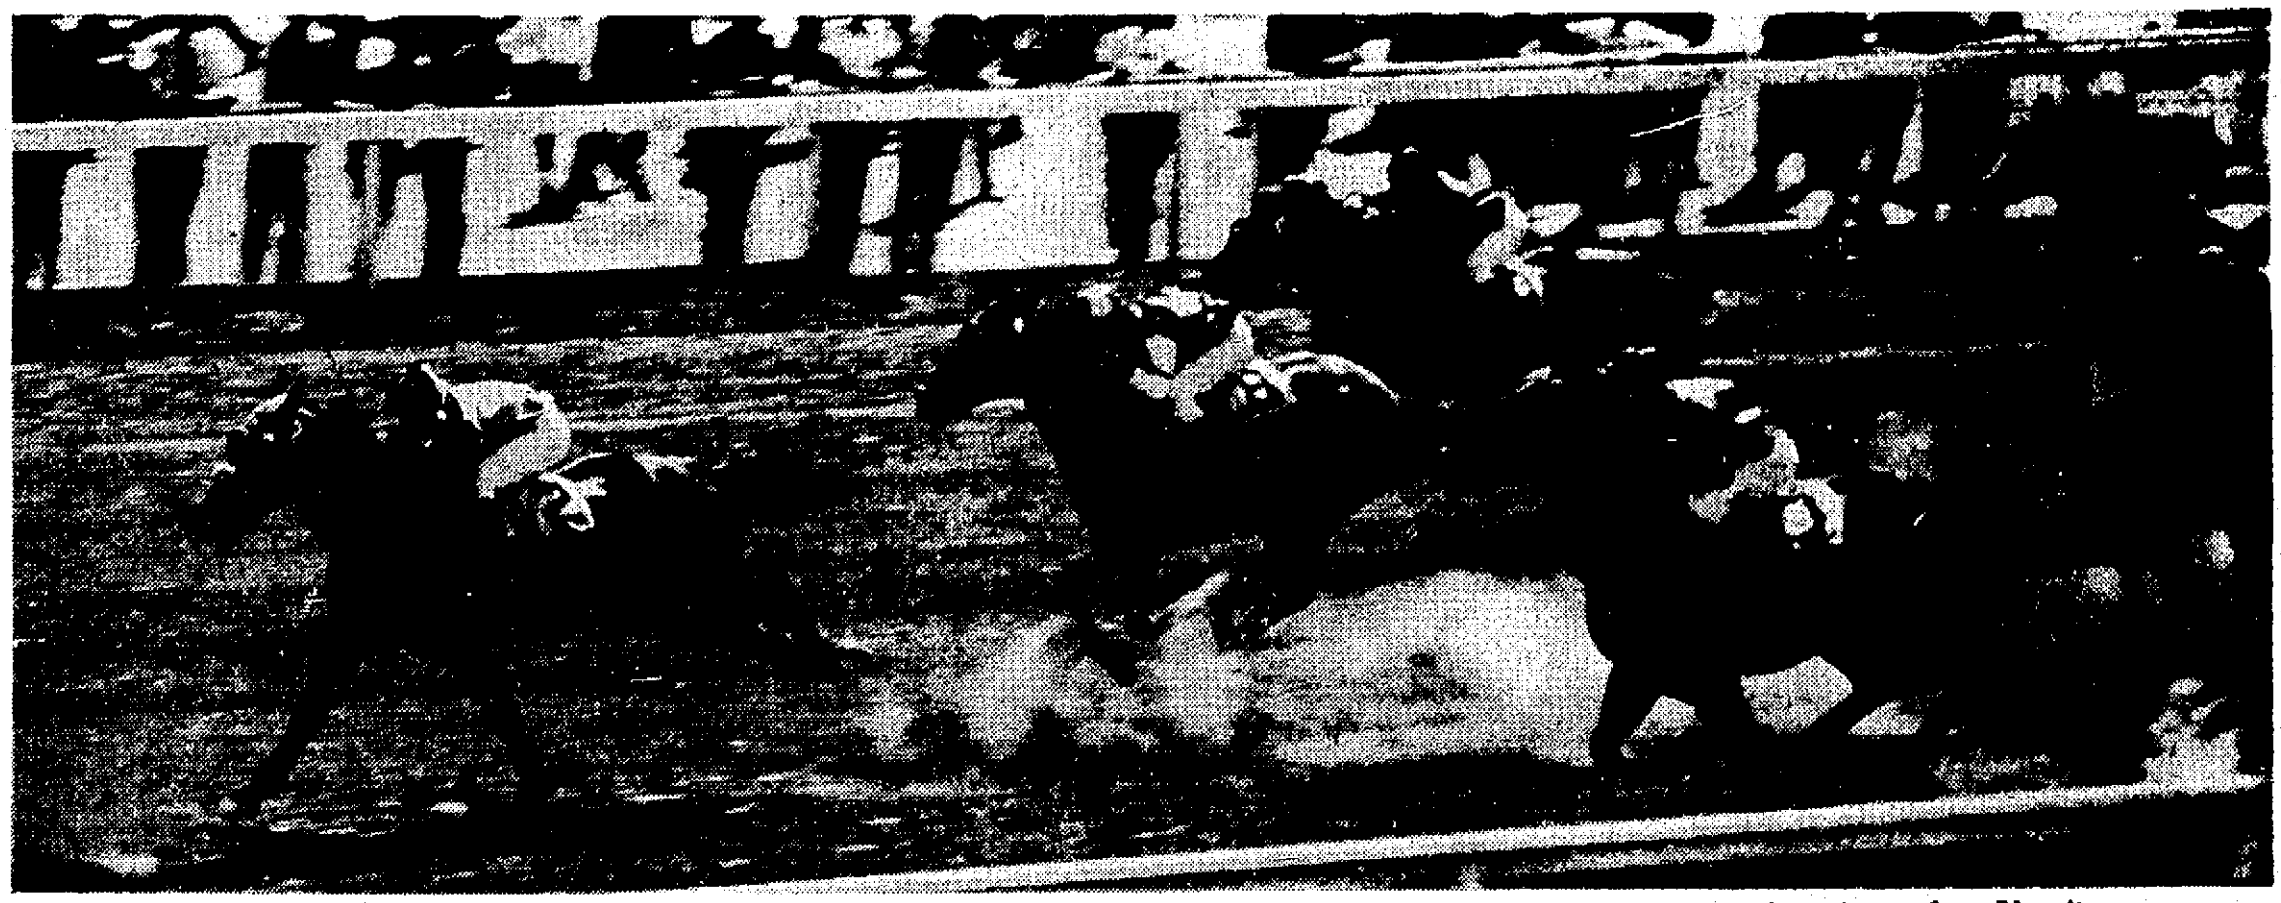

PUBLIC SCHOOL enrollment is now 8,000 and Dr. Norman Wampler, superintendent of schools, expects a peak of 12,500 in a few years. "We feel we have our building and classroom problem pretty well under control," he said. "The enrollment has grown from 3,400 in 10 years, but there are only six half-day classes. We'll soon have those pupils on an all-day schedule."

On Nov. 1, the citizenry voted to transfer to the Bellflower Unified School District the high school, which also includes the elementary and secondary schools. Another advance will be the establishment of a junior college within the old Excelsior Union High School District.

Children have left their mark in this community that has kept its feeling of a "Tom Sawyer town." In one of the parks is a bronze Statue of Liberty erected through the activity of the Boy Scouts. Bellflower is a town for youngsters. It is modern in all its facilities, but there remains the big green lawns, wide, tree-shaded streets, the dusty eucalypti, and room for a child to live and find himself.

Boy Scouts backed Sims Park Statue of Liberty.

Quarter horse speed is exceeded only by ostriches and antelope, "short horse" fans say. Here is a drive to the wire at Los Alamitos.

Saddle the Small and Outrun 'Em All

By Jack Teele

DOWN IN TEXAS, where almost anything is liable to happen, they raced a horse against a Cadillac last summer. Even more startling is the fact that not one of the Stetson-wearin' cowpokes who saw the horse beat the automobile by the margin of a fender was surprised at the outcome!

The official chart of the race was worded in typically terse Texan:

"Pretty Buck, out of Patsy Clover, defeated 1955 Cadillac de Ville, by General Motors out of Detroit. Distance 220 yards."

In all fairness to the Cadillac it must be revealed that the competition was no ordinary horse. The automobile was racing against a quarter horse and, podner, any son of the sage knows that quarter horses are the fastest critters north of the Alamo, west of the Pecos and south of Laramie!

Beauteous Myrna Foley is queen of meet coming up.

Frank Vessels Sr. is Los Alamitos' guiding light.

WHILE THE HORSEPOWER contest with General Motors' pride and joy was a step up in class for the quarter horse, the "short horses" have been winning match races since the day the first cowboy took out after a maverick.

Quarter horses are built for speed!

In 1611, 17 native English stallions and mares were imported to Virginia and were crossed with Spanish horses to produce a heavily muscled and compact horse. The resulting breed could run a short distance faster than any other breed — and still can.

That was the beginning of the quarter horse and ever since cowboys have been saying, "Admire the tall, but saddle the small."

"Saddling the small" is exactly what they will be doing at Frank Vessels' Los Alamitos track, beginning Monday. The sixth all-quarter horse meeting — with beautiful Myrna Foley as reigning queen — opens at the beautiful suburban course and promises to be the finest in the history of the sport.

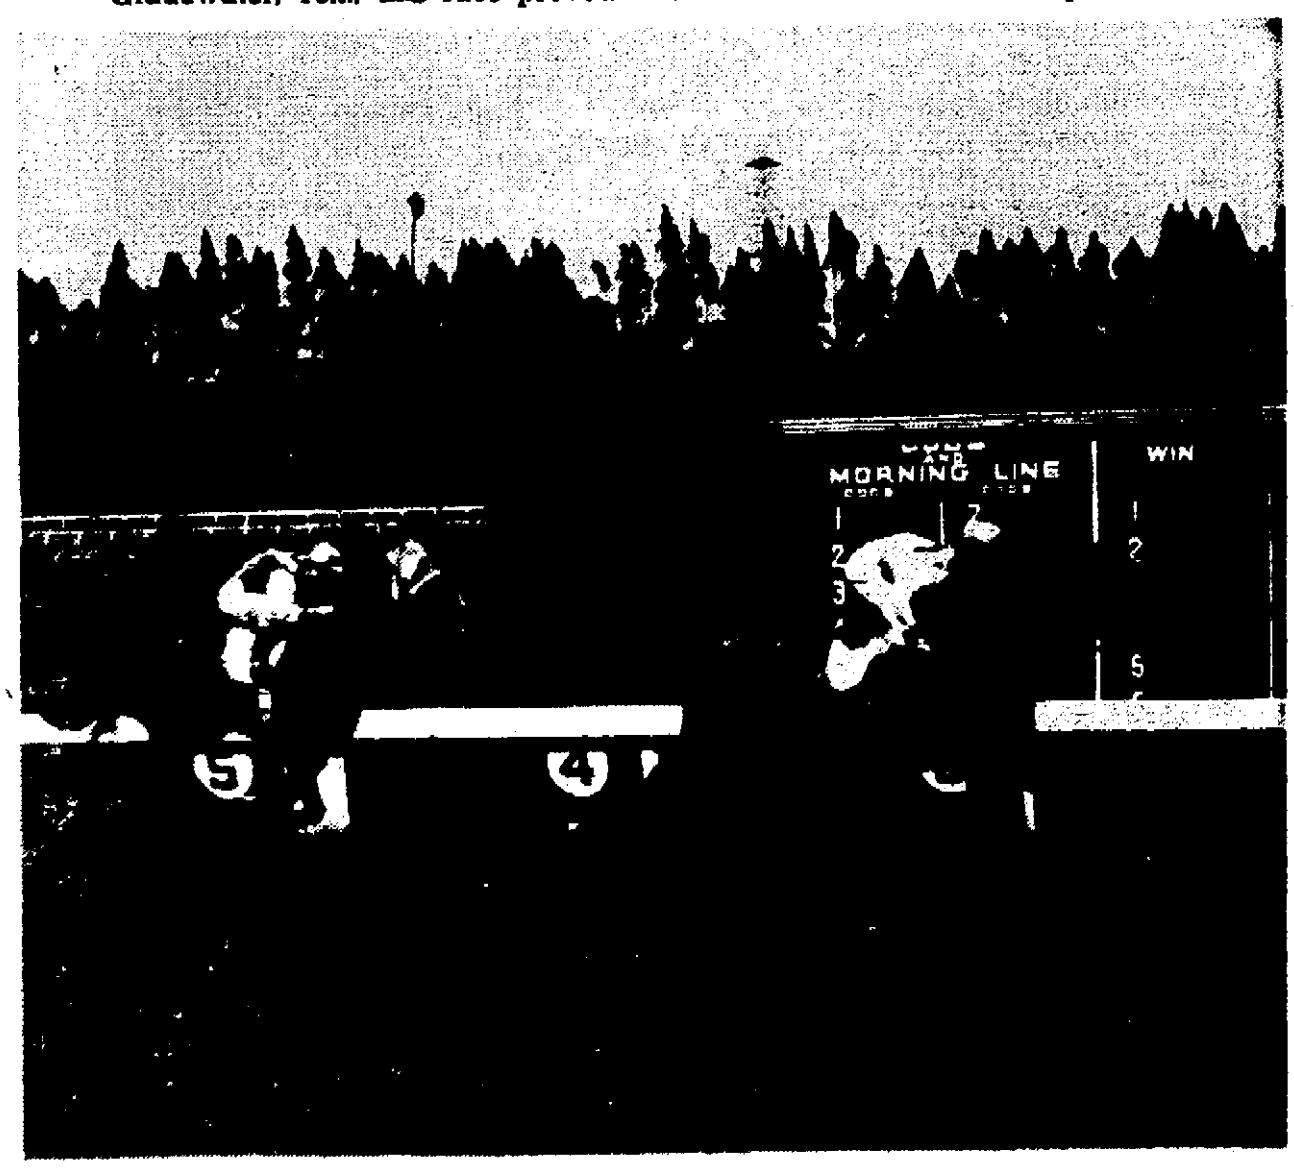

AT LOS ALAMITOS, racing fans will be able to see the finest products of the quarter horse breed. The horses will be running 220 yards in a fraction over 12 seconds and 440 yards in a hair over 22 seconds. If sustained, these speeds would be about 40 miles an hour.

Only ostriches and antelopes, says the Encyclopedia of Sports, can run faster. So, barring the unlikely possibility that some smart operator saddles up an os-

At 220 yards, a quarter horse can beat a Cadillac Coupe de Ville, and at Gladewater, Tex., this race proved it. Here's the horse, winner by a head.

Speed of the quarter horses was again demonstrated at Hollywood Park in 1947 when Barbra B., a "short horse," defeated thoroughbred Fair Truckle.

Ultrasonic Bathtub Saves Lives

DOUGLAS AIRCRAFT technicians have a $150,000 answer to the problem of weeding out faulty airplane parts before they get into the sky, thus saving lives.

They use an ultrasonic bathtub.

By beaming the high-frequency sound waves through aluminum die forgings immersed in water, the technicians can spot internal flaws in the metal.

These roughly-shaped pieces of metal are tooled by Douglas workers into vital stress parts like wing fittings and landing gears. And the metal has to be tough enough for the job.

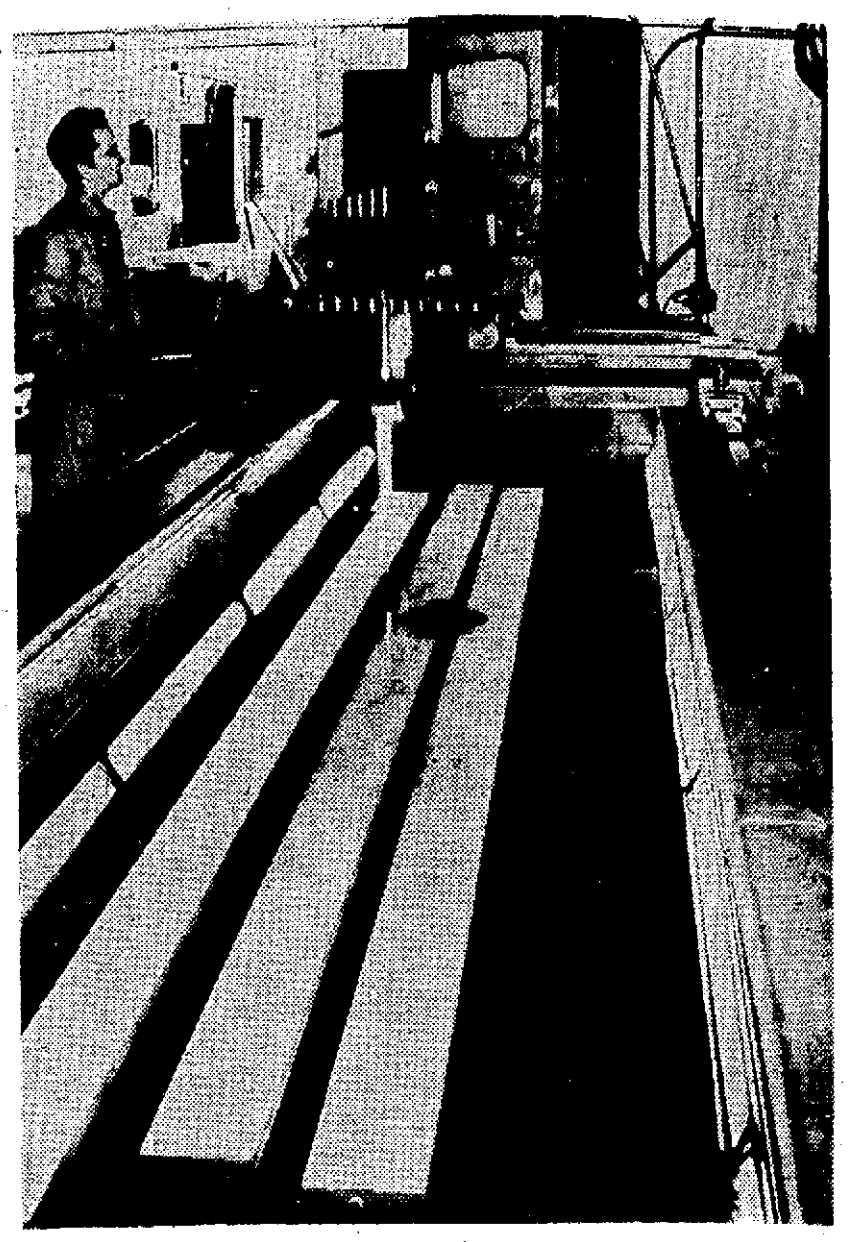

The "ultrasonic bathtubs" are tanks specially designed by Douglas and fitted with a high-frequency sounding device like the Navy's Sonar. But instead of making sound waves echo from the bottom of the ocean, this device bounces sound from the top and bottom of the piece of metal being tested.

Any flaw in the metal shows up as a blip on a cathode ray tube—or TV screen—watched by a technician.

ULTRA HIGH-FREQUENCY waves are produced by a quartz crystal that sends out 400 bursts of sound every second. This sound reaches 25,000,000 cycles a second—more than a thousand times higher than anything audible to human ears.

The ultrasonic inspection program at the Long Beach Douglas plant was set up two years ago under the direction of Chief Inspector E. W. Makin and Asst. Chief Inspector W. F. Stryker. F. L. Clark is assistant foreman of the ultrasonic lab and D. G. Brusse is general foreman of the fabrication-and-receiving inspection department.

Eight technicians work in the ultrasonic lab now, giving safety checks to between 60,000 and 70,000 die forgings a year.

Ultrasonic safety check in water-filled tank is given three aluminum bars that will be used for plane parts. Technician B. E. Kempton checks TV screen for flaws.

SOUTHLAND'S MOVIE PREVIEW

The Not-So-Terrible Miss Dove

Already a distinguished actress, Jennifer Jones adds to her stature as a great artist in the screen role of a young girl who returns home from finishing school to face the sudden death of her father and the grim task of paying off $11,000 he had embezzled from the bank of which he was president. As a schoolteacher, she earns the name of "The Terrible Miss Dove" as she devotes year after year to her work. But former students, many of them now grown, change their minds when she is stricken with a dread disease and is rushed to a hospital for a delicate operation. That's a thumbnail plot of "Good Morning, Miss Dove," a powerful new 20th Century-Fox drama produced in CinemaScope and DeLuxe Color. Costarring is Robert Stack.

On her return from school, Miss Dove's father (Leslie Bradley) outlines a round-the-world tour he wants her to take. She says she's in love. A few minutes later, the father falls dead. Miss Dove learns he took bank funds.

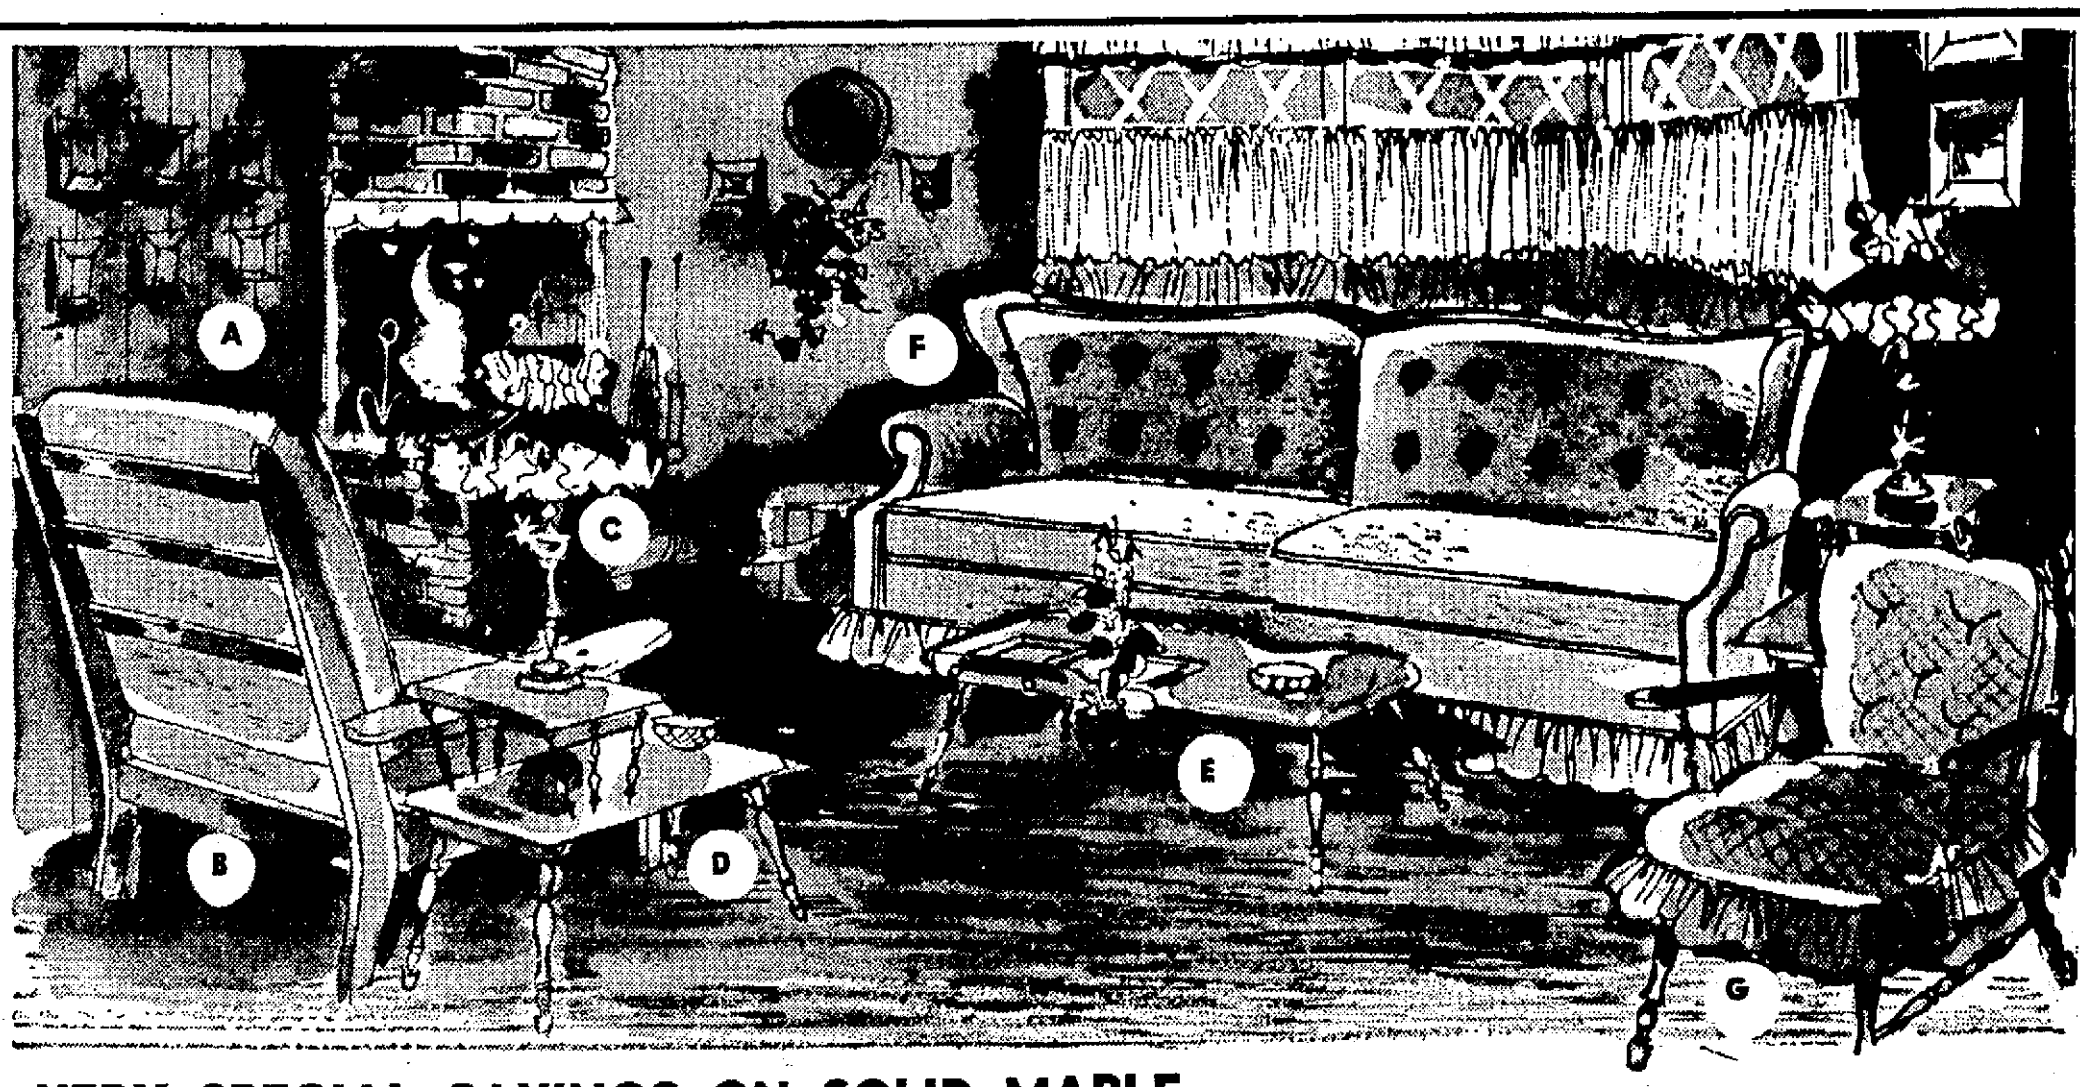

Miss Dove gives up marriage to teach and pay off father's debt. "The Terrible Miss Dove" is strict but also fair.

And former pupils are grateful for her deeds, among them Dr. Baker (Stack) whom she reunites with expectant wife.

Then disease strikes and Miss Dove places her fate in hands of ex-students Dr. Baker and Nurse Green (Peggy Knudsen). The operation is a success. Dr. Baker is presented with twins. Church bells ring and cheers come from street below.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH

DELAPLANE

PARIS.

"How do you keep from being lonely when you travel and don't know anybody in cities? I can see how you spend the days sightseeing but what about nights?"

THIS SURELY is a problem, especially for a girl and you see quite a few of them sitting in hotel dining rooms and having a dull time. It seems to be better in places where there are sports. Like the Austrian Tyrol in the winter. People get acquainted easily in places like this.

Otherwise, I would say bus travel is better than anything else. Having just done three days on CIAT, the Italian bus line, I met a lot of Americans.

Everybody on the bus at day's end was acquainted. You simply have to get into situations where you meet people. You don't meet them in hotels or on trains or airlines or walking around the streets.

"We hear that Europeans dislike Americans. Think they're braggy with their money. Does this affect you when traveling?

MOST OF THE American tourists these days are not so loaded with money. The American in Europe now is generally middle class and apt to behave better than you think. That international set you find hanging out in the Excelsior in Rome or the Ritz bar in Paris or the Savoy in London — the wealthy ex-patriate—are surely our poorest exports. But I think we are getting a better reputation lately.

I find the Italians extremely friendly. The Germans a little cool. The Swiss, Spanish and Portuguese very nice. The British very friendly. The French apt to be cool and calculating. This is pretty general, though. Depends on who you run up against and you can spend a friendly attitude yourself and buy more than you can with dollars.

"I just know I am going to be terribly confused about money when I go to Europe. Should I carry dollars? How do you avoid leaving a country with a lot of foreign money in your purse?"

All the European money is fairly stable now. If you have left-over on foreign money, just take it to your bank when you get home. They'll get it exchanged and you lose only a minor percentage.

I carry $50 traveler's checks plus about $100 in $5 and $10 bills. So, when you leave a country and want to make a small purchase without cashing a big check, you exchange a small bill.

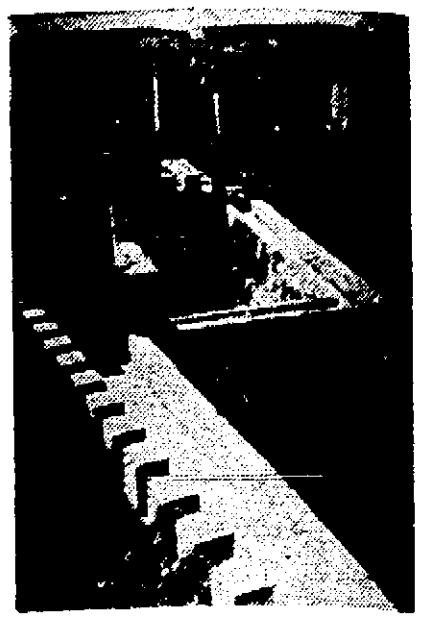

For example, I ran out of small bills. So I cashed a traveler's check in Switzerland into Swiss 20-franc notes (about $5). These cash anywhere just like dollars. You could do the same with English pounds or German D-marks, both being hard money. The only fluctuating currency is French francs. Best not to get caught with too much of these. The others cash in at home with no problem at all.

Your mailed questions will be answered (no phone calls). Send stamped and addressed envelope to: Stan Delaplane, Southland Magazine, Independent, Press-Telegram, Sixth and Pine, Long Beach 12, Calif.

Catching Time

Time flies along with the international vacationer, but, according to TWA's London office, seems to stand still in the many historic English towns boasting performing clocks. Hampton Court Palace contains one made for Henry VIII in 1540 which shows the 12 signs of the Zodiac, the hour, the day, the month, the sun's position, the moon's phase, the number of days from the beginning of the year, and the time of high water at London Bridge. British Travel Association researchers report one of the oldest clocks — a single-handed timepiece geared to a more leisurely century — in Lincolnshire.

RESORTS AND TRAVEL

Visitors to Portugal find many reminders of antiquity such as the ancient stone castle of St. Jorge, built in the 10th century by the Moors, and sturdy enough to withstand quake of 1755.

3-Story Cafe

Atop Monte Mario, overlooking Rome, is the three-story restaurant Palazzi, magnificent villa once belonging to Mussolini's mistress. Only the villa's interior has been changed to provide several dining rooms, a dance floor, a swimming pool, bar and sitting rooms on two floors and an open-air grill on the upper terrace. A graceful ramp connects the first and second floors; a wide circular staircase leads to the third. One wall of the spacious entrance hall is actually a glass birdhouse where parakeets, cockatoos and other birds twitter gaily. Exterior grounds of the mansion boast beautiful gardens, where dinner may also be served on summer evenings.

Rudy Comes Back

By Vera Williams

REMEMBER Rudy Vallee — the "Vagabond Lover," heart throb of the 1920's?

Remember Rudy Vallee, director of the 11th District Coast Guard band in Long Beach during World War II?

He is on the comeback trail. Playing — of all roles — Rudy Vallee!

The original crooner plays the Rudy Vallee of today and the Rudy Vallee of 25 years ago in "Gentlemen Marry Brunettes," United Artists release. In addition to Vallee, the picture also has Technicolor, CinemaScope, Jane Russell, Jeanne Crain, Allan Young and Scott Brady.

RUDY CHUCKLES over the cablegram from Paris which said, "Have strong part for Rudy Vallee in 'Gentlemen Marry Brunettes,' but it all depends. What does the guy look like these days?"

Says Rudy, "The question was not casual curiosity. Executive producer Robert Bassler and writer-director Richard Sale wanted to know whether I could play myself as I was approximately a quarter of a century ago with any degree of physical verisimilitude. Was I so far gone that make-up would involve major surgery? Or was I at least a reasonable facsimile of the old Rudy?

"MY FIRST REACTION was indignation at the all-to-obvious implication that I was something prehistoric, like a dinosaur, and might have to be reconstructed by ear from a fragment of shinbone.

"I still have all my hair and even the wave has not vanished, although there's gray at the temples. I've got all my teeth; my fighting weight is 150, which at my height, 5 feet 11, doesn't allow much for middle-age spread. That's not too bad for a man taking his ease in the comfortable lap of the early 50s."

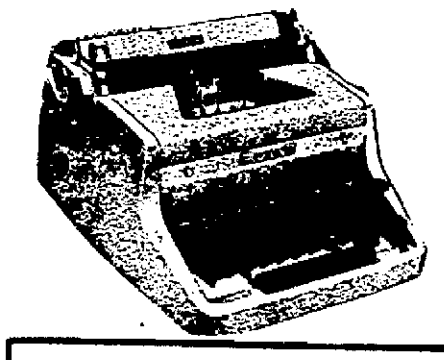

Rudy Vallee in a recent portrait and, below . . .

. . . the original crooner with megaphone, "sax."

NORRIS BERNSTEIN

Bavarian Pie . . . Ummm

ALL KINDS of pies are served daily throughout Long Beach—fruit pies, meat pies, pizza pies, Eskimo pies and even, on occasion, mud pies.

There is only one restaurant in Long Beach, however, where you can sit down and enjoy real, honest-to-goodness Bavarian cream pies.

This restaurant is Bernstein's, 5232 E. 2nd St., Belmont Shore. Its pies are prepared from old Bavarian recipes that have been in the Bernstein family for years. The demand for these pies (made from sweet cream, sour cream, sugar and spices) has grown so remarkably in recent months that Bernstein's has added a number of new varieties. As a result, patrons may now choose strawberry, apricot, lemon, boysenberry, cherry or pineapple.

Host and Co-Owner Norris Bernstein points out that the pies are included, at no extra cost, on all of Bernstein's luncheons and dinners.

BERNSTEIN'S reputation is not based on its pies alone, however. Its salad dressings, now sold in markets throughout the country, have brought the restaurant praise for years. And its dinners, always moderate in price, are a continual conversation piece for epicures. For example, Bernstein's features a delectable cut of prime rib for only $2.45 on a big complete dinner, but you'll have to get there early in the evening to enjoy it, because it's usually sold out within an hour.

Another splendid dinner item is barbecued Long Island duckling with broiled pineapple ring, $2.25 on a complete dinner. Still another is filet mignon tips en brouchette, also $2.25. The tips are amazingly tender and prepared in spices and wine before being charcoal broiled.

As this column has mentioned before, Bernstein's complete dinners are really COMPLETE. Included are a selection of chilled appetizers, choice of soup, tomato juice or cold borscht, choice of different salads and dressings, souffle potatoes, hot rolls, beverage and dessert.

COOKING

If It's Hot and Spicy, It'll Do Very Nicely

By Mildred K. Flanary
Press-Telegram Home Economics Editor

WITH CHRISTMAS SEASON dead ahead and the New Year treading hard on the heels of Santa Claus, it's a wise mistress of the household who is planning now for something out of the ordinary to serve at the happy and informal gatherings of friends and relatives or when folks just "drop in."

There'll be invitations, too, to "come to our house" for a sip and a bite and a visit.

For these occasions, festive food and drink is imperative, but need not be elaborate—just different and good.

Hot spiced punch made from concentrated quick-frozen lemonade and cranberry juice spells a welcome for all who come. Serve the punch in mugs and decorate each serving with a bright red or green cherry and a quarter slice of orange on a toothpick. Then pass a platter of finger sandwiches (date nut bread spread with softened cream cheese), a creamy dip circled with crisp potato chips, a big bowl of mixed nuts. And better have refills of the punch ready in the kitchen. The recipe for hot punch is featured elsewhere on this page.

Here are some other recipes to help your planning:

Tipsy Cake
Sopa borracha

Prepare sponge cake from packaged cake mix or buy one at the bakery. Two days before serving pour the following syrup over cake, a little at a time. Wine syrup: Simmer 1 cup water with 1 cup sugar until it forms a light syrup. Flavor with ½ cup sweet sherry and 1 jigger light rum. Serves 8.

Baba Au Rhum
(Cake with Rum Sauce)

- 1 (3/5-ounce) cake compressed yeast
- ½ cup warm milk
- 2 cups sifted flour
- ½ cup shortening
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 3 eggs

Soften yeast in milk. Beat in ½ cup of the flour; cover and let sponge rise until light. Cream together shortening, sugar, lemon peel and salt. Add eggs one at a time; beat well after each addition. Add remaining 1½ cups of flour slowly; add sponge and mix well. Pour into greased 2-quart ring mold and let stand until triple in bulk. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven for 25 minutes. Remove cake from pan and allow to cool. Pour Sauce for Baba over it and let stand until all the sauce is absorbed. Wrap in freezer packaging material. Yield: 1 cake (about 8 to 10 servings).

Sauce for Baba

- ½ cup sugar
- 1 cup water
- 4 teaspoons rum flavoring
- ½ teaspoon lemon juice
- ¼ teaspoon almond extract

Pour sugar and water into saucepan. Switch to "high" until boiling; switch to "low" and cook 10 minutes. Remove from unit and add flavorings. Pour sauce over cake at intervals until all is absorbed.

Creme Brulee With Pineapple

- 1 cup milk
- 1 cup light cream
- 2 eggs, slightly beaten
- ¼ cup granulated sugar
- Dash of salt
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- ¾ cup brown sugar
- 6 pineapple slices

Heat milk and cream in top of double boiler to scalding. Combine eggs, sugar and salt, and gradually stir in hot mixture. Cook in double boiler until mixture coats spoon, stirring constantly. Add vanilla. Cool. Pour into a shallow baking dish. When custard is thick and set, place baking dish in a large pan and surround with ice. Sprinkle with brown sugar to cover, or just around edge, as preferred. Broil until sugar is bubbly and melted. Keep cold until serving time. Serve over chilled pineapple slices. Serves 6.

Stuffed Prawns

- ½ pound lean pork
- 2 or 3 fresh green onions
- ½ cup canned water chestnuts
- ½ cup mushrooms
- dash of salt, ⅛ tsp. accent, ⅛ tsp. white pepper

Chop fine the pork, onions, water chestnuts and mushrooms. Measurements are for chopped ingredients. Mix well and add seasonings. Shell and split the raw prawns or shrimp and stuff with above prepared filling. Wrap each shrimp with a very thin slice of bacon and secure with toothpicks. Dip in milk and roll in flour. Cook in medium hot deep fat for 8 to 10 minutes. Do not have fat too hot or outside will brown before stuffing is done. Allow 3 or 4 very large shrimp per person, more if smaller. Serves 4.

Hot spiced punch, made from concentrated, quick-frozen lemonade and cranberry juice, will welcome guests who will be dropping in during the holidays.

Hot Lemonade Punch:

- 4 to 7 whole cloves
- 1 stick cinnamon (2½ inches)
- 2 cups bottled cranberry juice
- 3¼ cups water
- ⅓ cup sugar
- ¾ cup (6-ounce can) concentrated quick-frozen lemonade, thawed

Combine spices, cranberry juice and water in saucepan. Bring to a rolling boil. Cover, remove from heat and let stand about 3 minutes. Strain to remove spices. Add sugar and stir until dissolved. Pour over concentrated lemonade in heat-proof pitcher. Blend well. Serve hot. If desired, garnish each serving with half an orange slice and a sprig of mint or a green cherry. Makes about 6 cups, or 12 four-ounce servings.

Kitchen Tip:

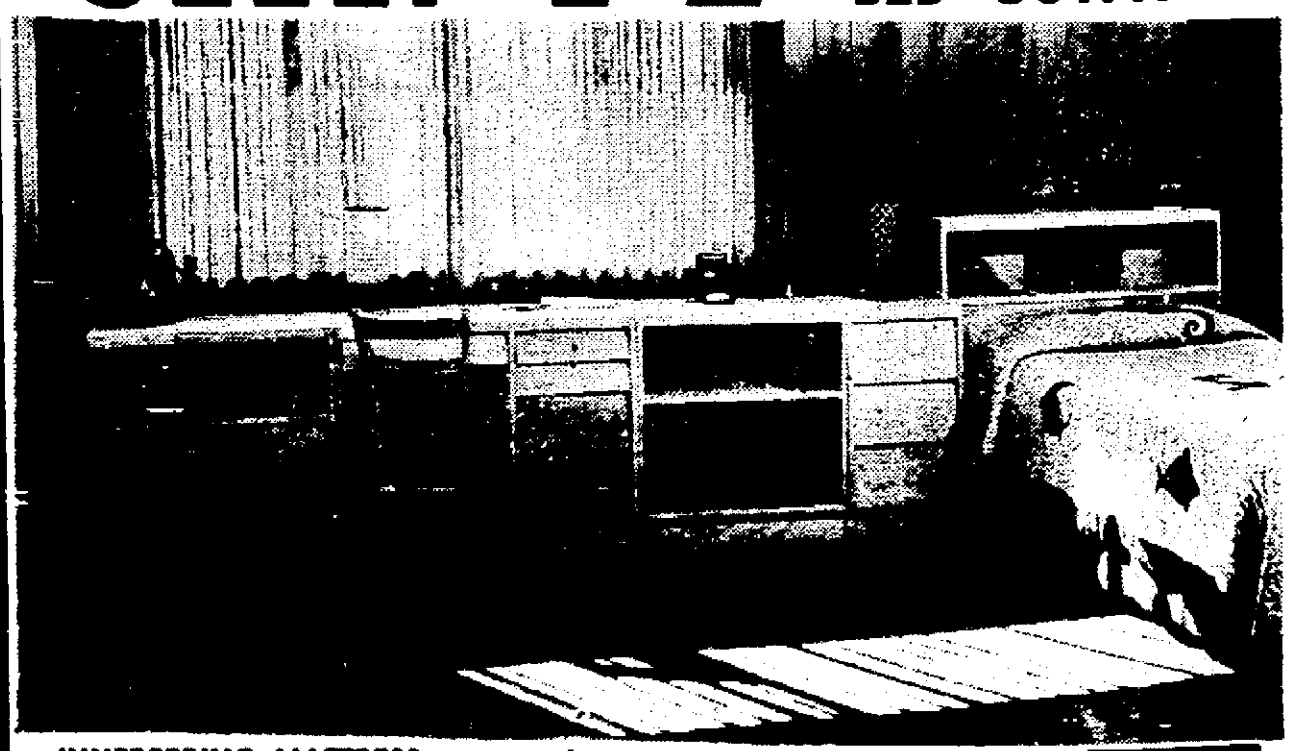

Chocolate frosting will have a new and delicious taste if you add one tablespoon of peanut butter.

Tricks With Pictures for Christmas Cards

HOW OFTEN have you longed for a picture of your family on a Christmas card only to cringe at the phrase, "Use your favorite snapshot"? There are few group pictures that flatter every member of the family. How many times have you heard, "It's a horrible picture of me, but it was the best of the others,

By wise posing and printing, family faces can grace yule cards. Author and Mel McClain here ride Santa's sleigh; Mark and Mike ride Rudolph.

By Darlene Mitchell McClain

so we chose it"? I have discovered a simple way to get around this obstacle, and add originality and fantasy to my cards at the same time.

The trick is to put pictures of yourself into scenes suggestive of Christmas. In the first place, you have to plan the scene you want, and get the pictures you need for background. The Santa and sleigh shown in accompanying illustration came from a 25-cent edition of "The Night Before Christmas." Whatever you use, after you have determined your layout, you are ready for the pictures of your family.

There are two ways of using pictures. If your scene calls for you to be in a certain unusual position, as we are sitting in Santa's sleigh, take several pictures and choose the best. The best may not be perfect, but the scene overshadows the details of poor poses. The picture of the boys on the reindeer was taken in a department store, where "Rudolph" could be ridden for a dime. If that hadn't been available, I would have pasted their photos on some other picture,

They Call It 'Cotton Ball'

STRANGE PLANT of a strange land, the cotton ball cactus with 132 heads grows in Death Valley and is an interesting phenomenon for the thousands of visitors to the valley each year.

The rare botanical specimen grows near the highway between Death Valley Junction and the entrance to Death Valley National Monument. Each of the heads of this odd plant is about the size of a small nail keg

A short side road, marked by a sign, leads from the highway to the plant which is protected from knife-happy tourists by a high wire fence. — BERTHA BLANCHARD.

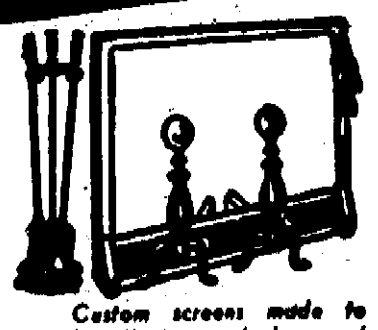

Phenomenon of the desert, this cotton ball cactus is one of the many strange attractions of Death Valley.

A Bungalow Grows and Adds a Pool

Glass doors slide back to open the newly added family room to poolside in home of Mrs. Sally Nelson and children. Wrought iron adds to appearance.

By Eileen Ball

HOW A MODEST Los Altos bungalow grew from 1,350 feet to 1,600 feet and gained a sparkling swimming pool too, is the story of Mrs. Sally Nelson's home at 2921 Radnor Ave.

The warm dignity of good traditional mahogany furniture characterizes the living room and bedrooms. New Orleans white wrought iron "frosting" embellishes the front porch. And the kitchen, aglow with glossy brown-flecked decorator tile and natural birch cabinets, overlooks a patio roofed with a scalloped aluminum canopy which, in turn, leads to the poolside. All in all, the potential of this house has been realized to the fullest. And how beautifully it serves the family it houses!

Soft putty-beige coloring has been used in large areas throughout the formal living room. The rather steeply pitched ceiling has rafters painted this neutral tone. In keeping are fine-meshed silk boucle curtains that hang to the floor and are beautifully framed with rich side draperies and pleated valance of copper-rose faille. The intricately-pleated valance and the draperies are edged in silk tassel fringe of identically the same color as the fabric.

THE END of the living room containing the fireplace has been completely paneled in natural waxed Philippine mahogany. To carry down the putty color of the rafters and unite ceiling and wall is the putty-colored molding which frames a narrow red brick firebox opening. A huge plate glass mirror surmounts the mantelpiece in traditional form, its reflection adding feet to the apparent size of the room.

A wall-to-wall carpet of sandalwood finish provides a pleasing background for the pair of blue brocade channel-back chairs that flank leather-topped lamp tables before the picture window. Equally well complemented is the oversized formal sofa upholstered in deep green sculptured nylon.

Largely responsible for the sedate, almost quaint, atmosphere of the room is the wallpaper used for the long wall opposite the front door. Due to the ceiling pitch this is an important wall for height as well as length. Wallpaper imported from England portraying groupings of dainty pastoral scenes in "frames" of soft blue-green foliage impart to the room a feeling of quiet repose.

SLIDING, LOUVERED doors open to the dinette and kitchen. Walls for the dining area have been papered in a soft sandalwood tan background paper portraying a pine needle pattern in bronze and gold. Crisp white tie-back curtains hang in full folds at the window overlooking the patio. Maple dining furniture adds sturdy coziness to the dinette and is echoed by a smaller table and chairs at which the young Nelsons, Penny and Jon, dine.

Formal dignity keynotes this living room with sweeping, beamed ceiling; carefully chosen appointments.

Penny Nelson's bedroom is centered around a canopied bed that is finished in colors of cocoa, as dainty a room as any 6-year-old miss could desire.

Adjacent to the kitchen and dinette is the enlarged family room where Mrs. Nelson sews and irons while the children enjoy their favorite television programs.

Paneled in pine with exposed beam ceiling, this room has the sort of casual warmth desirable for an area wherein every member of the family can pursue his own hobby.

COCOA CARPETING provides soft but sturdy underfooting while draperies of turquoise add necessary coolness to the room. The entire end of the room is composed of sliding glass doors that open directly to the pool.

A desk, with plenty of storage for business and personal papers; leather furniture, a sewing machine and television set furnish the family room and attest to the various purposes which it serves.

Two walls in the master bedroom are painted a soft blue-grey, while the remaining two are papered in white portraying pale pink and gold cherry blossoms. Mahogany four-poster twin beds with heritage spreads of antique ivory give a note of femininity to the room. Lavishly full and sheer white nylon criss-cross curtains complete the dainty scheme.

Blue and soft ice-pink tweed paper carries out the color scheme in the guest bath. Pink ceramic tile and soft pink nylon rugs complement the powder blue tile trim.

The master bath is turquoise and pink with accents of gold.

Saddle the Small, Outrun 'Em All

trich, quarter horse fans will be watching the fastest possible races at short distances.

Although Vessels' own dreams and hard work have had a lot to do with bringing California quarter horse racing into the big-time, the wealthy rancher-construction company executive must give an assist to an Arizonan named Ray Gill.

IT WAS GILL who sent word to Hollywood Park in 1947 that he had a quarter horse which could outrun any thoroughbred on the grounds at 440 yards.

The late Charles S. Howard owned a thoroughbred swiftie named Fair Truckle and offered to put up $50,000 for a match race if Gill would do the same. Gill put his money where his mouth was and the race was set.

Johnny Longden, the winningest thoroughbred rider in the nation, was up on Fair Truckle and broke him on top.

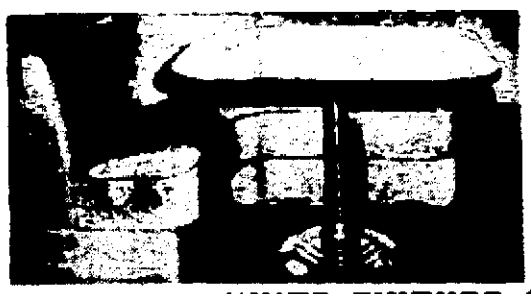

A toothless jockey of Mexican heritage and ancient vintage rode Gill's Barbra B. Those who viewed the race claimed afterwards that the old boy had spurs which approached twin buzz saws in size.

TO MAKE THE STORY even shorter than the race, when the Mexican dug his spikes into the flanks of Barbra B., she flew past Fair Truckle and went on to win by a length and a half.

That match race was the sensational introduction to the quarter horse for many West Coast fans. Today, within a few minutes of Long Beach, Vessels has built one of the most modern and beautiful of all racing plants.

It's a far cry from the wide-open spaces of the old days, but the 10-gallon hat brigade can ride through the spacious paved parking lot with heads held high. "Get a horse" can be a terribly insulting salutation if one happens to be driving a Cadillac!

Yule Cards Switch to the Lighter Side

By Samuel Golden

THE ANNUAL sharing of friendly sentiments should be more fun than ever this year, thanks to a number of well known artists with keen eyes for today's popular interests, vogues and avocations. Are you a tape-recording fan? An enthusiastic philatelist or do-it-yourself dabbler? You may smile at yourself and invite your friends to smile with you by choosing a Christmas card that takes a light-hearted view of your hobby.

Among the many important cartoonists, book illustrators and cover designers whose colorful views of contemporary life will surely entertain many at holidaytime are Barney Tobey, Oscar Fabres, Don Freeman, Dorothy McKay, Alajalov and H. A. Rey. These and other artists offer amusing comments on the current scene in the Christmas cards they have created for the new Designers & Illustrators collection. This is the less serious of the two famous collections which are published annually by the American Artists Group.

SOME OF THE DESIGNS, like Tobey's "Portraits in a Gallery" and Jack Markow's "Recording the Carols," are amusing character-sketches as well as pertinent observations on the popular culture of the day. Others use imaginative whimsy or sheer fantasy to highlight the entertaining aspects of a modern fad or custom. A Christmas card by Al Piane, showing an underwater Santa attaching prize catches to the hooks of less amphibious fishermen, is a find for the skin-diving hobbyist. It is Santa again — the star performer in many of these pictures — who, with the help of H. A. Rey, points up a problem in metered parking; it takes a lot of nickels. with eight reindeer to accommodate!

The popularity of poodles makes pantomimic fun for Fabres' urbane brush. The revival to polite society of the manly cigar is a recent influence discreetly indicated in John Teppich's witty portrait of Santa Claus as a gentleman of substance and distinction. Happily, either of these Designers & Illustrator cards would be fun to

"NOT A SINGLE CAVITY IN OVER 2 YEARS"

WITH

TOOTH PASTE

Because: Antizyme is the first and only tooth paste with completely

SAFE FLUORIDE-LIKE ACTION!

You've heard about the wonders of fluoride in drinking water—a proved way to cut tooth decay. Now fluorides have been added to tooth pastes. But there is only one tooth paste with fluoride-like action that is completely safe.

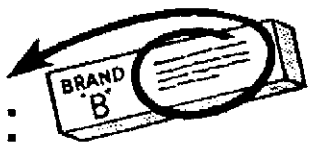

Antizyme Tooth Paste works like fluoride, but is completely safe

Antizyme is the only tooth paste with a fluoride-like action that is safe for children under six . . . safe even where water is fluoridated. The active ingredient in Antizyme is a concentrated compound found in many common foods. It works with the anti-enzyme ingredient as a team to fight decay two ways: 1) safe, fluoride-like action to strengthen teeth against decay, 2) continuous anti-enzyme action that stops the major cause of tooth decay 12 to 24 hours after each brushing. This has been proved in 9 out of every 10 cases tested.

WARNING!
OTHER TOOTH PASTES SAY

CAUTION:
"Children under 6 should not use—."

CAUTION:
"If your local water supply contains fluoride, consult your dentist."

Be sure you read before you buy! These warnings are on all fluoride tooth pastes; NOT on ANTIZYME, the only tooth paste with completely SAFE fluoride-like action.

. . . the only tooth paste with completely safe fluoride-like action!

Dolls that Stretch Christmas Dollars

By Goldie M. Harper

IS THE OLD wallet getting a wilted look? Is the list of children that you would like to remember with a gift growing daily? There is an easy answer. Make small dolls and those stuffed horses that are so popular now, and your gift problem is licked.

For 25 cents, transfer stamp patterns for a cute eight-inch doll are available, with full size patterns for custom-made doll clothes included.

Use pink or beige broadcloth for the dolls. Pin the pattern to eight thicknesses of cloth, cut around it and you will have four dolls.

Lay them out, one front and one back together. Be sure the coloring is on the outside of each piece. Put in the hair and the features on the extra pieces with crayolas. Lay a piece of waxed paper over them and press with a medium warm iron (set at "cotton" on the register) and you will have something prettier than the original transfer, and washable, too.

Place the right sides together inside, baste, then stitch, leaving a 2½-inch opening under the right arm for stuffing. Turn right side out.

STUFF CAREFULLY, a small piece of cotton batting at a time, working it in evenly with a bone crochet hook and the eraser end of a pencil. After the legs are stuffed, and before continuing with this job, stitch along romper leg lines, so that the doll can sit down. When completed, slip stitch the side opening together.

This is the only boring, tedious part of the project. (Some women get all the dolls ready to stuff at one sitting, then take them to a meeting of the Chat 'N' Sew Club.)

Work half moons of white satin stitch embroidery in the dolls' eyes to give them sparkle. Put a real ribbon bow in the hair and sew a button on each foot at the slipper strap line.

For the clothes, practically any scrap bag will supply enough bits of material. A 16-inch length of 2¾-inch eyelet embroidery or ruffling from an organdy curtain will make the petticoat. Use seam binding or bias tape for the casings, with heavy twine for the drawstrings. Scraps of print make the dress and pajamas.

FOR THE HORSES, if the gift is for an infant, use cotton broadcloth or print. Before cutting into the material, wash it in a solution of warm water and baking soda (one teaspoon to the quart) and you will have a sterilized toy, in case the tot decides to chew on it. Full-sized patterns for the horses with step-by-step illustrated instructions for making the horses are offered free at Davis Furniture Co., 1975 American Ave., as long as the supply lasts.

For the older tot, felt is more popular. Nine inches of 72-inch felt will cost about 90 cents and will make three horses, leaving scraps for coasters, pen wipers, doll purses and hats. If you wish to make the mane and tail of a contrasting color, felt is sold at 12 cents per inch. Dark green or brown for the horse, white for the mane and tail is very attractive.

Felt cannot be washed; use blotters on it if it gets wet. When they become soiled put them in an old pillow slip or flour sack and swish them around in cleaning fluid., then dry. Do not do this near an open flame if fluid is flammable.

YULE CARDS SWITCH TO THE LIGHTER SIDE

send or receive, even if one is not a dog-fancier or a smoker.

FAMILY LIFE, the entertainment world, sports, and even the serious professions supply subjects for amusing yuletide commentary by outstandingly original artists. Dorothy McKay pictures a city family of three putting their shoulders to the task of carrying home a Christmas tree that's bigger than all of them! Tom Naegele sees a chef dressed like Santa demonstrating to housewives at home — while studio lights stream down and cameras grind — that roasting a turkey is easy if you do it on television, where (as every viewer knows) recipes always turn out right. Don Freeman sensibly sends Santa for a medical checkup, then looks on with the doctor in astonishment as a heart looking just like a red Christmas bell shows up on the fluoroscopic screen.

Gaily fanciful, sophisticated, or heartily comic, these Christmas cards show a proper respect for the season's precious traditions. Their amused and amusing observations on modern life will add fresh zest to the familiar experience of sending and receiving holiday greetings.

"Recording the Carols" is a bit of Jack Markow wit.

Al Piane has diving Santa rewarding the fishermen.

Bungalow Grows

Pale turquoise silk boucle curtains filter the south sun that high lights the pale pink and metallic gold wallpaper.

PENNY'S ROOM might be the dream of any 6-year-old miss. Her quaint, canopied bed has a ruffled coverlet of cocoa chintz trimmed in salmon pink. The lavish canopy is of pink trimmed with an accenting ruffle of cocoa. The pineapple poster bed of mahogany is as dainty as the little girl who chose it.

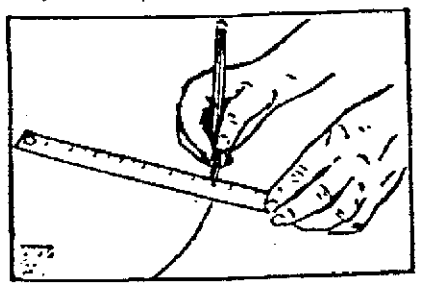

Two walls of Penny's room are papered in an old-fashioned scenic print utilizing palest pinks, cocoas and soft greens for its motifs. The remaining walls are painted delicate cocoa.

Penny's 4-year-old brother, Jon, boasts a room that is carried out along more masculine lines. Maple furnishings, and wallpaper of gold and chocolate tweed set the pace.

The exterior of the Nelson home came in for its share of redecorating as well. Vertical siding across the front of the house has been painted a bright and clear turquoise that goes nicely with the cocoa stucco used for the sides and the back of the house.

Low planter boxes of weeping red brick and the lavish use of scrolled white ironwork help complete the happy transformation of the house into a dream-cottage-come-true!

Make Do

Circles of almost any size are easy to draw by using a ruler for a compass. By drilling a small hole at the end you can use a thumb tack for a pivot. Other holes at measurement points admit the lead of a pencil for various radii.

Female Private Eye

In a field that is largely a business for men, pert Marian Kent is forging ahead as a private detective.

By Julius Golden
Associated Press Writer

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. A 25-YEAR-OLD Albuquerque girl, who earned a living for two years trailing and checking on people, now is setting up her own business as a "private eye."

"I'm beginning to get results too," said Marian Kent, who started her own business just a few weeks ago after two years with an Albuquerque agency.

"Maybe it's just curiosity at hearing about a woman private investigator, but people are coming to me. Of course, since most clients of agencies are women, some just want to talk to a woman."

The pert, blond Miss Kent, who gives an impression of naivete because of her glasses and dimpled smile, graduated from Albuquerque High School in 1950. She held several secretarial jobs and worked for a telephone company as a long distance operator.

THEN SHE MET her future husband, another private detective, and "I just naturally drifted into the work." She was married last Dec. 2.

Contrary to popular belief, a private investigator is not in a cloak and dagger profession, Marian says, "nor is it a dirty business."

"Being a private eye is unusual and a very fascinating life. Most people have the impression it's a dirty business, but it's only as dirty as you make it. People get the wrong impression from television and the movies. They're actually surprised when they learn the truth.

"Sometimes, I think they're disappointed."

MARION SPECIALIZES in domestic investigation. The cases she's handled range from checking on marital infidelity to blackmail.

"My job is to prove or disprove the allegations made by my client," she said. "Most of my clients are women, which makes investigation a good field for a woman. A man is more likely to solve his own problems where a woman will seek help.

"Often I just go and talk with the other person involved and check his character. Many times my job involves trailing people. Incidentally, whenever I'm trailing someone or I'm on a stakeout, I always notify the police so they'll know what I'm doing. The average case takes two to three weeks."

Marion went to work for the Acme Detective Agency when she learned it was looking for a woman interested in that type of work. "I was real excited because I guess it's not something the average woman would do."

Although her first case was an interview and she turned the information over to another operator, she soon graduated to working on her own. At first she received a commission and then $50 a week. Soon she was getting periodic raises.

"But lately I wanted to go on my own," she said. "I'll only handle domestic cases and any other kind of work will be turned over to other private investigators."

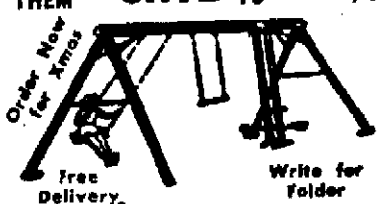

MARIAN INSISTS that anything a police officer can do, a private investigator can look into also. For example, she said, she recently turned up a missing teen-ager after three days work. The mother of the girl wanted to find her daughter without going to the police. Marian discovered where she was through a friend of the girl. The mother let the girl stay with her friend hoping she would come back on her own.

Marion comes from a pioneer New Mexico family. Her grandfather was a longtime fire chief in Raton. Her family "doesn't mind my working as a private investigator. In fact, they encourage me."

Marian wants to be a marriage counselor someday and "I think my work now is wonderful experience.

"Besides, I love it."

What's So Funny About That?

Cartoon from "The Coffee Break"

"Let's see now, you want that letter from Johnson and Corbett...."

THE LADY TOURIST stood amid the ruins of the Coliseum (not the one of Figueroa St.) and said to the guide:

"I suppose there must be quite a story behind all this?"

And then there's the one about the beautiful girl and the inevitable man, inevitably stranded on the inevitable ocean. A discussion is concluded as she says to him:

"I'd know, that's who'd know."

Harper's has just published "The New Yorker Album, 1950-1955" ($5) containing 450 of the best cartoons that magazine has printed in the past five years.

And if those aren't enough to tickle your funnybone, you might consider "The Coffee Break," (Dutton, $2.95). Charles Preston selected these cartoons from The Wall Street Journal, usually devoted to more grim business (pun intended).

These are more likely to make you chuckle if you are already in a position to chuckle; i. e., if you've got it made. Typical cartoon shows the business man reporting to his wife:

"I got a raise, now I can afford last year's income tax."

Or the executive telling the aging clerk:

"You'll have it admit it, Smith. We both had equal opportunities when we came here to work for my father."

Lawrence Lariar has selected cartoons on marriage and published them in "You've Got Me—And How!" (Dodd, Mead, $2.95).

Here's you'll find hubby seated at the table, waiting for supper and declaiming:

"I'm so hungry I could eat an old shoe."

And that's just what wifie is baking, in the background.

All of offerings range from chuckling funny to hilarious, and all are offered at an opportune time. You'll have plenty of time to read these, yourself, before using them as Christmas presents.

Characters reacting to typical situations in an unethical and highly personal way make the original paperback "The Power of Negative Thinking" (Ballantine, 35c), edited by Charles Preston, a lively cartoon collection. For instance, there's the one of the two men standing in a cemetery where one headstone is illuminated by a brilliantly lighted neon, "John Smith." Said one of the men, "John always was a great showman."

And finally there's "Nothing Brightens the Garden Like Primrose Plants" (Hanover House, $1.50), in which Denys Parsons compiles, for howls of laughter, a collection of misprints and pi lines from newspapers. He's aided and abetted by R. Taylor, who illustrates half a hundred of the transpositions. Take the one of the two lively roaches with human heads; beneath is this paragraph from a Minnesota paper:

"Mr. and Mrs. Wally Burman of Sioux Falls have just arrived at the Lindau home where they will be housepests for several days."—G. C. F.

NEW INSPIRATIONAL and self-help books are appearing each week, and many of them are very worthwhile. One of the best to appear this fall is "Inspiring Messages for Daily Living" (Prentice-Hall, $2.95), in which Norman Vincent Peale, author of the biggest best-seller in years, "The Power of Positive Thinking," brings down-to-earth answers to the hundreds of daily problems faced by a family in this modern world. Also good is "How to Use the Power of Your Word" (Dodd, Mead, $2.50). In it, Stella Terrill Mann, author of "Change Your Life Through Prayer," discusses man's powers and how to use them to attain desired goals. Philip Blair Rice, in "On the Knowledge of Good and Evil" (Random House, $4.50), discusses 20th Century ethical theories and possible solution of problems raised by the moral philosophy of the period.

"Experiment in Depth" (Pantheon, $4.50) explores the potentialities of the deep unconscious, the creative and destructive forces latent in the human psyche from the standpoint of three eminent students — C. G. Jung, T. S. Eliot and A. J. Toynbee — with the author, P. W. Martin, suggesting the possibility of man using modern psychological technique as a stepping stone to a more creative way of life.—F. T. K.

UTAH STORY: "Papa Married a Mormon" (Prentice-Hall, $3.95) is John D. Fitzgerald's tale of a mixed marriage, Catholic and Mormon, and of the young people's problems, an exciting story gathered from old diaries, love letters and newspapers. And it is more: it is the tale of one of the country's most colorful sections. Former jazz band leader and reporter, Mr. Fitzgerald, now a Southland resident, tells an animated story, and wastes not a page as he spreads out his wide canvas.—J. J. K.

HUMOR, SEX and science-fiction form almost equal components of Frederic Brown's new novel, "Martians, Go Home" (Dutton, $2.75). Included also is a bit of philosophy which makes the book thoroughly entertaining.—J. G.

When the gals had Woman's World Week at City College, the boys never had it so good. Here's an example, as Sue King helps Art Doornbos with notes.

Coeds Put Finger on Campus Heroes

"IT'S A WOMAN'S WORLD," or at least it was for one week at Long Beach State College.

The Associated Women Students got tired of waiting to be asked to a dance, and watching as the males selected and elected assorted college sweethearts.

They did what any red-blooded American woman would do—they rebelled, and did something about it. They had a stag dinner, their own dance (inviting their own dates), and they chose their own campus sweetheart and called him Diamond Jim.

The girls liked having the shoe on the other foot (by making the campus heroes wait until the last minute before asking them to the dance) and the stag dinner was lots of fun. They also liked Art Doornbos of Lynwood because they elected him "Diamond Jim."

The women say "from now on, every year, there will be a Woman's World Week at Long Beach State College." The males say, "A woman's week" every week is all right with them.

Sandi Daniels and Nellie Bell add smiles to whistles as a lucky male passes by on his way between classes.

It's a great life for Ken Kirwen, too, with Sue King offering him a light. Nellie Bell, Sandi Daniels setting up refreshments as part of Women's Week.

Here's How to Wrap Your Gift

First, have all materials handy, then tackle job of wrapping yule gifts, advises Barbara Colby.

Measure paper, then cut and stick in place with cellophane tape. Ribbon and stickers come next.

Simple first knots hold ribbon firm. If mailing, this gift box must have padding in bigger box.

By Ralph Freese

SOON the time will arrive to begin wrapping packages for Christmas. It's fun, of course, to shop for Christmas presents or other gifts for friends and relatives, but, if packages that must be shipped through the mails are not properly wrapped . . . well, there is just not much sense in sending them at all.

The next time you are at the post office, just ask to visit the parcel post room. You'll be amazed and somewhat shocked when you see some of the poorly wrapped packages that the post office clerks have to handle. You'll want to praise the personnel for their careful handling of the packages and you will wonder that damage to parcel post material is as rare as it is when some people do such a poor job of wrapping.

Or stand in line at the parcel post mailing window and hear how patiently and courteously the clerks explain why certain packages offered just don't pass the good-wrapping test. Packages must be properly wrapped if you are to be sure that they will reach their destination in tiptop condition.

As a young mailer you can do two things to help the people at the post office:

First, mail your packages as early as possible . . . don't wait until a few days before Christmas. Get your shopping, your wrapping and your mailing done as soon after Thanksgiving as you can. Then you can really enjoy the Christmas season without all the last minute hustle and bustle; and you'll avoid waiting in long lines at the post office.

Second, learn to wrap your packages so that they will hold their own regardless of what may happen in transit.

Here are a few suggestions that may help you when you wrap your gift packages. You need only good materials and a little "savvy" to become an expert. Make a written or mental note of these simple procedures.

1. MATERIALS:

Wrapping paper . . . tissue paper, gay colored or designed paper and heavy brown kraft paper. The heavy kraft paper should be 30 pounds in weight. . . It is tough and still easy to handle. Next comes twine. Get strong six-ply twine or string. Now if you want to seal with gummed-paper be sure that the tape is two inches wide. Flexible corrugated paper is a "must." You can get it at any stationery store, or you can beg some corrugated cartons from the corner grocery store. . . Also, outside packing boxes in several sizes may be obtained from the market.

To have a complete collection of supplies get cellophane tape, stickers, addressing labels, waxed paper and some sort of material which can be used as stuffing to absorb shocks. This last can be excelsior, shredded glassine, or newspapers which you have carefully shredded to the proper size. The stickers should be variously marked Fragile, Glass, Photos, First Class, etc. Labels will have a place for address and return.

2. NOW YOU ARE ready to pack.

Suppose that your gift is a fragile object like a glass vase. Wrap it from the inside out after stuffing with shredded paper. The first wrap should be soft tissue paper held together with a bit of cellophane tape. It's a good idea to remember this also . . . the cheapest uncoated tissue paper has the greatest cushioning value.

3. CORRUGATED PAPER is next.

After you have the tissue paper on, make a sleeve out of your corrugated paper. Use enough so that the sleeve will overlap the ends of the gift not less than an inch. It's a good idea also to use enough corrugated paper for double thickness. You can use a series of small sleeves like covers if your gift is of odd shape. . . Use several to make the whole thing work out to a uniform size.

After the corrugated paper wrap in colored paper.

4. NOW THE BOXES:

If you really want to be careful, use a double box. In the inside box, make a nest of shock-absorbing material, and don't be skimpy. Shredded newspaper doesn't cost much in time or elbow grease, use plenty of it. And pack a lot in the space between the two boxes—top, bottom and sides.

5. NEXT THE SEALING or tying:

If the cartons you are using are in good condition, you can seal them with the gummed-paper tape and not use any outside wrapping paper. Put the tape around the corners and across the top and bottom. One way to wet the gummed paper is to use a small paint brush which can be dipped in a saucer of water. Moisten it well but don't soak the tape. The tape gives a strong, dust-proof, moisture-resistant seal.

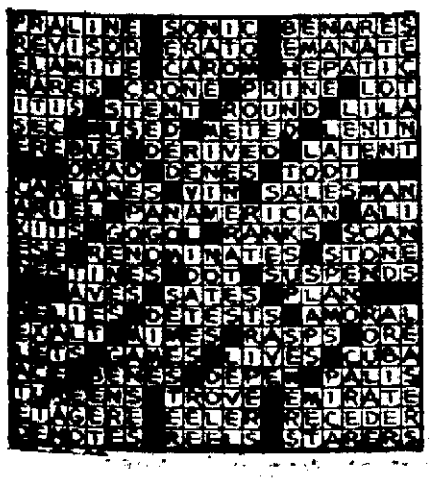

Let me warn you that cartons sealed with tape must carry printed labels giving the postmaster permission to open them. These printed labels also remind you to put your return address on the package. Use your instruction stickers if the package contains glass or other fragile matter or photos.

If the box is not in good condition, it is always advisable to use heavy brown kraft wrapping paper outside and tie the package securely with twine. Use plenty of paper and twine. Post office personnel cannot be blamed for a broken string if you used only one strand on a heavy box.

Also, if several gifts are to be packed in the same box, be sure to wrap each gift separately and put plenty of shock-absorbing material around each package. And don't forget to put the properly addressed gift cards on your packages . . . inside the main box, that is. Aunt Minnie might not like the coffee cup you intended for Uncle Charley.

PET PARADE

Quacky Duo That's Just Ducky

Patty and Russell Brandt, 5337 Monlaco Rd., find that ducks, Weedle and Waddle, make happy pair of pets.

By Eleanor Avery Price

COTTON CANDY in hand, Patty Brandt, 8, of 5337 Monlaco Rd., trekked around the last Lakewood Community Fair Grounds viewing all the booths put up by local clubs and wondering where best to spend the few coins in her sticky palm.

She noticed that at one booth the prize for tossing and keeping dimes in a saucer was a live, fluffy duckling. Patty decided to try her luck, and, to her surprise, for this is tricky business, quickly found herself with a squirming, yeeping duckling in her arms.

The Edward Brandts had hitherto no intentions of owning a pet duck, but they didn't have the heart not to let their daughter keep it. Instead, "Daddy" Brandt went right over to the fair and tossed dimes into the saucer until the ducklings numbered two. They called them Weedle and Waddle.

ALTHOUGH the Brandts, especially the three children, enjoy their fast-growing pets, they have this to say: If you want a pet duck that will follow you around and clamor for affection and attention, get just one duck. Two ducks have each other's companionship and become quite independent except for that all-consuming matter of food.

Ducks have voracious appetites. They eat duck mash, and they will finish up left-overs, pick bones dry, help themselves to the dog's food and the cat's milk and egg. They go into quacking rapture over hot dogs and hamburgers. And new owners who see them ravishingly gobbling up garden bugs and snails, sing out, "Oh, happy day!" Then they discover that the ducks are inclined to top off such delicacies with a few choice flowers. Keeping other food on hand will help prevent this.

WEEDLE AND WADDLE will come up to the back door and knock on it with their bills if they run out of food. In an effort to keep them filled, the Brandts have enlisted the aid of their friendly neighbors for contributions of stale bread, which seems to be a super treat for the ducks.

Flea or louse powders developed for dogs and cats can be used on a duck if insect parasites appear. These are made with several different safe and tested drugs. Dust the pet away from his food and water and let him flap around a bit in confinement.

Ducks as pets are not recommended for very young children.

THE OBEDIENCE Convention for obedience people will be held Dec. 4 at Lakewood Country Club with tracking starting at 8 a. m. Breakfast will be available. Luncheon tickets cost $2.25, dinner tickets $3.25. Afternoon speakers will include William Johns from the San Rafael Seeing-Eye Dog Guide School; Carl Spitz, who will talk on pioneering obedience; and Howard Cross who will point out exhibitors' mistakes. Main evening speaker is to be Bill Koehler, who trained Wildfire for the MGM show, "The Bar Sinister."

HOW TO Achieve Proper Placement of Shop Equipment for Most Efficient Use

1. DIAGRAM BELOW shows good placement of shop equipment. Some fundamental idea details that make a good shop are these: (a) Systematic storage of tools lets you work faster; (b) Work benches serve you best when they're built for strength and simplicity. Hardboard tops give you smooth surface that can be replaced when worn; (c) Power tools placed at 45-degree angles to woodworking bench give maximum clearance for long work and a minimum of inter-machine interference; (d) Proper lighting makes your shop safer, and lessens eye-strain. Individual lights over power tools make them safer; and (e) Utilize space under work bench for storage. Shelves above it make ideal storage space for small items. Use major part of open space for lumber.

2. ORGANIZATION of tools keeps them within easy reaching distance at all times, like lathe equipment zoned on this tool board.

5. CLASSIFICATION of drills enables handyman to determine size needed; just slip bolt or screw to be used through holes in aluminum gauge fastened to top edge of the drill drawer.

4. CHART LOCATES supplies in workbench drawers so that each drawer won't have to be pulled out to locate items. Chart is marked off in squares, each one representing a drawer and explaining what's in it. Labels on drawer fronts are key to the chart.

3. TOOL BOARDS here are doors of storage cabinets, 8 inches deep. Distance of tools from walls solves the rust problem, although the owner also uses rustpreventive on each tool. L-screws hold tools to boards. Cabinets are used to store nails, screws, paints and other shop items.

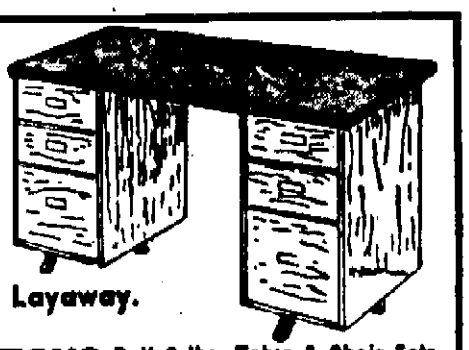

6. SAFETY SWITCH for table saw keeps both hands free when ripping or crosscutting lumber. Light-weight aluminum rod connects switch with lever worked with either foot. Lift up with toe to turn saw on, step down to turn it off.

GARDENS

'Supersonic' Lily

By Bob Gilmore

GARDENING, TOO, has a "supersonic" speedster, and much older than the swept-wing craft of aviation. This "jet" of the flower world is the lily of the valley which can be rushed from planting time to bloom in just three weeks!

Lazy gardeners and those who want flowers in a hurry should welcome the lily of the valley with open arms. The culture recommended is so simple that a five-year-old child can grow prize-winning flowers.

Throughout Southern California the lily-of-the-valley is grown mainly as a house plant. The flowers are exceedingly dainty, being quite small and pure white. They present a light and airy appearance, looking very much like small bells. The florets are produced in clusters on stems about nine inches tall.

This ornamental is propagated by planting what are known as "pips." These are stored under refrigeration and removed from the cold just before being sold. Growth will start at once so as soon as you obtain planting stock the planting should be accomplished.

Lily-of-the-valley should be planted in a relatively shallow bowl that has been filled with sand, light soil, or specially prepared bulb fiber. The latter is preferable and costs just a few cents for a quart size package. This medium should be thoroughly dampened before being placed in the container.

THE TIP END of the lily-of-the valley pip looks like the tip end of an asparagus stalk. But the opposite end has a tremendous root growth. It may be necessary to remove some of the roots for the average-sized container will not accommodate the entire growth. About one-third of the length of the roots may be pruned off without causing any harm to the pips.

Six pips can be accommodated in a container measuring six inches across. The tip end of the pips should barely show above the surface after planting.

A temperature varying between 60 and 70 degrees should suffice. Cold storage pips do not require any bottom heat.

The planting medium should be thoroughly moistened before being placed in the bowl. Then squeeze out the excess moisture. It is advisable to use water having the same temperature as that of the room. This is also true for the temperature of the water applied during the growing season. Any great difference between the room temperature and that of the water may shock the plants. The growing medium should be kept moist at all times.

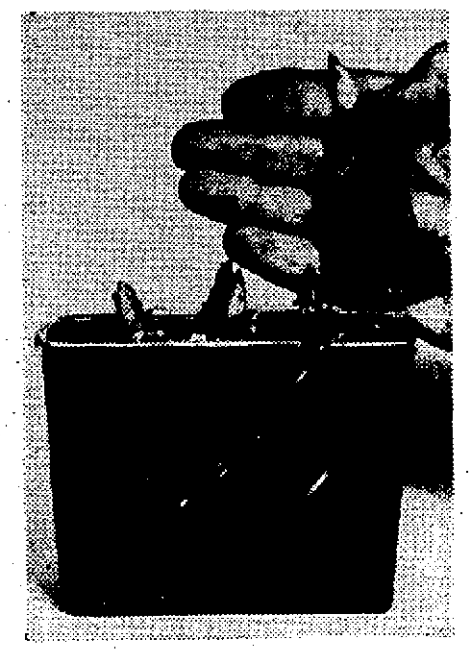

The pips must be kept in the dark for at least the first week. After about ten days the plants may gradually be introduced to the light. Direct sunlight should be avoided at all times although full light will not prove harmful after the flowers appear.

THE SPROUTS should be about three inches tall when removed from the dark room. They should be kept cool at all times. Exposing the plants to light prematurely causes a drawing up of the stems and inferior development.

Lily-of-the-valely pips are often available already planted in colorful mugs or containers. This makes their culture quite easy. All you need to do is supply the moisture and a dark location. In just three weeks you will have a lovely indoor floral decoration. Dozens of florets will appear at the same time, providing, in addition to the graceful blooms, a delightful fragrance.

Little showers of flowers in just 21 days—that's the "supersonic" lily of the valley speed!

Third of root growth of lily of valley should be trimmed in planting; container takes six pips.

Tips on Gardening

GARDENING TIPS for the week . . . This is a splendid time to start lily of the valley pips. The plants flower in an amazingly short time, just about three weeks after starting. The pips should be placed in a fairly shallow bowl. Prune the roots back if necessary to get them into the bowl. Keep in the dark until the buds appear.

Ferns are not used as much as they should be. They impart a pleasant, quiet atmosphere. The Woodwardias are quite hardy and the Australian tree ferns will prove most appealing.

Ranunculus and anemones enjoy a long planting season. The two are grown from corms and are often called the "twin flowers" because they look alike and grow alike. They want lots of moisture.

Foliage Plants Are a Garden Joy

Foliage plants in colors that range from gray-white through green, to red and orange enhance gardens.

FOLIAGE PLANTS are much more colorful than is generally realized. Dozens of distinct shades and color contrasts are available in this plant category. Tones range from white or gray to extremely dark greens. It is interesting to note that the bright red coloring of the poinsettia is due to a modified leaf known botanically as a bract; it is not a true flower.

One of the most interesting ornamentals in the plant kingdom is centaurea candidissima, better known as the Dusty Miller. This subject is grown mainly for its foliage effects, the small yellow flowers being relatively inconspicuous. The leaves are whitish-grey and exceedingly eye-catching in the garden. The Dusty Miller thrives throughout the Southland.

YOU CAN UTILIZE this plant in the border, for bedding purposes or as a specimen subject.

By Walter Finch

The light grey leaves have a leathery appearance and are sharply indented at the edges. The plants grow to about two feet at maturity, are perennial in habit and may be propagated either from seed or transplants.

Another exceedingly interesting foliage specimen is aucuba japonica, often termed the gold dust plant. Its name is derived from the tiny gold specks appearing on the glossy green leaves. This particular aucuba requires a shady location and performs well as a foundation plant. It is a heavy drinker and demands excellent drainage. The aucuba is an evergreen and in addition to being used in the open garden may also be utilized as a tub or pot plant.

One of the most beautiful ornamentals in existence is the silver tree, known botanically as the leucadendron argenteum. The leaves are coated with long, silky, silvery tissues which account for the name of the tree. At maturity the silver tree will reach a height of 25 feet. It must have excellent drainage and not too much water. Waterlogged soils frequently spell doom for this lovely garden subject.

FOR A BRIGHT-TONED contrast select the silver-edged English holly. The leaves show contrasting tones of silver and light green. This plant, like most hollies, is at its best in cold regions and in Southern California it should be planted either in shade or semi-shade. In addition, if one part of your garden is colder than other sections then choose the coolest area for this holly. It is a fairly heavy drinker.

The ivy family also offers some interesting foliage specimens. The variegated ivy, also known as hedera canariensis yellow-edge is a natural for this area. The leaves are quite large and show varying tones of green and creamy yellow. Shade or semi-shade is recommended for this subject although it seems to thrive almost anywhere.

Two arborvitaes, known as the golden column and golden pyramid, will add color to your garden. The leaves of the former are golden green, while those of the latter are green tipped with golden bronze. These plants are widely used in Southern California and require very little care. They are comparatively pest-resistant. Other interesting foliage specimens include dracaenas, coleus, pittosporum, callas, junipers and sansevieria.

Letters to Santa Around the World

The happy task of sending letters from Santa Claus to children throughout the world has been taken over again this year by Pan American World Airways.

As in previous years, Pan American will do everything except lick the stamps and write the letter — parents and other well-wishers have to do that. Since the program began in 1948, more than 500,000 children have been astonished to find a personal letter from Santa Claus in their Christmas mail.

Here's how to go about it:

1. After committing the information to memory, burn this so it can't fall into the hands of children.

2. Get Santa Claus writing paper and envelopes from any Pan American office or authorized travel agent.

3. Write the letter on the stationery and sign it Santa Claus.

4. Put the letter in the Santa envelope and address it to the offspring. Don't forget to put a 6-cent stamp on it.

5. In another envelope, mail the Santa letter by air mail to Pan American World Airways, Fairbanks, Alaska, its nearest station to the North Pole, or return it to the Pan American office or travel agent's office where the stationery was obtained.

6. The letter should reach Pan American at Fairbanks before Dec. 15.

If received by Fairbanks before that date, the child will receive the envelope and letter with the Santa Claus imprint well before Christmas.

Which Northrup King Lawn Seed should you plant this fall?

It's up to you . . . decide on the kind of lawn you want. And get the Northrup King seed that will give it to you!

FOR A SUPERIOR LAWN, Golf Brand Lawn Seed. Grows a lawn your neighbors will envy! Contains 11 perennial grasses, to give you thick velvety turf in sun or shade.

The fine perennial grasses in Golf Brand offer maximum return for the watering, fertilizing and weed control that a truly beautiful lawn requires. While starting slowly, a Golf Brand lawn will grow ever thicker and more luxuriant, until you have a rich close-knit turf that helps keep weeds out.

In 1 lb. and 5 lb. boxes, and 25 lb. bags

FOR A GOOD LAWN, Fore Lawn Seed. Grows a sturdy attractive lawn your family can "live" on and care for with ease! A blend of perennial grasses and clover, suited to sun or moderate shade.

In 1 lb. and 5 lb. boxes

FOR A PLAY LAWN, Homelawn Grass Seed. Grows a quick and rugged lawn for children and pets to romp on. Quick-germinating grasses assure you a hardy lawn fast, easily.

In 1 lb. and 5 lb. boxes

...and feed your lawn 2 important ways with Northrup King Golf Brand Lawnfood. Here's a complete lawn fertilizer. It contains: (1) fast-acting chemical nitrogen to give grass immediate sparkle and a deep green color (2) organic nitrogen, plus other needed food elements, for the steady slow feeding that means sound and continuing growth. Goes further! One pound does the work of three pounds of ordinary fertilizer. In 10 lb. cartons, 25 lb. and 50 lb. sacks

Picture Tricks for Yule Cards

after taking them riding on a wall or a box.

THE PICTURE of the bicycle built for two is a card ready for the picture of my parents. All they need to do to finish it is to add their preferred faces, enlarged to scale, and take it to a camera shop. For a dollar or so a negative of the composite picture will be made. Then they're in business.

There are hundreds of possibilities for scenes, and ways of using your hobbies in pictures. So why not turn your imagination loose, and create cards that will fascinate friends and impress people.

For those who have their own enlarger and darkroom, the field is almost unlimited.

LONG BEACH Camera Guild will have another travel program at 8 p. m. Wednesday in Municipal Art Center, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd. Members and their friends will show color slides of places visited on vacations last summer. Anyone interested in photography is invited.

Recent winners in Guild competitions: Color, Don Hayward, first; Floyd Williamson, second; Murray Shaner, third; Elva Hayward, Neil Shipley and Edith Freeman, honorable mention; black and white, Virginia Callender, first and second; Murray Shaner, third; Bill Jordan and Virginia Callender, honorable mention.

The Southern California Council of Camera Clubs, with which the local club is affiliated, will have a color slide competition at 8 p. m. Dec. 2 in the Edison Bldg., 5th and Grand, Los Angeles.

GROSSMONT BEST BAND AGAIN

IVA LEE ZILIOLI ... Champ Majorette ..

Blue-Gold Steppers Win Mayor's Trophy

Grossmont High School's 88-member Class A band Saturday won the sweepstakes trophy in the All Western Band Review for the fifth time.

Tht blue-gold uniformed aggregation was presented the Mayor's Trophy, new name for the sweepstakes award, for the second straight time Saturday night in a ceremony at Municipal Auditorium.

The Mayor's Trophy is given for the best all-around unit in the parade regardless of size or enrollment. It is a perpetual trophy, competed for annually until won three times by the same school.

Grossmont won the old sweepstakes trophy in 1953, retiring it from competition after 13 years.

• • • •

IVA LEE ZILIOLI, 16-year-old Corona High School senior, won first place in the drum majorette twirling contest. The pert brunette was runner-up last year.

Ann Stroud, Downey, third last year, was this year's runner-up. Eda Marie Jerzy, Montebello, was third.

Montebello High School won first place in the Class A band division for schools 1,600 or larger. The 106-piece band won last year's showmanship trophy.

Compton Senior High School, with 150 participants, won the showmanship award.

Lynwood High School was adjudged the band showing the greatest improvement in marching since last year's parade.

• • • •

MONTEBELLO HIGH School, the Class A winner, showed the greatest improvement in music since last year's event.

Other top winners in band competition were Tulare, Class B; North High School of Bakersfield, Class C; Dinuba, Class D; Tranquillity, Class E. Dinuba also won Class D last year.

In the military majorette event (non-twirling), Marilynne Clemens, Wasco, was first. Six-foot Janet Thompson, El Cajon Valley High School, was second. She won third in that event last year while a student at Grossmont.

Alfred Shay, Chowchilla, was adjudged best twirling drum major. Bob Plummer, Compton, was runner-up.

Jim Nicolaisen, Merced, was best military drum major (non-twirling).

Wasco had the outstanding

450,000 Jam Curbs to See Bands Parade

By BERT RESNIK

Lined up more than six deep along the curbs of a two-mile route, an estimated 450,000 persons Saturday witnessed the world's largest musical parade here.

Everything surpassed expectations for the 15th All-Western Band Review.

Originally, a crowd of not more than 300,000 had been expected. Police Capt. William Kummer, who made the 450,000 estimate, said he felt he was being conservative in his judgment.

Originally, the parade was only supposed to have 60 competing high school bands. There were 67 and two non-competitive musical groups.

• • • •

AND THE PARADE, which moved briskly, was expected to last three hours. It took four and no one, judging from the applause, was disappointed at the added length.

The only non-musical entries in the line of march were the Long Beach Police Department Motorcycle Drill Team—and it had rhythm — a Marine color guard from the Naval Base here, and Councilman Raymond C. Kealer.

But, following these lead-off participants, it was all music from there on in.

From Window Rock, Ariz., sponsored by the governing council of their territory, came the 37-piece Navajo Tribal Indian Band. The Long Beach City College Band, behind them, also whooped it up.

• • • •

COMPETITION started with the appearance of Manteca Union High School Band. Manteca is about 300 miles from here. It's the first time the school has entered the review.

The appearance of Temple City High School banner bearers evoked an expression of surprise from Lee Selby who was using a stop-watch to measure cadence from the judges' stand.

"Oh my goodness!" she said. "Bermuda shorts."

It was only the beginning for surprises.

Coachella Valley Union High School majorettes appeared in the attire of the harem of an Arab chieftain. But it was a conservative chieftain and the harem costumes were plenty ample to keep the girls warm.

Gov. Williams Swings Roundhouse at Adlai

DENVER, Colo. (UP)—Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan swung what he apparently hoped was a verbal roundhouse Saturday night at fellow Democrat Adlai Stevenson and adherents of Stevenson's announced position of "moderation" in government.

Williams, aspiring governor serving his seventh year in that office, said he would be ashamed to go along with those Democrats who "have proposed, in effect, that this is the ideal time for a national coffee break."

Speaking before the Colorado Young Democrats convention, Williams said he was "acutely disappointed by this spirit of Chicago containing counsels which I find difficult to believe can be seriously considered as Democratic party policy."

Williams, who previously wished Stevenson "good luck" in the latter's bid for the Democratic presidential nomination, did not mention Stevenson by name in his address. He referred to him as: "The very worthy gentleman and great Democrat who urged a course of moderation when he addressed the nation on television from Chicago last week end."

"This is not the time for moderation," said Williams, who himself has been mentioned as a possible presidential candidate.

"It is time," he said, "for getting up off the seat of our pants and doing the job that waits to be done.

"If we followed the counsel of Chicago," he said, "I suspect we would find that we had relaxed ourselves into a position where we would have lost the last shred of our Democratic Party's identity as the nation's great and moving force.

"The spirit of Chicago," he added, "could bring us to the point where the American electorate, as it goes to the ballot box next November, could be hard put to distinguish between the parties—even harder put to find the reason for making the change which must be made if we are not to turn flabby from resting."

Explorer, 81, Will Sail

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (UP) — Polar explorer Donald B. MacMillan said Saturday night he will sail June 1 on his 31st voyage to the Arctic. The 81-year-old Arctic explorer went on his first Arctic trip in 1908 as chief assistant on Adm. Robert Peary's expedition.

FAULTY ZIPPER STOPS GIRL'S BANDIT CHASE

LONDON (UP)—The barmaid bounced to the chase Saturday of a gang of robbers who snatched 900 pounds ($2,500) from her mother.

"I think I might have caught one," said 19-year-old Mara, as she stood panting in a black sweater and black jeans.

"But as I was running, the zipper on my jeans came undone and they started to fall down. So I had to chase him holding them up."

Mara's mother, Mrs. Ethel Halliday, runs the "Dog and Truck" pub in the London dock district. She and Mara were just coming from a bank.

Cypriots Defy Death, Bomb Scots' Party

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UP)—A state of emergency was clamped on this riot-swept British Mediterranean defense island Saturday. It was answered within hours by a grenade hurled defiantly into a suddenly darkened hotel ballroom.

Under the new powers taken by the governor general to meet a rising tide of bloodshed and violence mere possession of an explosive is punishable by death. The grenade-thrower was not caught.

The weapon was tossed into the ballroom of the Ledra Palace, the island's swankest hotel, as 300 Scots and their guests were dancing highland reels in celebrating St. Andrew's Day.

The grenade was aimed at the table where principal guests sit. Governor General Sir John Harding sits there at many functions but he was not present Saturday night.

The grenade damaged a water pipe and water flooded the dance hall.

The dancers, with their feet in water, stood at attention and sang "God Save the Queen" before going to the dining room to continue the party while the entire staff of the hotel was being questioned.

Girl Hunts Yule Gifts, Lights Up Match—Oh, Boy!

NORWALK— Twelve-year-old Betty Perez started hunting hidden Christmas gifts in the family garage at 13627 Longworth Ave. about 7 p. m. Saturday.

When she couldn't reach the light switch, she struck a match. In fact, she struck several.

She got plenty of light then. The garage contained such items as mattresses, rags and furniture which made splendid kindling.

Firemen later estimated $620 damage to the garage and $200 to its contents.

White Hit-Run Raiders Shot Him, Mississippi Negro Grocer Asserts

BELZONI, Miss. (UP)—A critically wounded fighter for Negro rights gasped Saturday that white men shot him down only a few blocks from the spot where another Negro leader, a minister was slain seven months ago.

Gus Courts, a member of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, told doctors from a hospital bed in the all-Negro community of Mound Bayou that three or four white men rolled up to his grocery store about 8 Friday night and shot him through the window as he stood at the cash register.

Sheriff Ike Shelton said his investigation was hampered by the fact that Courts' friends rushed him out of this delta farming town to Mound Bayou, almost 75 miles north of here.

Neither white nor Negro leaders could provide a direct motive for the slaying. The NAACP chapter "hadn't made much noise here lately," a white leader said.

"Just being a member of the NAACP is the only motive I know of," said Edgar Evers, of Jackson, Miss., state NAACP field secretary.

Last spring the NAACP charged that Courts was forced to move from his store because he refused to remove his name as a registered voter, a charge denied by the Humphreys County Pro-Segregation White Citizens' Council.

On May 7 the Rev. George W. Lee, another NAACP member, was found fatally wounded after his car crashed into a Negro home. Officers said he had been shot in the head.

The crime has not been solved although the FBI sent agents to investigate.

Dr. J. R. Henry said at Mound Bayou that Courts had a "fair chance" to recover.

Train Hurls Driver, Five Tots to Death

MATHESON, Colo. (UP)—A 35-year-old Colorado Springs man and five children were killed outright one-half mile east of Matheson Saturday when the car in which they were riding was struck by an eastbound Rock Island Rocket passenger train.

The state patrol identified the victims as Steve Puzick, his four daughters, and another child tentatively identified as a cousin.

The patrol listed the children as Junie Puzick, 11; Marilyn Puzick, 9; Suzanne Puzick, 4; Cynthia Puzick, 3, and Ell White 9.

Investigating officers reported that Puzick, traveling south on a country road, apparently failed to see the train as both his car and the streamliner approached a crossing.

Youths Hurt Gravely at Railroad Crossing

Two teenagers were injured critically Saturday night when their car was struck by a Southern Pacific switch engine on Pico Ave. near Pier A.

Lewis A. Tate, 18, of 3516 Charlemagne Ave., driver, and Terry Zimmermann, 18, of 2795 Adriatic Ave., were taken to Community Hospital with major injuries.

Firemen and ambulance attendants worked for 20 minutes to extricate them from their car after the vehicle's front end was pinned under the engine.

Fiery Crash on PCH Here Hurts Three

Three persons were injured, one critically, in a two-car crash on Pacific Coast Hwy. just south of 7th St. late Saturday night.

Treated at Community Hospital were Helen Louise Yates, 19, of 6162 Agra, Bell Gardens, who is in critical condition from head injuries; James Yates, 21, same address, who is in serious condition with head injuries; and Robert L. Johnson, 28, of 214 8th St., Huntington Beach, who has chin and chest lacerations and possible internal injuries.

• • • •

ALL THREE WERE taken from their cars unconscious after the crash. The Yates woman was pinned in the right front seat for several minutes. Johnson's car caught fire, and he was dragged from the flaming vehicle.

L.B. Fliers Safe After Crackup

SALOME, Ariz. (UP) — Three Californians cheated death and escaped serious injury Saturday when their plane crashed near the Salome auxiliary air strip.

The plane, en route from Long Beach, Calif., to Tucson, was piloted by Daniel E. Smith, 21, of Long Beach, the Luke Air Force Base PIO said.

The two others aboard the light plane were identified as Robert W. Nelson, 25, Long Beach, and A. F. Supermeau, 21, Buena Park, Calif.

Smith suffered a cut over one eye. The others were not injured, authorities said.

The Air Force said the crash occurred as Smith attempted a landing.

Smog Green Today

LOS ANGELES (UP)— It will be Smog Green for Los Angeles today, the Air Pollution Control District predicted. It was Smog Green Saturday, too.

Didn't Leap From Span

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)— Charles Duncan, first press agent for the Golden Gate Bridge from which more than 150 persons have leaped to their deaths, jumped Saturday from a fourth floor window at the San Francisco Hospital and was killed instantly. He was 71.

Sweden Will Install 5 Atomic Reactors

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UP) — Sweden is planning five new atomic reactors, including a power station of 300,000 kilowats. The only reactor now operating is located in space blasted out of granite rock in Stockholm.

L.A.C. SAYS:

The $64,000 Question

The popular $64,000 question program should dramatize what income taxes mean to individuals. A single person, having a normal income of $4,000 a year, would have to win $448,711 to keep $64,000 in this tax year. In other words he would have to pay $384,711 to Uncle Sam before he could keep $64,000 for himself.

That is one reason given for many contestants stopping at the lower payoff questions. The single person who stopped at the $32,000 question could keep $18,532. But if he won the $64,000 question he could keep only $27,808 after taxes. Thus the contestant in trying for the $64,000 question is actually trying for only $9,276 more. The rest of the added $32,000 would go for taxes.

It is hoped most listeners and viewers of the program are given this information. It would give them an understanding of the almost confiscatory income tax collected on higher incomes. The tax on incomes runs as high as

L.A. Widow's Folk-Singing Wins $50,000

NEW YORK (UP)—A 72-year-old Los Angeles widow sang her way Saturday to the $50,000 point on the NBC-TV "Big Surprise" quiz show while a Tennessee Senator played on a violin.

Mrs. Ethel Richardson, who spends six months each year in a trailer in Los Angeles and six months at the White Plains, N.Y., home on her son, Ralph W. Smith, may try next Saturday for the $100,000 jackpot of the show.

Sen. Albert E. Gore (D-Tenn), who learned the violin by ear as a boy, came to New York City from his home in Carthage, Tenn., to take part in the show. Mrs. Richardson used to live at Decherd, Tenn.

Mrs. Richardson, whose subject on the show was folk music, named and sang excerpts from "Buffalo Gals" and the original ballad "Davy Crockett." Both were played by Gore.

L.A.C. SAYS:

The $64,000 Question

91 per cent. On $100,000-a-year incomes the top rate is 89 per cent. Thus if a $100,000-a-year executive receives a $10,000 salary increase he gets about $1,000 and the government takes the other $9,000.

It is this tax situation that has brought about various methods of avoiding the high taxes. One method is by giving stock options to high salaried executives. By this method the executive is given an option to buy stock at a nominal price. When, and if, the stock greatly increases in price he takes up the option. If he sells the stock he reports the profit as a capital gain on which he pays a maximum tax of 25 per cent.

It is a devious method to avoid paying the high tax on a salary raise. The executives lose incentive to progress when they see a blank wall ahead. Therefore, corporations find other methods of compensating them. It is a tax avoidance and many cases are questionable. But when taxes take 90 per cent of any additional income it must be expected some such methods will be used. The Treasury Department does not have the manpower to check all the deals made and the tax returns. There are many individuals who take the long chance that they will not be caught.

Lower income groups care little about what happens to those in tax groups just above them. You cannot expect the $5,000-a-year family to worry about the $10,000-a-year family's tax problems. But the steady growth in numbers of families reaching higher tax brackets should cause them to be interested. The single person with a $10,000 income would pay $2,000 tax on the next $5,000 he earns. A married man with two dependents would pay $1,250 on the increase. The higher the income the less you have left of any additional amount you earn.

These are factors that should be considered when tax reductions are enacted next year. It is probable there will be many changes in the system during the coming years. With 50 million income taxpayers, it is impossible for the government to check more than a few. That leaves the door open to many schemes for tax avoidance and evasion. The greatest criticism of France's tax system is the evasion and corruption that prevails. This country must take care it does not sink to the same level. It would be the start of the people's loss of confidence in the integrity of our taxing system.—L.A.C.

'Julius' Grand Champ, Teen-Age Girl Is Proud

CHICAGO (UP)—A steer entered by Nancy Turner, a 16-year-old "serious" redhead from Champaign, Ill., Saturday won the junior grand championship at the 56th annual international livestock exposition.

She became the second teenage girl in a row to win the junior title and moved into prominent contention for the grand championship Tuesday.

Illinois edged out Iowa for state honors in the livestock show judging with 10 first place awards against Iowa's nine. Both were tied with five second place awards and Illinois led again with third place prizes, 8-7.

FRECKLE-FACED Miss Turner won with a 986-pound Aberdeen Angus steer, "Julius," shortly after the steer won breed honors.

Reserve junior honors went to a 1,200-pound Hereford owned by Lewis Schoening, 19, of De Witt, Iowa.

Miss Turner, whose victory climaxed a day in which youth reigned at the show, said she had never hoped for such an honor.

"I never won an honor this high at the international," she said, "and it's quite a thrill."

Pair Quizzed in Killing of Bank Cashier

ELK RIVER, Minn. (UP)—Michigan authorities said Saturday night they had arrested two "possible suspects" in the slaying of Thief River Falls, Minn., bank cashier Kenneth Lindbergh who, a coroner's jury said, was "struck from behind with a sharp instrument"—probably a machete or a hatchet.

Miles La Rose, 33, alias Frank Rinaldo, and his girl friend, Leona Le Claire, both of St. Paul, were arrested for speeding in suburban Detroit. After finding two cashier's checks drawn on St. Paul banks for $300 each and a number of keys to safe-deposit boxes, police questioned them in connection with the Lindbergh killing.

A small quantity of narcotics, 50 automobile keys, $265 in cash, pornographic photographs and currency from other countries were found in the car.

The body was discovered 13 days after Lindbergh vanished from the Northern State Bank in Thief River Falls following a long conference with an unidentified stranger.

SHERIFF CHESTER Goenner revealed that 200 silver dollars were found scattered in the area where the body was discovered. Missing at the time Lindbergh disappeared were $14,000 in bank travelers' checks and some $1,750 in silver.

About $1,500 of the missing silver was found last week in the trunk of Lindbergh's car, abandoned on a Minneapolis street.

Two days after Lindbergh vanished, a man who identified himself as Charles D. Kenwell of Philadelphia tried to deposit in a Detroit bank $6,000 in travelers' checks taken from the northern Minnesota bank.

Search was heightened by the FBI, meanwhile, for the man identified as Kenwell. He was described as 32 to 35, about 155 pounds and 5 feet 10 inches tall.

Half Million Indians Greet Russ Leaders

By HAROLD K. MILKS

BANGALORE, India (AP) — The state visit of Russia's two top men rolled into Bangalore Saturday. Although its impact on the people of India was undiminished, many political leaders insisted the "selling tour" of Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist Party Boss Nikita S. Khrushchev will not move this country out of its neutrality role and closer to the Communist bloc.

Everywhere since they arrived Nov. 18, Bulganin and Krushchev have attracted huge crowds and unprecedented praise from Indian officials. A half million persons greeted them here.

State governors and municipal mayors on their tour competed in praising Russia's people and government — taking their pattern from the reception India's Prime Minister Nehru himself gave the Russian visitors.

IT IS OBVIOUS that people running into millions are receiving their first political education on Soviet Communism under circumstances heavily slanted in favor of the Russians.

But leaders of Nehru's Congress Party, when pressed for an answer to what the likely effects of such unrestrained support for the Russians would be, are inclined generally to laugh off the question with the reply that "in India everyone likes a show and forgets it quickly."

"We would do the same thing for President Eisenhower if he visited India," they said. "Indians may have praised Russians as a great people but the memory won't last."

Congress leaders apparently have no fears that the new found friendship with the Soviet Union will make a great segment of India's voters "communism conscious" under circumstance most favorable to India's own Communist party.

WHATEVER THE eventual result, the Russian visit has been a great circus, mostly playing one-day stands to constantly changing audiences.

Bulganin and Krushchev are obviously attempting to woo India into their camps with cultural and political appeals, while members of their party are left behind in New Delhi working hard to make a greater impression on the economic side.

The question of Russian material aid to India—which needs desperately nearly a billion and a half dollars of foreign funds for its second five year plan—has been one which neither the Soviet prime minister nor the Communist chief have answered thus far.

Both have spoken of Russia's willingness to assist "our friend and ally in the peace camp" with material help and technical assistance. But they have shied away from making specific offers.

Indian newspapers, perhaps with some official inspiration, have reported the Soviet leaders would announce some massive scheme for helping India before they leave.

Lakes Fish-Killer Elimination Asked

CHICAGO (UP) — Three midwestern congressmen Saturday urged an all-out attack on the sea lamprey problem in the Great Lakes.

Democratic Congressman John Blatnik of Minnesota, Martha Griffiths of Michigan, and Henry Reuss of Wisconsin urged the federal government to appropriate $750,000 in a campaign against the lamprey.

The lamprey, which looks like an eel, attaches itself to fish and practically has eliminated the lake-fishing industry.

Fire Razes Vacant House in GG Area

GARDEN GROVE — Fire destroyed an abandoned house at the southwestern corner of Gilbert and Shannon Sts. here Saturday night despite quick action by three fire companies from the Garden Grove fire protection district and rural fire companies.

The owner of the house has not been located, according to firemen. An investigation is being launched to determine cause of the blaze. Damage was estimated at $2,000.

Crime Scientist to Give Evidence Against Abbott

OAKLAND (UP)—Dr. Paul L. Kirk, University of California criminologist, may take the stand next week to testify against Burton W. Abbott, it was disclosed Saturday.

Assistant District Attorney Folger Emerson said Kirk might be called on to testify before the week is out.

District Attorney J. Frank Coakley promised the jury of seven men and five women that Kirk's testimony will prove that Stephanie Bryan was in Abbott's car and that Abbott dug the grave where her body was found near his Trinity County mountain cabin.

No 'Catnap,' Ship Here Clear in Tabby Hunt

Officers and crew of the British tanker Argobec Saturday were cleared of complicity in the reported kidnaping of a Canadian cat.

San Pedro customs officers said they received a telegram from Bruce Love of Prince Rupert, B. C., asking that they contact the skipper of the Argobec and try to locate a kitten.

Love said the tan pet, "Ginger," was missing from his home and the children were heartsick. Love said the animal was believed taken aboard the tanker. He asked that the pet be returned.

Capt. A. Deeks, skipper of the Argobec, ordered a stem-to-stern search of his ship, then messaged Love:

"Argobec not guilty of catnaping. Regret."

All hands decided that if a wandering mouser boarded the tanker it must have jumped ship before the Argobec sailed.

BYRD FLYING FOR 'DEEP FREEZE'

Adm. Richard E. Byrd, 67, (right) prepares to board a transpacific plane in San Francisco Saturday for a flight to New Zealand, jumping-off point for "operation deep freeze" to the South Pole. With him are (from left) Comdr. G. O. Noville of Los Angeles, who accompanied Byrd on previous expeditions but is remaining behind this time, and Dr. Paul Siple, who will make new polar jaunt.

Report Costly Delay on Satellite Project

WASHINGTON (AP)—Aero Digest magazine said Saturday the U.S. space satellite program has "degenerated into a celestial boondoggle" which can be corrected only through a costly speed-up.

"Contracts for some basic components and for instruments have been delayed, and others are unsigned," the Aviation engineering magazine said.

"All indications are that Project Vanguard will have to be a highly accelerated crash program, with parallel rocketing in costs, or miss its much-heralded deadline."

IN LOS ANGELES, Program Chairman Dr. Joseph Kaplan of UCLA defended the program as "one of the outstanding examples of co-operation between scientists and the Defense Department I have ever seen.

"From what I know personally," Dr. Kaplan added, "I am satisfied with the progress of the Vanguard project."

President Eisenhower announced last July that the U.S. would launch a small satellite during the International Geophysical Year—July 1, 1957-Dec. 31, 1958—to orbit around the earth, 200 to 800 miles out in space.

Scientists throughout the world will coordinate their studies of the earth during the 1957-58 survey period.

Dr. Fritz Zwicky, California Institute of Technology astronomer and physicist, recently told the American Rocket Society here that "all kinds of jealousies, bureaucracies and buck-passing" are hindering the U.S. satellite program and helping Soviet Russia to achieve an earlier launching.

* * *

AERO DIGEST said that many rocket engineers are unconvinced that the job can be tackled successfully.

"Apparently the whole project is up in the air and the magnitude of the task is far greater than anticipated," the magazine said.

"On the other hand, far less cooperation and effort has been put in on it than was originally planned."

The magazine added:

"The aviation industry is still wondering why Army ordnance, which has more experience in launching large rocket missiles than the Navy, has been neglected or has not been called on to participate in the program."

As to this, Kaplan said: "I say this from experience. I have complete confidence in the technical review which led the Department of Defense to make the decision to assign to the Naval Research Laboratory the Vanguard project. But I think any further comment should come from the Department of Defense."

NO NUDES ON 1957 CALENDARS

How Can a Poor Girl Get Start in Films?

LOS ANGELES (AP)—No nudes on 1957 calendars.

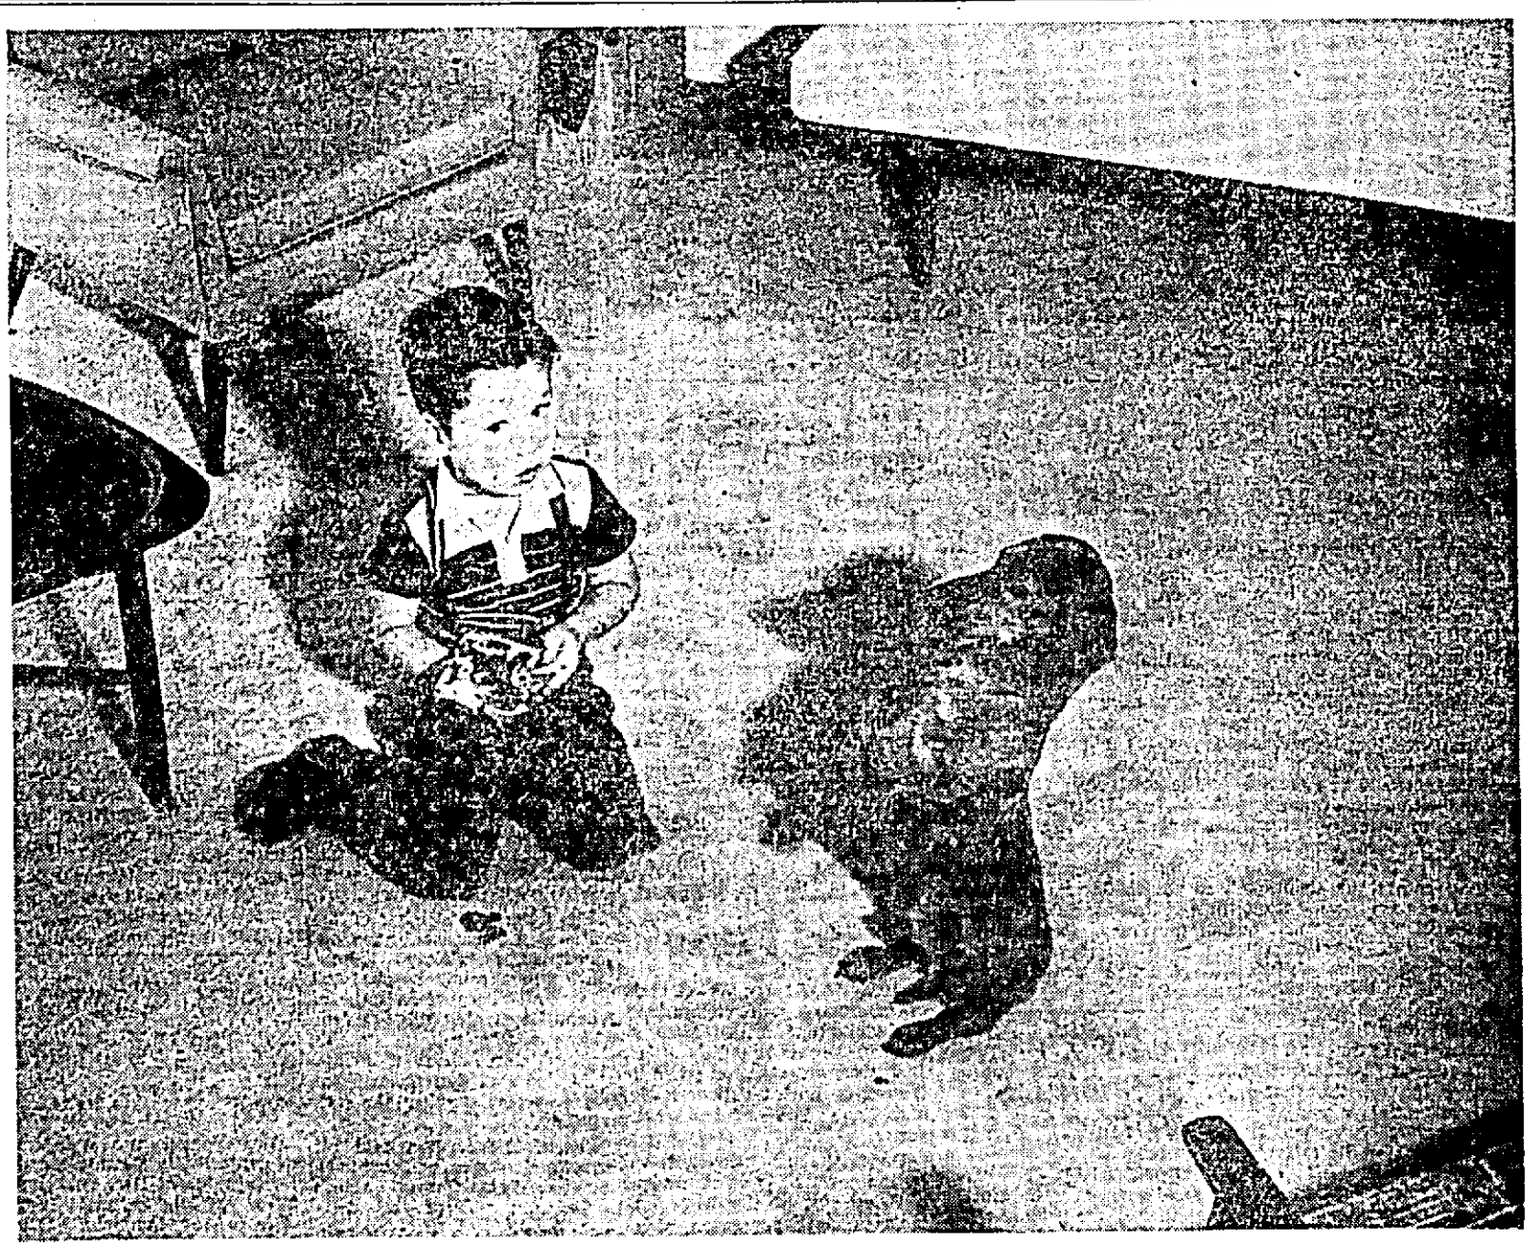

That was the word at a calendar salesmen's meeting here Saturday.

Roger Turner, sales executive for the Kemper-Thomas Co., Cincinnati, said:

"All the major firms have turned thumbs down on nudes for the 1957 line.

"The industry felt it was demeaning to the advertising profession to continue the nudes. Calendars were getting rawer and rawer until they were approaching the pornographic."

Turner said 1957 calendars will be aimed at particular fields. For instance, for the housewife they are full of household hints. For the bowler they have information on this sport. For the young mother they contain rules of child care.

450,000 Jam Curbs to See Band Review

If it was Arabia in the street, it was strictly America along the curb.

• • • •

PEDDLERS HAWKED king-sized balloons — two for a quarter, one for 15 cents. There were miniature batons and American flags for sale.

Peanuts sold as if there were 450,000 elephants instead of people.

A man in a brown suit nonchalantly placed a ladder against a light-pole, climbed it and sat down on a rung to eagle-eye the proceedings from his vantage point.

Inside the Towne Club, 1150 E. Ocean Blvd., bleachers erected for the occasion were crowded to capacity. And so was the top of the fence surrounding the front of the property.

And the bands played on.

• • • •

THERE WERE MORE than 6,000 participants in the parade and, as they passed the judges' stand, at least 5,550 of them looked as serious as medical students studying for their final exams.

There were devils and saints.

Leading Sweetwater High School was a curvaceous brunette with a three-pronged devil's pitchfork instead of the usual baton, an all-red costume and satan horns.

She had a smile like an angel.

Santa Ana was led by nine girls with halos over their heads. They held initials spelling out "Saints."

Compton High School's all-girl drill team looked as good as the famed New York Rockettes' chorus line. It was the only unit that paraded in single file. It was a popular move, applaudingly approved by the crowd.

Indian maids pulled kettle drums mounted on wheels for Arcadia High School while a feminine chieftain beat the modern-day tom-toms.

• • • •

THERE WERE A FEW unforeseen occurrences.

One of the drum majorettes from the Trona Tornado High School Band slipped as she attempted to catch her baton. It happened right in front of the judges' stand.

She fell and landed where most people usually land when they fall. But she quickly regained her composure and her feet. Smiling, she caught step and went on with the parade.

Although she was the only majorette to fall, there were several others who, under the nervous strain of the moment, developed butter fingers and lost their hold on the batons.

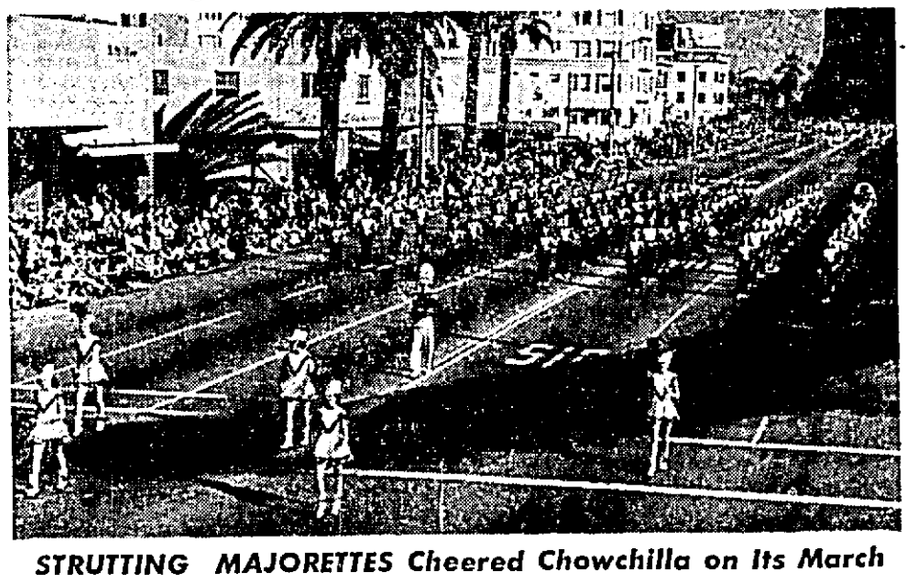

One of the happiest and most relaxed appearing group of majorettes was the unit that led Excelsior High School.

Even the weather seemed in a lyrical mood. Nary a cloud specked the clear sky.

• • • •

ANAHEIM UNION HIGH School Band played a musical salute to the "Robert E. Lee" and you could almost see the steamboat coming around the bend.

For Grandpa—and maybe even Dear Old Dad—Conlinga High School brought back fond memories. They wore spats — shoe adornments worn to keep the high polish from blinding passers-by.

Police of 3 Cities Hunt Long Beach Artist

Movements of a 67-year-old Long Beach artist who reportedly vanished while transacting a $2,250,000 ranch deal are being traced by police here, in San Francisco and in Denver.

Lucian G. Shoemaker, 2621 Vuelta Grande Ave., last was heard from Oct. 27 when he telephoned from San Francisco, where he was completing a transaction to sell a sheep ranch in Australia.

Shoemaker was reported missing by Eugene E. Peterson, of the Vuelta Grande Ave. address. Peterson is the husband of Shoemaker's niece, Mildred, 25.

• • • •

MRS. MARJORIE BARTH, Mrs. Peterson's sister, put her uncle on a plane for San Francisco, Oct. 20, in Denver. He was to complete the deal Oct. 21 at the Wells-Fargo Bank in San Francisco. Peterson said he received a postcard Oct. 24 in which Shoemaker told plans to arrive in Long Beach within a week.

On Oct. 27, Mrs. Barth said, she received a long-distance phone call from Shoemaker in San Francisco during which he said he planned to return to Denver "very soon."

Peterson reported Shoemaker's disappearance to Long Beach police when he did not arrive for Thanksgiving dinner.

In San Francisco, Saturday, Police Inspector Ray O'Brien said he would talk to officials of the Wells-Fargo Bank Monday to see if Shoemaker transacted any business in the period he was reported in that city.

San Francisco police said Shoemaker checked into a hotel there on Oct. 29 and checked out the following day.

• • • •

SHOEMAKER, of American birth, inherited the grazing land in Australia. He reportedly had been receiving only $400 a year rental for the property.

In July, Peterson said, Shoemaker was advised that a mineral strike had been made on the land and that Du Pont and an Australian syndicate were interested in purchasing it. Shoemaker left at once for San Francisco to launch negotiations for the purchase. He returned Aug. 18 with a check for $125,000 cashable on Oct. 15 for an option to purchase the ranch for $2,250,000.

Mrs. Peterson said she "knew what kinds of minerals were found, but I won't tell."

Shoemaker left the Peterson home on Oct. 12 for San Francisco. He left there for a brief visit with Mrs. Barth in Denver and then returned to San Francisco.

It is not known if the $125,000 check was cashed, the Petersons said.

• • • •

PETERSON SAID the disappearance was not reported immediately because Shoemaker frequently was absent for two or three weeks on painting trips.

Shoemaker was described as a landscape and portrait artist whose paintings have been bought for calendar art.

Two people, one a participant and the other an onlooker, fainted during the All Western Band Review Saturday.

Catherine Gelderman, 82, of 102 Orange Ave., fainted in front of 1135 E. Ocean Blvd. and was taken to St. Mary's Hospital. Claudenn Moreland, sophomore in the Wasco Union High School band, fainted shortly after passing the reviewing stand. She did not require hospitalization.

Running Boy Hit by Car

A three-year-old boy suffered a broken right arm and possible fractures of the skull and shoulder when he was struck by an auto as he ran from between two parked cars near his home Saturday afternoon, according to police.

Mark A. Merritt, 110 Quincy Ave., was treated in Community Hospital after he was struck on Quincy near 1st St. by a car driven by Lee Walker Fitzpatrick, 31, of 360 W. Ocean Blvd.

Fitzpatrick told officers he didn't see the boy until he was directly in front of the car. Fitzpatrick was not cited by police.

Brownie Troop to See Reptiles, Hear Talks

Handling of snakes and other reptiles will be demonstrated by members of the East Side Reptile Club at a meeting of Brownie Troop 250 at 3:30 p. m. Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Ruth Hudson, 5208 Wardlow Rd. Lucille Bruns, club curator, and James Scarbrough, club vice president, will show rattlesnakes, boa constrictors, gila monsters and lizards.

Playmate Shoots, Hurts Boy

PARAMOUNT — A 10-year-old boy was in critical condition Saturday night after being shot in the chest and right wrist by a playmate who thought the gun they found was harmless.

Larry Van Es, 10417 Brixler Ave., is in St. Helen's Hospital, Bellflower.

He and Leslie Glenn Turner, 11, of 16720 Pimento St., found the gun, an old .38 caliber revolver, in a drawer at the Turner home.

They also found some bullets and put four cartridges in the gun.

Then Leslie, thinking the firing pin would strike on an empty chamber, pointed the weapon at Larry and pulled the trigger, according to sheriff's deputies.

The gun fired. The bullet went through Larry's wrist and entered his chest.

Truckers' Strike Negotiations to Continue Today

Meetings were scheduled for today by Federal Conciliator Earl J. Ruddy who is continuing sessions with striking AFL teamsters and representatives of southland gravel concerns.

"Some progress" was reported Saturday night by Ruddy after separate meetings with the two groups.

Ruddy said he would hold separate meetings with the groups in an effort to end the 56-day-old dispute which has stopped work on key building projects.

The union and industry representatives will meet together Monday morning, he said.

2 Troop Transports to Arrive at S. F.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two troop transports are due here next week from the west Pacific.

The Gen. Nelson M. Walker will arrive Monday from Inchon and Yokohama with 2,399 Army troops on rotation, and 1,088 members of the Air Force.

Next Saturday the Gen. Daniel I. Sultan, from Guam and Honolulu, will dock with 341 Air Force, 153 Navy and 53 Army personnel.

3 Captured Boys Admit Cross-Country Crime Spree

SAN PEDRO—Three Midwest teenagers were arrested here early Saturday, ending a cross-country burglary spree.

The trio was taken into custody as they sat in a car at 19th St. and Western Ave. after having driven here from Ohio.

Jack Ellerhorst, 17, of Batavia, O., Ronald Everman, 17, of Covington, Ky., and a 16-year-old lad from Cincinnati told officers they had committed a dozen burglaries while driving here from Ohio.

In a local case, they said they sold a battery from their car to a San Pedro service station for $3. That night they broke into the station and stole the battery as well as a new one.

Officers said that Ellerhorst and Everman are AWOL from Fort Campbell, Ky.

Youth Faces Hearing

SANTA ANA—Superior Judge John Shea Friday ordered a sex psychopath proceeding against Raymond Thomas Todd, 19, of Anaheim, accused of raping a 13-year-old Anaheim girl he met at a dance in that city.

Airman Sucked Into Engine on Jet Plane, Killed

DULUTH, Minn. (UP)—An airman was killed at the Duluth Air Force base Saturday when he was sucked into the intake of a jet fighter plane. The Air Force did not release the name of the victim pending notification of next of kin.

Air base officers said the jet, an F89D, had just been wheeled out onto the runway after a checkup. It was revving up its jets when the man walked toward the cockpit.

He apparently slipped on some ice and was sucked into one of the intakes near the cockpit.

Keep Politics From Foreign Policy---Ike

(By Associated Press)

President Eisenhower Saturday supported a plea by Democratic Sen. George of Georgia that U. S. foreign policy not made a 1956 campaign issue. But the appeal was all but drowned out by the rising roar of political battle.

Former President Harry Truman told a Seattle news conference "the present administration's mistakes must be made an issue." And Sen. Sparkman of Alabama, the 1952 Democratic vice presidential candidate, told a reporter in Washington foreign policy is bound to become an issue in next year's presidential campaign.

A number or Democratic leaders have made it clear in recent speeches they intend to attack administration international actions, particularly what some of them have called "failure" of the foreign ministers conference in Geneva.

• • • •

IN LIGHT OF THIS, George, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told the New York Herald Tribune on Thursday:

"We must assure the world that we are capable of having a non-partisan American foreign policy and that regardless of who wins or loses in 1956 our foreign program will go on substantially as is."

Newsmen at the Gettysburg, Pa., White House asked Murray Snyder, assistant White House press secretary, if Eisenhower had seen George's statement. Snyder replied that the President had read and approved it.

Meanwhile, Truman said the so-called Geneva spirit "didn't amount to a damn." He said the Republicans "put foreign policy into the political arena after Mr. Roosevelt and I had kept it out for years. Now the Democrats are in a position to make the most of it and I am sure they will. The present administration's mistakes must be made an issue of the next campaign."

• • • •

SPARKMAN SAID he did not see how discussion of foreign policy could be avoided. He added, however, that he doesn't believe the Democrats will stoop to "personalities," as he said the Republicans had in attacks on former Secretary of State Dean Acheson three years ago.

"We are not going to accuse the Republicans of playing footsie with the Communists as they accused us in 1952 and 1954," Sparkman said.

He said he thinks specific alternatives to Republican foreign policy will be offered by Adlai E. Stevenson, so far the only announced candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

In Denver, Stevenson's plea that the Democrats take a "moderate" approach to national issues came under attack from Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, frequently mentioned as a possible favorite son candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

In his news conference, Truman took a sharp verbal slap at Vice President Nixon.

• • • •

"I DON'T LIKE Nixon and I never will," he said. "I don't want to even discuss him. He called me a traitor and if I'm a traitor the United States is in a helluva shape."

In a luncheon at Paxton, Ill., Stephen A. Mitchell, former Democratic national chairman, announced he would seek his party's nomination for governor of Illinois in the April 10 primary.

The 1956 Republican campaign plans may be discussed by President Eisenhower Monday. He will hold a Gettysburg conference with GOP National Chairman Leonard Hall, their first meeting since the President's Sept. 24 heart attack.

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) said he will say during the latter part of December or early January whether he will be a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Kefauver said at Milwaukee that he'll make his announcement possibly on Dec. 16 or 17, but may wait until after the holidays.

PROUD PARENTS OF QUADRUPLETS

3 of Quads Doing Fine ---One Dies

BELLEVUE, Ohio (AP)—A petite young matron with brown wavy hair gave birth to four tiny daughters Saturday. The third baby to arrive died about 13 hours after her birth, but doctors said the others were "doing fine at this time."

The quadruplets were born to 25-year-old Margaret Briehl, who had been expecting twins about the second week of January.

Married two years last June to Martin Briehl Jr., a 30-year-old mechanical engineer, the five-foot-six, 110-pound mother also has a 15-month-old son, Jimmy.

All four newborn girls first had been reported "doing well." The baby who died weighed about 3½ pounds, as did two of her sisters. The last born weighs about a pound and a half.

The babies were placed in an incubator immediately after birth and their exact weight could not be determined.

None was given names. Briehl said, "We just haven't had time to decide. Even though we were expecting twins, we didn't even get around to picking two names."

Knowland in Alaska

SEATTLE (AP)—Sen. William F. Knowland of California flew to Alaska Saturday to make two speeches and to receive an honorary doctor of laws degree from the University of Alaska, near Fairbanks.

Jail Arson, Wife-Beating Suspect

DOWNEY—Accused of beating his wife and setting fire to his home, Norman Donald Ryerson, 33, of 8040 Comolette Ave., was booked at Norwalk sheriff's station Saturday.

The suspect's wife, Catherine, 36, told Deputies W. G. Manley and M. L. Topping that her husband pulled hair from her head and beat her about the face after she tried to persuade him to drive more carefully while en route to their home from Los Angeles.

Officers were called by neighbors who were asked to assist by the couple's 10-year-old daughter. She jumped from her bedroom window and ran for help when the melee began, deputies said.

When the officers arrived, they found Ryerson extinguishing a fire on the living room rug. A second blaze was found in a bed.

Mrs. Ryerson was taken to St. Helen's Hospital in Bellflower for treatments of cuts and bruises about the face. The county fire department extinguished the blaze that caused an estimated $500 damage to the home and furnishings.

Ryerson is slated for arraignment in Downey Municipal Court Tuesday.

Seek End to Yaws

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The U. N. Children's Fund has under consideration a request from 30 countries for 10 million dollars to help rid all Africa of yaws within 10 years. Yaws is a disfiguring tropical disease that infects 50 million people, half of them in Africa. Doctors report complete cure with one shot of penicillin that costs 12 cents.

The SPINAL COLUMN

By DR. J. C. KEYS D.C., Ph.C.

WHAT DOES YOUR COLON DO? Why do you have a colon? What does it do for you when functioning properly?

In plain, everyday talk, your colon acts as your body's sewer system. It carries waste material thru the final stages of elimination from the body. However, in so doing it sometimes becomes "clogged," just like your kitchen drain.

SLOWS DOWN

You may first notice a general slowing down of the body's elimination processes. Bloating, excessive gas and sluggishness in your physical energy may be the first sign of colon trouble. However, it is not unusual to have seemingly normal daily bowel evacuations even though the colon is not functioning at 100% efficiency.

Whether known or unknown, colon inefficiency can pave the way for body absorption of poisons nature intends for the body to eliminate. Naturally, if waste matter is retained in the system the body will suffer sooner or later.

SURE WAY

How does one ascertain colon trouble? The only sure way is regular physical examinations by competent professionals. The many minute danger signs heralding a serious condition can usually be averted when professional advice, such as is afforded by Dr. J. C. Keys' 30 years of successful treating the sick of this area, is sought and followed.

Recent developments in colonic therapy make it possible to "head off" colonic function inefficiency at the first indication. Consult Dr. J. C. Keys, a man well-trained to recognize and treat not only colonic trouble, but other danger signals given by nature as well.

For further information, contact Dr. J. C. Keys, D. C., at 1075 Atlantic or phone him at HEmlock 6-6777.

FIREBOAT NO. II Speeds at 14 Knots Through Harbor in Response to Test Alarm

EQUAL TO 7 ENGINES

Fireboats Pack Speed, Power

By LEE CRAIG

The equivalent of seven fire engines—that's the way Long Beach firemen regard their two modern fireboats.

Manned by a five-man crew, each boat can deluge a fire with 4,500 gallons of water a minute. By comminute.

The equivalent of seven fire engines—that's the way Long Beach firemen regard their two modern fireboats.

Manned by a five-man crew, each boat can deluge a fire with 4,500 gallons of water a minute. By comparison, a land-based engine's limit is 1,250 gallons a minute.

The water-borne firefighters, who operate from their station at the end of Pier C, Long Beach Harbor, specialize in speed.

For example, in clear weather, the boats can arrive off Pierpoint Landing, nearly a mile away, approximately four minutes after crews are alerted.

• • • •

HOWEVER, THEY SAVE full speed, 14 knots, for full-scale emergencies.

"These boats produce a pretty good bow wave," explains Capt. Ray Lund, in charge of one of the two shifts at the fireboat station.

"If we charged through the inner harbor at that speed, we'd swamp most of the small boats around."

The two 58-foot fireboats, representing an investment of nearly $150,000 each, were built on Terminal Island by Fellows & Stewart Boat Builders. They were delivered to the city last year.

Until then, Long Beach's only fireboat was the 35-foot, 12-year-old Windham, capable of pumping only 750 gallons a minute. The Windham, now out of service, was operated from the old Santa Clara boat landing.

• • • •

WHEN THE CITY'S worst dock fire occurred Dec. 5, 1945, the Windham was out of the water for an overhaul.

The fire, which lasted 2½ days and caused damage estimated at $775,000, involved the underside of Pier 2 outside the bulkhead, and was a situation made to order for fireboat operation.

Lacking such craft, desperate firemen, manning small hand lines, used rowboats, barges and anything that would float to approach the fire from the water side.

"If we'd had the boats," Fire Chief Frank Sandeman says, "they probably would have paid for themselves then."

• • • •

THE FIRE BOAT CREWS have about ten graded drills a month, on such subjects as boat handling, location of various harbor points, engine room operations, pumping and first aid.

Each man can handle any of the other four jobs aboard the boat. All have passed the Coast Guard operator's test.

The sea-going firemen also could find their way to strategic points of the harbor blindfolded.

Several times a month, crews take the boats out to practice "fog courses," in which they go over previously calculated "blind" runs to various locations where major fires might occur.

Routes are charted by going over them again and again in good weather; noting compass readings, speed and time of travel at each heading.

Present plans call for one of the two boats to be kept at another station now nearing completion on the inward side of the pontoon bridge. Later, fire department officials hope, they will be able to use the old Windham at a third station at the Marina when it is finished.

Adler Drops Nevada Gambling Licenses

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UP)—A letter surrendering gambling licenses for Club Cal-Neva in Reno and the Tahoe-Biltmore at Lake Tahoe was accepted "with prejudice" Saturday by the State Gaming Control Board from Sanford Adler and his associates.

The board announced it would recommend to the State Tax Commission that any further applications for gaming licenses anywhere in the state submitted by the group should be rejected. The surrender letter was signed by Aaron Levinson, a Los Angeles attorney.

CAPITAL CAPERS

By WALTER T. RIDDER AND ROBERT E. LEE
(of the Independent-Press-Telegram Washington Bureau)

WASHINGTON—Heard in the wake of the Democrat's big Chicago rally: the party will find positions of responsibility for all the "Big Three" possible Presidential nominees. Stevenson will be picked to head the ticket, Kefauver will be asked to run for Vice Presidency, and Harriman will be allowed to put up the money.

One of these operatives was out at that Chicago Democratic meeting and failed utterly in bringing back any items for this particular space. When asked by his boss "Why?" he explained it thusly: "The Democrats are holding down the humor this year. Adlai is pretty sensitive about criticisms of his light banter in 1952, so the party line is to accentuate the serious, leaving the jokes to those who get paid to make them."

With Adlai out as a quipster and the Republicans not having had one since Abraham Lincoln, it looks like a pretty grim year ahead.

Jerry Kluttz of the Washington Post and Times-Herald contributes the following item culled from the mind of a bureaucrat's offspring. A teacher was explaining to a class why the early American pioneers settled in Ohio. The land was cheap and fertile, good rivers, etc. Noticing a day-dreaming pupil, she asked him why the early settlers went to Ohio. He thought a moment and replied: "If they were like my father, they wanted to travel because they got mileage allowance."

The long and short of the National Press Club's presidential election are Al Goldsmith (height 4' 11") and Frank Holeman (6' 5"). Holeman was a shoo-in until the diminutive Goldsmith entered the lists, keying his campaign to the slogan: "Goldsmith—the little man's candidate." Goldsmith electioneered via tiny cigars, the smallest nomonating petition yet seen by man, and the purchase of jigger-sized drinks for would-be constituents.

2 'Copters Brave Gale, Pluck 21 From Ship Smashed on Rocks

HALIFAX, N.S. (UP) — Two helicopter pilots braved buffeting 50-mile-an-hour winds Saturday to pluck 21 men from a grounded, blizzard-lashed freighter being dashed to pieces against huge rocks.

The seamen were rescued after clinging for 28 nightmarish hours to the vessel as it was lashed by heavy seas to within 25 feet of the rugged cliffs on the northeastern tip of Cape Breton.

A helicopter ran a mercy shuttle service between the helpless Liberian freighter Kismet II and an emergency rescue station on the snow-banked shore.

While rescuers stood tensely atop the cliff, the helicopter dropped to the deck of the Kismet four times, and returned each time with a load of wary, storm-soaked men.

The helicopter reached the 2,800-ton vessel as it inched closer and closer to the rocks at the bottom of the cliff. It landed on a small area cleared on the deck and 45 minutes later every crew member had been removed.

"It was a close thing," said Lt. Lloyd Turner, one of those who waited in suspense atop the cliffs. "If the cliffs hadn't sheltered the helicopter from the gale-force winds, it would never have been able to land on the Kismet. A rescue from the land would have been almost tremendous."

• • • •

LT. CMDR. JOHN BEAMAN of Montreal and Lt. Comdr. Roger Fink of Edmonton, Alta., each made two rescue flights to the ship.

"We messaged the ship to clear the stern of all super-structure," Beaman said, "but it was a close fit. We could only just land. It was a tricky business."

Capt. Anast Maniatis of Athens, Greece, told how he and his men were rescued by the Royal Canadian Navy. He said that for a time all aboard feared they would be dashed to death against the rocks.

Our troubles started early Friday when we moved close to the Cape Breton shore because we were in danger from a violent storm," Maniatis said. "But our steering gear became damaged and while we were repairing it our ship was dashed on the rocks by a 50-mile-an-hour wind. There was also heavy fog and later blinding snow.

"We shut down our engines as the engine room became flooded. That left us without heat in sub-freezing weather."

The captain said his entire crew was "magificent," acting "in the finest traditions of the sea."

Soon after the ship got in trouble, he said, distress rockets were shot into the air and police rushed to keep a virgil atop the cliffs.

"It was a great reassurance to see them there throughout our ordeal," Maniatis said.

• • • •

HE SAID THE SHIP'S lifeboats were prepared for launching but huge waves swamped them. The whole crew cheered when the helicopter arrived to save them.

"I can't say too much in praise of the Royal Canadian Navy helicopter pilots who rescued us today," he said. "They landed on the stern of our vessel. The area we cleared was so small that the wheels of the helicopter could only just put down."

As is customary, the captain was the last person to leave the ship.

"It doesn't look as though she will be salvaged," he said. "She was breaking to pieces when we left her."

Fur Pet Valued at $600 Stolen

DOWNEY—A male nutria—an animal resembling a badger and valued at $600—was stolen Friday from the home of Robert Dunn Stewart, 46, of 8546 Gallatin School House Rd., sheriff's deputies reported Saturday night.

The 25-pound animal, a native of Argentina, has tusks, a long tail like a rat, webbed rear feet, and is a vegetarian.

The thief left behind a female nutria, considered more valuable.

Hero Who Talked Hundreds Into Surrendering Dies

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Funeral services will be held Sunday for Lawrence Malmed, a 40-year-old World War II hero who was credited with talking hundreds of Germans into surrender.

Malmed, who entered the army as a private in May, 1941, and rose to captain, died Thursday from a heart condition at nearby Delaware County Hospital. He had been ill for about a month.

Malmed's persuasive powers made the Philadelphian a legend. Commissioned a second lieutenant at Fort Benning, he went to Europe with the 35th Infantry Division.

One of his feats occurred in the Orleans sector in France, where he went behind the German lines and talked with a German colonel for 23 hours. When Malmed returned to the American side, he was followed by 150 enemy soldiers.

In October, 1944, he was wounded and captured by the Germans, but again crossed back to the American lines after talking five more Germans into surrendering. On the way he picked up seven additional prisoners.

In another exploit Malmed was credited with walking to the town of Fremerstroff near the Saar with 24 men after tanks had failed to take the strategic point and capturing the community house by house.

He later was promoted to captain and his company was credited with capturing 2,000 Germans.

Malmed, who was discharged in 1945, was awarded the Silver Star with an Oak Leaf Cluster and a Purple Heart with two clusters.

Before the war he was a silk salesman. More recently he was employed as an executive in Gimbels' adjustment department.

Man from Munich Trains Old Foes for War

German Teaches Air Reservists at Local Base

It's a small world.

Out at the Long Beach Air Force base, 2nd Lt. Albert A. Miller is teaching some of his old enemies—men who bombed his home city of Munich, Germany, in World War II.

Miller, 22, is a navigation instructor in the 8499th Air Reserve Squadron. His pupils, Reservists on weekend training, are officers and navigators.

His superior officer, Capt. Lorin F. Douthett, 40, officer in charge of navigation training, bombed Munich four times with the 8th Air Force.

• • • •

LT. MILLER'S PUPILS who bombed Munich include Lt. Col. William Myyra of Whittier, Maj. Darrel D. Wilson of Santa Ana, Capt. Davis McCash of Van Nuys, David E. Lewis of Covina, Capt. Glenn Lashbrook of Santa Ana, Capt. Albert C. Leonard of Los Angeles, Capt. John Hess of Tujunga, Capt. Robert Holden of Corona del Mar, Capt. Paul Stebbins of Placentia, Capt. Richard Tyhurst of Palos Verdes Estates, 1st Lt. Robert Kent of Chula Vista and 1st. Lt. Leo J. Habel of Santa Monica.

How does teacher feel toward former enemy pupils, how do the former enemy pupils feel toward him?

"I have no feeling at all about it," says Miller, who speaks with just a trace of his German accent. "I was small then, just a kid."

"It was war—" say his pupils.

• • • •

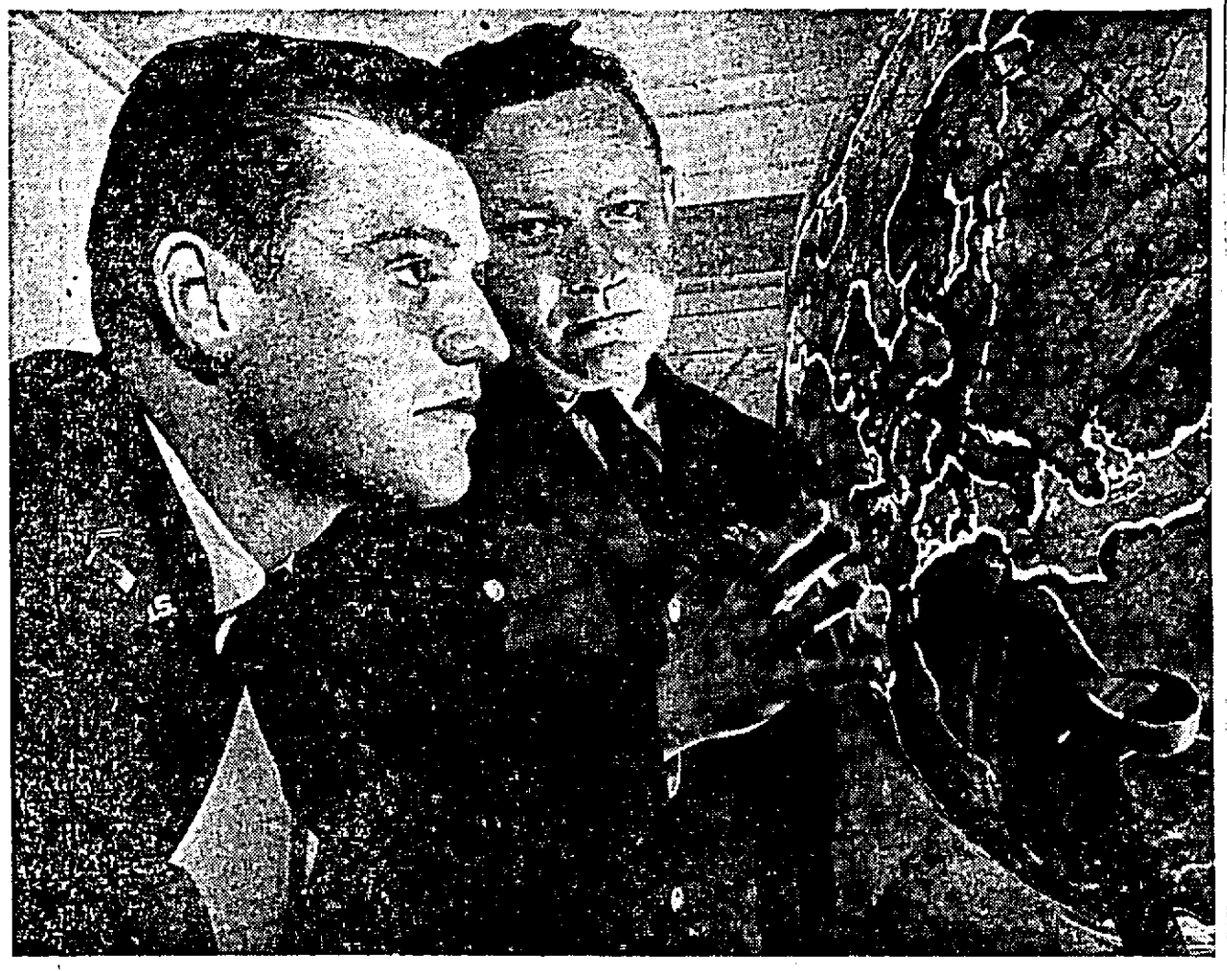

LT. MILLER'S FATHER, who served in the German army, was taken prisoner by American troops in 1915 and held for a year at Dijon, France.

"Munich was bombed innumerable times—it seemed to me it was practically all the time," says the young instructor. His home was destroyed by a bomb, but he, his mother, brother and sister were safe in an air raid shelter.

Food was scarce. "We had potatoes for breakfast," he says, "kraut for the other meals."

He attended Luitpold College in Munich; came to the United States in 1953 and shortly afterward went into the service.

He is 5 feet 11 inches, with twinkling eyes and reddish hair . . . He would like it known that he is single. He likes American girls.

'YOU BOMBED MY TOWN'

Lt. Albert A. Miller, 22, left, born and reared in Munich, now a navigation instructor, looks at a globe with Capt. Lorin F. Douthett, officer in charge of navigation training at Long Beach Air Force Base. Douthett four times bombed Munich. Many of Miller's pupils also bombed his city.—(Roger Coar Photo.)

BERLIN (AP) — Americans in Berlin Saturday turned over 1,300 toys to the German Red Cross, which will distribute them as Christmas presents.

Teenagers to Get a Chance to Tell Traffic Safety Ideas

Teenagers will have a chance to tell how to reduce highway accidents at a meeting Dec. 7 in Municipal Auditorium.

The occasion is the day-long Traffic Safety Conference, to be held under sponsorship of the Long Beach and Los Angeles Safety Councils, the Long Beach public schools and District 16 of the California Association of Student Councils.

Tom Burke, western regional representative of the National Safety Council, will give the keynote address in the morning.

• • • •

DURING THE AFTERNOON, teenagers will conduct the meeting and make suggestions to improve traffic safety.

Their discussions will center around relations with the police, pros and cons of drag strips, organization of car clubs, functioning of a student court, pedestrian safety and value of behind-the-wheel training for high school students.

Boost to Aged Costs $1.3 Million a Month

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The $5 monthly increase in aid to California's needy aged and blind voted by the 1955 Legislature boosted public assistance costs by more than $1,300,000 in October.

George Wyman, state social welfare director, reported Saturday the total October expenditures for state welfare programs came to $28,509,300, up almost $1,350,000 over September.

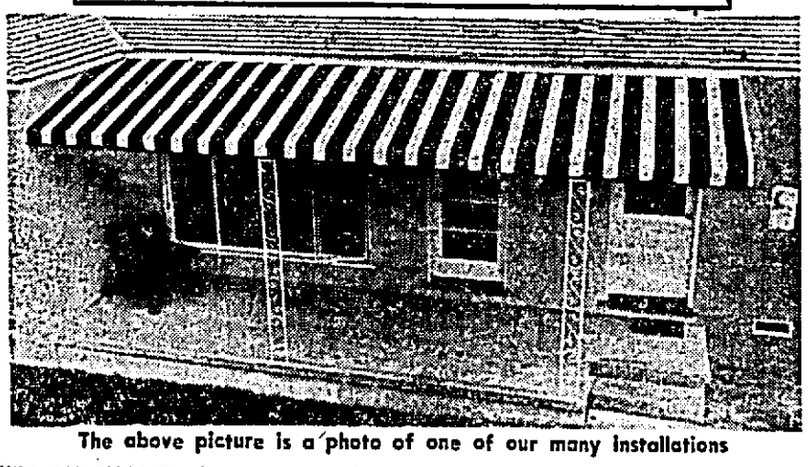

'Investment in Youth' to Be Shown Tuesday

"Investment in Youth," a 20-minute film about Lakewood's pre-school playgrounds, will be shown Tuesday at 8 p. m. in the Mayfair pool foyer.

Kenneth Pitsenberger, recreation director of the sponsoring Lakewood Park, Recreation and Parkway District, said that plans for three Lakewood parks and sketches of the Mayfair Community Building also will be on display. The program is open to the public.

The film was produced by Lakewood Water & Power Co.

Santa Bringing Electronic Toys Bossed by Battery in Your Hand

By VERA WILLIAMS

This is an electronic age—reflected in the things that Santa Claus will bring this Christmas.

Christmas toys have come a long way since Father cut them out with a jackknife from apple boxes. They now operate by remote control.

They got forward, back, up or down, controlled by a battery held in the hand. And the batteries are ordinary flashlight batteries, easily replaced.

Little girl may have a blender, just like her mother's, that whirrs realistically and mixes milk and chocolate, fruit juices, or whatever. Or she may have a mixer with which she can beat eggs or whip up cake batters or make frosting or fudge.

Little Boy may have a helicopter that goes straight up and soars, or a replica of a car that is exactly like you drive whether you drive a Ford, a Cadillac, a Mercedes-Benz or something in between.

Or me may have a cable car that climbs a mountain and slides down again, more or less like those in the Alps, or a train, freight or passenger, old-fashioned or streamliner.

And here is a heartening piece of news: Little Boys, 10 to 1, prefer the old-fashioned engine that snorts and chugs and belches smoke to the efficient streamliner engine that doesn't. Both kinds whistle.

• • • •

THERE IS SOMETHING new under the sun; an audio-engineer. You connect it with the transformer of a train, drop one wire to the track, and whether you believe it or not, the train will obey spoken commands: "Stop!" . . . "Start!" . . . "Forward!" . . . "Back up!" . . . "Proceed!"

A crane picks up great jawfuls of dirt or sand or marbles or pennies, operating exactly as a crane does on any excavation job.

There are electric switchboards that buzz and light up, and permit two persons to talk to each other at considerable range; there are toy inter-com systems that permit persons in different rooms or even around the corner to speak to each other.

• • • •

THERE IS A "SLEEPER" on the market—a build-your-own electric set. From it, 27 different items may be built. These include telegraph key, flash light, ray gun.

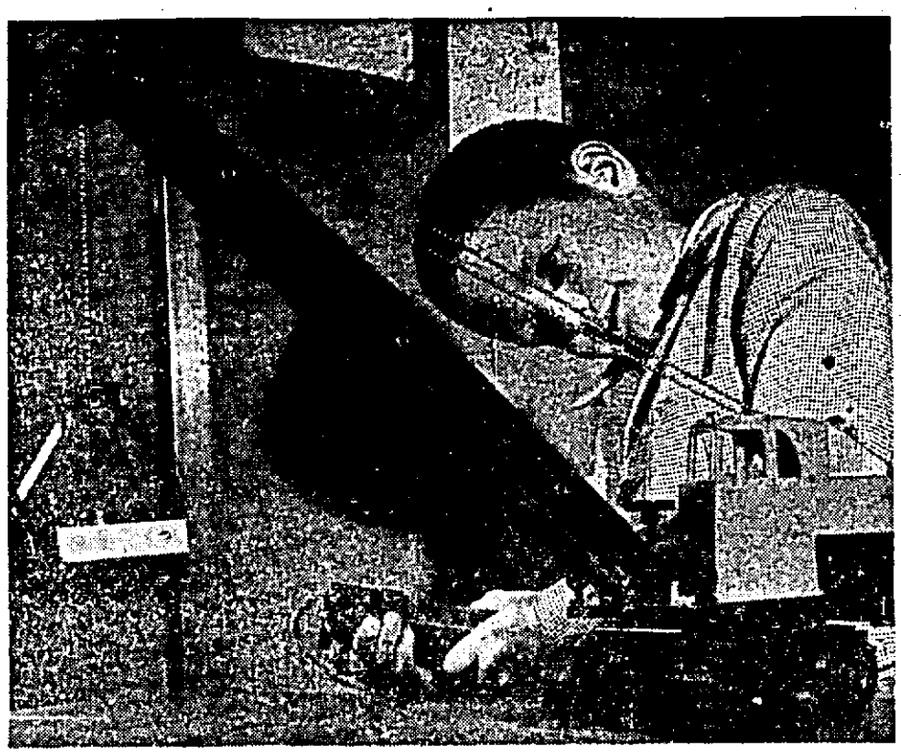

No Christmas is Christmas for a little girl without a new doll. And guess what the "hottest" doll on the Christmas market is? A plastic, unbreakable 20-inch undressed doll, shaped like a teen-ager, that comes with bra, corselette, high-heeled pumps and Nylon stockings. For her can be bought, separately or in batches, practically all the clothes that a teen-ager can wear: slacks, sweaters, blouses, circular skirts, can-can petticoats, evening dresses. Little girls usually choose a doll with hair the color of their own—so that means two-fifths of the dolls are blondes, two-fifths brunettes and one-fifth redheads.

Transitor radios aren't brand new but they come close to being, and Santa Claus will deliver a lot of them this Christmas. Many are pocket-size.

There are radio-record players that work with a battery and if the battery is rested occasionally, will play practically indefinitely.

There are clock radios that automatically change stations, so that one may go to sleep to music and awaken to news. And clock radios that begin with music or news and presently sound an alarm that means "Get up RIGHT NOW!"

Pocket fire extinguishers, road flares and road lights promise to be popular Christmas items for adults. The fire extinguishers can be carried in the pocket, or kept in glove compartment of a car or in a desk. The road flare runs up a red flag by day or a reflector by night, and the road light may be fastened onto the side of a car if one has to change a tire. All are small, compact, in top grade cowhide cases.

'LET 'ER RIP!'

Santa's 1955 bag of tricks contains many electronic toys like this one. Six-year-old Jimmy Pino of 919 Marshall Pl. presses a remote control button and up goes a dredge with another imaginary load of gold dust.—(Staff Photo)

10 Dead, Missing in Collision of French Trawlers

CALAIS, France (UP) — Ten French fishermen were reported dead or missing Saturday after a trawler cut another trawler in half in dense English Channel fog off Cape Blanc-Nez.

The trawler Colbert was sliced in two in the collision with the vessel Fisher Bank and sank within minutes.

The second trawler reported it picked up 12 survivors and the body of one crew member of the Colbert. Nine other men were missing.

Turbulent Education Meet Opens Monday

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's first White House conference on education will open here Monday. Four days of turbulent debate face the 2,000 delegates from all over the country.

President Eisenhower will welcome the delegates Monday night by sound film made at Gettysburg. Vice President Nixon will deliver the main address the same night.

Of all the hot issues before the delegates, none is likely to cause more trouble than the question: Should there be federal aid for education?

But there are other controversial questions up for study and in advance of the session, there was no way of knowing which way the delegates would go on any of the six principal issues:

1. "What should our schools accomplish?"
2. "In what ways can we organize our school systems more efficiently and economically?"
3. "What are our school building needs?"
4. "How can we get enough good teachers—and keep them?"
5. "How can we finance our schools — build and operate them?"
6. How can we obtain a continuing public interest in education?"

You couldn't even get any unanimity of opinion about the motives behind the conference.

As early as last August, Selma M. Borchardt, Washington representative of the American Federation of Teachers, said:

"It looks very much as though the conference is going to be stacked. As things stand now, it is obvious that classroom teachers and labor leaders will not be plentiful. Interests that . . . are more interested in business than labor are doing the stacking."

But Rep. Gwinn (R-NY) said: "Recommendations which will be made at the White House conference apparently come from groups closely allied with the public school systems."

Attending the conference will be delegates from all 48 states and five territories. Both public and nonpublic schools will be represented.

There is also a religious overtone to the federal aid question. Should, for instance, federal aid be given to parochial schools? This issue has confounded previous efforts for congressional legislation that would set up a federal aid program.

Heiress' Mother Held

Faure Loses Support of French Reds

PARIS (UP)—France's Communist Party withdrew its powerful support of Premier Edgar Faure Saturday and pushed his tottering government toward seemingly certain collapse.

Without the backing of the 94 Red deputies which carried him through his last two confidence votes, Faure appeared to have little chance of surviving the new National Assembly confidence vote Tuesday.

French newspapers of all political shades openly predicted a government crisis and turned their attention to speculation on a new premier.

Jacques Duclos, Communist party floorleader, announced his party's about face to newsmen in the Assembly lobby.

"I think we shall vote against Faure," he remarked casually. "But the group will fix its stand Tuesday," he added hastily.

While Duclos' announcement was not an official Communist policy statement, it nevertheless was regarded as a clear-cut party stand. Political observers believed he would not have made the remark if there was the slightest chance of his being overruled by the group.

Faure called the confidence vote Friday when the Assembly's steering committee rejected his request for a new electoral debate Tuesday.

Irish Bomb Raid Fails

ROSLEA, Northern Ireland (UP)—A dozen terrorists raided a Royal Ulster constabulary barracks 200 yards from the Irish Republican border before dawn Saturday in a vain attempt to seize arms and ammunition.

Eight pajama-clad police, aroused from sleep by a bomb explosion that blew a hole in one wall of the barracks, fought them off in a 30-minute gun battle. The shooting startled the 250 residents of this village.

The raiders fled south into the Irish Republic in two cars, carrying with them one of their number dead and another wounded. They had failed to seize any police arms and left behind some of their own weapons—a machine gun, an American-type automatic pistol and a tear-gas pistol.

Police, in pointing out the barracks arsenal as the target, said the raiders were members of the Irish Republican Army (IRA), an extremist group outlawed in both Northern Ireland, which is a part of Britain, and in the Irish Republic.

Sweeper Injures Man

Arthur L. Jordan, 32, city sanitation division employe, suffered partial amputation of two finger tips Saturday when his right hand caught in the chain-drive of a street sweeper machine at the city yard, Temple Ave. and Willow St. Jordan of 1733 W. 19th St., was treated at Community Hospital.

Sen. Wiley Warns Against 'Atomic Pearl Harbor'

WASHINGTON (UP)—The newest test-explosion of a Russian H-bomb prompted a demand on Capitol Hill Saturday that the United States look to its defenses lest there be an "atomic Pearl Harbor."

Sen. Wiley (Wis.), ranking Republican on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said congressional committees should go into session early in January with military leaders to determine "whether we have taken all necessary steps for our own continental protection."

At Gettysburg, President Eisenhower had no comment on the Russian announcement.

Meantime there was doubt as to the exact size of the bomb Moscow announced had been exploded. The Soviet statement called it "the most powerful of all explosions carried out until now." The context made it unclear whether this meant that it was the most powerful exploded in the Soviet Union, or the most potent set off anywhere. The fact that a preceding sentence spoke of the achievements of Soviet scientists made it possible that the comparison referred merely to bombs set off in Soviet territory.

Soviet Party Boss Nikita Khrushchev — who jumped the gun on his government's formal announcement — compared the blast to one million tons of TNT. If he was right, this Russian bomb was 15 to 17 times smaller than one detonated by the United States more than a year and a half ago.

Sen. Wiley said the Soviet announcement probably was made as part of Russia's efforts to "frighten" free world nations into abandoning their collective security arrangements against Communist aggression.

Wiley said "the appropriate committees of the Congress should sit down in executive session with members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff as soon as Congress returns in order to determine whether, as of now, we have taken all necessary steps for our own continental protection, so that there will not be an 'atomic Pearl Harbor.'"

He also called for an intensified effort by the United Nations to determine "just how many of these experimental explosions" the earth's atmosphere can stand without harmful effects on present and future generations.

The United States, he said, also should intensify efforts to obtain East-West agreement on President Eisenhower's plan for mutual aerial inspection as a step towards arms control. Meantime, he said, it should be determined whether this country's atomic weapons program is adequate.

The latest Soviet test-explosion was first disclosed Wednesday night by the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission, which said it was "the largest thus far in the USSR."

Murder Probed in Fiery Death of Grandmom, 3 Tots

CHICAGO (AP)—A blood-stained butcher knife was found imbedded in one of four charred bodies carried Saturday from a smouldering fire. Police called the deaths murder.

Killed were Mrs. Ella Camp, 66, and her three grandchildren, Mary Frances Brock, 10, Cynthia Brock, 8, and Harry Brock, 7 months. The six-inch blade of the knife was buried to the handle in Mrs. Camp's neck.

Mrs. Camp was caring for the youngsters in their small frame home in East Chicago Heights, a Chicago suburb, while their mother was at work. Fire flashed through the four-room dwelling Saturday morning.

"It is proving out to be murder and a fire afterward," said William Hadnott, police sergeant in the village of 1,548 some 25 miles south of Chicago's Loop. "It seems like the fire was purposely set."

Flames engulfed the house in a few minutes. They jumped 50 feet to a small unoccupied house in the rear and burned that to the ground, too.

The village volunteer fire department, led by Mrs. Camp's son, Sam Camp, found the fire raging beyond control. The children were Chief Camp's nephew and nieces. Lack of water in the section of poor homes hampered the firemen.

East Chicago Heights is a racially mixed community. Many of the village officials are Negroes. Sgt. Hadnott said the different races get along harmoniously in the village. The victims were all Negroes.

The children's mother, Mrs. Irene Brock, 29, is part-time waitress at a tavern. She was at the tavern when the fire broke out.

Fire Chief Camp, Mrs. Brock's brother, said he found no evidence of arson.

"The only thing I can think of is that somebody killed my mother in a robbery," he said. "They may have known she had a little money around the house. But it would have been only a couple of dollars."

The fire burned away all but two inches of the handle of the knife buried in the right side of Mrs. Camp's neck. The handle was so charred that the knife went unnoticed until the bodies were examined at the morgue in Chicago.

Dr. Jerry Kearns, coroner's physician, said there was blood on the handle stub.

He said the children's bodies showed no signs of violence.

Inflation by Auto Industry Charged

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) said Saturday that "General Motors and the other big automobile manufacturers" are reversing efforts of the Federal Reserve Board to curb inflation.

Major car makers are doing this by putting pressure on dealers to sell more and more cars, he said.

"This course of action will inevitably permit inflation unless it is stopped," he asserted.

Conqueror of Anapurna in Death Fall

CHAMONIX, France (UP)—A search party Saturday found the body of French mountaineer Louis Lachenal, who survived the famed conquest of the Himalayan height of Anapurna only to die on his home peak of Mount Blanc.

Lachenal plunged into a 120-foot crevice late Friday when he was blinded by snow whipped by a near-blizzard wind while skiing down the slopes of Mt. Blanc with a friend.

His companion, Guide Jean Pierre Payot, made a four-hour climb to the ski lift station on the Aiguille du Midi to summon help. Mountain guides conducted a night long search before they found Lachenal's body Saturday morning.

Lachenal had been killed by the fall into the crevice. His body was brought down on the ski lift and laid out in a room of the National Ski School here.

Hard of Hearing

According to the Basic Diagnostic office, it is now possible for many who are hard of hearing to regain all or part of their hearing loss.

So many have told us, "We have tried everything and we are so discouraged that we hesitate to try anything else."

Once they try this new and proven method they are overjoyed. Just like magic, in many cases folks are able to hear without their hearing aid after the very first treatment.

The treatment is simple. It consists of three steps and takes about 45 minutes. If the hearing loss is due to a nerve condition a special treatment is given, if the loss is due to catarrh a different treatment is given and if it is a bone condition, the tympanic-oscillations treatment is given.

"I have been wearing a hearing aid for a period of three years, after receiving only three treatments I was able to discard my hearing aid. I highly recommend Tympanic-Oscillations to anyone now wearing a mechanical device."

Mrs. A. C.
(Letter in our files)

To all readers of the Independent-Press-Telegram the Basic Diagnostic Office will give the first treatment for only $3.00. The address is 927 E. Broadway in Long Beach. Phone HE 6-4603. In Huntington Park at 2836 E. Florence.

DO NOT DRIVE WITH PARKING LIGHTS ONLY

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Are you still using parking lights as driving lights?

Then you're violating the law.

The California Highway Patrol said today many motorists are ignoring the state law which prohibits the use of parking lights for driving.

Patrol Commissioner B. R. Caldwell said:

"We urge every driver to develop the habit of lighting the headlights, not the parking lights, when first turning on car lights at dusk or whenever impaired visibility requires lights."

100,000 Parade in Kashmir, Call for War on India

KARACHI, Pakistan (UP)—An estimated 100,000 persons surged through the streets here Saturday, shouting demands for a "holy war" to drive Indian occupation troops out of disputed Kashmir.

The demonstrators marched to a conference hall where Pakistani political leaders were discussing a "national plan" to force India out of Kashmir, and then continued to the tomb of Mohammed Ali Jinnah, founder of Pakistan.

A few persons were slightly injured by stones thrown by street urchins accompanying the demonstrators, but there was no large-scale violence.

Press Red China Again About 2,719 Missing in Korea

PANMUNJOM (UP) — Allied leaders renewed demands on the Communists Saturday for information about 450 Americans and 2,269 men of other nationalities who officially are "missing" in Korea.

The missing Americans include Air Force Capt. James A. Van Fleet Jr., only son of the general who commanded Allied ground forces in Korea during the war.

The Communists, who ignored a similar demand 15 months ago, agreed "with reservations" Saturday to accept a list of the missing men for study. There appeared to be little hope that they would provide information on the missing men.

Beating by Sex Fiend Kills Illinois Girl, 8

CANTON, Ill. (AP)—An 8-year-old Canton girl, her clothes ripped from her body, was found fatally beaten Saturday in an isolated spot near her home. Police said she had been raped.

The tiny victim, Janice May, died in Graham Hospital two hours after her two older brothers and their dog found her unconscious among a number of upended mine cars alongside the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad in this north central Illinois town 150 miles southwest of Chicago.

Chief of Police Kenneth Lindzey said Janice apparently had been seized while on her way to join her brothers at a near-by playground. He said her assailant had dragged the child into a small open space among the mine cars where he was hidden from view.

Lindzey said Janice had been given a terrific beating including a skull fracture, and then raped. The spot where the girl was found is about eight blocks from downtown Canton.

Lindzey said the victim died without regaining consciousness.

Police began a search for a young man reported seen loitering near the May home a short time before the girl was found.

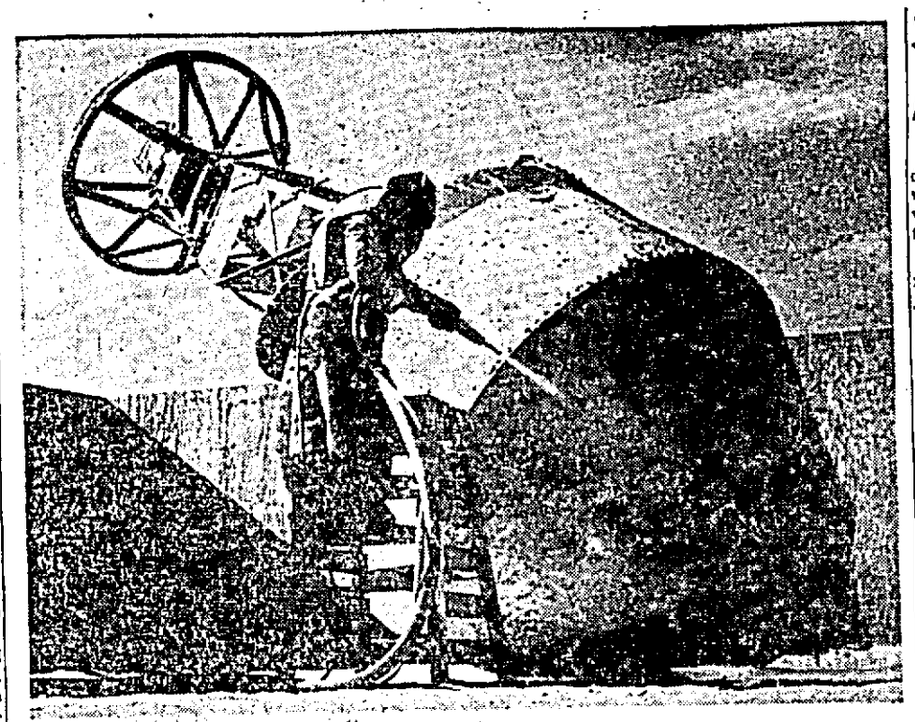

Janice was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean May. May is a salesman for the Canton Coca-Cola Bottling Co. The mother is a nurse at Graham Hospital.

Mortgage Racket Charged by Solon

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The operations of some mortgage loan brokers were described Saturday as a "multi-million-dollar racket" by Assemblyman Jesse M. Unruh (D-Los Angeles).

"Many cases have been studied by our investigators which show fantastic profits for the mortgage loan broker," Unruh, chairman of an Assembly subcommittee on lending agencies, said. "There is every reason to believe this is a multi-million-dollar racket."

Unruh announced the subcommittee will hold public hearings Dec. 13-15 in Los Angeles.

Salk Case Typical of Public's Impatience

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the nation's leading medical foundations charged Saturday that the Salk polio vaccine controversy was a "tragic demonstration of confusion and misunderstanding which should never have happened and should never be allowed to happen again."

John M. Russell, executive director and vice president of the John and Mary R. Markle Foundation, began his annual report to all organizations involved in medical research to make certain that the public gets all the facts and understands the limitations of any scientific program.

He also criticized what he called "over-enthusiasm" on the part of some of the newer fund-raising organizations.

• • • •

THE MARKLE FOUNDATION, established by the Markles in 1927 has assets of about $19,000,000. During the last year, it has given $660,000 to medical schools for teaching and research.

In his report, Russell did not mention the Salk vaccine controversy specifically, but an accompanying statement said that was what he was writing about.

Russell said that "the most publicized event in medical research in the last 12 months" did not directly involve the Markle Foundation but "its implications are of interest to all agencies providing funds for scientific purposes."

He said the layman tends to become impatient with medical scientists who take a long time to solve disease problems. This impatience often is a result of being misinformed or only partly informed, he said.

• • • •

"UNLESS THE PUBLIC is better informed, unless there is more general understanding of the problems involved, scientific research is sure to suffer," Russell wrote. "Recently we have seen how science, scientists and the public together can suffer because of lack of patience and understanding.

"It has been a tragic demonstration of confusion and misunderstanding which should never have happened and should never be allowed to happen again."

Below-Zero Wave, Snow Hit Montana

By The Associated Press

Arctic winds blew snow across Montana and North Dakota and rain pelted the Pacific Northwest, but most of the rest of the nation enjoyed fair weather Saturday.

Cooler air pushed southward into North Florida, dropping temperatures to the 60s. The southern half of that state basked in 80-degree warmth.

Temperatures dropped sharply in North Dakota and Montana—a 45-degree plunge at Cut Bank and Great Falls, Mont., where the thermometers showed 7 and 3 degrees below zero Saturday. Four inches of new snow fell at Great Falls before noon.

The rain in Washington, Oregon and northern California was heavy in some spots—.83 of an inch at Crescent City, Calif., and .70 at Astoria, Ore., in six hours. Temperatures ranged from the 30s to the low 50s.

Light snow fell in the northern Appalachian mountains of the east.

But in most of the country the weather was fair and the temperatures were about normal for the late fall season.

under a tree

under a tree

that's the place

we long to be

Dear Southern California:

Some people long to lie under a spreading palm tree relaxing to the sound of the sea. Others pine to retreat among the redwoods and hear the rustle of the wind through the branches. But we just want to be under your Christmas tree on December 25th. "We" are the family of gifts from Southern California's most gifted stores.

"We" are of many types and colors, myriad sizes and shapes, and we range all the way from a thoughtful initialed handkerchief to a magnificent monogrammed mink. As varied as we are, each of us has a single purpose—to make somebody happy on Christmas day. We've been chosen with loving care to express your love and care and we're proud indeed of the box we'll be given in.

It's a box you, too, can be proud of, because it's been a symbol of gracious giving for fifty-one years. There's hardly a man, woman or child who doesn't believe in its gold and white promise of something fine and lovely just inside. Whether it's a trinket or a treasure you choose from our midst, we'll be equally delighted. Because by selecting us you start us on the happiest voyage a gift can have—to a special spot beneath the most wonderful tree in the world—the tree of love—a Christmas tree.

Sincerely,

33 Cops Quell Dance Hall Mob After 2½-Hour Fight

STOCKTON (UP)—Thirty-three police officers battled more than 200 persons for 2½ hours early Saturday in a dance-hall riot touched off when a teenage boy slapped a woman.

The uprising finally was quelled when a fireman sent streams of icy water into the mob. Fourteen persons, including 12 officers, were hospitalized for minor injuries and 14 rioters were arrested on charges of disturbing the peace.

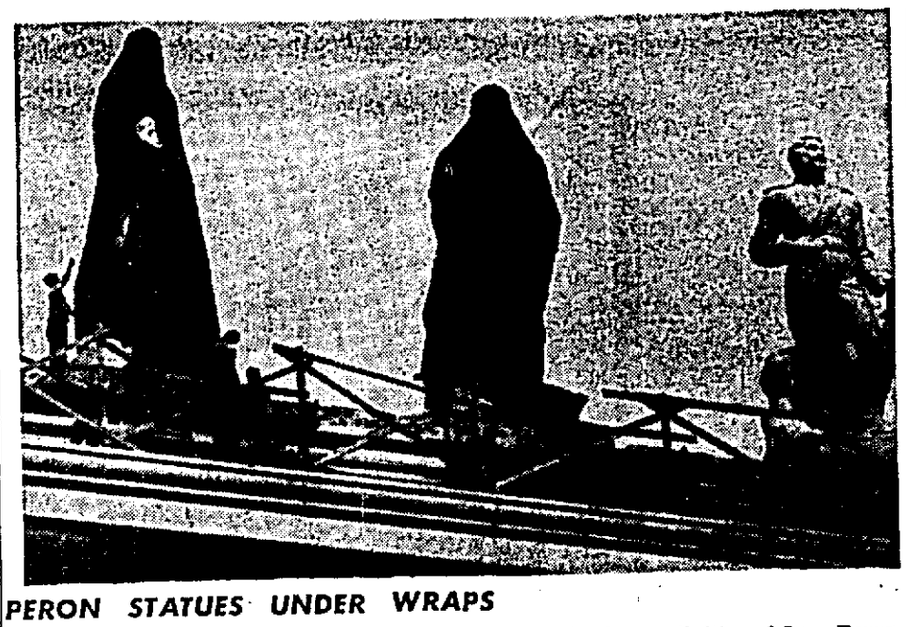

Police said the riot began when special officers at the public dance hall tried to arrest a 16-year-old boy who had slapped the woman. The boy's companions went to his aid and the battle was on.

The rioters used beer and soft drink bottles, rocks, sticks, fists and even chunks of concrete which were dropped from second floor windows, narrowly missing police officers.

The special officers called on police, sheriff's deputies and California Highway patrolmen who used nightsticks before the melee finally broke up at about 2:45 a.m.

Luscious Lucius Toasts New Private Car

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Lucius Beebe, newspaper publisher and bon vivant, smiled over a morning glass of champagne at his new railroad Pullman car which looks like an antique shop on wheels.

"The car was decorated in Venetian renaissance baroque," Beebe, 52, said Saturday. He pointed the champagne glass at a chandelier hanging in the gold-tinted dining room.

"That little bit of crystal cost us $900," he told visiting reporters. "We had it imported from Italy."

Beebe and Charles Glegg, 39, an editor of Beebe's Territorial Enterprise and Virginia City News in Nevada, had the car completely renovated. It stands on a siding near the Union Station.

The car cost about $125,000, Beebe says, and includes a chartreuse kitchen, orange dining room, three master bedrooms, observation room, loud speaker system, three telephones and a Turkish steam bath.

Decorator Ray Richter said Beebe and Glegg wanted the Pullman "opulent and vulgar."

"I believe I've succeeded," Richter told newsmen.

New TB Test Helps Stop Patients' Premature Release

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Veterans Administration announced Saturday it has developed a simple test designed to guard against premature release of tuberculosis patients. It said the test may save the government thousands of dollars.

The test, developed by Dr. George Calden of the VA's Madison, Wis., hospital, helps determine "what's in a patient's head" as well as "what's in a patient's chest," the agency said.

VA and other hospitals have been having trouble with TB patients who leave hospitals against medical advice before their treatment is complete. The VA estimated each such "irregular discharge" costs $10,000 in wasted treatments.

The test is a series of incomplete sentences which the patient fills out in any way he wishes. The VA said the answers permit doctors to determine the patient's attitude toward bed rest, hospitalization, ward life, family problems and other matters.

A doctor, when he knows a patient's attitude, can guard against any tendency to leave the hospital too soon, the VA said.

In the three years during which the test has been used at the Madison hospital the percentage of premature discharges has dropped from 50 to 33 per cent.

Explaining how the test operates, the VA said a patient may have strong doubts about his ability to work and support his family after hospitalization. Such fear, it added, may seriously interfere with his medical treatment or lead him to quit the hospital in despair.

When the tests bring out such fears, psychologists on the hospital staff can reassure the TB patient of his ability to work after he is discharged and even help him prepare himself for useful employment.

DR. CHAN SAYS: NO LONGER MUST YOU SUFFER FROM High Blood Pressure — Eczema
Diabetes — Bad Heart — Asthma

928 American Ave.
Long Beach, Calif.

For the past two generations, the offices of Dr. Chan, D.C., located at 928 American Avenue, have had outstanding results in treating chronic ailments such as ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, ARTHRITIS, NEURITIS, RHEUMATISM, HIGH OR LOW BLOOD PRESSURE, HEART TROUBLE, STOMACH OR LIVER DISORDERS, KIDNEY OR BLADDER AILMENTS OR A GENERAL RUNDOWN CONDITION. Men and women from all walks of life come to take these treatments because other methods of healing have failed to help them. Many have spent a fortune in seeking cure before they try this simple, effective natural method of Dr Chan. Our patients tell us that they wish they had known of our wonderful treatments sooner so that their suffering could have been avoided.

READ THESE AMAZING TESTIMONIALS!

Dear Mr. Chan: "The day I came to your office with my mother and brother I was about to give up hope of getting rid of my asthma attacks. I spent hundreds of dollars for shots and pills but yet found no results. After reading your advertisement, I tried you for my last resort and was thrilled to find that responded wonderfully. After the first treatment I was able to breathe normally and could sleep better for the first time in months. Now am feeling fine and hoping others will benefit from my experience with Dr. Chan's Natural Method." Signed, Mrs. Vivian Murray.

To Whom It May Concern: "Five years ago I was badly stricken with neuritis in my shoulders and extremities. My hands and knees were so badly swollen that I could hardly use them. I wasn't able to raise my arms above the shoulders. I was told by several doctors that they have done all they could for me and that no longer will be able to work again. Finally a friend referred me to try Dr. Chan's Herbal Therapy. After the first week felt much improved and the fourth week found me walking much easier with the pains in my shoulders disappearing; my hands returned to normal and I had use of them once more. I cannot too highly recommend Dr. Chan to anyone who is ill." Signed, E. H. Irving.

Vatican Changes Schedules of Holy Week Ceremonies

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican has made changes in Holy Week observances to encourage fuller attendance at ceremonies commemorating the passion, death and resurrection of Christ.

A decree of the Vatican's Congregation of Rites announcing the changes, approved by Pope Pius XII, was published Saturday in the Vatican's L'Osservatore Romano.

In some instances, the decree returns the hour of observances to that in which they were held long ago.

On Holy Thursday, the Mass for consecration of holy oils will be held after 3 p. m.

But the solemn mass celebrating Christ's institution of the Holy Eucharist must be held, according to the new decree, between 5 and 8 p. m.

• • • •

THE PURPOSE of this change is to enable more people—especially workers—to attend.

On Good Friday, the day Christ died on the cross, the solemn liturgy of the day will be held at about 3 p. m.—the hour when He died. For particular reasons, the ceremony may be held at a later hour, but not later than 6 p. m.

On Holy Saturday, solemn mass must be observed about midnight so that it will extend from Holy Saturday into Easter Sunday. For particular reasons, the mass on the vigil of Easter may also be celebrated at a different hour, but this must never begin before sunset.

The decree also extends the Lenten season until midnight of Holy Saturday. Until now it ended at noon of Holy Saturday.

The Congregation of Rites, one of 12 that administer Roman Catholic church affairs, explained that Holy Week rites originally were celebrated at the hour of the event they commemorated.

TONSILS OUT FOR WARD FAMILY

75% of UAW Ranks Loyal Politically, Survey Shows

DETROIT (AP) — Three Wayne University professors said Saturday a survey they conducted with funds supplied by the CIO United Auto Workers indicates members of the UAW "are predominantly loyal to the union's political endeavors."

About 75 per cent of the UAW's more than one million members voted for Democratic nominee Adlai Stevenson for President in 1952 despite President Eisenhower's "great personal appeal," the survey reported said.

In Michigan, it added, Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams got 85 per cent of the auto workers' vote. The survey covered 828 union members. It reported:

1. Most auto workers trust the voting recommendations of labor organizations much more than those from other sources."

2. Television "was not only given as the most important source of information, but also the most trusted." And UAW members "generally ranked newspapers as least trusted, even though they were cited as the source of most of the campaign information."

Dogs Guard Master Who Died in Field

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP)—Three pointers, guarding the body of their master who had died while hunting, kept police at bay for more than an hour Saturday.

Finally, a friend of the dead hunter, Wilford W. Warren, 56, managed to call the dogs away. Warren who had gone hunting Friday apparently died of a heart attack and had lain in a field through the night before being spotted by police early Saturday.

Solons Open Credit Policy Quiz Monday

WASHINGTON (UP)—The administration's credit policies face a searching examination this week.

Sen. John J. Sparkman (D-Ala.) will convene his housing subcommittee of the Senate banking and currency committee Monday to determine whether moves to slow down the expansion of credit in general and the tightening of terms on VA and FHA insured and guaranteed mortgages in particular may pull some building down to inadequate levels.

The broader issues of administration credit policy, including the federal reserve system, also will be examined.

"In order to get at housing. You have to take up the general credit picture," an informed source said.

Here are subjects the subcommittee will emphasized:

1—Has the administration a definite annual home building goal?

2—Is the administration "consciously" moving to reduce the volume of home building as a possible "deflationary" weapon?

3—Is there any intention of trying to get the interest rates on VA and FHA-backed mortgages increased?

• • • •

ADMINISTRATOR Albert M. Cole has said his housing and home finance agency hopes to see home building stay at about 1,200,000 units next year. If it does not, he said, a lowering of credit terms might come about. Sparkman feels the growing population and rising personal income require 1,500,000 units a year to satisfy needs.

In 1952, a similar hearing was told that, in order to build more homes with VA and FHA mortgages, it would be necessary to raise interest rates. This was done. VA and FHA now charge 4½ per cent. FHA charges an additional one-half of one percent for mortgage insurance.

Prosperity Budget Urged for Farmers

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Conference on Economic Development said Saturday the Department of Agriculture should be required to devise a "national prosperity budget" for the nation's 5,000,000 farms.

The private, non-partisan research organization reported on a long study of the paradox in which farm income has dropped steadily since 1951 while the rest of the nation enjoys booming prosperity. It blamed neither Republicans nor Democrats.

"Farmers are depressed primarily because of their chronic relative weakness in the market place," it said. "Their organization does not permit them to stimulate consumption or rationalize production and prices and incomes as others do. Trends in food distribution and prices have cut their share of the foodbasket dollar from 51 cents in 1947 to 40 cents now because farm policy is not countering these disabilities."

$3,000 Demanded for Boy's Return

EAST MEADOW, N. Y. (UP)—The father of 3-year-old Stephen Damman, who has been missing one month, says a ransom note received last Wednesday demanded $3,000 for the youngster's return.

Air Force Sgt. Jerry Damman added that the note is very likely a hoax. Police, who have declined to discuss the note other than to say it was received, are reported also to believe it is the work of a cruel prankster.

The boy disappeared Oct. 27 while waiting outside a supermarket for his mother. No trace of the child has been found in two intensive, foot-by-foot searches of the community.

Giant Labor Merger Set December 1

WASHINGTON (UP) — The AFL-CIO merger next month will bring approximately 16,000,000 union members under one tent in the biggest labor organization in the world. But most of their problems of living together have yet to be solved.

AFL and CIO leaders expect delegates from the AFL's 108 unions and the CIO's 30 to approve the merger of their parent organizations when they meet at New York, Dec. 1.

The main objectives of the merger are to end interunion rivalry, promote the merger of individual unions in the same fields of work, push organizing of the 49,000,000 unorganized workers in this country and give labor a stronger political influence.

But the AFL and CIO unity leaders were unable to agree on any one man to head the staffs of the political arm or legislative department of the new organization. They compromised on codirectors for both, one each from the AFL and CIO.

N. Y. Awaits Tree

NEW YORK (UP)—New Yorkers today were awaiting their Christmas tree—a 65-foot one that was being transported from a New Jersey woods aboard a logging truck. The huge tree will be erected and decorated in Rockefeller Center Monday.

KNUCKLE DOWN!

'Immie' Season Returns

It is "immie" season again and all around the town small boys (and here and there a girl) are knuckling down to practice for the all-city playground marble championship tournament, sponsored by the Recreation Department and city schools.

Tournament finals are slated for Dec. 27 at Lincoln Park. Meanwhile there will be local playground contests to select qualifiers for the important district playoffs scheduled for Dec. 17 at Veterans, Silverado, Atherton, MacArthur, Houghton and Pan American Parks.

Tournament play will be in three classes, by age. Jack Minar, special events director for the Recreation Department, predicts 5,000 youngsters will enter the tournament.

LIVING OFF THE . . .

Fat of the Land

By JIM MARTENHOFF

MIAMI (AP)—Larry Mack is a man who lives off the fat of the land—by removing it from the figures of the inhabitants thereof.

The female inhabitants, anyway. Last year three million overweight women walked through the doors of his 91 slenderizing salons across the length and—no pun intended—breadth of the nation. When they walked out again, with figures rebuilt from stem to stern, they left behind them:

1. 4½ million pounds.
2. 36 million inches in altered figure proportions and
3. 12 million dollars—which adds up to a very nice figure indeed.

The busy Mack, who has two salons in Europe and now is planning further expansion there and in South America, built up this sturdy empire in nine years on an original investment of $1,250—just about the price of a good second-hand car.

• • • •

BEING SOMEWHAT CURIOUS to learn how I could trade in my second-hand car and become a millionaire in nine years, I went downtown to his Miami branch to inquire into his secret.

It caused something of a bustle, if you'll pardon the expression. Men never visit these salons. Elaine Clark Hill, the very, very chic and well-groomed manager, greeted me somewhat dubiously but with great courtesy.

I offered myself for a sample treatment and figure analysis, bustle and all.

"Let's try you on the table first," she said.

The table, developed by researchers at Ohio State University, mechanically reproduces the combined efforts of a Swedish masseur, a talented chiropractor, and a losing football coach trying to make a quarterback out of an end.

It succeeds. Motor driven pads in the table vibrate alternately against your hips, shoulders and spine and the entire table shakes you gently like a blob of jelly spilled on the tray of a nervous waitress.

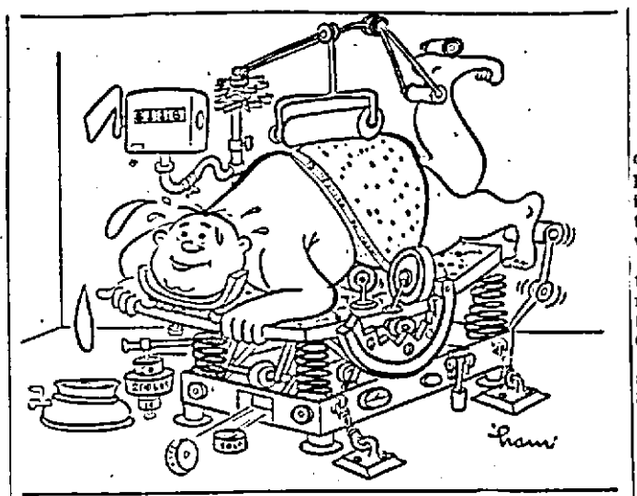

The resulting mechanical massage is very relaxing—so much so that after a 15-minute demonstration I very nearly fell asleep. The standard treatment is 45 minutes.

It also qualifies as exercise, according to Miss Hill. Just one of the positions on the table provides the energy expenditure equivalent to a 10-mile horseback ride. This is very convenient for would-be reducers who don't own horses.

That's the table's purpose—it exercises sacroiliac and pelvic regions to encourage good muscle tone in those neglected areas, leading to good posture. It is Mack's theory that poor posture is the bugaboo largely responsible for figure problems.

• • • •

MY FIGURE ANALYSIS was next. Miss Hill treacherously

"Like a Blob of Jelly Spilled on the Tray . . ."

pointed to my profile in a two-way mirror—before I'd had any warning and a chance to tuck in my tummy.

It was horrifying.

"You suffer from pelvic dip and swayback," she said somewhat unnecessarily. I certainly suffered.

Miss Hill next produced a tape measure. "We'll start," she said firmly, "with the bustline."

It was the first time I knew I had one.

She measured me here and there, and reduced the figures for convenience to the familiar beauty queen formula. I came out an unexciting 45-38-44.

"Some of you," Miss Hill stated critically, "has got to go."

She explained that I had to lose 16 inches, a polite phraseology worked out to avoid calling potential customers fat.

With three treatments weekly on the table to improve my posture, and help redistribute figure proportions; a special high-protein diet and vitamin wafers to curb my appetite, I could be rebuilt into a fine figure of a man in only five months.

It all made me feel very unhappy. "Is that 16-inch loss figure average?" I asked, looking for a kind word about the build I'd become so fond of.

Miss Hill definitely beat around the bush. "We have no average figure," she said evasively.

I tried another tack. "Well, what's the top figure you'd attempt to take off?"

She pondered. "Thirty inches is the most we'd attempt to reduce," she said in a tone of voice that indicated this would be elephantine indeed.

Still evasive. Well, I can face reality. I know when I'm a mess.

Just call me Fatty.

High School Pool Schedules Changed

New schedules for public use of the Jordan, Wilson and Poly High School swimming pools go into effect this week, according to Frances Dixon, city supervisors of aquatics.

Henceforth, Miss Dixon said, the Jordan and Wilson pools will remain closed on Friday evenings. Poly will be closed Monday evenings.

Evening use will continue on a two-period basis, 7-8:15 and 8:15-10.

The schedules:

JORDAN: Mondays, recreational swimming for everyone, both periods. Thursdays, both periods, Family Night. Tuesdays and Wednesdays, first period, recreational swimming. Tuesdays, second period, adult women; Wednesdays, second period, adult men and women.

POLY: Tuesdays and Wednesdays, first period, recreational swimming; Tuesdays, second period, adult women; Wednesdays, second period, adult men and women; Thursdays, both periods, recreational swimming; Fridays, both periods, Family Night.

WILSON: Mondays, first period, recreational swimming; Mondays, second period, adult women; Tuesdays, both periods. Family Night; Wednesdays, first period, recreational swimming; Wednesdays, second period, adult men and women; Thursdays, both periods, recreational swimming.

The Saturday daytime use schedules for all three pools will remain the same, with two hours of instruction for boy beginners from 9-11 o'clock; boys and girls intermediate instruction from 11-Noon; two hours of instruction for girl beginners, from 1-3 o'clock and recreational swimming from 3-5 o'clock.

County GOP Will Honor Sen. Knowland This Week

By THE LOOKOUT

Los Angeles County Republicans will pay their respects during the coming week to a Californian who has brought honor and prestige to the party—Sen. W. F. Knowland.

The husky Oaklander, minority leader in the Senate and regarded by many over the country as highly qualified to head the GOP presidential ticket some day, will address the Los Angeles County Republican Assembly Thursday evening in a meeting at the Alexandria Hotel ballroom, Los Angeles. A Long Beach delegation will be on hand.

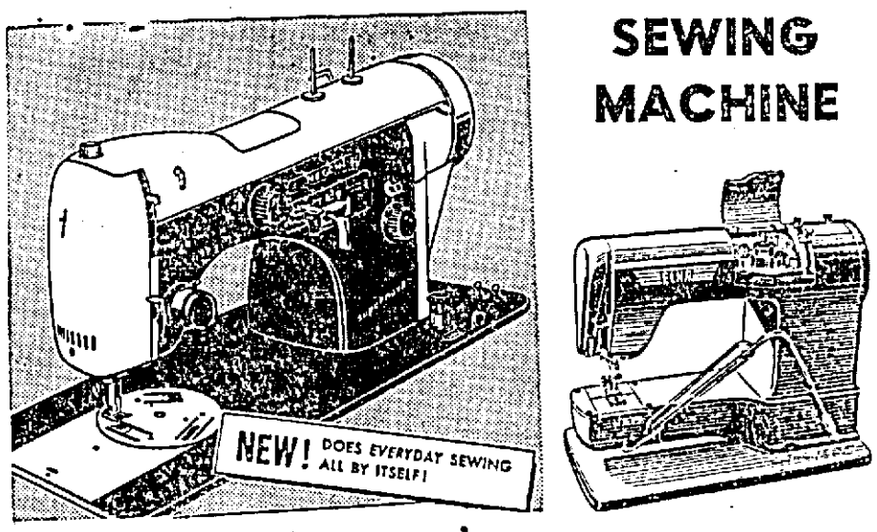

Robert Fenton Craig, president of the assembly, noted Saturday that the organization has been "honoring our own" at its meetings this year.

"We are extremely proud to honor our own Sen. Bill Knowland," he said. "He is one of the very early members of the Republican Assembly, and it will be like old-home night when he visits us."

JUVENILE DELINQUENCY—Political and social concepts are interwoven closely with the economic needs of the people, City Juvenile Department Superintendent Joseph M. Kennick told the members of the Lakewood Democratic Women's Club last week.

He said that responsible parents and leaders must pioneer for children's inherent rights to decent playgrounds, housing and safety on the streets.

Trojans Jolt Irish, 42-20, Before 94,892 in Finale

MORSE MAKES SPECTACULAR GRAB IN FIRST IRISH TD DRIVE

Notre Dame halfback Jimmy Morse leaps between SC defenders Ellsworth Kissinger and Jon Arnett to make spectacular catch of Paul Hornung's pass in first period. Play was good for 24 yards and carried to SC 34 in first Notre Dame touchdown drive.—(Staff Photo by Bryan Hodgson)

'Powder Puff' Incident Stirs SC to Victory

By DAVE LEWIS
Sports Editor

LOS ANGELES COLISEUM — The full potential of a Southern California grid machine that had been ineffectively groping around for a victory for more than a month exploded with stunning force here Saturday as the Trojans crushed the nation's fifth-ranked team by racking up an almost unbelievable 42-20 triumph over Notre Dame before 94,892 spectators who witnessed one of the 1955 season's greatest collegiate games.

The huge throng — including even the staunchest Trojan supporters—was shocked by the complete mastery SC enjoyed over the Irish from start to finish after entering the contest seven-point underdogs.

The result will go down as one of the year's biggest surprises—not because of Troy's win, but because of the lopsided score.

The season-salvaging triumph capped a disappointing campaign during which the Trojans were felled unexpectedly by Washington, Minnesota and Stanford before finally being plowed under by mighty UCLA last week.

• • • •

WHAT TOUCHED off this football atom bomb?

It was an incident which occurred about five hours before kickoff time as the Trojans were having brunch at the Town House, their pre-game headquarters.

A messenger arrived with a large box addressed to Captain George Galli.

When Galli opened the box, out fell small individually-wrapped packages for the other members of the SC team . . . all containing powder and powder puffs.

The Trojans, who admittedly had looked miserable in practice all week, entered the game with a new "outlook" . . . all of them mad enough to chew the Fighting Irish to bits, which is exactly what happened. The "powder-puff" incident admittedly gave them the "desire" to win which had been lacking all year.

• • • •

THE NAMES of Arnett . . . Roberts . . . Ferrante . . . Goux . . . Belotti . . . Clarke . . . and many others qualified for Troy's football hall of fame with the smashing victory—worst handed Notre Dame since 1951 when Michigan State slaughtered the Irish, 35-0.

While it is difficult to single out any Trojan in what probably was the finest team effort ever turned in by a Jess Hill-coached club, Jon Arnett must be given credit for igniting the offensive spark that sent the men of Troy winging to their tremendous achievement.

Arnett, who suffered an injured left ankle late in the first half, sat out the third quarter, but returned to action in the concluding stanza to lead the 21-point attack that resulted in the fifth highest number of points ever to be scored against Notre Dame in its colorful 67-year football history.

ARNETT SCORED three of Troy's six touchdowns and kicked five of the six conversions for 23 points and a season's total of 108 which earns him second place among the nation's leading scorers behind Jim Swink of TCU. Jon netted 58 yards in 20 carries and caught two passes for 72 yards in addition to playing superb defensive ball.

It was a fitting climax to a banner season for the Trojan junior, who fully justified his All-American rating.

The Trojans were never headed after taking the opening kickoff and smashing their way to the first of their six TD's.

Notre Dame bounced right back to tie it up at 7-7 . . . but the Trojans quickly regained command as they pulled out to a 21-7 advantage in the second quarter before giving up another Irish score which made it 21-13 at halftime.

• • • •

WITH THEIR offensive spark—Arnett—on the sidelines in the third period, the Trojans spent most of the time doggedly fighting off a series of threatening Notre Dame moves.

Finally, the Irish closed in to a 21-20 score after three minutes of the fourth quarter . . . and it looked as if they might be mounting another of their famed comebacks.

But with Arnett back in action, the Trojans once again became the devastating striking force of the first half as they slammed across three more touchdowns in the final 10½ minutes of play to put the finishing touches on the brilliant win.

The Trojans, who have been exceptionally ineffective at times this season and who entered the game sporting a three-game losing streak, were not to be

Georgia Tech, Texas Christian and Mississippi — each racking up impressive victories—were rewarded with bowl bids Saturday as the college football season came to a close in a dramatic fashion with several upsets, highlighted by Army's stunning reversal of Navy and Southern California's equally surprising 42-20 victory over Notre Dame.

Georgia Tech trampled Georgia, 21-3, to nail down the vacant Sugar Bowl spot. TCU defeated Southern Methodist 20-13 and will meet Mississippi, which beat Mississippi State 26-0, in the Cotton Bowl.

Navy crumbled under Army's ground attack in the second half and the Cadets went on to triumph, 14-6, knocking the Midshipmen from contention for a Cotton Bowl position.

Thus the post-season bowl picture shapes up this way:

Rose Bowl—Michigan State (8-1) vs. UCLA (9-1).

Sugar Bowl — Georgia Tech (8-1-1) vs. Pittsburgh (7-3).

Orange Bowl — Oklahoma (10-0) vs. Maryland. (10-0).

Cotton Bowl—TCU (9-1) vs. Mississippi (9-1).

Gator Bowl—Teams still to be named.

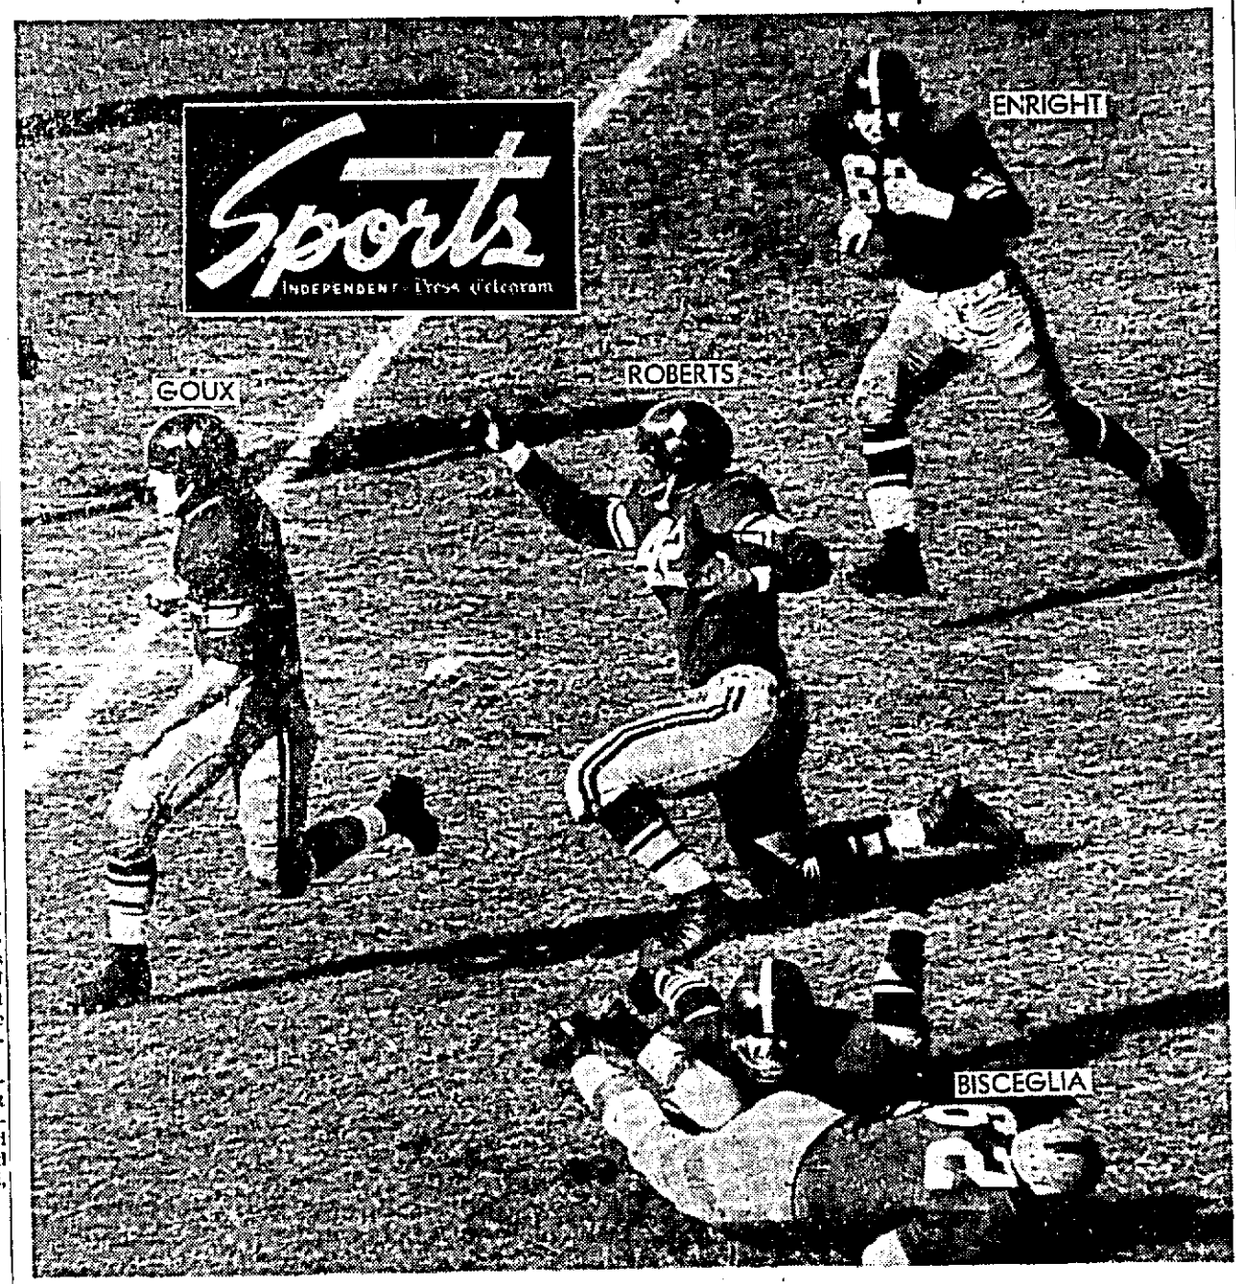

Sun Bowl—Texas Tech (7-2-1) vs. opponent to be named.

Felix McKnight, president of the Cotton Bowl Athletic Association, announced Mississippi's selection Saturday night. TCU already had the host team spot all but in the bag. It will be the Horned Frogs' eighth appearance in a post-season bowl.

Georgia Tech looms a slight favorite in the Sugar Bowl. Pitt and Tech met two common rivals. Tech beat Duke, 27-0 and Miami 14-6, while Pitt smashed Duke, 26-7, but lost to Miami, 21-7.

'JINX GAME' ON TV

Favor Eagles by 7 Over Rams Today

PHILADELPHIA — The Philadelphia Eagles, who have taken more of their share of lumps this season, will be banking on an old jinx today when they meet the Los Angeles Rams at Connie Mack Stadium.

The Rams have never beaten the Eagles in league play—they have played one tie — and that record apparently has swayed the odds makers into installing Philadelphia a one-point favorite.

As has been the case for the last three weeks, today's game is another do-or-die affair for the Rams, who trail the Western Division leading Chicago Bears by a half game. Since the Bears are favored by 14 over the Cardinals the Rams must win to stay in title contention.

The game will be broadcast over KHJ and televised over KABC (7) beginning at 11 a.m.

For SC: 'Something to Remember'

By DICK ZEHMS

LOS ANGELES COLISEUM—The conscience of man was the architect of a monumental 42-20 Trojan conquest of Notre Dame's Fighting Irish here Saturday afternoon before 94,892 stunned eye witnesses.

The formula Jess Hill pursued in preparing his much maligned belabored Trojans for this invasion of the "Team Called Desire" from South Bend, Ind., is as simple as the pattern of life. In fact, it is the pattern.

Said the emotion-torn, smiling Trojan coach in the SC dressing room 15 minutes after this thrilling intersectional game was history:

"GIVE ME a minute, gentlemen, to collect my thoughts." Forthwith, he launched into his interpretation of the events of the day:

"All week long I told my boys to play to give yourselves something to remember . . . to give me something to remember.

"This is perhaps the finest all-around team victory I have ever seen."

Vindication? Memories? No matter what, these Men of Troy were mighty this Saturday. They will have something remarkable with which to live for the rest of their lives.

Southern California's 42 points is the highest total registered against the Irish since Army waxed the green shirts in 1945, 48-0. In fact, the carnage of 42 SC points so surprisingly unravelled here in this 27th meeting between these intense rivals stands as the fifth highest total posted against the Irish in all history.

• • • •

WISCONSIN shellacked the Irish in 1900, 54-0, and again in 1904, 58-0. Army's 1944 59-0 and 1945 48-0 scores are the other supreme moments in the lives of Irish foes.

How great a victory this badgered SC team scored can be found in the words of Edward (Moose) Krause, Irish athletic director who handed Hill a big paw of congratulations in the SC dressing room after the game and said:

"Congratulations, coach. This was one of the finest offensive games I've seen. You earned it. We'll see you next year."

Shortly thereafter, Rev. Theodore M. Hasburgh, CSC, president of Notre Dame, offered his congratulations to Hill and SC.

"Our kids certainly gave all they had," began youthful Terry Brennan, Irish coach, in his remarks to the press. "They made a few mistakes, but Southern California played very well. They are as good a football team as we have played all year. I wouldn't rate them better than Michigan State, but they certainly were EQUAL off today's performance."

• • • •

BRENNAN CALLED the Jim Contratto-to-John Arnett touchdown pass covering 63 yards the turning point of the game. He likewise called "C. R. Roberts big, fast and good, but that Arnett . . . he's much more consistent."

This was SC's best team game of the season without question, Hill admitted:

"I had a feeling all week long this would happen. I'm as proud of our kids as I can be. We got a share of the breaks today, but we played hard enough to earn them.

"Our game strategy was to run

OLE MISS WINS SOUTHEAST CROWN

Rebels Earn Cotton Bowl Bid By Spilling Miss. State, 26-0

STARKVILLE, Miss. (U.P.)—Eagle Day's quarterbacking artistry gave Mississippi a 26-0 victory over Mississippi State Saturday, the Southeastern Conference title and an invitation to play Texas Christian in the Cotton Bowl.

Mississippi's selection was announced in Dallas shortly after the Rebels posted their ninth victory against one loss and Texas Christian beat Southern Methodist to take the Southwest Conference crown.

Halfback Earl Blair's fancy running was what made Day's plays click. Day engineered two quick scoring thrusts in the first half with Blair going over on both occasions to spark the Rebels before a sell-out crowd of 35,000.

• • • •

SUB-QUARTERBACK John Wallace Blalack lobbed a 30-yard touchdown pass to end Don Williams in the third period and Rebel tackle Bill Velberton, one of the host of Mississippi defenders who stopped every State effort, nailed Maroon Bill Stanton in the end zone for a safety.

Fullback Paige Cothren kicked a field goal to add to the Rebel total in addition to his smashing running.

Day passed 24 yards to halfback Bill Kinard to launch a Rebel drive late in the first period after the Maroons managed to stop one 70 yard march just 10 yards shy of a touchdown. Kinard added two yards and then the flashy Blair swept around right end nine yards for the first touchdown.

• • • •

A SHADE MORE than five minutes later Kinard lunged on a bobbled punt by Jim Harness and the Rebels took over on the State 21. Cothren tore off 15 yards and two plays later Blair went across standing up from the three.

Mississippi knocked on the goal line again late in the final period, but Cothren was stopped on the two on fourth down.

Bears '11' Feasts on Rice, 15-7

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Baylor turned back two first-period Rice threats and then exploded with an 84-yard touchdown pass and a 54-yard punt return for a 15-7 victory over the Owls Saturday in the "cellar bowl" game of the Southwest Conference.

The victory before 33,000 gave Baylor a fifth place tie with SMU in final conference standings with a 2-4 record. The defeat left Rice in the cellar for the first time since 1939, without a victory in six conference games.

Quarterback Bobby Jones turned the tide for Baylor on a beautiful 84-yard touchdown pass to halfback Delbert Shofner after only 21 seconds in the second quarter. Minutes later, halfback Weldon Holley returned an Owl punt 54 yards to the Rice five. Halfback Bobby Peters plunged over from the two to make it 12-0 two plays later.

Left-footed Bobby Gill made it 15-0 midway in the third with a 19-yard field goal.

Quarterback Frank Ryan rallied Rice for a 67-yard scoring drive in the final quarter, with Ryan plunging over from the one.

Aggies Hand Colorado 10-0 Defeat

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP)—Colorado A&M, king of the Skyline Conference, climaxed its finest season in six years Saturday with a 10-0 victory over Colorado of the Big Seven.

The Aggies, scoring their first victory over Colorado at Fort Collins since 1933, struck for a second quarter touchdown on a 44-yard drive and insured the victory in the third quarter with a 22-yard field goal by Gary Glick, all-conference halfback, who was carried off the field at game's end in a rousing demonstration.

Colorado, riddled by line injuries, never generated an offensive threat. The Buffaloes never got past the Aggie 34.

Colorado A&M drove 44 yards in nine plays in the first period, with Glick carrying it over from the one. On the final play of the first half he missed a 17-yard field goal, but in the third quarter he booted one from the 18-yard line.

ARIZONA WINS
Rush Title to Luppino

TEMPE, Ariz. (UP)—An underdog University of Arizona football team capitalized on savage line play to upset Arizona State College, 7-6, Saturday night and deprive the Sun Devils of the Border Conference championship.

Halfback Art Luppino, who became the first collegian to win the national rushing championship two consecutive years, ran 20 yards down the middle in the first period for the only Arizona touchdown and also converted.

Luppino carried the ball 28 times for 68 yards and ended the season with 1,313 yards, giving him an edge of about 30 yards over Jim Swink, of TCU.

Cherberg, Huskies Sign Truce

SEATTLE (AP)—University of Washington administrative officials stepped into the battle between Coach John Cherberg and his rebellious football team Saturday night and a sort of temporary truce appeared to be in the making.

H. P. Everest, vice-president of the university and a long leader in its athletic affairs, and Cherberg conferred Saturday and agreed a "complete investigation going back over the whole year" is needed.

Everest said a full report of the investigation will be made to the university's board of regents Dec. 10.

"I frankly asked John whether he thought he could ride out the storm, or whether it had gotten beyond that point," Everest reported. "He was convinced that he could and must."

Everest said he had known for a long time that there was friction on the squad but had hoped Cherberg could handle it. This week, more than 30 Washington football players demanded Cherberg's resignation, protesting what they called "tyrannical" action and other practices by the coach.

The conference with Everest produced an agreement that Cherberg would discuss the matter fully with the players, individually and in groups, and with his coaching staff.

Saturday Bobby Cox, star Washington quarterback in 1954 who has transferred to Minnesota, said he made the switch "because it was so hard to get along with Cherberg."

He said he was in complete sympathy with the players' complaints.

Frogs Nab Southwest Title, 20-13

FORT WORTH, Tex. (U.P.)—Jim Swink riddled Southern Methodist for two touchdowns and had another erased by a penalty Saturday as Cotton Bowl-bound Texas Christian sacked up the Southwest Conference championship with a 20-13 victory.

The long-striding TCU halfback brought a crowd of 33,000 to its feet repeatedly in a torrid fourth quarter as he scampered 62 futile yards for a touchdown that didn't count because of a clipping penalty, capped a 77-yard drive with a three-yard scoring lunge and contributed 39 yards of the winning 74-yard drive as the clock ticked away. Ray Taylor scored the touchdown from the five.

In all, the 180-pound Swink pounded at the ponderous SMU line 23 times and picked up 131 yards, including a 30-yard scamper for TCU's first touchdown. But his 125 points and 1,283 yards for the season failed by three points and 20 yards to break the conference records.

• • • •

IT WAS ANNOUNCED shortly after TCU's win that TCU will play the University of Mississippi in the Cotton Bowl, January 2. It was no surprise that TCU was host team, since that was announced a week ago.

Until Swink ignited a laggard TCU team with his unsuccessful 62-yard run, it had begun to look as if an inspired Southern Methodist team was going to stage another of the day's big upsets as the Mustangs drove 76 yards for a second period touchdown scored by Don McIlhenny from one yard out and sent scooter Charlie Jackson scampering 47 yards for another in the third quarter.

• • • •

THE BIG, MUSCULAR Mustangs' forward wall outcharged the veteran TCU line, sprang McIlhenny, Jackson and Slaughter loose repeatedly and apparently had things going their way until Swink swung into high gear. McIlhenny ran for 84 yards and Jackson for 79 as SMU netted 215 yards rushing to 231 for TCU.

The fourth quarter was virtually all Swink as he accounted for 33 yards running and a 15-yard pass on a 77-yard touchdown drive that tied the score in addition to the 39 yards on the payoff drive a few minutes later.

HORNUNG SCORES FIRST TD FOR IRISH

Trojans Shock Irish With 42-20 Triumph

denied one of the school's "finest hours" in football.

• • • •

OPERATING OUT of the "T" a good 85 percent of the time . . . the SC machine finally was able to generate a sustained offensive attack.

Meanwhile, the Irish were as deadly as they have been all season. When their usually punishing line stabs failed to split the Trojan defense, quarterback Paul Hornung took to the air for Notre Dame's most concerted aerial attack of the year and pitched one touchdown pass of 78 yards to Jim Morse; hit Morse again with a 60-yard strike to set the stage for Notre Dame's final score, and in all completed 10 passes for 259 yards.

However, in the end his passes backfired to turn the game into a Trojan rout. Five of Hornung's aerials were intercepted—four in the final period with two of them setting up the final two SC touchdowns.

It was one of the greatest offense shows seen in the Coliseum in years. The two teams rocked and rolled from one end of the field to the other as the Irish netted 521 yards while the Trojans piled up 398.

Arnett returned the opening kickoff 30 yards to the 32 from which point the Trojans launched a 68-yard drive in 11 plays featured by Ellsworth Kissinger's screen pass to C. R. Roberts for 20 yards, a fourth-down pass for 17 yards to Don Hickman on the Irish 21 and finally Roberts' 13-yard sweep around left end to the one-yard line. Kissinger himself carried it over on the next play for the TD, at 5:48. Arnett converted.

Notre Dame snapped back with a 67-yard counter attack after the kickoff that paid off in 13 plays when Hornung, rolling out to his right for a pass, decided to run instead and barreled between three Trojan tacklers on the seven and then carried three more SC defenders across the goal line on a ferocious nine-yard drive. He also booted the conversion to square the count.

• • • •

ARNETT ALMOST broke loose for a touchdown on the kickoff, but finally was nailed from behind on the 43 after a 32-yard return. Troy immediately rolled 57 yards to its second touchdown with Ron Brown starting things off with a 19-yard burst inside left end and Roberts capping the advance on the first play of the second quarter when he took a pitchout and hurtled 15 yards around left end. Arnett's kick was good to make it 14-7.

Disaster struck the Irish on the first play after the kickoff when Dick Fitzgerald fumbled and Ron Fletcher recovered for SC on the Notre Dame 21.

The Trojans moved to a fourth-and-six situation on the 17 when Bob Isaacson, SC's field goal specialist, trotted onto the field with his kicking tee to set the stage for one of the season's top trick plays.

• • • •

THE TROJANS promptly lined up in field goal formation with Kissinger, squatting on his haunches instead of on one knee at the 24.

As the Irish rushed in to try and stop the kick, Kissinger stood up and flipped a pass into the left flat to Arnett, who boomed his way eight yards to a first down on the nine.

After a yard loss on the next play, Arnett slipped inside right end for 10 yards and a touchdown at 3:17 of the period. He fumbled when hit on the goal line and Notre Dame recovered in the end zone, but despite a protest from Irish players, the officials ruled Arnett had crossed the goal line before fumbling.

Isaacson, who missed his chance to score via a field goal, toed the conversion through the uprights as the Trojans lengthened their lead to 21-7.

• • • •

NOTRE DAME took the kickoff and punched its way 61 yards with savage blows at the middle of Troy's line before being held for downs on the SC 25 when Dean Studer's fourth-and-two plunge was stopped four inches short of a first down.

Moments later, though, the Irish struck with blinding suddenness when Hornung and Jim Morse teamed up on a 78-yard aerial strike, Morse caught the ball on the Irish 45 and outran two Trojans to the goal line. Hornung's kick was wide, leaving the count at 21-13.

Notre Dame moved into a threatening position midway in the third period when Ernie Zampese fumbled Hornung's punt and Studer recovered on the SC 37.

However, big Leon Clarke, who played one of his greatest games, got the Trojans out of the hole three plays later by intercepting Hornung's pass on the 35.

• • • •

ON THE VERY NEXT play, Roberts rocketed 58 yards to the Notre Dame 15 . . . but a couple of plays later he fumbled on the six and end Gene Kapish recovered for the Irish at that point.

Two plays later the Irish struck again with Hornung streaking 59 yards to the SC 28-yard line.

The Irish then moved to a first down on the three-yard line as the third quarter ended . . . but on the first play of the concluding period fullback Don Schaefer fumbled on the goal line and Brown recovered for SC in the end zone for a touchback.

Moments later, though, Hornung again found Morse in the clear and hit him with a 60-yard pass on the SC six-yard line. Hornung finally plunged over from the one at 3:02. He also kicked the extra point to make it 21-20.

• • • •

HOPES OF AN IRISH comeback, though, were wiped out a minute and a half later when Jim Contratto passed 64 yards to Arnett for a touchdown after almost being spilled for a big loss. Arnett's kick was good.

Hornung then began hurling desperate passes after the kickoff and Bing Bordier picked one off on the SC 49. Two plays later Brown galloped 38 yards on a reverse over left tackle for a first down on the 13 from where Contratto passed to Don McFarland for the touchdown, at 7:34. Arnett again kicked the extra point.

Three plays after the ensuing kickoff, McFarland intercepted another Hornung pass on the Notre Dame 46 . . . but Contratto finally had to punt from the 46 after Troy drew a 15-yard penalty.

Hornung came right back though with another pass on the very next play . . . and center Vern Sampson intercepted on the 22. It took just five plays to push it over from there with Arnett barreling the final seven yards over right tackle at 12:52. His fifth conversion rang down the curtain on a most amazing afternoon of football!

Announce East JRB Entry Today

Jones, Miss., the only unbeaten and untied JC football team outside of California, is expected to receive the bid today when the Junior Rose Bowl committee announces the eastern representative.

Others in the running are Del Mar, Tex.; Cameron Aggies of Lawton, Okla.; and Wenatchie, Wash. Jones has rolled to nine straight wins this season, including a 34-28 victory over Hinds, Miss., last year's Jr. Rose Bowl winner.

Western representative—likely to be either Compton or Taft—will be announced Monday.

Woods Records TKO Over Bonomo in 8th

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Veteran Bobby Woods, 137, of Spokane, chopped out an eighth round technical knockout Saturday night over Vince Bonomo, 140, of New Orleans, in a scheduled 10-rounder at Legion Stadium.

The stocky Bonomo, a stablemate of Ralph Dupas, started fast with a two-handed body attack. But the lanky Woods soon slowed him down with a stinging left jab and right uppercut combination.

Once Over Lightly
by DAVE LEWIS

Most important item on the agenda of the NFL's annual meeting in January will be to decide whether or not to sponsor a minor professional football league.

George Cavanaugh, a member of the Detroit Lions' Board of Directors, is spearheading the plan to insure a continued high grade of pro football.

The Cavanaugh plan calls for the establishment of at least a six-team league supported by the 12 NFL clubs.

The teams will be placed in such suggested cities as Indianapolis, Columbus, Toledo, Louisville, Rochester and Buffalo.

The NFL clubs would send their surplus talent to the minor league teams to be groomed for future seasons.

All games would be played on Wednesday nights so they would not interfere with high school and college contests . . . and the NFL telecasts on Sundays.

The move would insure a plentiful supply of talent and would increase the overall caliber of NFL play.

It is pointed out that too many players, who have much greater potential than a good percentage of active NFL performers, are cut loose without adequate trials.

With a year or two of seasoning they could take their place among the league's top performers. A minor league, thus, would save many outstanding players who are now lost to pro football.

Rookies who are trimmed from the various squads rarely get a second chance.

Coaches have complained bitterly in recent years about losing many potential stars because they don't have enough time to thoroughly test newcomers. Because the pressure is steadily mounting to produce a winner, coaches must go with established veterans rather than keeping a rookie even though the latter could develop into a top man in a couple of years.

Biggest argument against forming a minor league in recent years has been the tremendous cost to the NFL clubs. However, the idea is steadily gaining more and more support and the January meeting could well produce the minor league!

MEANWHILE, the NFL club chieftains will meet Monday to stage the first part of their annual draft of college players.

They'll choose a total of only 37 men — the bonus pick and three rounds. The remaining 27 rounds will be selected in January.

This exceptionally early draft session was called to combat the increasing raids on U.S. collegiate talent by Canadian pro clubs.

Betting, of course, is that the bonus pick will be either Ohio State's great running back, Hopalong Cassady, or quarterback Earl Morrall of Michigan State.

One of the NFL coaches was quoted recently as saying that the 1955 crop of college seniors is a rather ordinary class. However, most other pro observers disagree.

Some of the top choices who likely will be picked Monday are ends Menan Schriewer of Texas, Jim Carmichael of California, Leon Clarke of SC, John (Big Thunder) Lewis of Michigan State and Kentucky's Howie Schnellenberger; tackles Bruce Bosley of West Virginia, Frank D'Agostino of Auburn and Frank Machinsky of Ohio State; guards Calvin Jones of Iowa and Hardiman Cureton of UCLA, and centers Hugh Pitts of TCU and Maryland's Bob Pellegrini.

In addition to Morrall, such other quarterbacks as Eagle Day of Mississippi, Johnny Miller of Wisconsin and Jerry Reichow of Iowa are likely to be chosen.

OTHER HALFBACKS under consideration are Art Davis of Mississippi St., Charley Horton of Vanderbilt, Ed Vereb of Maryland, Bob Pascal of Duke and Whitey Rouviere of Miami.

Best liked fullbacks, of course, are Don Schaefer of Notre Dame and Joe Childress of Auburn.

Stars from three "small schools" are expected to be grabbed up . . . fullback Charley Sticka of Trinity, center John Jankans of Tempe Teachers, and quarterback Gary Glick of Colorado A&M.

What do the pros look for in a player?

As one pro football man explains . . . "the player coming into the professional ranks must have size, speed and talent, of course. But the first thing pro clubs consider is his durability. That has been the secret of Paul Brown's sustained success with the Cleveland Browns. He organized the club with players who could go the route and has had singular good fortune in replacing them.

"Some players bruise easier than others, you know. Some heal quicker than others and are not handicapped by relatively minor injuries which keep less hardy men on the bench. And when, in this rugged game, you are limited to a squad of 33 men, you can't afford to have too many hurt.

"While he may be platooned to a somewhat greater extent, the pro plays twice as much football as he did in school. With the exhibitions, a team getting in the playoff gets in 19 games. You need durable guys for that kind of a grind!"

and throw—both. We felt we could do both. At the halftime we made some defensive adjustments at the flanks. No, we weren't giving them the middle. We employed a stunting defense which worked except in the plays Notre Dame sent a halfback diving into the middle to receive passes.

• • • •

"THEY LEFT some holes for us on the weak side when we lined up in the single wing, which took care of a lot of our yardage when we needed it the most. Ellsworth Kissinger did a nice job of calling the signals. So did Jim Contratto.

"We called the fake field goal play from the bench.

"This Hornung is a great quarterback. He had us in hot water all day. Notre Dame was one of the toughest teams we've played all season, but I can't compare them with any of our other opponents."

The world loves a winner. Last Saturday, after Hill dropped a 17-7 nod to UCLA, nobody brought him an apple. He had to go get one from the supply room. Three times while he huddled with the press SC operatives ran up to him and offered him one. Feast or famine . . . victory or defeat.

• • • •

JESS WAS carried off the field by his players, who were deliriously happy after having been denied triumph for more than a month. This hasn't happened to the Trojan coach since the first day of 1953 when his Trojans bested Wisconsin in the Rose Bowl, 7-0.

And it seems like only yesterday that he was hung in effigy, a new collegiate fad reserved for losing coaches and wrong sports writers.

Hornung visited the SC dressing room, hunted down Arnett, and quipped:

"I don't see how the h . . . you guys ever got beat by anybody!"

Sometimes the conscience does not rule the man, Paul.

Tech Earns Bowl Bid With 21-3 Victory

ATLANTA (U.P.)—Georgia Tech's fleet of fast backs scampered to a stunning 21-3 victory over arch-rival Georgia Saturday and the Engineers were invited immediately to play Pittsburgh in the Sugar Bowl, their fifth straight bowl asssignment.

It also will mark Tech's third trip to New Orleans in those five years. The Engineers tromped Mississippi, 24-7, in 1953 and took West Virginia, 42-19, in the Sugar classic in 1954.

Tech spotted underdog but aroused Georgia a three-point lead but then got in gear and romped to a decisive victory before 40,000 fans. It gave Tech a record of eight wins, one loss and a tie for the season.

BOBBY GARRARD'S 58-yard run set up Ken Cooper's 15-yard field goal for Georgia after the opening kickoff, but that was all for the Bulldogs.

Tech's rugged line, led by guard Franklin Brooks and center Jimmy Morris, stopped Georgia in its cleats the rest of the way and the speedy Engineer backs shredded the Georgia defense.

• • • •

TECH BULLED 53 yards for a touchdown to go ahead only minutes after the Bulldogs' field goal. A six-yard pass from quarterback Toppy Vann to Danny Bagwell provided the pay-off.

The Engineers expanded the lead to 14-3 in the second quarter after Brooks recovered Jim Harper's fumble on the Bulldogs' 16, and in the third period halfback George Volkert put on a one-man running show for the clincher, which he scored on a 25-yard end sweep.

MAJOR DRAFT SET MONDAY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U.P.)—Legislation aimed at curbing the wild spending for bonus players and protecting its clubs from the inroads of radio and television will be voted on at the annual minor league convention opening here Monday.

Oddly enough, the majors will inaugurate the minors' convention with their annual player draft on Monday. Tuesday and the morning of Wednesday will be set aside for player selections by the high minors from clubs of lower classification. The executive sessions will begin Wednesday afternoon and last through Friday.

Cadets' Rally Ruins Middies' Bowl Hopes

PHILADELPHIA (U.P.)—The oft-frustrated but ever fighting Army football team bounced off the floor before 102,000 frenzied fans at chilly Municipal Stadium Saturday to upset favored Navy, 14-6, in one of the most stirring renewals of the 56-year-old service classic.

Badly outplayed in the first period as they fell behind, 6-0, before the top brass and braid of the nation's fighting forces, the Cadets charged back on smashing touchdown runs by Pat Uebel and Pete Lash to ruin the Middies' dream of a bid to the Cotton Bowl.

Their chances weren't too bright after the first quarter when the 3,600 Middies in the stands rocked the big concrete arena with their roars of approval as spindle-shanked Georgie Welsh drove Navy to an opening touchdown.

• • • •

BUT THE gray-clad Cadet corps across the emerald green field, 2,400 strong, gained heart just before the half ended when Army drove to the one-yard line and the clock ran out. They knew their guys were still in it.

Army suffered another blow as the second half opened, when Uebel, the bull-like fullback from Bellevue, Ky., took the opening kickoff back from the end zone to the 45—and fumbled. But Army rose up and held off that Navy threat and a few minutes later crunched back for a tying touchdown by Uebel.

Ralph Chesnauskas, the burly end from Brockton, Mass., cooly kicked the point and Army was ahead to stay.

• • • •

IT LOOKED black early in the fourth quarter when Navy went 69 yards to the Army 23. But again Army took over and then slammed 78 yards for the touchdown which put the game out of Navy's reach as Lash swept end for the final 23 yards and again Chesnauskas kicked that vital extra point.

The Middies, spurred on by the presence of Admiral Arthur Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, opened the game as if they meant to run Army right out of the stadium. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, the Army Chief of Staff, must have been squirming as Navy took that opening kickoff and fled 76 yards for a score.

• • • •

WELSH, THE little man from whose passing arm is Navy's greatest weapon, completed four of five passes to put it on the one and then carried it over himself. In that first quarter the Army, battered and reeling, was able to make only one first down.

Navy was still rattling the Army line early in the second quarter as it pounded down to the Cadet 17. But there, Don Holleder recovered a fumble on the 13—and in 14 determined running plays the Cadets surged all the way to the Navy one. But there the half ended.

Sooners Breeze by A&M, 53-0

NORMAN, Okla. (U.P.) — Top-rated Oklahoma breezed by Oklahoma A&M Saturday, 53-0, in an Orange Bowl warmup that stretched the Big Seven champion's winning streak to 29 games.

Oklahoma's versatile backfield units—two of them—tried a variety of rushing and passing combinations in preparation for the Jan. 2 date with Maryland at Miami, Fla.

Nine Sooners shared in the scoring.

The smallest crowd of the season here—35,000—turned out to watch Oklahoma humble its traditional state rival for the 10th year in a row. It was the Aggies' eighth loss against two victories this season.

Though the first period was scoreless, the issue never was in doubt.

Oklahoma hammered out three touchdowns in the first seven minutes of the second period, added two in the third and three more scores in the final stanza.

The Sooners' lead in national rushing appeared secure with Saturday's 344-yard total added to it. A&M rushed for only 130 yards.

Quarterback Jimmy Harris and sophomore halfback Clendon Thomas each scored twice for Oklahoma. Halfbacks Robert Burris, Tommy McDonald and Robert Derrick and end Joe Mobra also went over for touchdowns.

Fullback Billy Pricer, halfback Carl Dodd and quarterback Bill Sturm booted extra points.

Eddie Teague, backfield coach for Maryland, scouted the game. He said he saw several new gimmicks in Oklahoma's techniques, and was particularly impressed with its backfield speed.

He said McDonald "is faster than anyone we have."

It was the third Oklahoma game Teague has scouted this season.

"Every game I've seen something new that we'll have to work on," Teague said.

One of Thomas' scores came on a 65-yard punt return. But the standout offensive showing was turned in by McDonald. He led in rushing with 84 yards in 14 carries and completed three of four passes for 65 yards.

Bud Wilkinson, completing his fourth undefeated season in nine years as coach here, used 55 players.

AFTER SECOND QUARTER

'Knew We Could Pick Up,'-Holleder

PHILADELPHIA (U.P.) — "Send 'em to the Cotton Bowl! Send 'em to the Sugar Bowl. Send 'em anywhere!"

A hooting, shouting Army football team, flushed with its 14-6 upset victory over Navy at Municipal Stadium Saturday, almost tore the roof off its dressing room with these and other gibes after beating its arch rival.

Nobody realized better than the Army team that it had knocked the Midshipmen out of a bowl game on New Year's Day. A representative of the Cotton Bowl was on hand to extend the sailors an invitation—if they won.

• • • •

DON HOLLEDER, who weathered an entire season of criticism about his quarterbacking of the Army team, said this victory over Navy "made it all worthwhile."

"We knew we had them when we moved the length of the field at the end of the second quarter. Sure the clock ran out and we didn't score. But we moved them around with such ease we knew we could pick up in the third quarter."

Coach Earl (Red) Blaik held his usual post Army-Navy court with reporters and disclaimed any bowl hopes for the Cadets.

• • • •

"SUCH THINGS aren't up to me, but personally it has been a long season," Blaik said. "I've had enough."

"Our kids were under great pressure in the first 20 minutes of the game—enough to take the heart out of any team. But unlike what they have done in other games this year they did not beat themselves."

"Navy pulled a double flanker and several other offensive things that took us some time to adjust to. We had to realign our defensive setup. They also came up with a six-man line, something they have not come up with this year. We then had to adjust our offense," Blaik said.

"We just fumbled too much," was the mumbled refrain in the Navy dressing room otherwise silent. Anyone who spoke did so in whispers.

• • • •

COACH EDDIE ERDELATZ, choking back tears—went around consoling the players individually. Quarterback George Welsh, end Ron Beagle and fullback Dick Guest were assured by him, they had played a good game.

Blood and tears mixed on Guest's face. The fullback's nose was broken in the first half and he played the last two periods with a plastic guard over it.

Welsh just sat staring at the floor and had to be prodded to reveal his passing hand had been stepped on late in the game.

Erdelatz refused to say what he thought was the turning point of the game although at first he ventured it might have been when Navy fumbled and Army recovered on its own 13 late in the second quarter with the Middies leading 6-0.

BOWL HOPES RUINED

Last Period Volunteer Rally Tumbles Vanderbilt, 20-14

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (U.P.) — Tennessee rang out midnight for Vanderbilt's "Cinderella" team Saturday with two last quarter touchdowns that blasted the Commodores' Sugar Bowl dream by a 20-14 score.

Only 15 minutes more and New Orleans would have sent for the Commodores in a golden coach. But Tennessee's new coach, Bowden Wyatt, used those fleeting minutes to carry out his primary assignment—beat Vanderbilt.

Tailback Johnny Majors, the Vols' Southeastern Conference do-it-all, and his substitute, Al Carter, did it for Wyatt and the jinx that had followed Vandy on Tennessee's home grounds held good. Only twice in their 63-year rivalry has Vandy won at Shields-Watkins Field.

With a crowd of 35,600 on hand, Carter threw a 43-yard pass to end Bill Anderson for the winning score. Only minutes before, Majors had passing 10 yards to Buddy Cruze to bring Tennessee from behind and Tommy Priest kicked the tying point.

Before that, TD charges by churnin' Charley Horton and Phil King had put Vanderbilt's best season in 15 years and its first bowl invitation within grasp. As it was, Vanderbilt finished with a 7-3 record, still giving Coach Art Guepe a respectable season.

WEISS GIVEN 6-YEAR PACT

NEW YORK (U.P.) — George Weiss, the "pennant-maker" of the New York Yankees, under whose direction they won six flags in eight years, received a new contract Saturday as general manager for a six-year period extending through 1961.

Weiss signed after a brief conference with co-owner Dan Topping.

Weiss had another year to go on his present contract, but Topping, pleased by the fine record Weiss had achieved since he succeeded Larry MacPhail as general manager in 1947, decided to tear up the old pact. He was given a big raise.

Larsen, Ayala in Argentina Finals

BUENOS AIRES (U.P.)—Art Larsen, veteran San Leandro, Calif., amateur, Saturday defeated Chile's Andres Hammersley, 6-3, 6-4, 2-6, 8-6, to gain the finals of the Argentina tennis championships.

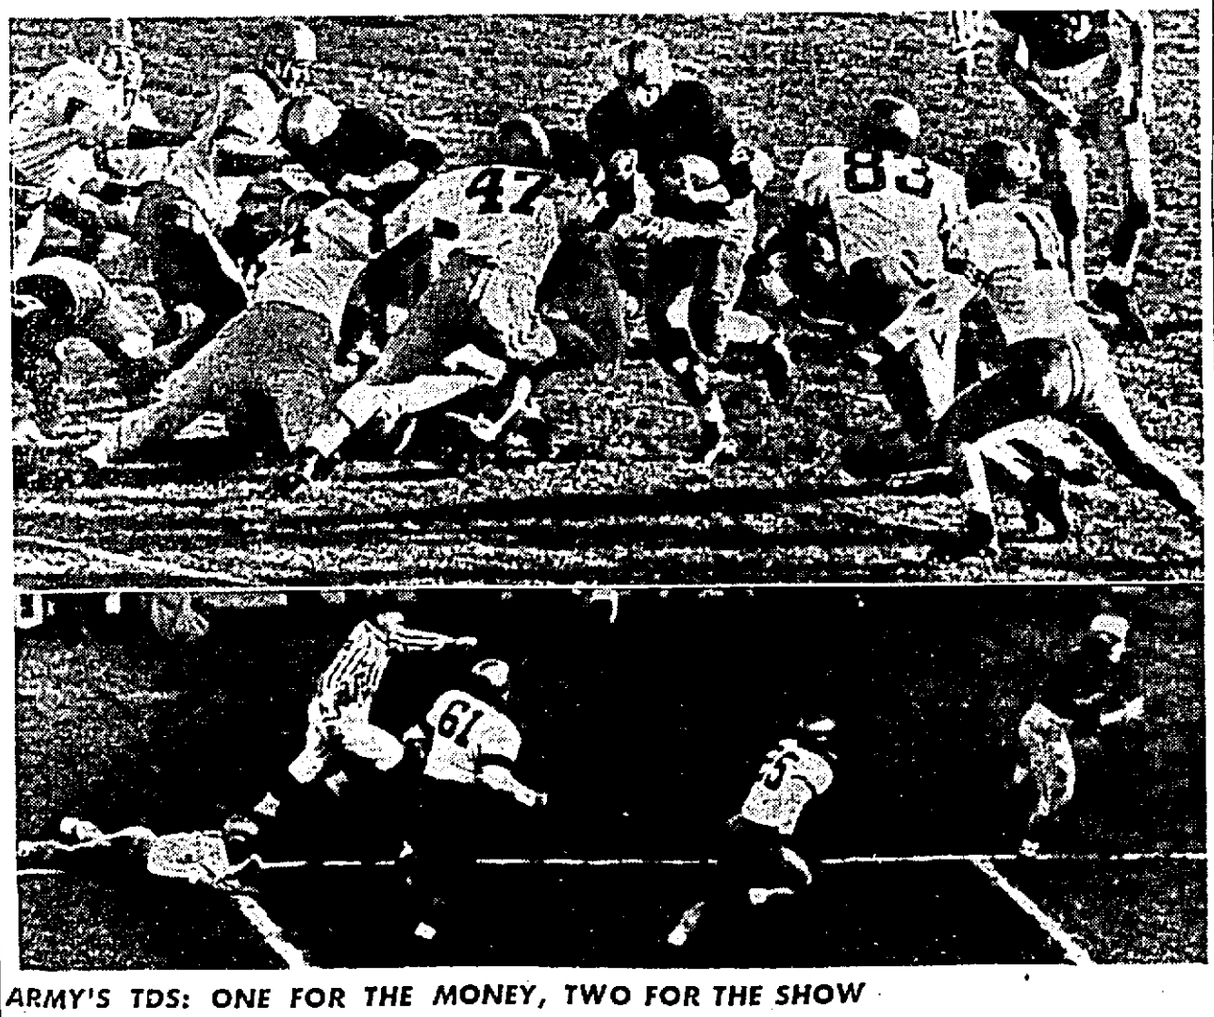

Larsen will meet another Chilean, Luis Ayala, for the title today. Ayala upset the defending champion, Argentina's Enrique Morea, 8-6, 6-4, 6-2.

34-19 VICTORY FOR ESKIMOS

VANCOUVER, B. C. (U.P.)—Edmonton's Eskimos came from behind in the second half Saturday to defeat the Montreal Alouettes, 34-19, in the Grey Cup classic for the Canadian Professional Football title.

The victory gave Edmonton, the Western Canada titlist, the championship for the second straight year—the only time a Western club ever has done it.

A wild crowd of 39,417 saw quarterback Jack Parker guide Edmonton to two second half touchdowns and a field goal to wipe out the Eastern champions' 10-18 halftime lead.

LUBBOCK (U.P.)—Texas Tech guard Hal Broadfoot blocked quarterback Ken Ford's punt Saturday in the third quarter for a safety that gave Tech a 16-14 victory over Hardin-Simmons.

The Red Raiders immediately accepted a Sun Bowl invitation.

The teams traded touchdowns in the second and third periods.

Halfback Ronnie Herr scored on a two-yard plunge and fullback Jim Sides tallied on a six-yard run for Tech. Quarterback John Lyle passed to halfback Dan Villarela for 26 yards and the first Cowboy tally, while fullback Pete Hart ran 18 yards for the other.

Clemson Crushes Furman, 40-20

GREENVILLE, S.C. (U.P.)—Surprising Furman put up a fight in a free-scoring game with Clemson Saturday before the highly favored Tigers rolled to a 40-20 victory behind the brilliant running of halfback Joel Wells and fullback Billy O'Dell.

Wells set a new Atlantic Coast Conference rushing record for a single game with 175 yards in 24 carries.

Holy Cross Miscues Aid Eagles' 26-7 Win

BOSTON (U.P.)—Favored Boston College turned three pass interceptions and a Holy Cross fumble into touchdowns to score in every period and trounce the Crusaders, 26-7, in the 52nd meeting between the two archrivals before 37,235 shivering fans Saturday.

Quarterback Billy Donlan and halfback Ed DeSilva scored twice each for the Eagles but it was the alert defensive work of the Eagle line that set-up the Boston College scores. End Emerson Dickey picked off two Crusader passes that led to Eagle scores. Larry Plenty intercepted another pass and tackle Dick Myles recovered a Holy Cross bobble.

• • • •

HOLY CROSS scored as quarterback Tom Roberts found Dick Arcand clear on the Boston College 15 and the Crusader end went the remaining distance after snatching the pass from two defenders to complete a spectacular 46-yard play in the second period.

The luckless Crusaders saw six of their aerials fall into enemy hands and Boston College linemen snapped up four of their fumbles.

Boston College moved 76 yards in the first period with Donlan sneaking over from the one. The Eagles scored again in the second period, DeSilva tallying from the nine. He scored from the two in the third quarter and Donlan sneaked over in the final quarter.

Auburn Blanks 'Bama, 26-0

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (U.P.)—Millard Howell Tubbs, who was named after Alabama's greatest passer but wound up at rival Auburn, threw for two touchdowns against "Dixie" Howell's old school Saturday and kept the Plainsmen in the running for a third straight Gator Bowl bid with a 26-0 victory over the Crimson Tide.

Auburn had hoped for a trip this time to the Sugar or Cotton Bowl. But after Georgia Tech and Mississippi were chosen for those games the Gator was the only post-season attraction left.

Tubbs ran for another score and ground-eaters Fob James, Jr., and Joe Childress, All-America fullback, did all the rest that was necessary as Auburn romped effortlessly over an Alabama team that hasn't won a game since mid-1954 and has lost all 10 this year.

Tubbs is said to have been rejected by the school that his dad picked out for him when he named him for Alabama's Rose Bowl hero. A high school injury in Birmingham had made his football future questionable.

Auburn snapped him up and this season Tubbs led Auburn to an 8-1-1 record as successor to the mighty Bobby Freeman.

The Auburn version of "Dixie" Howell tossed for two touchdowns in the second period, both to end Jerry Elliott in almost identical plays. One was for 23 yards, capping an 80-yard drive. Then Auburn moved 90 yards, with Tubbs passing 10 yards to Elliott for the score.

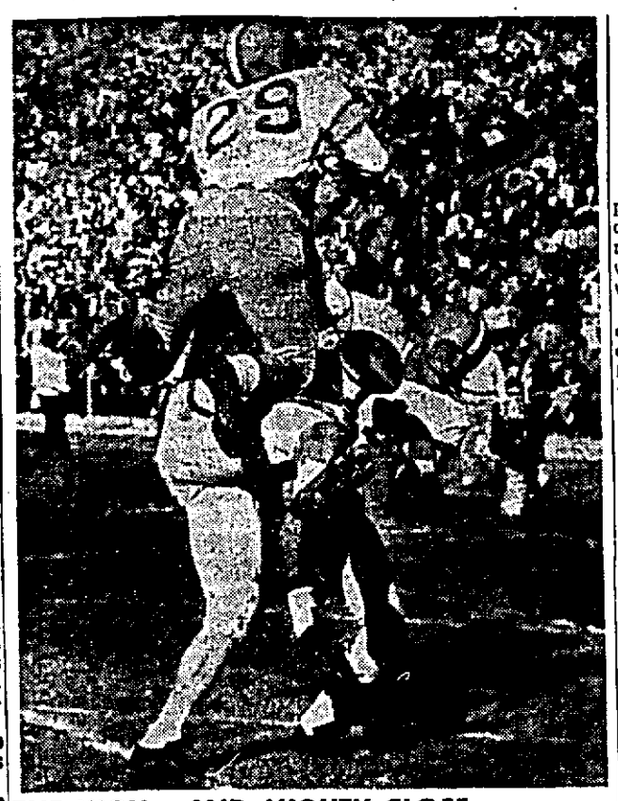

Auburn's third touchdown was made by Childress after sub tackle Paul Terry recovered an Alabama fumble on the Crimson Tide 20 in the third period. Big Joe crunched out most of the yardage in nine plays, scoring from the two.

With Alabama flailing fruitlessly, Auburn had an 85-yard drive left for the fourth period with Tubbs, James and Childress doing the moving. Tubbs burst across standing from the two-yard line.

Underdog Tulane Holds off LSU to Gain 13-13 Deadlock

BATON ROUGE, La. (U.P.)—Underdog Tulane rode the passing and dazzling running of quarterback Gene Newton for two touchdowns in the first half Saturday, then held on doggedly to tie favored Louisiana State University, 13-13, before 55,000 fans.

After Tulane's second touchdown, LSU end Billy Smith dashed in and blocked a conversion attempt by Tulane's Emmett Zelenka. Then after LSU's first touchdown in the third period, Durwood Graham booted the extra point, but a 15 yard holding penalty against the Tigers nullified it. On the next try from 18 yards out, he missed.

THE CONTEST WAS a battle between two heralded sophomore quarterbacks—Newton for Tulane and M. C. Reynolds for LSU. Newton scored the second Tulane touchdown in the second period on a six yard run, and set up the first one with his passing and dazzling running. The touchdown was scored by fullback Ronnie Quillian on an 18-yard run after Newton faked Tiger defenders out of the way.

LSU roared back in the fading minutes of the second period and drove 70 yards for a score with fullback O. K. Ferguson going over from the one.

LSU's tieing touchdown came in the final period when Reynolds hit halfback Chuck Johns with a 21 yard scoring pass.

MEETS DeMARCO

Basilio in 1st Defense

BOSTON (U.P.)—Welterweight champion Carmen Basilio puts his title on the line for the first time Wednesday night when he meets ex-champ Tony DeMarco in a return match of last June's slugfest.

The 15-rounder will be televised nationally over ABC at 7 p.m. (Pst). Basilio is rated a slight favorite to retain the title he won from DeMarco via a 12th round TKO last June 10 in Syracuse, N. Y.

Both fighters have looked sharp in training and neither says he will have trouble making the 147-pound weight limit.

Arnett, Two Bruins Make Writers' AA

Jon Arnett of SC and Hardiman Cureton and Rommie Loudd of UCLA have been named to the 1955 Look Magazine All-America football team, it was announced Saturday.

Cureton was singled out by the 780 members of the Football Writers Association, who make the All-America selections, as the "top interior lineman on the West Coast." He was the bulwark of the rugged Bruin defense.

The complete squad:

Ends: Ron Beagle, Navy; Lon Kramer, Michigan; Rommie Loudd, UCLA; Harold Burnine, Missouri.
Tackles: Sam Huff, West Virginia; Norman Masters, Michigan State; Herb Gray, Texas; Hardiman Cureton, UCLA.
Guards: Calvin Jones, Iowa; Jim Parker, Ohio State; Bo Bolinger, Oklahoma; Tony Sardisco, Tulane.
Centers: Bob Pellegrini, Maryland; Hugh Pitts, TCU.
Backs: Earl Morrall, Michigan State; Paul Hornung, Notre Dame; Howard Cassady, Ohio State; Jim Swink, TCU; Dan Davis; Jon Arnett, SC; Don Schaefer, Notre Dame, and Joe Childress, Auburn.

Loudd Lone West Star on NBC All-America

IN THIS CORNER with DICK ZEHMS

This is football's finest success story in 1955.

New York's School for Deaf at White Plains has just stowed away its second straight undefeated season. Next fall when the team trots out onto the field it will carry a 12-straight victory record into battle.

On first thought, this is hardly remarkable. On closer inspection, however, it reveals handicaps of unusual nature which must be overcome to make a team function without audible signals. Practice sessions create other problems. Players who cannot hear the signal cadence on offense are liable to mess things up.

When should the center snap the ball? How is the play called in the huddle? How will the linemen known when to charge on the attack?

These handicaps didn't bother the White Plains team. It steamrollered past New Jersey School for Deaf, 58-13; Storm King, 55-7; Fieldston, 26-0; Barnard, 47-0; American School for Deaf, 34-0, and Connecticut Junior Republic, 39-13.

Paul Kennedy, the school's mathematics instructor who doubles as football and basketball coach, explains it all this way:

"Our players depend upon lip reading and sign language to get what I am saying in practice sessions. Therefore, they pay much closer attention than most youngsters. Use of sign language is a departure from classroom practice, where all teaching is oral.

"On the playing field, the players depend chiefly on visible signals. The huddle discussions are in sign language. Plays from the single wing start when the fullback thrusts his hands downward, our signal to begin the play.

"The fullback makes this motion on all plays, even if another back is to get the ball. If our opponents try to get a fast start on us, we mix in a decoy signal.

"The center watches between his legs for the call. This position naturally limits his blocking effectiveness. In the T formation, the center snaps the ball when he gets "spanked" by the quarterback. The other linemen keep an eye on the ball for their cue to charge."

COMPLICATIONS. Need of the linemen to see the snap of the ball forces them to line up in a sweptback formation with the ends almost a yard farther back of the scrimmage line than the center.

"Our linemen depend on peripheral vision to keep the opposition in sight while they eye the ball," Kennedy explains.

He tried many different formations when he began coaching the Golden Tornadoes in 1946 before he came upon the solution to the fast-charge problem.

He stationed the guards an extra step back from the scrimmage with the tackles a half step closer to it and the ends in their regular positions.

"In that setup," he explains, "the ends had to turn their heads at a right angle to see the ball and lost the image of the opposition. If the guards and tackles were not back far enough, the ends wound up offside."

This alignment made the quarterback in the T too well exposed, and in the single wing the guard was too close to a backfield man and had too far to travel for a quick opening play.

"Finally we evolved the sweptback wing line and it eliminated the offside and increased the vision of the linemen," he went on.

Stopping of a play poses no problem. "We have very little piling on after the whistle," he said. "The players usually can see when a play is ended."

PERSONAL TOUCH. Instead of a lot of blackboard work to explain to the boys what he wants done, Kennedy pursues a different coaching tack.

"I found the best way is to work through the plays on the practice field, showing each man his assignment as we go along," he stated. "This system has produced the best results, fine downfield blocking and a good sound, versatile attack."

Kennedy's squad numbers 26, averaging around 150 pounds per man. Of their loyalty, Kennedy has this to say:

"I don't believe any team could be more loyal. If I told them to run head first into the goal posts, I think they would."

The Tornadoes' current winning streak began with the last game of 1953, extended through a five-game 1954 schedule and through a six-game '55 program. Since 1946, Kennedy has coached his teams to 47 victories, while losing only 12.

Moreover, his basketball teams have won 166 games while losing only 58.

Here, obviously, is a man with a magic touch. His success can be measured in terms more important than the couple won and lost columns, though. Deafness, he has proved, is no deterrent to achievement on the athletic field.

Think what he has made this mean to handicapped youngsters who like to flex a muscle now and then on the field of sport!

37 Top Collegians Go in NFL Draft Monday

PHILADELPHIA (U.P.)—The National Football League holds its earliest player draft in history Monday in an effort to meet Canadian competition for America's top grid talent.

Bert Bell, commissioner of the NFL, says owners, general managers and coaches of the 12-league franchises will meet in a hotel here at 10 a. m. (EST) Monday for the first three rounds of the annual draft.

Actually, 37 players will be selected since the first order of business will be the bonus choice. This is a draw out of the hat initiated by Bell nine years ago.

Under the rules of the bonus draw, the lucky team drops out until all 12 clubs have had an opportunity to win. Only Green Bay, Pittsburgh and the Chicago Cardinals are still in the bonus field.

The order in which the teams will draft depends on the results of today's games. Under draft regulations the clubs select according to their standing in the league with the last place team first and the first place occupant last.

Reliable reports indicate that if either Green Bay or the Pittsburgh Steelers win the bonus choice they'll select Ohio State's great running back, Howard Cassady. Should the Chicago Cardinals hold the winning straw, Earl Morrall, Michigan State quarterback, appears to be Coach Ray Richards' choice. Other possible bonus picks include Maryland's center, Bob Pellegrini, and Penn State halfback Lenny Moore.

FINAL WEEK

Duke-Tar Game on TV

The 1955 football season's official slate of regularly-scheduled games will be concluded this week with the nation's grid fans being presented with one more "big game" on television—the annual struggle between Duke and North Carolina on Saturday.

The battle between the two Atlantic Coast Conference powers will be telecast over KRCA (Channel 4).

In other games, Arizona State of Tempe plays Hawaii in Honolulu Friday night; Wyoming plays at Houston Saturday, while Florida State meets Tampa Saturday night.

Quick Cards 65, Leads Littler by One Stroke

Gene Littler, who hadn't missed a birdie putt under 10 feet all day, three-putted from 10 feet—the last miss an 18-incher—to bogey the 18th hole and allow defending champion Smiley Quick to gain the first-round lead in the 36-hole Pomona Valley Open at Los Serranos golf course in Chino.

Quick birdied all five par-five holes in his bag of eight to post a wicked seven-under par 65. Littler had a 66, three strokes ahead of Jerry Barber and National Junior champion Phil Rodgers. Jimmy Clark was Friday's split-round leader with a 67.

Littler was four under par for the first five holes. He had an eagle-3 on the 490-yard third on a 20-foot. The tournament concludes today. Saturday's results:

65—Smiley Quick, 33-32.
66—Gene Littler, 31-35.
69—Jerry Barber, 33-36; Phil Rodgers, 37-32.
70—Bill Casper, 34-36; Al Feldman, 36-34; Dr. Bud Taylor, 37-33.
71—Ralph Blomquist, 34-37; Ed Korylak, 35-36.
72—Ralph Evans, 35-37; Charles Elford, 37-35.
73—Paul Runyan, 36-37; Ted Rhodes, 35-38; Ed Bates, 34-37; Steve Shaw, 36-37; Dick Davies, 37-36.
74—Bill Spiller, 39-35; Bob Bissett, 36-38; Jay Ross, 37-37; Lou Warobick, 37-37.
75—Howard Smith, 35-38; Marshall Holt, 38-37.

Blocked PAT Nets Miami 7-6 Triumph

MIAMI (U.P.)—Halfback Johnny Bookman, who usually uses his blinding speed on offense, made a defensive sprint to block an extra point try Saturday and gave Miami a 7-6 victory over Florida in a bone-bruiser before 49,362 fans.

Magnificent punting by Florida's Allen, Don Chandler and Jon May and the clashing linebacking of center Steve De La Tore kept Miami's ground attack churning in the shadow of its own goal.

But little Mario Bonofiglio, demoted to the third string and tabbed the team's goat after Miami's losses to Georgia Tech, Notre Dame and Texas Christian, sparked the Hurricanes on a 59-yard scoring march in the first period.

Palming the ball like a magician, Bonofiglio alternated handoffs to John Varone and fullback Don Bosseler to carry to the Florida 12.

The 164-pound quarterback crossed up Florida and weaved the final 12 yards on the split-T keep play. Ed Oliver made good on the extra point.

Florida plunged right back to march 77 yards to score early in the second period. Fullback Joe Brodsky cracked over from the one but Bookman blocked Dick Allen's conversion try.

Three Teams Tie at Rio Hondo; 65 for Richards

Les Ryder, Dale Norquist, Dick Clover and Hal Higgins, representing the host club, combined on a 64 best ball Saturday to share first place with teams from Clock and Rancho after the first round of the Al Bryant Memorial Invitational at Rio Hondo golf course in Downey. Ted Richards, playing on the Rancho team, had a six-under par 65 for individual honors.

64—Reno Sirrine, Lloyd Winslow, Frank Giarelli, Bob Reed—Clock, 33-31; Ted Richards, Bob Howe, Dick Chapman, Harry Packham—Rancho, 32-32; Les Ryder, Dale Norquist, Dick Clover, Hal Higgins—Rio Hondo, 33-31.

Fairfield Shoots 68 for 3-Stroke Lead

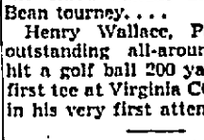

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (U.P.)—Don Fairfield, a young shotmaker from Casey, Ill., fashioned a four-under par 68 Saturday to take a three-stroke lead after 36 holes in the $5,000 West Palm Beach open golf tournament.

With 18 holes left to play, Fairfield had a score of 141.

He wrested the lead from Dow Finsterwald, who fell into a second-place tie with Wally Ulrich and Mike Fetchik. Finsterwald had a 72 Saturday, Ulrich 70, and Fetchik 71.

FAKE FIELD GOAL ATTEMPT FOOLS IRISH, SETS UP THIRD TROJAN TOUCHDOWN

Faced with a fourth down and six yards to go on the Notre Dame 17 early in the second quarter, SC completely fooled Irish by faking a field goal attempt and passing instead to Jon Arnett. Bob Isaacson was sent in with the kicking tee and quarterback Ellsworth Kissinger was set to hold. Kissinger, however, faded back to pass and hit Arnett with a screen pass, good for eight yards and a first down on the Irish 9. Arnett scored two plays later to give SC 21-7 lead.—(Staff sequence photos by Roger Coar).

Action Story of Trojans' Thrilling Win Over Irish

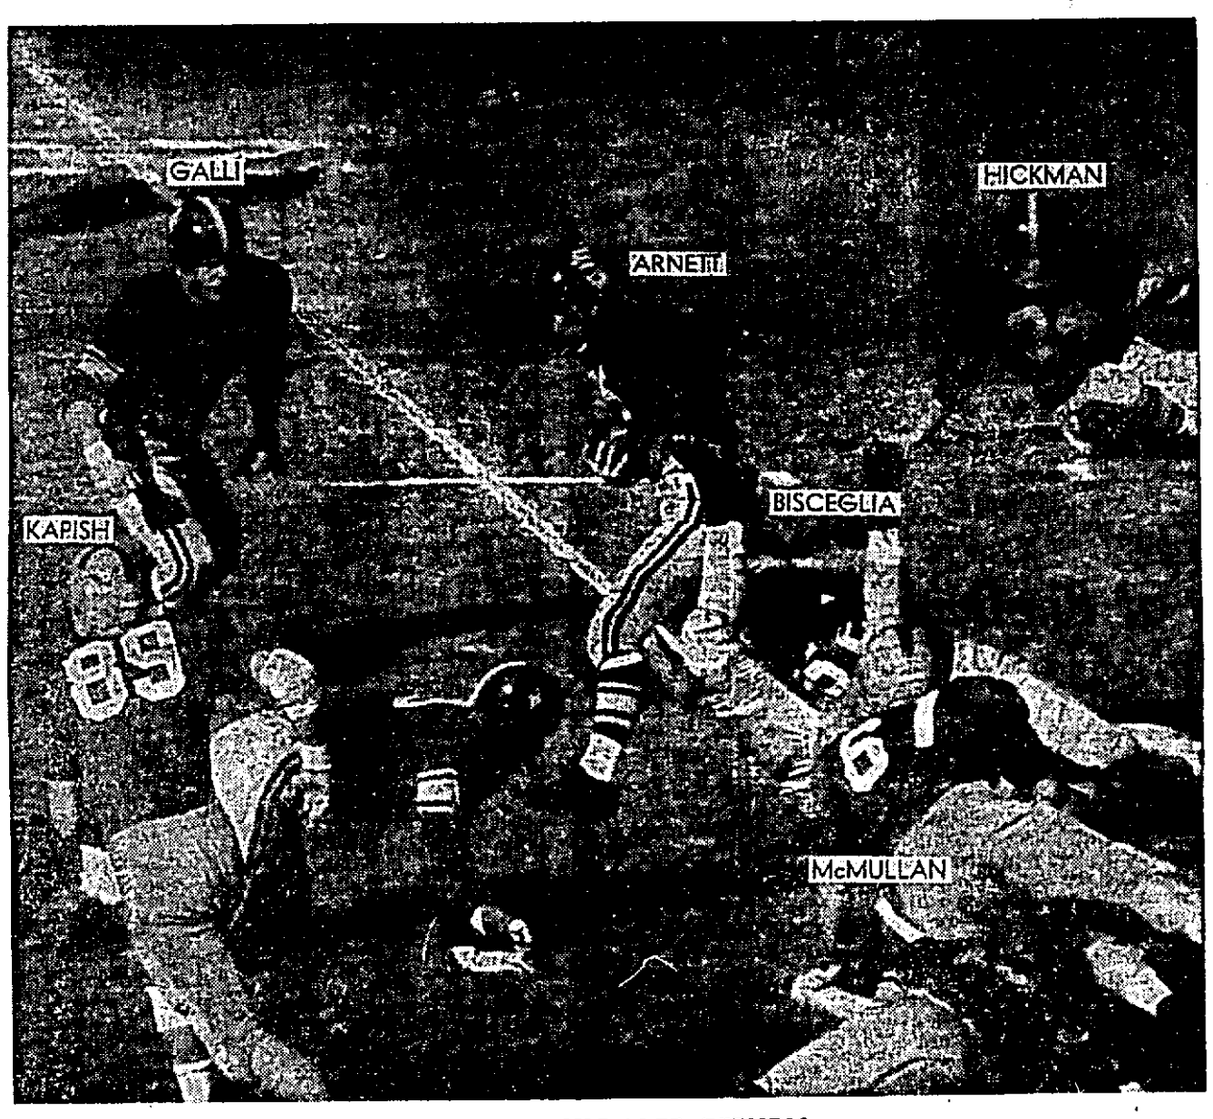

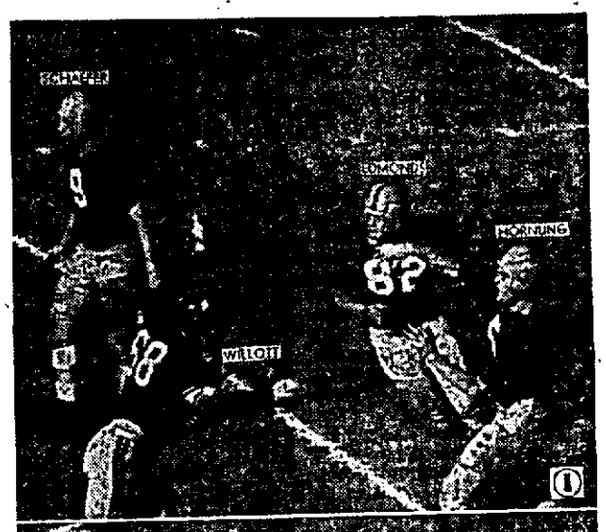

SC FUMBLES FOR SIX POINTS

Jon Arnett sweeps right end for 10 yards and touchdown to give SC 21-7 lead in second period. Arnett was hit on goal line and fumbled as he went into end zone. Although I, P-T sequence camera shows Arnett may not have had full possession of ball when he crossed goal line, officials ruled he had scored before fumbling.—(Staff sequence photo by Roger Coar)

ARNETT ALMOST BREAKS AWAY ON KICKOFF RETURN

78-YARD IRISH TD PLAY

Notre Dame quarterback Paul Hornung fires perfect pass to halfback Jim Morse for second Irish touchdown. Play was good for 78 yards. Morse caught ball on Irish 45 and galloped 55 remaining yards to score. (Staff Photo by Roger Coar)

SCREEN PASS—KISSINGER TO ROBERTS—NETS 20 YARDS AND TROJAN FIRST DOWN

Quarterback Ellsworth Kissinger pitches a 20-yard screen pass to fullback C. R. Roberts, good for first down on Notre Dame 43 on third play of Saturday's Coliseum classic. Trojans scored their first touchdown a few minutes later en route to 42-20 triumph.—(Staff Photo by Bryan Hodgson)

Time's Square Captures Last Leg of Rich Pacing Classic

HOLLYWOOD PARK—Time's Square launched a stretch charge at Hollywood Park Saturday that carried him to a half length victory over Philip Scott in the final leg of the $75,000 American Pacing Classic and somewhat confused the final standings of the world's richest pacing event. Some 15,200 saw the final program of the 36-day sulky meeting.

In the summary of the three legs of the Pacing Classic, Time's Square, who finished fourth, third and first, ties for top honor with Hillsota, who won the first dash, finished fourth the second time out and was third Saturday.

Saul Camp's Diamond Hal, who was a 1-2 favorite Saturday but faded after setting the early pace, got third place in the final rankings for the Classic off his victory in the second leg. He was fifth Saturday and finished tenth in the first heat.

Diamond Hal had no excuses. O'Brien hustled him into the lead from his outside post position and he flashed by the quarter pole in 29 flat. Little Joe shut off the air the next quarter but was still in front when the field reached thalf in 1:00 4/5.

Rounding the far turn the rest of the six-horse field began to charge at the leader and Hillsota took the race track coming into the stretch. Diamond Hal launched a retailiatory drive but couldn't keep up.

Two hundred yards from home Hillsota looked like a winner but then McKinley Kirk stepped on the gas to get Times Square home first, followed by Philip Scott, which has been second in all three heats of the Classic.

B'Haven got up in time to edge Diamond Hal for fourth spot.

Time's Square and Hillsota both earned $17,083.33 for their efforts in the Classic. They not only earned equal amounts of money, and finished on even terms in the summary but both posted identical times of 1:59 in their winning heats.

18-Day Meeting Scheduled

The quick quarter horses take over the top spot on the Southland's sports calendar Monday afternoon as Los Alamitos Race Course opens its sixth racing season.

An estimated 5,000 race fans are expected to be on hand for the opening of a meeting that is almost as quick as the quarter horses themselves. The meeting is scheduled for but 18 days with racing six days a week through Dec. 17.

Post time for the first race weekdays is 1 p. m., advancing to 12:30 p. m. on Saturdays.

• • • •

A FIELD OF 10 of the swiftest quarter horses in the business was named for the opening day stake, the featured $2,500 Clabberton G. at 350 yards, with last spring's Los Alamitos champion, Moon Deck, heading the list.

Moon Deck, recently purchased by J. V. A. Carter for $9,000, holds the track record of 27.4 seconds for 549 yards.

The others named for the Clabbertown G. were Black Mikette, Bull Eagle, Ariel Gazelle, Red Pepper Dee, Palamino Joe, Miss Meyers, Bobbie Leo, Vanetta Dee, and Miss Pitapat.

• • • •

MORE THAN $200,000 has been spent since last spring to improve the Los Alamitos layout, including additional dining, seating, and wagering facilities for the clubhouse.

Of equal interest with the performance of the horses will be the race for the jockey championship. Two boys, Joe Hungerford and Ronald Banks, open the season tied for the national quarter horse racing title, and their efforts at Los Alamitos will determine who winds up with the crown.

Two other stakes are down for decision this week, both on Saturday. They are the $2,500 Hard Twist for horses of all ages at 350 yards and the Pacific Coast Quarter Horse Racing Assn. California-bred stakes for 2-year-olds at 350 yards.

Saints' CIF Quest, Local Cage Invitational Top Week's Slate

St. Anthony's Saints, 20-13 victor over Centennial last Friday night, continue their quest for the CIF football championship this week against Beverly Hills. The game is tentatively scheduled for Friday night at a site to be decided Monday.

Other local schools begin their basketball seasons in earnest this week. Jordan, Poly and Wilson will play in the Long Beach Invitational beginning Wednesday, while LBCC hosts two practice game foes.

The Long Beach Invitational will be hosted by Poly this year and the Jackrabbits rank among the favorites for the title in the four-day affair. The Hares, Jordan and Wilson all draw first-round byes and will open title bids Thursday. The week's schedule:

Monday
Basketball—Wilson at Newport, 8 p.m.

Tuesday
Basketball—San Diego Marines vs. LBCC, LBCC gym, 8 p.m.; St. Anthony's at Compton, 8 p.m.

Wednesday
Basketball — Long Beach Invitational tourney, Jordan and Poly gyms, 2:30 p. m.

Thursday
Basketball—Wilson vs. Montebello-Lynwood winner, Jordan High gym, 3 p.m.; Jordan vs. San Bernardino-No. Torrance winner, Jordan gym, 4:15 p.m.; Poly vs. Redondo-Torrance winner, Poly gym, 3:45 p.m., (all games in L. B. Invitational).

Friday
Basketball — L. B. Invitational, Poly gym, first game 3 p.m.; Huntington Beach at St. Anthony's, 3 p.m.; Mt. SAC at LBCC, 8 p.m.
Football—St. Anthony's vs. Beverly Hills (time and site to be named Monday).

Saturday
Basketball — L. B. Invitational, Poly gym, first game 5:45 p.m.

'55 FINALE

Rockets vs. 20th Century

The Long Beach Rockets close their semipro baseball season this afternoon when they meet 20th Century Fox in a playoff of their 5-5, 10-inning tie of Nov. 13. Game time is 2:15 p.m. at Recreation Park.

Bill Feistner's Rockets will be idle until late in January when many of Long Beach's minor league stars will report for some limbering up prior to the start of spring training.

While the Rockets are off, the Recreation Park diamond will be thoroughly overhauled by the Recreation Dept.

Top Drivers Expected in Palm Spring Race

Most of the Southland's top drivers will be entered in the ninth running of the Palm Springs Road Race, Dec. 3-4, under the sponsorship of the California Sports Car Club in cooperation with the Long Beach MG Club.

Twelve races are scheduled over the 2.3-mile concrete and black top course.

Bargain Auto Bill at Stadium

Local auto racing fans will be treated to a bargain doubleheader at Veterans Memorial Stadium this afternoon. An 11-event program is scheduled, featuring both AJA jalopies and stock cars. Time trials get under way at 1 p.m. and the first race is scheduled for 2 p.m.

Eight of the races will feature jalopies of the American Jalopy Assn. The AJA also will play host to the Circle City CAA from San Bernardino and the Carpinteria Association. Each group will be represented by its top 10 drivers in an inter-association invitational championship race.

Danny Letner is the AJA's top championship hope. Letner also holds the 1955 Pacific Coast late model stock car title.

The three-event stock car portion of the program will bring together 30 of the top Southland drivers, headed by Tom Casteel of Torrance. These cars are strictly stock with only safety equipment added.

No Wrestling

There will be no wrestling at Municipal Auditorium this week. Programs will resume Thursday, Dec. 8.

No MSU Choice Yet on Bruins' Movies

PHILADELPHIA (UP)— Duffy Daugherty, coach of Michigan State's Spartans who is here for the Army-Navy game, said Saturday he had not decided which movies he would ask to examine of UCLA football games. The Rose Bowl teams, under the rules, permit opponent examination of the movies of two games. Daugherty figures UCLA will ask for the Michigan game movies—"because that's the only one we lost."

THOROUGHBRED ROUNDUP

Sailor Wins at Pimlico as Social Outcast 3rd

(Compiled from AP and UP)

The Brookmeade Stable's Sailor, who gained an easy victory in the Roamer Handicap in his last start, matched that performance Saturday by turning back seven rivals in the $50,000 Pimlico Special at Baltimore, Md.

Ridden by Hedley Woodhouse, Sailor, the fifth choice of 20,275 fans, took the lead soon after the start and led the rest of the way in winning by two and one-half lengths. The Llangollen Farm's Mister Gus finished second, a nose in front of A. G. Vanderbilt's Social Outcast, the 13-10 favorite.

Sailor ran the 1 3/16 miles course in 1:57 3/5, and returned $24.00, $11.00 and $5.00. It was the colt's eighth win of the year in 12 starts and was worth $40,000. Jet Action, Prendase, Hasseyampa, Nance's Lad and Thinking Cap completed the field in that order.

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Kerr's Bobby Brocato led from the start in winning the $15,000 added San Francisco Handicap at Tanforan.

Jockey George Taniguchi broke Bobby Brocato on top of the eight-horse field and led all the way. Bobby Brocato's time for the mile and one-sixteenth was 1:44 2/5.

Karim, with Gordon Glisson up, finished second three lengths back. Bassanio, with Ray York, was third.

Postillion won the Turret Handicap in the sixth race, the program's secondary feature and returned $12.20, $6.60 and $4.50. Wind Wings was second and Pursuit third.

How We've Fared Under GOP Reign

THERE WAS A STRANGE, mystic quality about the meeting of Democratic bigwigs in Chicago the other day.

America's millions, at peace, well-clothed and well-fed, and preparing for one of their biggest Christmas spending sprees in history, can't be blamed if they fail to take Messrs. Stevenson, Harriman and Kefauver seriously when these Democratic presidential aspirants charge that domestic and foreign policies have been bungled.

At this point, the nearest thing the Democrats have to an issue is the farm problem, which isn't nearly as serious as they picture it and which certainly doesn't outweigh the excellent conditions in this country in general.

Much has been said about the farm situation. What about the city situation? How about conditions in the growing urban areas of this country—our own, for instance. What has happened in the past three years to influence us in one direction or another?

It will be remembered that predictions were made of dire days to come in the event of a Republican victory in 1952. What would happen in a rapidly growing area such as this if the "depressing" GOP took over?

The answer is that employment is at its highest and unemployment at its lowest in the history of the Long Beach-Lakewood area. As a Department of Employment official observed, "It's amazing. The population keeps going up by leaps and bounds, and the number of employed keeps pace, while the number of unemployed decreases!" Further, the Department of Employment reports an unusually large number of openings—jobs hunting for people to take them.

As everybody knows, general construction and homebuilding were booming activities in this area in 1952. People who'd never had homes of their own were beginning to get them.

During the campaign, partisans tried to scare the voters by telling them that construction would surely wane and housing would be constricted under heartless Republican policies.

However, construction has increased each year since 1952, and homebuilding and buying have proceeded at such a pace that Long Beach has used up virtually all of its available land.

We have shared peace, as we have shared good times, with the rest of the country. As for matters of special interest to the community—we can't overlook appropriations for Veterans Hospital improvement and assurances that Navy Shipyard will be retained.

If such things are typical of what the people can expect from Republican "bungling"—well, let's continue to have that sort of "bungling."

Sears Chairman Talks Sense on Farm Problem

SO MUCH POLITICAL misinformation has been circulated about the farm problem that it was refreshing to get this observation from Theodore V. Houser, board chairman of Sears, Roebuck & Co.:

"Neither political party is responsible for the fact that we have an agricultural economic problem."

Mr. Houser points out that the real problem stems from the rapid mechanization of farm operations. Fewer people are needed to produce our food and many farmers on the small farms have been unable to adjust themselves to the new conditions.

THEODORE V. HOUSER
'Neither Party Responsible'

With 5,300,000 farms in this country, some 2,100,000 farms produce more than 80 per cent of all agricultural products. These farms, says Mr. Houser, are of an economic size in this mechanical age.

Of the remaining 3,200,000 farm households, about half belong to workers who live in the country but are employed in a nearby city. They are not primarily farmers and farming accounts for only about 17 per cent of their income.

The remaining 1,600,000 farm families live on farms either too small or too poor from a yield standpoint to be economic producers. While they constitute almost one-third of the total farm families, they represent only 9 per cent of total farm production.

Here, continues Mr. Houser, lies the real farm problem. These are the victims of the industrial revolution applied to farms because they have not been able to adjust their lives accordingly.

Price supports, rigid or flexible, will never solve their problem. They are the casualties of "progress."

STEVENSON

Adlai Stevenson, in the October issue of Fortune, again shows why he is to be preferred over his rivals for the Democratic Presidential nomination.

Stevenson, who was asked to discuss the future of relations between business and government, says he thinks of this relationship "as essentially one of co-operation between two institutional forces wholly dependent upon each other."

In speaking of the "old snarling rituals," dating from the New Deal legislation of the Thirties, Gov. Stevenson makes this useful and pertinent comment:

"If there were but one 25-year goal to fix upon in this area it would be, for me, to stop the talk about a basic antagonism between American business and government, and replace such nonsense with a recognition of the common purposes and obligations of these two cornerstones of democratic capitalism."

Contrast, if you will, this sensible summation of what Stevenson calls "the new sense of commonality" with the intellectual vacuity of Averell Harriman.

Mr. Harriman observed "there is no such word as 'moderation' or 'middle-of-the-road' in the Democratic vocabulary.

While this comment was not exactly surprising to those who know Mr. Harriman well, it is the best evidence that the New York governor would make a poor President.

Are the Democrats Blundering Their Way Into Campaign as 'War Party'?

WASHINGTON—Are the Democrats blundering their way into the next campaign as the "war party?" This question is being asked now in view of the tenor of the recent speeches by Stevenson and Harriman.

The two rivals for the Democratic Presidential nomination have just given the country a preview of their arguments against President Eisenhower's peace policy, and it looks as if their alternative to peaceful negotiations might only be a belligerent policy that could, if the Democrats won the election, bring on the most terrible war in all history.

What do the Democrats really want? Before Geneva, Stevenson was making speeches demanding that the Eisenhower administration "compromise" with the Russians and insisting that there must be no bluster or intransigeance in the American delegation's attitude. Now he speaks of the "mists of illusion" at the "summit" conference and criticizes Mr. Eisenhower for alleged failure at Geneva. By the same token, Stevenson is criticizing Foreign Minister Macmillan of Great Britain and Foreign Minister Pinay of France, who, with Mr. Dulles, formulated the allied policy at Geneva.

Studying the ...

Stevenson also is demanding more armament. He says:

"America's military might has been reduced—while at the same time we talked louder and tougher. But if our threats were sincere, then our pretensions of peace were insincere. And if we did not mean what we said, then we were bluffing."

This is a strange role for Stevenson, and it is not made less belligerent by his remark that "our position is more perilous than it has been since Korea."

Gov. Harriman, to be sure, calls the whole Eisenhower foreign policy "a classic in the history of bungling." Is this because President Eisenhower, with the almost unanimous support of the American people, tried out a policy of conciliation at the first Geneva conference, as Mr. Stevenson and Sen. George urged? The President dealt with the leaders of the Russian government courteously and with the same good nature that has always been so characteristic of his personality. Now comes the backfire from the Democrats.

Much is being said derisively, for example, about Ike's "smiles" and there are Democratic party spokesmen who are accusing the President of having been drawn into a supposedly artificial post by the coaching of "the Madison Avenue boys." The public generally may not know what "Madison Avenue" symbolizes. It is a street in New York City where some of the best of the creative minds of America have their offices—and they have developed the most effective way to sell ideas through advertising that any country has ever known. They have contributed greatly to American prosperity and full employment. America needs more "Madison Avenue" knowledge and experience in "selling Americanism" to the rest of the world. But Mr. Eisenhower's kindliness and spirit of personal friendliness were born in him 65 years ago. Nobody in Madison Avenue had to teach him how to be a gentleman in representing the government of the United States.

The average American voter isn't going to be fooled by the outcry that the "failure" at Geneva was the fault of Mr. Eisenhower or John Foster Dulles. The American people are not going to blame these two staunch Americans for the stubbornness and obstinacy of Molotov and the Kremlin rulers.

Everybody knows that the refusal of the Russians to agree to the proposals laid down not merely by the United States but by France and Great Britain led to the "failure" at Geneva, and by no stretch of the partisan zeal can this be distorted into an American "failure." There are, of course, some critics who would prefer to hold Russia blameless if it only would fix blame on the President and Secretary of State of their own country and win an election. But, happily, American public opinion is too well informed to be misled by that kind of mischievous misinterpretation of the truth.

As for the Democratic speakers they will have to point out soon what they would have done before Geneva and what they would do now that the two Geneva conferences have been held. Would they go to war with Russia? Do they believe in preventing war? Would they surrender Germany to Russia and abandon all principles just to get a paper agreement?

Adlai Cool to Running With Kefauver

WASHINGTON — A high-placed and highly trusted mutual friend of both Sen. Estes Kefauver and Adlai Stevenson has sounded them out about avoiding a bitter Democratic battle and compromising on a Stevenson - Kefauver ticket. ex - President Truman has expressed himself privately as believing this would be one of the strongest the Democrats could nominate.

PEARSON

However, when the mutual friend approached Stevenson on taking Kefauver as Vice President, Adlai was lukewarm if not negative. He flatly refused to make any commitment, said this would be up to the party leaders to decide at the Democratic convention next August.

Among other things, Stevenson didn't want to discourage other Vice Presidential aspirants. He knows young, ambitious Gov. Clement of Tennessee wants to be Vice President, and that Clement, rather than Kefauver, may control the Tennessee delegation.

Adlai also lunched with Atty. Gen. Pat Brown of California not long ago and is not unfamiliar with the fact that Pat also would like to be Vice President—in return for delivering California to Adlai.

Stevenson also knows that young Bob Wagner, Mayor of New York City, is deserting Gov. Harriman and can split the New York delegation; and that Bob, too, would like to be Vice President. In this case he would be the first Catholic Vice President in history.

Likewise, Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri has been mentioned as a Vice Presidential possibility, together with Sen. "Scoop" Jackson of Washington and able Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, all able men.

Naturally, Stevenson didn't want to alienate any of these by accepting Kefauver in advance.

But as the conference progressed, Adlai made a further statement which just about insures a knockdown fight in the Democratic primaries.

He said that if Kefauver went into the Democratic primaries and caused him, Adlai, to shell out a lot of money and put up a tough fight to win, then he would never take Kefauver as his Vice-Presidential running mate. He would feel that they were opponents, not members of the same political team.

Californians May Secure Spots on Top Tickets of Both Parties

CALIFORNIANS can lay strong odds on the probability they'll have a chance to vote in 1956, if they're so disposed, on a candidate from their state for President or Vice President. Residents of no other state have a better chance.

It's not only that this state is well supplied with potential candidates, as it is, but its big population and electoral vote give it a pivotal spot in the planning of strategists of both major political parties. It could happen that Californians will show up on the top tickets of both parties.

EPLEY

So there's plenty of basis for the speculation that continues to name Gov. Goodwin J. Knight and Atty. Gen. Edmund G. Brown as possibilities for major recognition at next year's party conventions, along with Vice President Nixon, Sen. W. F. Knowland and Chief Justice Earl Warren, already well established in the "big time."

If President Eisenhower runs, it seems nearly a foregone conclusion that Nixon again will be his running mate. If he doesn't run, Nixon now has an inside chance for the top spot on the GOP ticket. But Sen. Knowland can't be counted out, and there are still those who argue that Chief Justice Warren, despite his personal determination to refuse if the offer comes, will not be able to turn down a "draft" from the GOP convention.

Gov. Knight has been mentioned as a possibility for both President and Vice President nominations. Recent reports from the East tell of rather strong talk about the California executive for a vice presidential nomination if an easterner or midwesterner should be given the presidential spot on the GOP ticket. Some of the "Knight for Vice President" talk stems from quarters where Nixon isn't popular.

However, it is difficult to envision Knight and Nixon competing for the vice presidential nomination. If it's Ike again, it'll very likely be Nixon for Vice President. If it isn't Ike, Nixon will probably be shooting for the Presidential nomination or nothing. It could turn out otherwise, but that's the way it looks now.

There has been little talk linking Sen. Knowland with the vice presidency. He has been rated as having an outside chance for the presidential nod if sentiment turns against Nixon and Ike is out of the picture. But Knowland, like Knight, can't be dismissed as a vice presidential possibility.

ALSO LOGICAL SOURCE FOR DEMOS

On the Democratic side, it wouldn't be at all illogical for the party to look to California for a running mate for its presidential nominee if the latter comes from some place east of the Rockies. Atty. Gen. Brown is the Democrats' top man in California and is a strong Stevenson backer.

Recent political history shows a strong trend toward consideration of Californians as vice-presidential timber. The then Gov. Warren could have had a place on the GOP ticket with Dewey in 1944, and he accepted that spot with Dewey in 1948. He missed with Dewey, but Nixon, coming along in 1952, got the nomination and went on to win with Eisenhower.

It is also recalled that back in 1940 there was a small boom for the then Gov. Culbert Olson for Democratic vice presidential nominee.

As it has in industry, agriculture, housing development, tourist visitation, and so on, California has climbed now to the national forefront in politics.

TOWN MEETING

U. S. Is Lucky in Having Ike

TO THE EDITOR:

We like your paper, especially the letters column.

The argument of a recent writer, a Mr. Campbell, for high wages was backed up by a public statement of a fact-finding board in Washington.

The board was told to find out the reasons for current prosperity and the prospect of $400 billion-a-year income — a most happy condition compared with the old days. The board found no reason why it could not continue.

They found the reason for the good conditions to be basically high wages and close to full employment.

The farmers will do all right and be happy as soon as they see the wisdom of Benson's just playing Santa Claus with tax money once a year instead of every day in the year as the Democrats did to buy votes.

We are so lucky to have President Eisenhower, a true patriot, a man of rigid honor, a great organizer of experience and rare ability in foreign relations. All respect him as a supreme warrior, yet he is a kindly man who considers all men and practically worships peace.

What an example he sets for future administrations and for all citizens in their individual lives.

Wants Pine Ave. Made a Bazaar

TO THE EDITOR:

About five years ago, after talking many times with a top-notch city planner, I suggested that we make Pine Ave. a bazaar—a no-traffic north or south street, routing buses into town and out of town on Locust and Pacific, with alternate east and west streets one-way on Broadway, Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, and Seventh Sts.

The then city council shelved the idea but later they accepted scrambled crossings at intersections. Fine! This worked — and is a big time saver.

Now, honestly, wouldn't it be nice to park your car or get off a bus on a side street and enjoy free walking up and down, criss-cross or any way from one side to the other on Pine Ave., anywhere at all times without always worrying about traffic?

Refutes Critic's Sad Ballad

TO THE EDITOR:

Mervin Ranagan seems to have only one tune drumming its way through his mind. Minor variations in arrangement have been the only difference since its first appearance in your letter columns.

The lyrics are written around these refutable points:

1. Ike isn't really popular at all. It's just a myth.

2. Ike didn't do anything to end the Korean War.

3. Our present prosperity is false. (We Americans are possessed of a great imagination.)

4. The nation's press is solidly behind Ike. (Therefore doing the country a great disservice?)

Taking the topics of the Ranagan dirge one by one:

Any man's popularity would seem to hinge upon the esteem in which he is held in each individual's own mind. The widespread concern for Ike's health, which came from Democrats and Republicans alike, might indicate something as to his popularity.

Second: Ike may not have ended the Korean War single-handedly, but my guess is that the number of Korean veterans thanking Ike for bringing them home is far greater than those who would thank Harry for sending them over there. Ranagan's lofty sentiments about "police actions" are noble indeed, and easy enough to hold when someone else has to wear the badge against the well-organized and superbly armed lawbreakers.

Third: If this prosperity is false, then there never has been nor never will be a true one. Unless it might be the type that has one-half the employment force manufacturing war implements and the other half using them.

Fourth: As a rule, newspapers will crusade for good rather than evil. For what helps the community, helps the newspaper itself. If the nation's press has formed a nearly solid phalanx for Ike, maybe everyone is out of step but Johnny (or Mervin).

The next time Mr. Ranagan offers his mournful ballad for publication, I hope he will set it to poetry. At least it will indicate an attempt at thought.

Trust Problem Nothing New

TO THE EDITOR:

The Senate Antitrust subcommittee's hearings on General Motors are being held, according to the subcommittee's chief counsel, to establish "what the national antitrust policy should be with respect to big business."

Whatever the subcommittee's findings and recommendations may be, the end results will not prevent big business from getting bigger.

The trust problem is an old one. Back in 1880 we got the Sherman Anti-Trust Act but the law did not prevent the formation of trusts. The concentration of wealth into fewer hands has been going on uninterruptedly.

The current hearings remind me of a very famous debate on the "trust problem," held in Philadelphia before the University Extension Society on Jan. 27, 1915, between Daniel De Leon, late editor of the official organ of the Socialist Labor Party of America, and William H. Berry, ex-State Treasurer of Pennsylvania.

It may come as a surprise to people who have weird notions about Socialism that Mr. De Leon argued that "the trust should not if it could, and could not if it would, be destroyed."

Look Before You Drive on One-Way Streets

MAP SHOWS one-way street patterns effective today in downtown Long Beach. Engineers estimate a 40 per cent increase in traffic capacity. Note extension of the present one-way designation of Locust Ave. from 10th St. to 12th St. Pine Ave. remains one-way southbound from 10th St. Bus routings have been revised where they are in conflict with new regulations.

Beach Combing

With MALCOLM EPLEY

IF you or I heard an avalanche rumbling and knew it would be coming our way soon, we'd probably get a little excited and scared.

But over at the post office, where I made my annual pre-Christmas inspection yesterday, there's an air of calm confidence. The people there know there's an avalanche coming, but they're set for it.

It'll come in the shape of a staggering total of about one and three quarters million pieces of parcel post in December, plus millions and millions of letters and cards.

Last December, the L. B. post office and its substations handled about 985,200 pieces of incoming parcel post and about 565,300 outgoing pieces. This December, an increase of about 15 per cent is expected. That brings the total over 1,750,000 pieces, which is a lot of parcel post.

On five or six days in December, there'll be more than 1,000,000 letters cancelled here. Incoming mail will top that on some days.

But nobody seems to be scared over at Third and American or at the various substations around town. When I made my visit, everybody was going calmly about his work.

WHEN I asked if there were enough stamps on hand, Pepper Davis, the stamp custodian, showed up with his keys.

He unlocked the big cage in the vault where the stamps are cached—shelf after shelf of neat packages.

"There's about $1,500,000 worth here," he said. "Think that'll be enough?"

I agreed that it ought to do. He assured me it would be easy to get more if it doesn't.

OF course, the postal people know there are reinforcements coming along with the big mail.

The postal force will be about doubled for the Christmas rush.

There are about 930 regular employes, and 900 will be hired as special Christmas help. Some 1250 men and women have registered for special work, and no more registrants are being accepted.

Many of the Christmas workers have done similar work before. They'll be ready to go the minute they report on the job, with no special training needed.

Postmaster George McMillin said that college boys are particularly good as parcel post delivery men. They use their own cars and go after the job with a lot of enthusiasm.

PHYSICAL facilities have been expanded to handle the expected record volume of Christmas mail this year.

About 40,000 square feet of space has been assigned in a General Services Administration warehouse on Pacific Coast Hwy. just west of the river. All incoming parcel post will go there and will be distributed from there.

The post office also will use the National Guard garage on Stearns and Redondo, the Lindbergh Junior High cafeteria, and a couple of other school buildings at strategic locations. This will prevent a pileup of mail in the main office.

Arrangements have also been made to keep most of Long Beach's parcel post, coming from the east, from going into Los Angeles, where some big jams have developed in past years.

This all sounds pretty good.

LONG BEACH people, according to the postmaster, are quick to respond to published suggestions and warnings on mailing matters.

He's hopeful that card mailers will consider the advantages of using three-cent stamps instead of two-centers. Those with the threes on them will get first class mail handling and will be returned to the senders if they can't be delivered. Undeliverable cards mailed with twos aren't returned and eventually are destroyed.

McMillin also suggested use of insurance for parcel post. Unless packages are insured, no claims can be made for loss or damage.

And of course, the postal people hope everybody will mail as early as possible. That'll mitigate the effect of the avalanche.

THAT, in general, is my report on my post office inspection.

If the public cooperates properly, it looks as if the 1955 Christmas mail will come through, even if it cracks the volume records.

Year's Final Annex Ballot Due Thursday

This year's series of annexation elections will end Thursday as voters of a 120-acre South Lakewood area designated as Increment 127 ballot on joining Long Beach.

Five hundred and sixty-six registered voters are eligible for a contest which is expected to be decided by a narrow margin. Only 181 signed the petition for an election, filed last Aug. 16.

The polling place at 3717 N. Lees Ave. will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

• • • •

BOUNDARIES OF the area are Los Coyotes Diag., Heartwell Park, San Gabriel River, Harco St., Karen Ave., Brittain St., Studebaker Rd. and a line midway between Keynote St. and Monlaco Rd. The estimated population is 2,220.

It will be the seventh annexation election of this year. All of the others resulted in majorities for annexation.

In addition, two other areas which voted to join Long Beach in 1954 were officially annexed this year, and still another section that was annexed as uninhabited territory was actually inhabited by the time the proceedings were completed.

• • • •

AS A RESULT of all these annexations, Long Beach population has increased from 298,158 on Jan. 1, 1955, to a current official estimate of 315,981.

Even if Increment 127 votes to annex, it won't become a part of the city this year. Formalities after the election require an average of nearly two months.

Douglas Dealing With Continental for DC8 Order

Douglas Aircraft Co. and Continental Airlines are considering possibility of a transaction for "several million dollars worth" of jet-powered DC8 airliners, it was learned Saturday.

Officials of the firms will confer within the next three weeks.

Douglas already has received 442 million dollars in orders for the planes, which will be built here, providing Long Beach voters approve extension of the Municipal Airport runway in a special election Feb. 8.

Safe Driving Keynote for Yuletide Shopper

Safe Driving Day will be observed Thursday throughout the nation, with communities in the Long Beach area joining in the observance.

The day is being observed at the start of the Christmas shopping season, when the need for safe driving reaches a peak. The anticipated traffic death rate dropped 15 per cent on Safe-Driving Day last year.

N. L. McLaughlin is general chairman of the event for the Long Beach Safety Council.

S-D Day will be the theme of the Chamber of Commerce Breakfast Forum at 7:15 a.m. Wednesday in the Empire Room of the Wilton Hotel. Ken Hemphill will be forum chairman.

Dana Bullock, manager of the Long Beach branch of the State Department of Motor Vehicles, will discuss traffic safety and the functions of his department during the forum.

• • • •

IN CONJUNCTION with the national S-D Day, thousands of circulars are being distributed to school children, safety messages have been spread on billboards and talks are being given at local luncheon clubs.

The Safety Council will continue to emphasize the S-D campaign for the ensuing two weeks, according to McLaughlin.

There were no traffic deaths or serious injury accidents here on S-D Day in 1954, he said.

"The response here has been fine so far," McLaughlin added. "We hope to duplicate last year's record here on S-D Day during every day of this year's campaign and then keep it up the year around."

Now You May Enclose Mail With Package

This year, for the first time, you may legally enclose a communication in a Christmas package sent through the mails.

You may do it, by adding the 3 cent postage to the parcel post charges.

Effective Monday, a letter or message may be mailed inside a package under the postoffice department's new "combination" mail service, Postmaster George McMillin announced Saturday. His understanding is that this is for a 60-day trial period.

In the past, letters could accompany post packages when enclosed in an envelope attached to the outside of the package.

The new service provides that the mailer must put a statement reading "First Class Mail Enclosed" on each parcel below the postage and above the address. The proper amount of postage for each enclosure must be affixed to the parcel.

Yule Lighting Contest Deadline Dec. 20, Junior C of C Reports

Campaigning for the "true Christmas spirit," Long Beach Junior Chamber of Commerce Saturday announced plans for its annual Christmas Lighting Contest.

Last year's record entry list is expected to be equalled or surpassed, according to Stan Goldin, chairman of the JC community planning committee.

Goldin said Long Beach home and apartment owners are eligible to enter. Public and semi-public buildings and parks will be rated in a special category.

• • • •

ENTRIES WILL BE DIVIDED into indoor and outdoor classes in keeping with the entry blank which accompanies this article.

"It isn't how much you spend on your display that counts," said Goldin, "but rather the originality and ingenuity demonstrated."

Awards will be presented and the sweepstakes winner will be entered in General Electric's nationwide contest for $5,000 in prizes.

• • • •

THERE IS NO entry fee. Entries must be received at Junior Chamber of Commerce office not later than Dec. 20. Displays will be lighted nightly from 6:30 to 11 in the Dec. 20-Jan 1 period.

Further information may be obtained by telephoning HE-7-3501.

Hospital Bond Supported by Civic Council

Determined to eliminate hazardous health conditions in Long Beach, the executive committee of the Community Welfare Council, composed of representatives of 68 local organizations, Saturday announced it had unanimously endorsed the $10,500,000 hospital program proposed for the Feb. 9 city election.

"Our support for this community wide health program will not be a passive one," George Logan, executive director of the council said. "We shall actively work to insure its passage so that this city will have the facilities needed to protect the lives of our citizens."

"The increase in the local hospital bed capacity, which is critically needed, is just one part of this proposed community health program," Logan explained.

• • • •

"OUR COUNCIL is also greatly interested in providing facilities for the first-time in a local general hospital to treat patients with nervous disorders and those with communicable diseases and to enlarge the critically needed clinic facilities in our city. The providing of a school for training registered nurses, which is also included in the program before the City Council, is also a health must in our city."

Will H. Winston, president of the Long Beach Bar Association, and Dr. William S. Cheney met with the executive committee of the Community Welfare Council to discuss the parts of the hospital program and the critical need for such facilities.

• • • •

AS A PART of their program to acquaint the public with the fact that Long Beach is dangerously underhospitalized, the Community Welfare Council will invite representatives of more than 100 local organizations to participate in a luncheon meeting Dec. 9 at which time the hospital and health program will be explained.

Present at the meeting when the hospital program was endorsed were representatives of the AFL, the CIO, the Veterans Hospital, the Long Beach Council of Churches, the Long Beach Ministerial Union, the Parent Teachers Association, the Family Service, the public schools, the parochial schools, and the Jewish Community Council.

I, P-T and Youth Council Back Auditorium Party

Teen-age Long Beach boys and girls will have their own city-wide New Year's Eve dance with Ray Anthony, billed as "America's No. 1 band," providing the music.

The dance will be presented by the Youth Coordinating Council for students from the 9th through the 12th grades, and will be staged in Municipal Auditorium.

Because this is the first time the city-wide dance has been offered, the Independent, Press-Telegram and the senior classes of the Long Beach Public schools have agreed to underwrite the event.

The Youth Council, organized in May 1955, is made up of representatives of all junior and senior high schools of the city. Their purpose is to study youth needs and problems and to gain community backing for worthwhile youth activities.

• • • •

JOHN VAFIS, a senior at Poly high school, is president of the Youth Coordinating Council.

Other officers are: Ross Frank, Jordan, vice-president; Aletha Huston, Wilson, recording secretary; Roselind Schilling, St. Anthony's, corresponding secretary; Julianne Bescos, St. Anthony's, treasurer; and Bob Ward, Poly, parliamentarian. Mrs. J. B. DuBay is the Youth Council advisor.

For several years the youth of Long Beach have felt the need for name-band dances where young people could get together on a city-wide basis.

The council chose a New Year's Eve inaugural since there are few places where teen-agers can celebrate the New Years with wholesome festivity. If the first dance is well supported, other city-wide dances may be scheduled.

• • • •

RAY ANTHONY, the "Young Man With a Horn" stresses versatility in his music, his orchestral presentations running the gamut from jazz and swing to novelties and sweet ballads for a well-balanced musical program.

One of the most important factors in Ray's rise to the top of the name band heap has been the tremendous popularity of his records with the nation's disc-jockeys.

Featured vocalists with the Anthony orchestra are Tommy Mercer and Marcie Miller with Brother Lee Roy performing with his baritone saxophone.

MEANY THE MAN

Labor Boss Profiled in PT Stories

This week, the AFL and the CIO will hold separate meeting in New York. The following week, they will join in convention, thus restoring a united front for the first time in 20 years.

The man behind the merger, who engineered in three years what other labor leaders had tried for years to accomplish, is George Meany, whose political acumen boosted him from a plumber in the Bronx to the president of 16 million workmen and women in this country and Canada.

What kind of man is Meany? How did he succeed where others failed? Will he be able hold the two factions together? What plans does he have for the merged union, politically and economically?

These and other questions are answered in a three-part series of articles written by one of the most accomplished labor reporters in the country, the AP's Norman Walker. Long an observer of the labor scene, he analyzes and interprets what's ahead with authority born of close association with the movement and its leaders.

The first of Walker's stories will appear in the Press-Telegram next Monday.

LET'S DANCE!

Menuhin's Kin Appears in Art Center Concert

Yaltah Menuhin, pianist, younger sister of Yehudi Menuhin, will appear with the American Art Trio in a concert at 4 p.m. today in the Municipal Art Center, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd. This will be the fourth of the current series of chamber concerts in the Center.

Other members of the trio are Eudice Shapiro, violinist, and Victor Gottlieb, cellist.

Miss Menuhin, who has concertized widely in Europe in recent years has devoted herself almost exclusively to chamber music groups.

MISS SHAPIRO, a member of the USC faculty, has appeared as soloist with the NBC Symphony, Los Angeles Philharmonic and Hollywood Bowl orchestra.

Gottlieb, first cellist with Universal Studios, has been a member of the Coolidge quartet and has taught at the University of Wisconsin.

The program will include Mozart Trio in G major, K 496, Deux Choros for violin and piano by Villa Lobos and the Schubert Trio in E flat major, opus 100.

The concert will be broadcast over radio station KFOX at 8 p.m.

Stone Hurler, 8, Hangs on—Ouch!

Dannie Murray, 8, of 1107 Loma Vista Dr., started to throw a stone into a large piece of pipe near his home Saturday afternoon. He forgot to let go.

His hand hit the side of the pipe and broke the left middle finger, police reported.

His father, Thomas Murray, took him to Seaside Hospital for treatment.

Ice Carnival Queen Leads Parade Today

GAIL CZAPLA
Queen of the Snow

Lakewood Lions Snow Carnival goes into its final day today with a 10½-hour program beginning at noon on the carnival grounds at Lakewood and Del Amo Blvds.

The queen of the Snow Carnival, Miss Gail Czapla of 5323 Bellflower Blvd., will lead a parade on the carnival grounds at 2 p.m. Following the parade will be a concert by the James E. Son band.

• • • •

MISS CZAPLA, 20-year-old blond, was crowned in ceremonies Saturday evening. She won the queen title in competition with 11 other pretty girls.

Other featured events on today's program will include ice revues at 3 and 7 p. m., Snow Stamp Stompers dance contest finals and dancing exhibition at 8 p. m., and the award of prizes at 4, 6:30 and 9 p. m.

• • • •

THE SNOW CARNIVAL, unique in Southern California, features a three-ton snow man, ice rink, rides, food and game booths, displays, an automobile show, entertainment, contests and prizes. Admission to the grounds is free.

Proceeds from the event, sponsored by the Lakewood Lions, will go into the club's youth activities and building funds.

LUNCHEON AND SERVICE CLUBS

Clubmen Will Honor Athletic Luminaries

Athletes of Long Beach City College and Jordan High will be honored at service club meetings this week.

Tom Harmon, television announcer and former All-American football player, will speak at a meeting of Lakewood Lions Club at 6:45 p.m. Thursday in Lions Scout Hut. The event is the awards banquet of Long Beach City College, and the college's coaches and football, cross-country and water polo athletes will be guests. Laban Brewer, member of the Board of Education and vice president of the Bank of America, will be chairman. Club President Milt Sanden will preside.

Uptown Kiwanis Club will be host for the annual Jordan letterman's banquet at 7 p.m. Tuesday. The event will be held in the Jordan cafeteria, and six service clubs in the Uptown Long Beach area will participate. Taking part besides the Kiwanis will be Uptown Optimist Club, Uptown Exchange Club, North Long Beach 20-30 Club and North Long Beach Lions Club.

Railroad Association Sees Mail Deluge

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Association of American Railroads says postmen and trains will have to handle more than 53,000,000 mail bags between Dec. 1 and Christmas Day.

The association reports that "to transport the avalanche of gift parcels and greetings, the Post Office Department estimates it will need space equivalent to almost 5,000 solidly loaded 12-car mail trains." That would be "long enough to reach from Washington, D.C., to Chicago."

FEWER CARS, BUT

Driving More Risky in Italy Than in U. S.

ROME (AP)—If you are an automobile driver, passenger or pedestrian in Italy, your risk of getting killed is nearly three times greater than in the United States. The Italian Institute of Central Statistics listed 5,281 traffic fatalities for 1954. This compares with 38,300 reported killed in the United States in 1953. But there were 56,279,864 vehicles in the United States; 3,338,220 in Italy.

Sweden Close-Up Slated in Film Forum Program

An all-color Film Forum titled "Sweden in Close-Up" will be presented in the Jordan High School auditorium at 8 p.m. Tuesday by the Long Beach School for Adults.

Hjordis Kittel Parker will present a documentary study of Sweden today by telling the story of a representative young Swedish couple, their background, present life, and hopes for the future.

• • • •

MRS. PARKER'S film studies of Scandinavia have been recognized and acclaimed by both the Norwegian and Swedish governments.

"Sweden in Close-Up" will be presented at Wilson High School Wednesday night and at Poly High School Thursday night. Tuition tickets for the five remaining Film Forum programs will be on sale at the auditorium box office the night of each presentation.

France Selling Jet Aircraft to Israel

PARIS (UP) — Authoritative sources said Saturday that France, which is shipping arms to both sides in the troubled Middle East, may send Israel some Mystere jets capable of coping with early-model Russian MIGs.

They said contracts for the sale of an unspecified number of Mysteres to Israel have been signed but not yet approved by the government.

Fewer GIs Go Over Hill, Army Reports

WASHINGTON (UP)—Fewer servicemen are going over the hill.

The big drop in AWOLs and desertions was attributed by the armed services Saturday to educational programs, help on the GI's personal and family problems, and stiffer penalties authorized by President Eisenhower.

The Army reported it has cut its monthly AWOL rate from 15.2 per 1,000 enlisted men in 1952 to 5.2 per 1,000 this year. In 1952, the Navy had 29,490 "absence" offenses of more than three days, including desertions. Last year the number was cut to 18,542, and in the first eight months of this year only 6,841 sailors have gone over the hill for three days or more.

The Air Force, which had a monthly AWOL rate of 7.6 per 1,000 men in 1950 and 5.13 per 1,000 in 1952, has cut the number to 1.86 per 1,000 this year. The rate of Air Force desertions has dropped from .346 per 1,000 last year to .225 per 1,000 this year.

The Marine Corps said it had 5,849 "administrative desertions" in 1952 and cut that to 4,882 last year. For the first seven months this year, the number was 1,895.

AWOLs and desertions reached their peak during the Korean War. The Army in 1953 adopted a policy of sending AWOLs to combat duty in Korea. After the Korean War, the rate continued high, and President Eisenhower on Sept. 28, 1954, authorized stiffer maximum penalties.

The Navy reported that despite its cut in AWOLs and desertions, unauthorized absence "continues to be a major disciplinary problem."

Buy Conrad Letters

HANOVER, N. H. (UP)—Dartmouth College has purchased 80 letters written by the late English novelist, Joseph Conrad, it was announced today. The letters were written to Conrad's biographer, R. B. Cunninghame Graham, and cover the period 1894 to 1924.

Gas Producer Blasts Foes of Bill to End U.S. Control

DALLAS, Texas (UP)—A move by 35 eastern gas utilities to oppose passage of the Harris bill drew a blast Saturday from the head of Texas' largest organization of producers.

The 35 eastern gas utilities announced they were banding together to oppose passage of the bill to remove direct federal control from natural gas producers.

French Robertson, president of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association, said "Independent gas producers are happy to see the real opposition to the Harris bill identify themselves. This ends the masquerade," he added.

The bill has passed the House and will be sponsored in the Senate when it reconvenes by Sen. William Fulbright (D-Ark.).

"A group of big utilities who are looking for whipping boys on which to blame their high prices are now out in the open opposing independent producers of natural gas in their fight for freedom from federal price-fixing," Robertson said.

"Heretofore, the utilities have been masquerading behind certain self-serving big-city politicians and spokesmen for socialization of natural resources," Robertson added.

University Has Novel Course, Europe Tour

WORCESTER, Mass. (UP)—A university's summer school will offer a new traveling course with a 50-day tour of Europe as the "textbook," it was announced today.

The course at Clark University will be known as "Introduction to Western Civilization," and the classrooms will be an ocean liner and buses which will tour the continent.

The course, covering three semester-hours of college credit, will be conducted by James S. Edwards, assistant professor of German and a veteran European traveler.

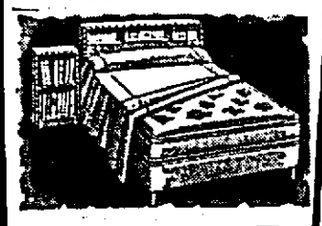

Enrollment will be limited to about 20 students and auditors on the college level. "Classes" will begin as the travelers assemble on June 8 in Montreal. The course will terminate in mid-August with a 3,000-word report to be submitted afterward as a "final exam."

The course will cost about $1,000 per person, the university said.

Seek Handy Label

LONDON (AP)—The five Baghdad Pact nations still haven't adopted a handy tag for their defense organization. Headline writers have toyed with the idea of calling it METO (Middle East Treaty Orgahization, ala NATO) but it hasn't stuck yet. The charter members are Britain, Turkey, Iraq, Iran and Parkistan.

Eyes open, purses closed for my year-end denture offer

HERE'S WHY
It's BETTER FOR YOU to get the new dentures you need now instead of waiting until next year—right at the time you want to LOOK YOUR BEST. Save your cash for holiday fun and expenses.
It's BETTER FOR ME, because I want to keep my offices a little busier than usual. This is ordinarily a slow season in dentistry.
That's why I want you to forget about the money until next year. Keep your EYES OPEN to service and dentures you want, but keep your PURSES CLOSED.

IMMEDIATE RESTORATION
New dentures may be put in the SAME DAY the last of your teeth are extracted, if your case permits it, and you desire it. Impression is taken BEFORE teeth are extracted. Dentures are started immediately and finished the same day.

NEW DENTURES IN ONE DAY
This service offered any week day, except Saturday, if you come in BEFORE 10 A.M. A convenience to out-of-town and emergency cases. Other cases are finished in a few days.

NOW—at LESS THAN YOU MAY EXPECT TO PAY FOR ORDINARY DENTURES

SAVE ON PARTIAL PLATES
Modern methods of casting metal parts enable me to make them for Less Money than formerly. Now my prices for partials are Lower, with the best work I have turned out.

NOW—FREGO STRENGTHENER DENTURES
Thinner, yet much stronger
Imported FREGO STRENGTHENER, now available to dentists in this country, is a gold plated stainless steel mesh. It permits VERY THIN construction. Fragile looking dentures are strong with Frego Strengtheners.

Pageant Beauty of 1954 Marries

Jacqueline Beer, who represented France in the 1954 Miss Universe Beauty Pageant, was married in West Los Angeles Saturday to Jean Antoine Roady, a Douglas Aircraft Co. accountant.

The ceremony was performed in St. Paul the Apostle Church. A reception followed in the home of Roady's mother, Mrs. Marguerite Roady, in Bel-Air.

The former Miss France, 23, now is a movie actress. Roady is 28.

Bells Ring for Salvation Army

Observing its 50th year of unbroken service to the needy of Long Beach, the Salvation Army is preparing for Christmas.

Salvation Army kettles are posted at the corners; Salvation Army lassies smile and tinkle little bells as coins drop into the kettles.

The slogan this year, says Maj. Howard Sloan, commanding officer, is "You'll enjoy Christmas more by helping the Salvation Army bring Christmas cheer."

"We hope that Long Beach residents will respond as generously and graciously as they did last year, because the need is urgent," says Maj. Sloan.

* * * *

THIS IS WHAT the Salvation Army did last year at Christmas time, and it will do about the same this year:

More than 340 families provided with Christmas dinners. (Families averaged five persons.)

More than 200 families given clothing, shoes.

About 3,000 gifts given patients in Veterans Administration hospital and prisoners in Terminal Island prison. Christmas parties and services conducted both places.

Christmas dinner provided homeless and unattached men.

Christmas program and party for 400 needy children, with each child receiving candy and toys.

Christmas party given 300 Golden Agers with gift for each.

RINGING IN CONTRIBUTIONS for the Salvation Army Christmas cheer fund is Mrs. Alice Holden, 75. Her station has been 4th and Pine for 32 years.

Detectives Toil 3 Months, Find Watch's Owner

ATLANTA (UP)—Atlanta Detectives W. E. Peabody and and J. W. Elliott worked diligently for three months to find the owner of a $1,500 watch.

They located the watch in a pawnshop here and learned it had been found in a Miami Beach, Fla., theater. Next Peabody and Elliott wrote the factory where the watch was manufactured and were told it had been sold to James Lowell Oakes Jr. of Miami.

The Oakes family was then at a Spring Lake, N. J., summer home but when the detectives sought to reach them there, the family had gone to Europe.

Elliott and Peacock finally reached Oakes in Paris, France. Oakes expressed his thanks but added that he didn't even know the watch was missing.

Troops Open Fire as Car Runs Piston Plant Barrier

NEW CASTLE, Ind. (UP)—Indiana National Guardsmen fired shots at a car that tried to run them down Saturday as troops patrolled this strike-torn city.

Maj. John Anderson, Shelbyville, Ind., battalion commander, said the car stopped at a barricade, turned its lights off and smashed through.

Guardsmen hit the ground and fired twice at the auto, he said.

Troops had been ordered back to this east-central Indiana city when violence at the strike-ridden Perfect Circle Corp. foundry broke out anew Wednesday.

The Perfect Circle plant has been the scene of labor unrest since the CIO United Auto Workers went on strike here and at three other Perfect Circle plants in Hagerstown and Richmond July 25. Nine persons were injured in a wild shooting melee between strikers and non-strikers here Oct. 5.

Pope Leaves His Summer Quarters for Vatican Home

VATICAN CITY (UP)—Pope Pius XII returned to Vatican City Saturday from his summer residence at Castel Gandolfo. He was cheered by men, women and children along the 18-mile route.

Twice the pontiff asked his chauffeur to halt his limousine so that he could receive flowers and spiritual offerings from the people.

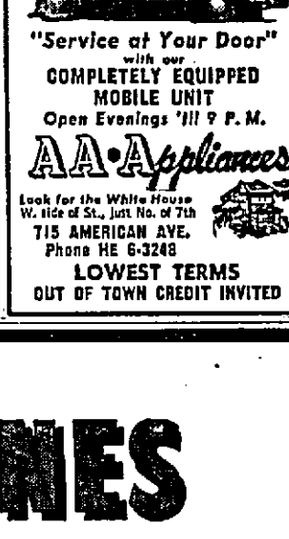

This noon, the Pope will hold a general audience. He then will begin week-long spiritual exercises in preparation for the Christmas season. During this period, he will have few, if any, audiences.

Boys Held for Blast Near Russ Embassy

OSLO, Norway (UP)—Five teenage boys were arrested Saturday and accused of throwing fireworks at the Soviet embassy here Friday night.

The boys, all around 17, will be arraigned in magistrate court Monday on misdemeanor charges. The explosions broke two windows.

100 in All-Night Hunt Find Baby

DUBLIN, Ga. (UP)—One hundred white and Negro citizens engaged in an all-night search and found a 2½ year old Negro boy who had been lost in the woods for 18 hours.

The child, Melvin Reed, son of Otis Reed, had been left asleep in a car while his mother and father worked in the woods tapping pine trees for turpentine. They gave an alarm Friday afternoon and national guardsmen were called on to aid in a search.

The boy was found about 9 a.m., Saturday a mile and half from the car. He was suffering from cold but was unhurt otherwise.

Federation Meeting

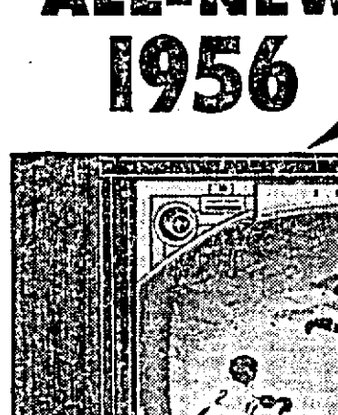

Members of the Long Beach Branch 123 St. Philip Neri, Italian Catholic Federation, will meet at 7:30 a.m. Sunday, Dec. 4, at the Long Beach Veterans' Administration Hospital to assist patients to the chapel to attend mass.

Teachers, Minister See Special Showing of Film

School teachers, parents and ministers crowed Fox West Coast theater Saturday morning and as the guests of the management saw "Good Morning, Miss Dove," a motion picture covering the life span of a schoolteacher in a small New England town.

Largely by flashbacks, it tells her influence on a group of pupils: a wayward boy becomes a priest, a Jewish lad becomes a playwright, a bad boy becomes a war hero, an unsettled girl becomes a good wife and mother.

"It is an accolade to the teaching profession, and we asked schoolteachers enmasse, officers of the 66 PTA groups in Long Beach and Lakewood and ministers of the Council of Churches to come down," explained Bill Sorenson, city manager of Fox West Coast theaters.

"It is a family picture—a picture that families ought to see and we think they will enjoy. It was brought out by 20th Century-Fox, tht company that did 'A Man Called Peter.' We notice a definite trend in pictures, starting with 'The Robe.' A picture like this is a relief from the rape, murder and mayhem pictures that plague us."

Red Cross Parley

BONN (AP)—West Germany's Red Cross president, Dr. Heinrich Weltz, is going to Warsaw soon to negotiate with the Polish Red Cross for resettlement of German citizens. Estimates are that a quarter million are living in former German territory now under Poland. How many want to be moved has not been determined. Several hundred have come here this year.

PRISONERS' PIN-UP.

NEW YORK — Miss Cleo Moore, the Long-Kiss actress, is probably going to be elected "Sing Sing Sweetheart" or "The Prisoners' Pinup" since she started advocating that convicts be allowed to spend weekends with their wives or girl friends.

"I've already got a lot of fan mail from prisoners who want to talk the whole thing over with me and want to make an appointment," blond Cleo told me during a visit to New York.

Miss Moore insists that she's totally unselfish in this matter and that if she doesn't accomplish it now . . .

"Just wait till I become Governor of Louisiana!"

Pointing out that in Mexico, France, Switzerland and several South American countries, the prisoners are permitted to see their mates for a day or two instead of just a half hour through a screen, Miss Moore says, "Here in the United States we don't pay the least bit of attention to a man's emotions."

CLEO MOORE
Thinks Abouet Male Emotions!

"Would you have husbands visiting women prisoners?" I asked Cleo.

"Certainly! Women need somebody to love them more than men," said Cleo, bouncily.

"Would you have women visiting husbands at Alcatraz where women aren't permitted now at all?"

"No, the very bad prisoners should lose the privilege."

Perhaps at this time I should let you in on a secret. Cleo's in a movie, "Hold Back Tomorrow," in which she plays a gal who visits a prisoner in an unnamed country. In fact, she's been in several prison movies and feels like an ex-convict much of the time.

"I can see the good sense of having special guest houses for prisoners when their wives come to see them," Cleo said.

"Then when the prisoners come out they would be normal and able to lead normal lives again."

Cleo claims that she became interested in this cause after Shellah Graham's husband, whom Shellah calls "Bow-Wow," and whom other people call "Bow" for short, began advancing it. He is a social welfare expert who argues that womanless, loveless prisoners are being punished beyond decency.

"Don't forget that in some countries, men are even permitted to leave the prison for a few days for good behavior," Cleo mentioned.

Cleo continues to insist that, as the ex-wife of Huey Long's son Palmer, she's going to run for Governor of Louisiana.

"But I have to wait till I'm 30. I'm going to run and I'm going to win," she said.

"I'll make you a bet of a long kiss you'll never run," I said.

"Why?"

"Because when you're 30, you'll never admit it," I replied.

"I'll admit it, but the question is," she said, "when I'm 30, will you still want to collect the bet?"

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "One way to get Russia to smoke the peace pipe is to let 'em think they invented tobacco."—Bob Olin.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Taffy Tuttle told Guy Lombardo she'd gone fishing with worms: "And I'll never go out with those guys again!"

"A cocktail party is where people talk to strangers about friends who'll soon be enemies." . . . That's earl, brother.

Italy Sees Record Tourist Influx

ROME (AP)—Italy is heading for another record-breaking tourist year. The state tourist agency announces that in the first nine months 9,300,493 foreigners crossed the borders. In all of 1954, when all previous marks were exceeded by 20 per cent, 9,327,512 tourist were recorded.

Automatic Stock Waterers Boomed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Department of Agriculture has just issued a leaflet on automatic livestock waterers.

The department says "automatic waterers, kept ice-free in winter by electric heating elements, reduce costs and increase livestock production." And it adds "they rapidly are replacing watering tanks and troughs on farms in regions where temperatures often go below freezing."

COOP WITH A JENNY

Gary Cooper is pictured with one of the World War I Jenny airplanes used in the movie, "The Court Martial of Billy Mitchell," which Warner Bros., produced in CinemaScope and color. The film is about the historic trial of the man who later became known as the father of the Air Force.

Concert Tonight in Auditorium

Mischa Elman will play the Tschaikowsky Violin Concerto with the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra tonight in Concert Hall of the Municipal Auditorium.

Alfred Wallenstein, who begins his last year as musical director of the orchestra, has programed the Prokofiev "Classical" Symphony and Brahms' Symphony No. 2.

Tickets will be available at the auditorium box office from 6 o'clock on, and the concert will begin at 8:30.

Danes May Visit Russ

COPENHAGEN (AP) — Denmark has been invited to exchange parliamentary visitors with the Soviet Union. Leaders of the Folketing (Parliament) said acceptance is probable.

Lyle Talbot Joins 'The Theatre' Cast

Lyle Talbot, veteran motion picture actor will portray the lead role in "Time Out for Ginger," next production at The Theatre, 2400 Magnolia Ave. Pat Brown, director of the group, announced that Talbot had accepted the role and rehearsals are under way for a Dec. 8th opening. Talbot has appeared in over 130 movies during his long career in Hollywood, and recently has made frequent television appearances on the Robert Cummings show, the Burns and Allen show, Racket Squad, the Red Skelton show, Dangerous Assignment, and many others.

Movie work and television, however, have not kept him from getting "on stage" whenever possible. He has made occasional appearances on Broadway and with several theater groups in the Los Angeles area, the latest being with the famed Pasadena Playhouse where he portrayed the role of Howard Carol in "Time Out for Ginger."

The play opens Dec. 8, and will run Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday through Jan. 22. However, The Theatre will be closed Dec. 19 through Dec. 28 for the Christmas holiday.

Prize Livestock Judged in L.A.; Auction Monday

LOS ANGELES (UP)—The judging of 2,000 head of prize cattle, sheep and hogs began Saturday at the opening session of the 30th annual Great Western livestock show and rodeo.

Judging of the grand champion steer will be on Monday, and auctioning of winners will be on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. The showgrounds are at Atlantic Blvd. and the Santa Ana freeway.

GERMAN HENS EXPENSIVE, GIs WARNED

WARZBURG, Germany (UP) — The U. S. Army warned jeep-driving soldiers of the newly-arrived 10th Division Saturday to steer clear of German chickens — they're worth $52 each.

A year-old chicken costs only about $3.50. But Americans on maneuvers are subject to German law and must compensate German farmers for potential earnings as well as the dead fowl.

The potential includes eggs for two years plus the percentage of eggs that might hatch and produce chicks at $1.25 apiece.

IN "ROSE TATTOO"

Anna Magnani, Italian star, finally came to Hollywood to star in the Tennessee Williams' comedy-drama, "The Rose Tattoo." She plays opposite Burt Lancaster as a sex-conscious widow in frantic pursuit of a happier life who is courted by Lancaster, a banana truck driver.

Best-Dressed Men Selected

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Singer Marguerite Piazza recently took a blast at the sloppy dress of feminine stars, declaring that Hollywood is the one place where the men dress better than the women. Naturally, this led to the inevitable question, Who are the best dressed men you know? These are her choices:

Arthur Godfrey; Harlow Curtice, president of General Motors; Conrad Hilton, the hotel tycoon; De Lesseps (Shep) Morrison, mayor of New Orleans; Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. delegate to the United Nations; Cary Grant; Donald Douglas, the airplane manufacturer; Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt and Liberace.

Of the latter, she comments: "Sure, Liberace dresses for showmanship but always in good taste. The same can be said for Roy Rogers."

Johnny Green's 'Jennesa' Will Be Given at U.C.L.A.

"Jennesa," a 3-act drama by John Green, local playwright and director of the Lakewood Players, will have its premiere Tuesday at UCLA Campus Little Theater.

The play, which concerns a young girl whose fixation for her dead father leads to tragic complications within her family, will be produced by the Theater Arts Department of UCLA and is directed by Patricia Lavin as a thesis towards her master's degree in Theater Arts.

"Jennesa" also is to be filmed by an independent movie producer. The discovery of the play has been a series of accidents beginning almost a year ago when the author almost shelved the work after it had been returned from several agents in New York.

• • • •

HOWEVER, Larry Johns, director of the Long Beach Community Playhouse, read the play and encouraged Johnny to continue to look for a producer. Again the play was sent out to various agents and again the script was returned.

The current production at UCLA is the result of a casual conversation the author had with Mrs. Louise Lavin at a New Year's party in Beverly Hills. Mrs. Lavin was assisting her daughter, Pat, in a search for new scripts suitable for production. Mrs. Lavin took a copy of the script, read it and insisted her daughter read it. Miss Lavin liked the play and wanted to do it as her thesis. The play was submitted to the committee and was chosen to be the only original presented this year.

• • • •

CURRENTLY, Johnny is collaborating on a screenplay of "Jennesa" with independent movie producer Tom Gries. Television treatment of the play is also being prepared by Gries and Green for "Climax."

Two of Johnny's other plays—"Trio for Two Cats" and "A Night With the President"—have been presented locally by the Community Playhouse and the Lakewood Players.

Goes East for Fame

HOLLYWOOW (UP)—Margaret Hayes, the Baltimore-born beauty, is the latest movie star to reverse Horace Greeley's advice.

Margaret once was a contract player here at Paramount but got nowhere.

"It was nobody's fault," she recalls. "I was young and didn't know much."

Rather than stay out here and become a queen of B movies, she decided to go east.

"I just realized," she said, "that I needed some tools if I were going to make this business my life's work."

She went on the stage and got into television in its early days. She appeared in 200 television dramas, including the TV-prize winner "The Lottery." She also played Robert Montgomery's leading lady for two seasons. Hollywood called again.

As the sexy schoolteacher of "Blackboard Jungle," she is touted as a top academy award contender. She also did "Violent Saturday" and "Bottom of the Bottle" for 20th Century-Fox.

"I guess I'm ready to stay in Hollywood now," she opines.

Humphrey Wants U.S. Safety, Fire Bureau

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn) said Saturday he will introduce legislation next year to create a federal safety and fire prevention bureau.

He said the agency would coordinate all federal activities in this field with a goal of reducing "the appalling number of injuries and the accompanying dollar losses" due to fires and accidents.

FRANCE'S MODERN VENUS

Shapely Veronique Zuber (Miss Paris) emerges from small ocean of a new synthetic-fiber wool, known as Vicara. Photograph was made in Paris to depict mythological account of Venus, goddess of beauty and love, materializing out of the foam of the sea. (UP Photo)

Army's Largest Rotation Ends

BREMERHAVEN, Germany (UP)—The largest unit rotation in American army history ended Saturday with the arrival here of the last group of 10th Division soldiers replacing First Division men.

More than 1,700 10th Division troops arrived at this army port from Ft. Riley, Kan. to take the place of the famous first in defense posts near the Iron Curtain.

Operation Gyroscope, which began in July, moved about 38,000 soldiers, officers and dependents in both directions, along with cars, bikes, cats and dogs.

25 New Major L. B. Firms Have Opened Since Jan. 1

Twenty-five manufacturing and distributing firms have started production in Long Beach since the first of the year, it is noted by the Chamber of Commerce's Industrial Development Committee. "This represents an added annual payroll of over $10,500,000," said Edward Stubbs, committee chairman.

"We are continuing every effort through the City and Port's Industrial Development Advertising Campaign to put Long Beach on the industrial map," Stubbs added.

"It is not claimed," Stubbs went on to say, "that the campaign has been directly responsible for causing all of these manufacturing concerns and distributors to locate in this area. It is, however, obvious that the advertising helped create an atmosphere of welcome and influence. This is evidenced by a letter received from a well-known manufacturer who located here. The letter stated: 'The city's many industrial advantages, such as low taxes, large labor pool and profit-making climate, were the big factors which influenced us to locate here.'"

• • • •

THE INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT Advertising Campaign came into existence in January, 1953.

Prior to 1952 a number of citizens, concerned with the economic future of Long Beach, met informally in 1950 and 1951 to discuss ways of attracting new industries to Long Beach, with their added payrolls and tax revenues.

The city has long been known as a mecca for tourists and a convention city, but very few persons considered Long Beach as an industrial area. It was thought necessary that Long Beach be established as a place for industrial expansion to "put Long Beach on the industrial map."

The committee which had been appointed by the Mayor made an exhaustive study of the sites available for industry, the Long Beach market area, labor pool, electricity, gas and water, tax structure, raw materials available, transportation facilities, etc.

• • • •

AS A RESULT OF THE committee's report and its recommendation, funds were allocated in the City's 1952-53 budget. Later, the Chamber of Commerce was appointed to administer the Industrial Development Advertising Campaign — without cost to the City. The Chamber already had an Industrial Department and for many years had an interest in the industrial development and expansion of Long Beach.

Stubbs pointed out that well over $33,000 has been spent by the Chamber of Commerce on the Industrial Advertising Campaign since its inception.

"It is interesting to note," says Stubbs, "that since January of 1953 when the program began, that there has been a substantial increase in manufacturing employment, wholesale and retail employment, employment in finance, insurance and real estate and professional services. The increase in manufacturing employment, January 1953 to July 1955, was 7,450 persons, while the increase in wholesale and retail employment has been 6,250 persons. These figures were released by the California Department of Employment."

"Industrial Advertisements," Stubbs continued, "appear in about 13 monthly regional and national publications throughout the year which have a potential annual readership of approximately 13,989,924 persons."

"We will continue our campaign to attract many more industrial plants to Long Beach," Stubbs concluded.

Pembrook Village Designing Favored

Pembroke Village continues to attract buyers seeking homes with unusual and distinctive architecture, states Mel Mack, sales agent for the popular Garden Grove subdivision.

The rustic Early American design of Pembrook Village unit 5 is meeting the requirements of home buyers seeking old-fashioned charm combined with modern planning, Mack pointed out. The picturesque qualities associated with rustic Early Americana are incorporated in these Pembrook Village homes by the use of shake roofs, diamond pane windows and distinctive window trim, he explained.

The Southern California trend for traditional and modern combining to meet the desire for indoor-outdoor living is captured in the living rooms with walls of glass and real brisk fireplaces, and all the models make use of efficient circular hall planning. The large kitchens have garbage disposals and fans, with service porches adjoining the kitchen area. Golden hardwood floors are used throughout and there is forced air heating.

Pembrook Village homes are available with 3 or 4 bedrooms, 1½ and 2 baths. Veterans may purchase with no down payment. Non-veterans may purchase for as little as $995 down. FHA financing is available.

From Los Angeles, take the Santa Ana Freeway and turn south on Harbor to Chapman to reach the furnished model homes. From Long Beach, take 7th St. (Garden Grove Blvd.) and turn north on Harbor and watch for the Ojai Gate.

Clover Park Homes Show Heavy Sales

Many home buyers who have viewed Clover Park homes and then compared them with others are returning to buy in the Berlin Construction Co. homes in Orange County, salesmen report.

This has been shown in the tremendous response to sales recorded in recent weeks.

Wall-to-wall carpeting is one of the many features of the homes and has been received enthusiastically by most viewers.

"We are trying to provide the buyers with a completely finished and ready to move in home," said the company.

"In addition to the wall-to-wall carpeting, buyers will find complete landscaping, both in front and rear, full fencing around the property, huge patios, sprinkler systems in front and rear, and towering fireplaces in all the homes."

A big 35-acre shopping center is directly across from the homes and it includes a large Raisin market. Schools and transportation are very close to the homes, the spokesman added.

Roy Berlin, a member of the firm, has complete charge of sales, this assuring the buyer of complete satisfaction in dealing with the builder direct in obtaining a home. Max Berlin, a brother, has had many years of building experience.

New Winstead Camera Store Opening Monday in Los Altos

A company policy calling for guaranteed satisfaction of customers has served to spell success for Winstead Bros., Inc., which celebrates the opening of its third camera shop Monday in the Los Altos Shopping Center located at Bellflower Blvd. and Stearns St.

One of the oldest and largest camera stores in Long Beach, Winstead's first started selling camera supplies and equipment in 1920. The concern was incorporated in 1927 and opened its second store in San Diego in March 1952.

The new Los Altos store is one of the most up-to-date camera supply shops in the greater Long Beach area, stocking all of the popular lines including Eastman, Leica, Bell & Howell, Graflex and Bolex cameras.

Specializing in both motion picture and still photographic equipment, the store will also offer complete photo finishing service. In addition, a comprehensive rental service of cameras, projectors and film will also be maintained.

Arthur L. Lee is president of Winstead Bros., Inc., with Douglas W. Lee acting as vice president. Perry B. Maxson Jr. serves as secretary-treasurer of the corporation.

Management of the Los Altos shop will be under the direction of William R. Shirey Jr.

"We are happy to be opening our third store in the Los Altos Shopping Center which we feel is destined to be the outstanding center in Southern California," President Lee said.

"Our policies of satisfaction on every purchase and courteous, friendly service will be maintained in the new store, and our trained employes will be able to help camera fans with any photographic problem," he said.

Customers at the new Los Altos shop will be able to purchase items on liberal credit terms as Winstead's carries its own contracts.

Located on the main mall of the shopping center, the Los Altos store will remain open Monday, Thursday and Friday nights until 9:30 p.m. for customer convenience.

Plans Swank Country Club

Forest Smith, wealthy restaurateur and owner of the Clock Country Club in Whittier, has announced that construction will soon begin on his swank Yorba Linda Ranch and Country Club.

According to Smith the 408-acre club will include a golf course, swimming pools, bridle trails, stable and half acre ranch type estates in the $25,000 to $100,000 bracket.

The course will be designed by golf architect Harry Rainsville and will be over 7,000 yards long. It will be ready for play by July, 1956, Smith announced.

Smith, who recently sponsored the first Women's Professional Golf Tournament on the West Coast, plans to make the country club in Yorba Linda unique.

It was also announced that the membership chairman for the new club will be Max Horn, vice president of the California Bank in Anaheim.

Iliff to Discuss Legal Decisions

"Recent Decisions on Commissions" will be the topic for the Breakfast Forum meeting of the Board of Realtors Tuesday morning at the Lafayette Hotel, 7:15 a.m. Guest speaker will be Edwin C. Iliff, board attorney, chairman Clive Graham announced.

Iliff will speak on some of the brokers' rights when a sale is not consummated. Following his discussion the attorney will allow 10 minutes for specific questions and answers from the floor.

Iliff has submitted his resignation, effective Dec. 31, as the Long Beach Board attorney. This will bring to a close three years of Iliff's active participation in realty activities.

Veterans may now buy a home in the L. S. Whaley Co. 25th Los Altos unit on terms of $700 down plus impounds and costs. The homes are all inside Long Beach and close to the new State College.

Vets Offered Whaley's Newest Homes on Terms of $700 Down

New low down payment terms for veterans purchasing homes in Los Altos 25th Unit are announced by the L. S. Whaley Co., developers of the community located east of the Long Beach State College campus.

For the first time, veterans may now buy contemporary styled Junior Executive type homes of 3 and 4 bedrooms and 2 baths in the 25th Unit for as low as $800 down, plus closing costs and impounds. FHA terms are also available for non-veterans.

According to Alfred Reinertson, executive vice president of Home Investment Co., the new financing arrangements were developed in order to bring quality homes within reach of most every veteran's income.

Reinertson said: "We know that many home buyers are familiar with the quality of construction and high type of architectural styling which characterizes the thousands of homes developed by Lloyd S. Whaley. The new terms now make it possible for them to purchase in Los Altos," he added.

• • • •

Offering such interior features as forced air heating, color harmonized interiors, natural birch hardwood cabinets, sliding doors of glass to patio, accoustical type plaster in all rooms and select hardwood floors with 2-inch tongue and groove subflooring the modern and thoroughly livable homes are meeting with wide acclaim by the buying public, Reinertson stated.

Exterior features include extra large lots, spacious 2-car garages with concrete drives, colored aggregate rock roofs, aluminum sash, genuine lath and plaster construction as well as landscaped parkways which adjoin the quiet residential paved streets.

• • • •

Emphasis on safety is also a key factor stressed in the Whaley constructed homes. In Los Altos 25th Unit, each home is equipped with a built-in fire alarm system which provides valuable protection for the entire family. The warning device also serves to reduce insurance premiums, it was disclosed.

Incorporated in the development are a varied number of floor plans and a variety of exterior elevations. Model homes, furnished by Aaron Schultz, are open daily from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. and may be reached by driving east on Atherton or Stearns Street to Palo Verde Avenue, then turn south and follow signs to the models. For convenience of home buyers, sales offices for the 25th Unit are located on the model site at 1411 Hackett St.

Realty Club to Hear Talk About Taxes

The North Long Beach Real Estate Club will meet Thursday morning at 8 o'clock at Mayo's Cafe, 5925 Cherry Ave. Cecil Fulcher, program chairman, will present Robert Ringler who will speak on "Income and Real Estate Taxes."

Many Features Attracting Colorama Homes Buyers

Buyers of 4 and 3-bedroom, 2-bath Colorama Homes come from various areas in Orange and Los Angeles Counties, it was announced by A. Anthony Kuri, builder of the new community in Santa Ana on Delhi Rd., just east of Bristol St.

Veterans and their families purchasing the homes to date at nothing down except costs and impounds are now residing in Santa Ana, Long Beach, Orange, Garden Grove, Rivera and Huntington Beach.

According to reports by the Don Coleman Co., exclusive sales agents for Colorama Homes, several purchasers have been Marines stationed at Camp Pendleton.

Monthly terms on the homes, priced from $13,300, are as low as $67.43 for principal and interest. Continuing on display as illustrative of the 21 distinctively individualized stylings by architect Martin Stern Jr., are 3 furnished model homes with decor by Greene-Hinkle.

Purchasers' response to the completeness and built-in features of Colorama Homes is credited by the sales agents for the rapid sales pace.

Foremost with most buyers is the full landscaping of front, rear and sides with five-foot high redwood fence around the rear yard.

Modern homemakers with an eye to time and energy saving have cast their vote for the New Freedom gas kitchens with built-in Martha Washington range and oven, NuTone hood and fan, Conver-table nook and deck, Crosley automatic dishwasher plus Dish-Whiz, Waste King disposal, natural ash cabinets and Laminart-topped service bar.

Forced air heating, tiled stall showers, sliding glass doors, concrete patios and versatile exteriors are also among features pleasing visitors to Colorama Homes, where sewers, paved streets, sidewalks and street lights are among property improvements already paid for.

The property may be reached from Long Beach via Garden Grove Blvd. to Harbor Blvd., turning right to Edinger St., then left to Bristol St., and right to Delhi Rd., then left to the furnished model homes.

BUILT BY KURI

Transitional stylings, adaptable to contemporary or traditional interior decor, are proving among most popular at Colorama Homes, builder A. Anthony Kuri's new community of four and three-bedrom, two-bath homes in Santa Ana on Delhi Rd. just east of Bristol St. The Don Coleman Co. is sales agent for the dwellings, offered to veterans for nothing down but costs and impounds.

Excelsior Village Second Unit Opens

Grand opening of the second unit of Excelsior Village has been scheduled for this week end, Don Coleman sales agent announced. This unit will present new financing terms to qualified veterans.

The new unit of the family-sized four bedroom, two-bath homes are offered to qualified veterans for no down payment.

The first unit of Excelsior Village has been completely sold, Coleman said, attributing the quick sell-out to the home value offered and the location.

The homes are part of a completely planned community, and are situated across from an elementary school. A large shopping center is to be built within walking distance of the development.

Included in the homes are built-in range and oven, washer-dryer, forced air heat, Beech-wood Bel-Air cabinets and the new Fire-Belle alarm system.

Excelsior Village is within a few miles of the Long Beach area and the homes may be seen by driving straight out Westminister to Brookhurt Ave.

See Million Homes Built in New Year

WASHINGTON (UP) — Forecasts from industry and government put new housing starts next year at around 1,200,000 units.

The big question is whether there will be mortgage money enough to finance them.

Some groups feel there will be. Others, particularly the builders, are worried lest government credit curbs are clamped on too tightly.

The Commerce Department, in its annual look at next year's construction, estimated new nonfarm one-to-four-family housing starts at 1,200,000.

Earl W. Smith, president of the National Assn. of Home Builders, expected starts in 1956 to be between 1,150,000 and 1,250,000.

The U. S. Chamber of Commerce predicted 1956 "will not miss this year's record of an estimated 1,300,000 by as much as 100,000 units."

The chamber recognized the financing difficulties found in many areas but added "that it does not follow that the present situation will be indefinitely protracted."

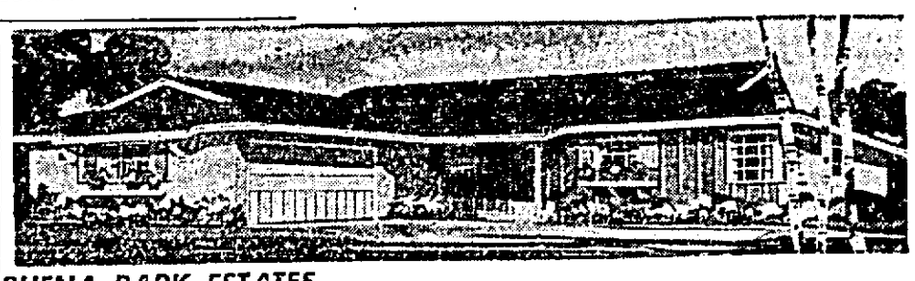

Rising incomes and expected higher savings available for investment offer hope that more funds will be in lenders' hands next year. The chamber also pointed out that some potential home loan funds are being used now to help handle outstanding commitments. When these obligations have been met, it said, "bank funds will again be more readily obtainable by builders and mortgage companies, though not on the same scale, as last spring."

Although somewhat fewer homes are generally expected to be built next year, the total spent for them, according to Commerce Department forecasts will be about the same. Higher costs and the tendency for families to seek larger and more expensive homes will boost total outlay, the department predicts.

David May Voted Store Director

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (UP)—Election of David May II, Los Angeles, as a director of May Department Stores Co. was announced Saturday. He is the son of Tom May, company vice president and chief executive officer of the Los Angeles stores.

The company operates 30 stores in nine metropolitan areas. Directors meeting here declared a quarterly dividend of 55 cents a share, 10 cents above the previous rate, payable Dec. 1 to common shareholders of record Nov. 15.

Buena Park Estates Pre-Previews Today

Today marks the pre-preview, the very first glimpse of the new 3 bedroom, or 2 bedrooms-and-a-den, 2 bath, 2 car garage homes opening in the newest planned community, Buena Park Estates, Buena Park, according to officials of Walker & Lee, sales agents.

Buena Park Estates have been themed as "Garden Spots" and present fully landscaped conventional-style homes lavishly decorated with board, batten and redwood exterior trim. There are 16 designs and 4 basic floor plans, avoiding any dull similarity within the development. Each lot is landscaped with front and rear lawns, twenty shrubs, parkway trees already in.

Executives of Baskin Construction Co. noted that these homes will be priced within the middle brackets and that veterans may purchase one of them for no money down except closing costs and impounds.

Color-coordinated outside and inside by the famed consultant, Margaret Lowe, these homes offer appointments seldom found in their price range. Luxury touches include mahogany paneling on living room or den walls; smart wallpaper in dining areas; enameled steel venetian blinds; stall showers with ceramic tile floor and full glass doors; aluminum metal tiling around stall shower and around tub with shower in master bath; pullman lavatories and oversize Mr. & Mrs. medicine cabinets with very large mirror.

Closet space is very large with walk-in wardrobes in the bedrooms, linen closet, and guest closet.

Construction is solid, of top quality, using lath and plaster interiors with accoustic type ceiling; oak hardwood floors over conventional foundations; colored crushed rock roofs on modern elevation designs; rockwool insulation; forced air heating.

All utilities, including sidewalks, curbs, paved streets, sewers and ornamental street lights are in.

Blue Bell Manor Offers Occupancy by Christmas

Imagine a new home for a Christmas present!

The hope of owning a 3 or 4-bedroom, 2-bath home may have always been tucked away among your most cherished dreams—but it needn't be only a dream any longer, say the developers of Blue Bell Manor.

"You've always known that your home had to have extra, beauty-plus features such as a painted and wall papered interior, hardwood floors, accoustical ceilings, sliding walls of glass, a log burning fireplace with gas lighter, a central hall plan, spacious eating area and endless other superior qualities," a spokesman continued.

"Just such a fabulous beauty can be yours — and before it's time to put up the Christmas tree."

It is now possible to buy a Blue Bell Manor home in Garden Grove this weekend and feel assured that you will be able to move in on the same day lender's approval is given.

An added incentive for prospective home buyers is complete 5-foot high redwood fencing offered to those who buy one of the few 3 or 4-bedroom homes that are left in the first unit of Blue Bell Homes.

Ready for Immediate occupancy, these homes are available to veterans for no money down except for the usual impounds. Veterans also have advantage of 30-year loans. Non-veterans move in with unbelieveably low down payments of only $990 plus the usual impounds. Liberal 25-year FHA loans are also available.

The answer to your Christmas dream can be yours for only $13,950 and $14,750.

$395 MOVE-IN PRICE

Provincial redwood trim and carefully selected decorator color exteriors add to the beauty of the fourth unit of Magnolia Manor, being previewed this weekend in Garden Grove. The Wonder Homes are offered to both veteran and non-veteran for $395 move-in price.

Another Magnolia Manor Unit Previewing Today

Preview showing of the 4th unit of Magnolia Manor in Garden Grove is slated for this weekend, Frank H. McFarland, sales agent for the new Wonder Homes, has announced.

Priced from $11,050 to $11,550, the 3 and 4-bedroom, 2-bath homes are available to both veterans and non-veterans for $395 down. These low terms, the sales agent pointed out, are not usually offered in homes of this quality class.

Furnished models will be displayed for the first time this weekend, McFarland said, showing the step-saving floor plans, the color coordinated interiors and the traditional designs available.

Entry halls, mahogany doors, wallpapered breakfast nooks, natural finish kitchen cabinets, formica counter tops, waste disposals, acoustical plastered ceilings and painted plastered walls are among the exceptional features listed by the sales agent. Buyers may select from 16 different exterior designs, McFarland added.

To attend the preview of the homes, visitors from the Long Beach area may drive straight out Garden Grove Blvd. The homes are just past Harbor Blvd. on Garden Grove Blvd.

Stress Orangewood Manor Liberal Terms Given All

"We believe the terms for Orangewood Manor are the most liberal in Orange County," states Thomas Holt, spokesman for the McCarthy Co., sales agents for the popular Garden Grove development. Holt pointed out that not only can veterans buy in Orangewood Manor for absolutely no cash down, but veterans earning as little as $295 per month may qualify for a $12,750 home. Non-veterans may purchase for as little as $750 down.

Among the many popular features of these 3 and 4-bedroom, 2-bath homes are the beautiful kitchens which feature built-in range and oven in pastel colors to match the lovely Columbia steel cabinets. Real fireplaces and living rooms with ski-vue walls of glass, big patios, and built-in barbecues are added attributes.

Other custom features include: baths with Zolatone walls and asphalt tile flooring, Thermador electric bath heaters, stall showers and Standard colored plumbing fixtures; forced air heating, Pioneer 50-gallon water heaters, resilient cork tile flooring, walls of genuine lath and plaster, rockwool insulation, weatherstripping on exterior doors, heavy rock roofs in five decorator colors, and exteriors of California redwood siding.

From Long Beach, drive out 7th St. (Garden Grove Blvd.) and turn north on Magnolia. From Los Angeles, take the Santa Ana Freeway, turn south on Magnolia and continue four miles to Orangewood Manor.

ALDON'S 1956 SERIES

Shown above is one of the many new three and four-bedroom homes, all with two complete baths, making up the 1956 "Triumph Series" now on display at Buena Plaza, near Knott's Berry Farm, on La Palma Ave., east of Miller St., Buena Park.

Buena Plaza's Grand Opening of Big New Unit Is Continuing

Grand opening of the new "ahead of schedule" sixth unit of Triumph Series 3 and 4-bedroom, 2-bath homes at Buena Plaza will be continued this weekend, following an introductory week which pushed sales for the planned $50,000,000 community to nearly 1,600 dwellings for the first 11 months of this year.

This was announced yesterday by spokesmen for the fast-selling development on La Palma Ave., east of Miller St., just off the Santa Ana Freeway, in Buena Park. A top Aldon official commented:

"Opening of our newest advance-styled 1956-unit of homes was opportune, for it has given fresh impetus to interest in Buena Plaza's choice location, diversified stylings, interesting use of luxury materials and the availability of vets of nothing down but costs and impounds and non-vets terms as low as $990 down, plus costs and impounds."

Much of the steadily rising interest in the new 2100-home development, a spokesman said, lies in its acceptance as a thoroughly planned residential community, with great diversification of stylings, floor plans and color schemes, plus the Aldon-pioneered special treatment of exteriors to assure a unique degree of individuality.

The interesting uses to which such luxury materials are put by Aldon planners and craftsmen are illustrated for visitors at the "Greatest Home Show on Earth" in eight fully furnished model homes, with decor by Aaron Schultz, on La Palma Ave., east of Miller St., just off the Santa Ana Freeway in Buena Park. The exhibit offers both three and four-bedroom, two-bath homes of the new 1956 "Triumph Series."

"Buena Plaza is still able to offer veterans terms of absolutely nothing down but costs and impounds," an Aldon spokesman announced. "Monthly payments for vets are from $66.67 for principal and interest."

General sales agent E. "Billy" Hamburg stressed also that sales have been stimulated by the availability of special terms for non-vets in the new "Triumph Series" featuring down payments as low as $990 plus costs and impounds.

As developers of more than 25,000 homes in recent years, the Aldon Construction Co. crew of skilled craftsmen and designers have brought this tremendous backlog of experience to the fashioning of Buena Plaza, a $50,000,000 2100-home planned community of individualized dwellings.

Stylings range from California ranch, modern and colonial to provincial and farmhouse, with further differentiations in floor plans, color schemes and special use of richly textured woods, new colors and tone harmonies, cedar shingle sidewalls, V-joints, channel and board-and-batt redwood siding, shutters, varied roof pitches and highly diversified diamond pane, box frame and modern awning type window treatments.

Four special treatments of floor-to-ceiling brick or slumpstone fireplaces are reflected in the four-bedroom models, which also boast the generous use of many kinds of luxury paneling, the new "Aldon Glaze" on cabinetry and exterior wood trim.

IN MAGNOLIA ESTATES

Contemporary four-bedroom, two-bath home, shown above, at Magnolia Estates features rear living room with sliding wall of glass, large wardrobe closets, separate service porch. Immediate occupancy is promised on these homes.

Estates Sales Are Soaring

Promise of occupancy within twenty days and the favorable terms offered veterans and non-veterans alike resulted in unprecented sales last week at Magnolia Estates in Anaheim, it was announced by officials of Exhibit Homes, Inc., builder-developers of the community.

Prices start at $12,325 for the three or four-bedroom, two-bath, two-car garage homes and veterans may still take advantage of 30-year maturity loans with no down payment except closing costs and impounds. Monthly payments are from $63 and include principal and interest. Non-veterans may take advantage of the lowest possible terms, too.

Conventional in type, these homes have a minimum of 1325 square feet of living area, giving real spaciousness to all rooms. Designed by architect Daniel L. Dworsky, every home features large picture windows, roomy walk-in pantries, large dining areas, big service porches and all-metal sliding glass door to the unusually shaped patios.

Four furnished models are on view and may be reached from Los Angeles by the Santa Ana Freeway to Magnolia in Anaheim; then turn south on Magnolia to the property, located between La Palma and Crescent Aves.

The kitchens have natural ash cabinets and ceramic tile around the sink. Baths include stall showers with ceramic tile floors.

Heating is by forced air and large automatic gas water heaters are included.

Magnolia Estates is close to well established shopping centers, business districts, churches and fine schools, as well as to recreational centers and to new industrial hubs.

Bank Robbers Get Lone Dollar Loot

A spokesman said the change was missing from a postage stamp box.

Buena Berry Park Starting New Unit

Don Coleman, sales agent for the Moss Building Corp., announced yesterday the beginning of construction of unit 3 for Buena Berry Park in Buena Park. Buena Berry Park, situated just one block east of famed Knott's Berry Farm, is only 20 minutes driving time from Long Beach and only 25 minutes from Los Angeles.

Coleman stated that no down payment is still available for a qualified veteran, except costs and impounds. He emphasized the cheaper than rent idea, and pointed out that monthly terms were as low as $58.92. Non-veterans, he added, need pay as little as $1600 down with FHA financing assured.

Outstanding features are built-in gas oven and range, forced-air heat, raised-hearth fireplaces in some stylings.

NO DOWN TO VETS

Buena Berry Park announced starting the third unit of homes such as this which veterans may purchase with nothing down except impounds and costs.

Exiciting homemaker advantages are decorative breakfast bars, two-tone kitchen cabinets, disposals, sliding glass doors to the patios, central hall plans.

Situated on dry, healthful terrain, with full-grown orange trees on some lots, Buena Berry Park homes are close to schools, churches, and shopping centers.

A new model home is on display daily, furnished by Sempliner's of Los Angeles.

From Long Beach drive out Carson which becomes Lincoln Ave. to Huntington Beach Blvd. (Hwy. 39), turn left to models.

Eastchester Park Popular

A survey among buyers in Eastchester Park, popular Fullerton development, reveals that the spaciousness of these homes combined with the indoor-outdoor themes of their architecture are among the more popular features, it was stated by Mel Mack, sales agent for the development.

"Eastchester Park homes of three and four bedrooms and two baths were designed for the growing American family," Mack pointed out. "Large rooms, ample cabinet space, oversize lots, fireplace in the 'ski-vue' living rooms, barbecues in patios are some of the features enthusiastically applauded by Eastchester Park buyers," he continued.

Mack also stated that for a limited time veterans can still purchase in Eastchester Park with no down payment, just costs and impounds. Non-veterans can buy for as little as $750 down.

Eastchester Park model homes are at Orangethorpe and Nicklett in friendly Fullerton. From Los Angeles, take the Santa Ana Freeway and turn east on Orangethorpe to Nicklett. From Long Beach drive out Carson to Highway 39, turn north to Orangethorpe, then east to Eastchester Park.

Ex-Lumberjack Is Honored as L.B. Realtor of Week

IVAN HELDE
From Lumber Jack to Broker

A former lumberjack who entered the oil business and then got interested in realty by chatting with a broker during his lunch hour is the Realtor of the Week honored by the Long Beach Board.

Ivan Helde, a native of Seattle, engaged in lumber cutting four years, after finishing school, then operated his own grocery store for a time. Later he joined Standard Oil and was transferred to Long Beach in 1945 in an office capacity.

"During my lunch hour I would walk around the downtown and often dropped in the office of Jim Garth, veteran Long Beach broker," explains Helde. "He got me interested in real estate and I gave up my job and went to work for him."

For the past five years Helde has held his own broker's license and his office is at 1240½ E. 4th St. He has been successful from the start and specializes in income property.

Helde also is taking extension courses from the University of Southern California, studying appraising and real estate law.

Mr. and Mrs. Helde and their 2-year old twins, a boy and girl, live at 4410 Rosada Ave. He likes golf but admits he has little time to play the game.

PAT ROBERTSON, THE SALESMAN of the week, who came from "the land of snow," is one realty salesman who knows all about construction.

Coming from Carthage, Mo., to Hollywood with her husband and two children in mid-December of 1937, the family found California "sunny and just like heaven itself must be," she explains.

Music was her hobby, having played over a Joplin radio station, WMBH. She also had gone to work after arriving here, serving as office manager of an infant wear concern.

In 1940 Pat decided to do some building and she sub-contracted all construction for a home in Burbank. It was a success and she has continued to purchase and remodel old homes with equal success. One of the homes she improved was featured in the Southland Magazine last spring.

In July of this year she received her realty salesman's license and is now with the Morris Holmquist office at 2182 Pacific Ave.

She belongs to the North Long Beach Realty Club, the Long Beach Board of Realtors—where she hasn't missed a meeting. As for a hobby, she says realty provides that.

"I find that real estate has no limit in meeting new friends every day and I'm mighty proud to be in the profession."

She resides at 5818 Jaymills St.

Seeking $450,000 for Resort Damage

INDIO (UP)—Owners of a former resort community on the shore of Salton Sea seek $450,000 damage against the Coachella Valley County and Imperial Irrigation Water Districts.

The owners of the Desert Beach Corp. in the damage suit charged that the irrigation waste water pumped into the desert sea by the water districts has inundated and ruined the resort.

Special Showing Is Given by Ponty-Anaheim Homes

Three architect-designed model homes at Ponty-Anaheim have been completely furnished and landscaped for this week end's special showing which is highlighted by Developer George Ponty's announcement that vets earning as little as $85 a week may qualify to buy the spacious 1,394-sq.-ft. dwellings on Ball Rd. at Nutwood, in Anaheim.

Vets' terms, Ponty pointed out, are nothing down except costs and impounds which total $289. The 4-bedroom, 2-bath homes are priced at $14,250, described by the builder as being "substantially less than the prices of comparable houses in the fast-growing Anaheim area."

A spokesman for Walker & Lee, sales agents, forecast an early sell-out of the Ponty-built development of 73 homes, adding:

"These houses have 1,990 square feet under roof, almost 1,400 square feet of actual living area; they have an abundance of closets and cupboards; the backyards are completely fenced. In short, these are real family homes, in dimensions and in appointments.

"The automatic water heaters have a 50-gallon capacity. The forced-air heating system is 75,000 BTU, and has a summer cooling switch. One of the four bedrooms in each house has its own private connecting bath. In the central hall connecting the den and other two bedrooms of every model there are a large, deep wardrobe and two spacious linen closets. In the kitchen is a pull-out breakfast and serving bar, which is only one of countless thoughtfully planned time-savers for easy housekeeping."

Built-in gas ranges and ovens in a wide choice of bright colors, automatic clothes dryers, natural ash, kitchen cabinets, Superamic tile worktops, custom-designed brick fireplaces, French doors and huge picture windows in living-dining rooms, dens and bedrooms are luxuries every homemaker will appreciate. All Ponty-Anaheim homes have two-car garages.

Occupancy at close of escrow is assured, according to Walker & Lee.

Ponty-Anaheim is reached by turning right off the Santa Ana Freeway at La Palma, crossing tracks to Sequoia (which immediately becomes Brookhurst), continuing on Brookhurst to Ball Rd., then turning left and proceeding three-tenths of a mile to the furnished models.

Shown is one of many four-bedroom, two-bath home stylings now offered at Ponty-Anaheim on Ball Rd., between Agate and Nutwood. Homes have front, rear and side lawns planted; three trees and 15 shrubs.

Vet Needs Only $145 in Shamrock Park

New financing arrangements at Shamrock Park permit veterans to move in by paying only $145, stated Frank Hart, general sales manager of Walker & Lee, Inc., sales agents for the Garden Grove development. At the same time, Hart pointed out that there are a limited number of Shamrock Park homes available to non-veterans on a rent-with-option-to-buy plan.

In Shamrock Park buyers still can purchase needed appliances such as refrigerator, range and washer by having the price applied to their loan. This gives veterans an opportunity to move into a new home with appliances installed for absolutely no additional cash outlay. Monthly payments are $58.66 including principal and interest, with total prices starting at $11,575.

One of the most popular features at Shamrock Park since its recent grand opening is the large living rooms with walls of glass and real fireplaces, Hart noted.

Shamrock Park homes are designed for contemporary living to meet the demand for efficiently planned floor plans and elevations to suit family needs, Hart pointed out, and they include many luxury features usually associated with custom-built homes.

Shamrock Park is reached from Los Angeles and northern points by taking the Santa Ana Freeway to Harbor and turning south. From Long Beach, take 7th St. (Garden Grove Blvd.) and turn south at Harbor to Shamrock Park model homes.

New FHA Financing Terms on Brookhurst Plaza Home

New FHA financing terms have been announced for Brookhurst Plaza, popular Anaheim development, it was announced by Reno H. Sirrene, sales agent for R. & W. Construction Co., developers.

Nonveterans may now purchase Brookhurst Plaza homes for as little as $1400 down, plus costs and impounds, Reno Sirrene stated.

"These terms are, to my knowledge, the lowest for this type of home in the area. Monthly payments are as low as $78, which includes everything—taxes, principal and interest. Veterans may still purchase for no down payment," Sirrene added. The 3 and 4-bedroom, 2-bath homes are priced from $12,900.

Brookhurst Plaza was built by R. & W. Construction Co., and one of the outstanding features that has attracted attention to these desirable homes are the efficiently designed and handsomely appointed kitchens, which include built-in Western Holly ovens and ranges, easy to care for natural birch cabinets, electric exhaust fans, GE garbage disposals, convenient double compartments, sinks and breakfast areas.

Model homes are on Brookhurst Ave., just north of La Palma. From Los Angeles and northern areas, drive out the Santa Ana Freeway to La Palma, then east to Brookhurst and north to the model homes. From Long Beach, drive out Carson (Lincoln Highway) to Euclid Ave., turn north, cross the Freeway into La Palma, west to Brookhurst and north to the model homes.

Quality, Luxury in Beverly Gardens Home

George J. Heltzer and Associates, builder-developers of prestige communities, have keynoted homes with quality, luxury and many features for over 30 years. George J. Heltzer, president of the company said: "Every home in our newest community, Beverly Gardens in Garden Grove, gives the purchaser quality, value, luxury and individuality, plus features galore seldom offered in Beverly Garden's price range. All these things are deciding factors in the tremendous sales success of this development, we believe.

"Top value comes from top quality," Heltzer continued. "A Heltzer-built home stresses quality of material, of construction, of workmanship, of design and of appointments. We stand by our motto that there is no substitute for quality."

Heltzer pointed out that only the finest materials are used in Beverly Gardens homes, only the best construction goes into them.

Quality of design is assured by architects who have planned 20 different floor variations and 33 different elevations and architectural styles for the community.

Quality of appointments is integral in the famous brands used for luxury features like steel sliding glass doors and screens; forced air heating furnaces; built-in kitchen cabinets of natural finish; garbage disposers; bath fixtures including two-colored luxurious lavatories in Mr. and Mrs. Design, pullman cabinets in the master baths; coppertone range hoods with fans and lights; and formica drainboards on large sinks.

David R. Berman, Heltzer associate in charge of Beverly Gardens noted that Beverly Gardens offers everyone unusually easy 4½ per cent financing with small down payments and monthly terms of just $61.35, including principal and interest while veterans still pay no money down except closing costs and impounds.

Beverly Gardens is within easy reach of Long Beach via 7th St. (Garden Grove Blvd.) to West St.; turn left and drive to Chapman St. and the model homes in the huge Gateway to Quality Home Show of 14 furnished and landscaped homes.

The four-bedroom, two-bath "Georgetown" model, shown above, is typical of the smartly styled homes in Beverly Gardens in Garden Grove, featuring quality, luxury touches and many unusual appointments.

New Draft Beer Now Packaged

Long Beach beer drinkers may now buy a full-strength draft beer in bottles and cans, announced Charles J. Lick, manager of the Eastside brewery in Los Angeles, this week.

This is the first time in California that a draft beer has been packaged in bottles and cans, said Lick. The beer has the same brewing formula as the draft beer brewed by Eastside when a state law was passed in September; allowing the alcoholic content of draft beer to be increased to 5 per cent by volume, he said.

LOADED WITH LUXURY FEATURES

Builders of Luxury Homes in Garden Grove point to 44 extra features they are providing in the homes which are being offered in a grand opening this week end. This shows the living room of one of the models.

Grand Opening Today for New Unit of Luxury Homes

The builders of Luxury Homes in Garden Grove report that although male members of the family will be very much impressed wth the quality construction features of the home, housewives are expected to be especially excited with the ultra-modern conviences of the "Luxury" kitchen. Grand opening is underway for the homes this week end.

A few of the kitchen features include a convenient built-in gas oven and table-top range, handy garbage disposal, "easy-to-clean" formica drainboards, an abundance of imported mohogany cabinets and a cozy built-in breakfast nook with foam plastic seats.

Luxury homes have 44 extra features incorporated in each distinctive residence. Located at Brookhurst Ave. and Ball Rd. in Garden Grove, these custom-built luxurized contemporary homes are available on no down payment to veterans, with total monthly payments of $62.90.

FHA terms are available to all. That means any qualified buyer may secure a 25-year, government guaranteed loan, at only 4½ per cent interest and monthly payments for principal and interest are only $61.72 per month. Five model homes are on display daily between 10 a. m. and 8 p. m.

Another unusual planning feature of "Luxury Homes" is the emphasis on outdoor living. All homes are provided with a large backyard fully enclosed with decorative redwood fencing. Incinerators and clothes poles have also been provided. The distinctive front of each home is individually landscaped.

The homemaker will appreciate her choice of a wide selection of decorator colors for personalized color planning, including custom colored bathroom fixtures. Color co-ordination has been planned by J. Thomas Wilner and Associates.

A spacious stall shower in the second bathroom, is another popular "Luxury Homes" feature.

Forced-air heat, thermostatically controlled, offers scientifically planned air circulation throughout the house.

The tract is located in an area which combines the advantages of country living with the convenience of city commuting. New shopping areas bring everything the family desires within easy reach. New highways and freeways bring Garden Grove conveniently close to industrial and commercial Los Angeles, Long Beach, Santa Ana, Pasadena and other Southern California communities.

Low-Cost Plane

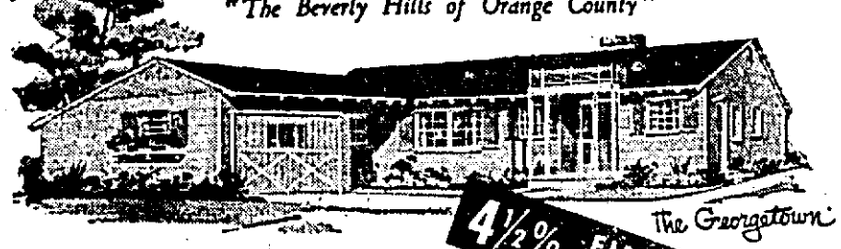

MAYFIELD, N. Y. (UP)—Owen S. Billman is a firm believer in "do-it-yourself." The 34-year-old salesman has built his own airplane from second-hand parts at a cost of only $500. Miracle Homes Location Big Factor in Good Sales

Scores of families visited Miracle Homes on the opening day of sales and appeared impressed with the location. Several cash sales were made, the developers report.

Many years ago Young-Loftus Construction Co. adopted as prime requirements in land acquisition the following: Property must be well located with reference to highways; it must be well-drained; the soil must be good; schools, stores and churches must be convenient; and the area must be growing and progressive; and employment sources must be within 30 minutes. Miracle Homes possess all these necessary items, officials pointed out.

Knott's Berry Farm, employing hundreds of part time and full time workers, is a quarter-mile away Disneyland is about 3 miles. The huge Anaheim, Fullerton, Los Angeles East Side and Long Beach industrial areas are well within a 30-minute drive. Some of the biggest names in industry such as U. S. Motors, Delco Batteries, Robertshaw, Douglas, North American are nearby.

Miracle Homes are well designed and well built, salesmen pointed out. Federal Housing Administration standards, which mean high grade work, are used. The homes have 3 bedrooms or 2 bedrooms and den. Some have fireplaces. Select oak floors 21 inches off the ground are used. All homes have rear yards completely fenced with airflow Redwood fence. Cement sidewalks and curbs, ornamental street lights, parkway trees, landscaping, lawn and shrubbery, all are included. Prices begin at $13,200 with no down payments except costs and impounds for Vets. Non-Vets will find the best terms with up to 30 years payment period.

Three furnished Model Homes are on display from 9 to 6 daily, on Grand Ave. at Crescent Ave. south of Knott's Berry Farm.

Innovations Attract Buyers to Park South in Buena Park

Innovations in homes of the middle price bracket are credited with sending sales to new heights at Park South in Buena Park by officials of Exhibit Homes, Inc., builder-developers.

Master bedrooms, 16 feet in width, have recessed dressing alcoves, king size stall showers in private baths, wall-to-wall bathroom mirrors and, as an optional feature, 21-inch TV built into the wall, with bedside controls.

Yet these houses are priced from just $14,650, available to veterans at no down payment except $300 in impounds and closing costs, and to non-veterans for only $1095 down.

These 3- and 4-bedroom, 2-bath homes may be reached from Long Beach by driving east on Carson St., which becomes Lincoln Ave., then turning north on Miller St. where four furnished models may be visited daily.

Thirteen exterior designs are offered with four basic floor plans, allowing buyers a free rein to individual taste. Homes are planned for easy furniture arrangements and housewives are pampered with big closets and large storage space.

A real innovation in Park South homes is the big kitchen-family room which opens into the living-dining area to provide an expanse 23 by 28 feet for entertaining.

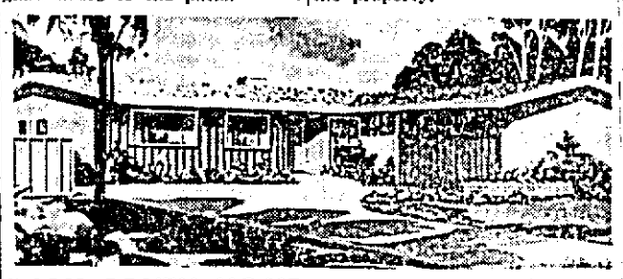

And an "outdoor living-room" can be added with the flick of a finger just by sliding the big glass doors to the patio.

When privacy is desired a folding accordion door closes off the family-room-kitchen from the rest of the house.

Builders stated that another noteworthy feature in these homes is the big walk-in pantry which increases kitchen storage space by at least 50 per cent.

The kitchens themselves are outstanding with smart birch cabinets, garbage disposer, tile wainscot at the range, copper-tone exhaust hood with concealed light and fan, six-foot wide windows overlooking the play yard and built-in spice and cannister sets for that extra touch of luxury.

The planned community is reached via the Santa Ana Freeway to Valley View Blvd.; turn right and drive straight ahead to the property.

Pictured is four-bedroom home at Park South in Buena Park featuring wide eaves, rock roof, family room that may be shut off from living area by folding doors, and 16-foot master bedroom with private bath and recessed dressing room.

Garden Homes Draw

The Don Coleman Co., exclusive agent for the California Garden Homes subdivision, stated that 50 per cent of the first unit was sold last week end at the preview. This tremendous sales response was attributed to the outstanding features and Garden Grove location.

The 3- and 4-bedroom 2-bath homes are completely fenced and landscaped and feature built-in dishwasher, range and oven, range vent hood, built-in Convertable, hardwood cabinets, wall of glass overlooking entertainment size patios, sliding door wardrobes, coved formica sink tops, and pool-size lots, according to spokesman of the Don Coleman Co., exclusive agents.

The homes are of transitional, ranch and contemporary stylings and may be purchased by veterans under no down payment 30-year terms, it was stated by Coleman, and are priced from $12,700. The 158-home subdivision is within walking distance of schools, shopping and public transportation, it was stated.

The furnished models may be reached from Los Angeles via the Santa Ana Freeway to Grand Avenue (Hwy. 39), then south to Cerritos and left two miles to models. From Long Beach, drive straight east on Spring St. which becomes Cerritos and to the furnished model homes.

Report Many Sales in Paradise Square

Heavy sales credited to unusual home value were reported yesterday by Martin Friedman and Ted Leff, heads of the Tedmar Construction Co., developers of Paradise Square, new 3-bedroom-and-family-room and 4-bedroom, 2-bath homes rising in Anaheim just 4 blocks from the Santa Ana Freeway and three blocks from the new Broadway Department Store.

"Total purchase price of these spacious homes, with 1,300 square feet of living area," a spokesman explained, "is $14,563—yet it would be impossible to replace them today at this price.

"Included in this unusual value are wide lot, all city utilities, valued at $4,200; complete redwood fencing, landscaping and sprinklers, valued at $615 and the luxurized home itself, built by Tedmar Construction Co. at the low figure of $7.50 per square foot, with total value of $9,750."

Paradise Square, they explained, is just two short blocks from a grade school and but a mile and a half from the Anaheim civic and shopping center, high schools, city parks, churches and amusements. Also near at hand are three free junior colleges while the beaches and other fun spots can be reached in just a few minutes driving time.

Offered in a choice of three-bedroom and family room or four-bedroom models, all with two baths, the homes are still available on 30-year VA-guaranteed loans to vets for nothing down, except costs an dimpounds. Non-vets can choose between FHA or conventional loan terms with 10 per cent down, it was stated.

Popular features are built-in ranges, ovens and rotisslere; massive fireplaces, forced air heating, colored bathroom fixtures and two glass enclosed showers. Buyers have a choice of color in kitchen appliances; copper, stainless steel or pastel porcelain shades.

Also included are landscaping, fencing, sprinkler system, extra-large driveways, and such interior features as all-aluminum sliding glass doors, floor-to-ceiling sliding windows, overhead indirect lighting, natural finish birch cabinets, big double sinks with coved formica drainboards, garbage disposers, and exhaust fans.

'Stiff' Sentence for Two Youths

MITCHELL, S. D. (UP)—Municipal Judge Merton B. Tice turned stern schoolmaster recently and sentenced two Huron, S. D., young men to write 1,000 times, "I will not destroy anyone else's property." They were charged with malicious mischief for throwing beer bottles at a truck.

I WISH to express my thanks to the Long Beach Orthopedic service, 2225 Pacific Ave. In 1951 I lost my right leg. I was fitted with several artificial limbs by other companies but was unable to walk successfully without a cane. My stump was irritated because of ill fitting limbs. The limbs I now wear was made by the Long Beach Orthopedic Service. I got a perfect fitting limb. I never use a cane, and the ulcers are sore. Now I can walk well. I can dance and climb on mountains.

Words and Music

By JOHN B. CALLAGHAN

Most of us say that Christmas is a time for the children . . . and it is. But we suspect that few of us adults are above enjoying the gifts that Christmas brings . . . of merriment, good cheer . . . and presents.

There'll be a lot of adults looking forward to a musical Christmas this year . . . because it seems that more and more adults are turning to music as a hobby. Many are returning to it, trying to pick up the broken pieces of that early musical education that didn't go too far. All told, the American Music Conference reports, there are some 27,000,000 Americans today who own musical instruments . . . and about 26,000,000 play them. Those interesting figures indicate that about a million instruments are gathering dust they shouldn't collect! Incidentally, that figure of players is just about twice the number of musical Americans who played twenty years ago.

So, if you've been yearning to play the piano, pluck a banjo or toot a horn, or if there's someone in your family who's had that wish, there's no time like Christmas for that priceless gift of a musical instrument . . . the way to endless hours of emotional release, relaxation and pure fun. Music makes the perfect gift . . . for young or old!

For many families the perfect musical gift this year would be a wonderful HAMMOND Organ . . . the gift the whole family will enjoy for years and years to come. It's easy to play a Hammond. Come in and try it yourself! PENNY-OWSLEY MUSIC CO. OF LONG BEACH. 4334 Atlantic Blvd. Ph. GA 7-7406.

UC Library Gets Rare Church Book

BERKELEY (UP)—A rare copy of the Mormon book of commandments valued at "several thousand dollars" was presented Saturday to the University of California's Bancroft Library.

The book is known to most Mormons as "The Doctrine and Covenants."

Dr. George P. Hammond, library director, said the book was printed in 1832-33 at Zion, Mo., marking the farthest westward advance of publishing in America at that time.

Buildings at British USAF Base Sinking

BURTONWOOD, England (AP)—Buildings at this big U. S. Air Force base are sinking. Officials say coal mining operations are responsible and warned that after 1960 the runway system may not be safe. They are talking with local mine chiefs to see what can be done.

ID Tags for Children

BONN, Germany (AP)—West Germany plans to issue identification tags to children to help identify them in the event of catastrophe. The metal tags will bear the name, MV blood type and fingerprints of the owner.

TV Tele-Vues

by TERRY VERNON

We're off again on a trip around one portion of the "Wide Wide World" on (4) at 1 p. m. as 60 cameras record what is going on today from coast-to-coast and border-to-border in these United States.

The New Orleans' French Quarter, San Francisco Bay, Vancouver, Carlsbad Caverns, the State of Washington, the San Fernando Valley and the Statue of Liberty all will be visited. And there'll be side trips, too, as Dave Garroway conducts a look at Gallery Row in New York where the works of famed Grandma Moses are on display. She may be around to talk with Lillian Gish, Thomas J. Watson and many other famous persons.

Six cameras will go underground for a look at the famous Carlsbad Caverns in New Mexico. This is a highly technical job for the engineers but they have managed to solve all the problems of televising 800 feet below the earth's surface.

EDUCATIONAL PROBLEMS—Taking over the time usually given to "Omnibus" will be CBS vice president Edward R. Murrow and his "See It Now" on (2) at 2 p. m. This 90-minute show will delve with all the usual Murrow thoroughness into our educational problems. In preparation for several months, "Ballots at Bear Creek: An Educational Western" promises to be an outstanding treatise on the subject. "Omnibus" is back next week.

AT 8 P. M.—Top Hollywood personalities will be in the audience at the Cocoanut Grove for the Modern Screen 25th Anniversary Party and annual award-giving which becomes the "Variety Hour" on (4). On stage will be Bob Hope, Lana Turner, Kirk Douglas, Claudette Colbert, John Wayne, Anna Maria Alberghetti, Gordon MacRae and many, many more. . . . "Ed Sullivan Show" on (2) features Pearl Bailey, comic Dick Shawn, The Goofers, the Collier's All-American Football Team, the Princeton Triangle Club and Licia Albanese, Met star, with her son, 3-year-old Gimma III. Only Westerner on the All-American is guard Hardiman Cureton of UCLA.

DRAMA—Peter Lawford gambles on getting away with murder as he takes the place of a dead man in an attempt to claim an inheritance during "Alfred Hitchcock Presents" on (2) at 9:30 p. m. . . . Melvyn Douglas stars as an eminent businessman who becomes a Presidential advisor and the target of a sharpshooting congressional investigating committee during "The Alcoa Hour" on (4) at 9 p. m. . . . Lisa Kirk and Jack Carter co-star on the "G. E. Theatre" at 9 p. m. on (2). She is a famed recording star, he is her manager. They plan to be wed but each date that is set falls through due to his pushing her career. This adds up to too much for the girl, who suffers a mental breakdown. . . . Dinah Shore takes over the "Loretta Young Show" as hostess on (4) at 10 p. m. and presents Margaret Hayes and Gerald Mohr in a tale of love and jealousy set against a background of revolution in Central America.

GRANDMA MOSES
Has New Display

TELE-TIPS — The Rams and Eagles play football today and (7) winds up its coverage of Pro-Football for the season at 11 a. m. . . . Dorleen Porter, a Jordan High School dancer, will be featured on Al Burton's new "Club Revue" at 5:30 p. m. on (9). . . . An hour-long film of the Santa Claus parade in Hollywood held Saturday will be seen on (5) at 4:30 p. m. . . . "Great Churches of the Golden West" honors the chaplain service during a telecast from the USS Los Angeles anchored in the harbor on (11) at 11 a. m. . . . "Let's Take a Trip" to the Chicago Livestock Exposition on (2) at 1:30 p. m. . . . Drew Pearson reports on the opposition to Vice President Richard M. Nixon as a Presidential possibility during his talk on (7) at 2 p. m. following the pro-football game. Drew's column appears daily in The Independent. . . . A factual report on "Chamberlain at Munich" will be the "You Are There" offering on (2) at 6 p. m. . . . The best performances seen on the show during 1952 will be headlined again on "You Asked for It" at 7 p. m. on (7).

STORY LINES—Four football tickets to the big game kick-off a comedy sequence on "It's a Great Life," starring Michael O'Shea, James Dunn and William Bishop on (4) at 7 p. m. The trio of "college freshmen" wind up with more seats than they can handle. . . . Vi Praskins gets tired of accepting so she trades jobs with Susie MacNamara during "Private Secretary" on (2) at 7 p. m. and finds out about square pegs and round holes.

RADIO HIGHLIGHTS

Jack Benny is the special guest on the "Edgar Bergen Hour" at 4:05 p. m. on KNX and becomes involved with Charlie McCarthy over a trailer and Benny's Palm Springs Trailer Park.

Keenan Wynn plays the role of a famous clown in a drama of circus life on "Your Radio Theatre" at 2:05 p. m. on KFI. The clown vanishes from the circus in a search for his own identity.

A new Christmas song, "Round, Round the Christmas Tree" will be introduced by Gene Autry during his show on KNX at 7:05 p. m. Merle Travis, writer of "Sixteen Tons," will be honored guest on the show.

The Rams vs. Eagles pro game is on KHJ at 10:50 a. m.

Historian Dr. Arnold J. Toynbee will be the central figure of "America Town Meeting" on KABC at 7 p. m. and will be interviewed by a distinguished group of the clergy.

Reflect Merriment of Season at Wonderland Ball

A GLIMPSE OF THE ELABORATE decorations to be used for the annual Rick Racker Winter Wonderland Ball, which will take place Saturday, Dec. 3, at Pacific Coast Club, is given by members Mrs. William Osborne, holding the miniature deer; Mrs. Richard Walker with the tiny red and white satin Santa in sleigh; Mrs. F. A. Utecht Jr. and Mrs. Irving Smith Jr. The formal dinner dance is a highlight of the winter social season in Long Beach. All proceeds go to the West Long Beach Girls' Club in Truman Boyd Manor. Mrs. Ethel Severson, ways and means chairman of Rick Rackers, is general chairman. (Additional picture on Page W-2.)

GOLD AND SILVER ANGELS will form a portion of the decor at the annual Rick Racker Winter Wonderland Ball as shown by Mrs. John Arnold, left, and Mrs. Sherman Toft, both serving on the decorations committee with chairman Mrs. Clyde Dunlap Jr. Six-foot wreaths of English holly, yuletide bows of Christmas red and two-foot regal angels will be used for decorations.

Christmas Fantasy Dec. 2-6 by Sandlarks

Quaint miniature Christmas trees, shimmering mobiles, festive door pieces, and the unusual in holiday centerpieces will be beautifully displayed when the third Sandlarks Christmas Fantasy opens Dec. 2 in the lobby of the Wilton Hotel.

Following an afternoon coffee preview, a formal opening will take place in the evening when trophies will be awarded to the winning donors and beautifully gowned Sandlarks will greet their guests at this outstanding event of the holiday season.

Donated by local merchants, florists, and individuals, the holiday decorations for the home will be on display for four days and sold to the public. Entire proceeds will go to the Children's Home Society to further its adoption work. Adding interest to the Fantasy this year is a special trophy being awarded in the florists category and another to the best entry from the Navy ships in the harbor.

Fantasy chairman is Mrs. Martha Ford, assisted by 18 active members of Sandlarks. Helping to greet the public and explain the work of the Children's Home Society will be 20 new sustaining members of the group.

Acting as judges this year will be Malcolm Epley, Mrs. Walter Desmond Jr., Ruth Allen, Howard L. Rogers and Jimmy Jones. Frank Lovejoy, TV and movie star, will present the cups and awards Friday evening, and Miss Ceylon of the Miss Universe Pageant will be among the guests.

Sandlarks, one of 70 auxiliaries throughout the state to work for Children's Home Society, was organized four years ago by a group of Long Beach women interested in adoption work. Children's Home Society is a member of the local Community Chest.

Show to Preview Yule Table Decor

A scene of holiday sparkle will be the Cavalier Room of Lafayette Hotel on Tuesday when the Auxiliary to the Long Beach Osteopathic Society will sponsor its first annual Christmas table-setting show. From 1 until 5 o'clock guests will view tables decorated in festive holiday array by leading merchandisers of the harbor area.

One outstanding display will feature a priceless rose Canton china Princess bowl on an antique rosewood table. All phases of holiday entertaining, with imaginative use of the most beautiful in silver, linens, china, and centerpieces will be seen.

Among the settings will be a formal buffet done in gold and white, "the day before Christmas in a pink kitchen," Christmas at Grandmother's" done in milk glass, a childrens' party,

Coffee Hour to Be Event for Alumnae

Plans for the year will be discussed when Kappa Kappa Gamma alumnae meet Tuesday at a coffee hour in the home of Mrs. James Shively Jr., 3715 Gaviota Ave. Mrs. Charles Secton, chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. Eugene Beebe.

A full schedule has been planned by the president, Mrs. Richard Smith. Among events scheduled are a Christmas party, fund raising occasion and a May brunch.

Rick Rackers Begin Holiday at Soiree

Like the miracle of winter's first snow that silently and beautifully dresses the earth anew, comes the time each year when informal summer days are gone and autumn casualness yields at last to the more elegant events of winter.

One of the most brilliant social affairs of the year, always anticipated with pleasure, is the annual Rick Racker Winter Wonderland Ball, the formal dinner dance, whose gaiety belies its underlying purpose. The charity benefit proceeds are designated for the West Long Beach Girls' Club in Truman Boyd Manor. Mrs. Ethel Severson, ways and means chairman, is general chairman for the ball.

Mrs. Clyde Dunlap Jr. and her committee will dress the Pacific Coast Club in colorful garb on Saturday, Dec. 3. They will direct the placing of six-foot wreaths of English holly, and Yuletide bows of Christmas red, and will place on the tables angels full twenty-four inches high, regal in gold metallic skirts and ethereal with white angel hair.

Assisting Mrs. Dunlap will be Mmes. Ralph Anderson, Kenneth Davidson, Merretta Harris, Irving Smith Jr., Sherman Toft and Richard Walker.

Greeting dinner guests as they enter the club will be Mrs. Severson, her ways and means committee and their escorts. Receiving will be Messrs. and Mmes. Robert Bailey, Eugene Kirkpatrick, Jack Marquette, Kenneth Walker, Richard Walker and Jack Warnock.

More beautiful than the winter wonderland/atmosphere will be the ladies in their lovely ball gowns.

Mrs. Severson will wear a Sybil Connally gown of Irish linen, pleated, and soft blue-grey.

Mrs. E. Decatur Mitchell, Rick Racker president, will wear a full-skirted ballerina length gown of ice blue Chantilly lace, with rock crystal and pearls gleaming a lovely accent on the bodice.

With an aqua dress featuring an opalescent sequin trimmed bodice, Mrs. R. Philip Dowds will wear glass slippers. A powder blue Cecil Chapman sheath is the choice of Mrs. John Turner.

Mrs. John Arnold will be gowned in a Martha Washington creation of white lace, worn with a red nylon sash and red satin slippers for the gayest of accents.

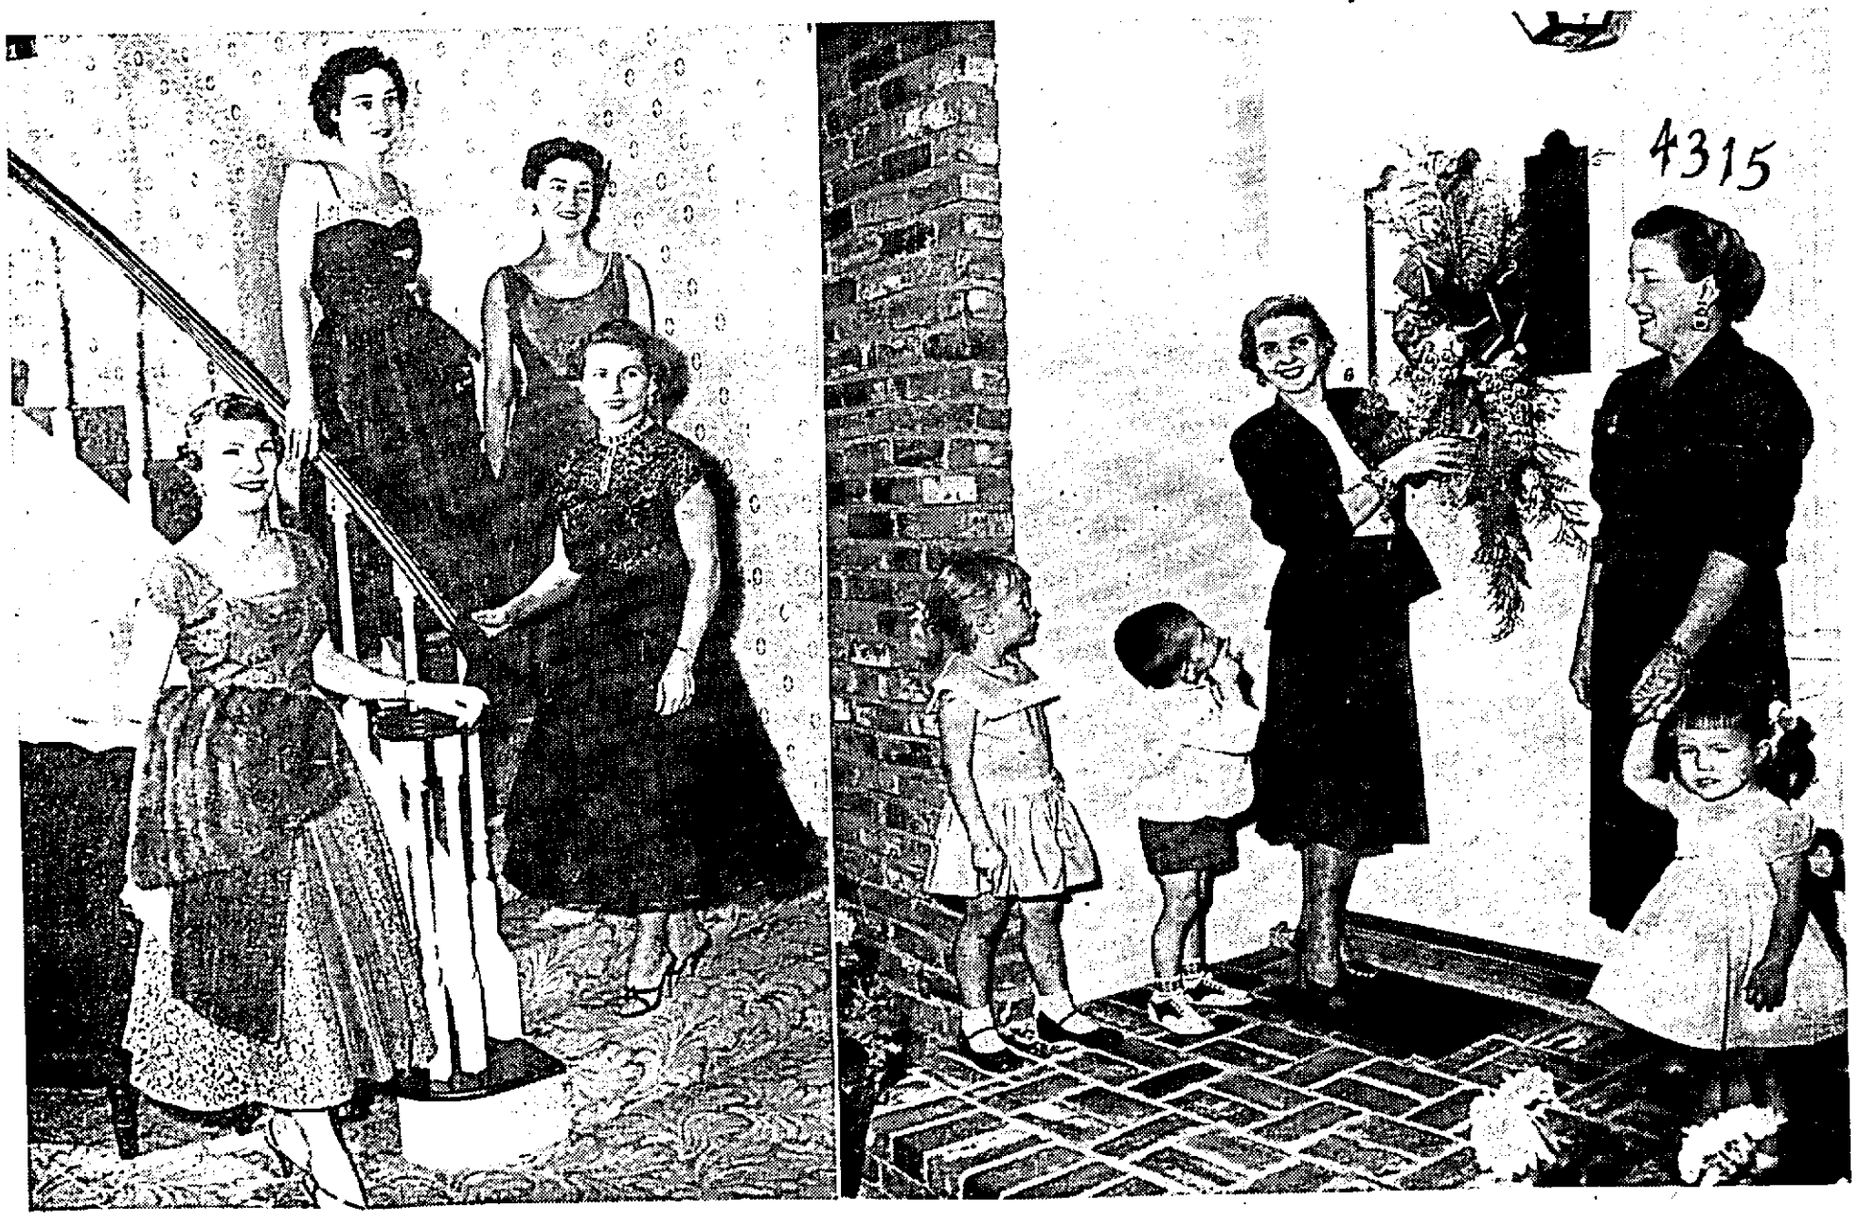

A ballerina length dress of champagne net over brown lace is the subtle color choice of Mrs. Robert Bailey. Winter white wool jersey, a sheath beaded with rhinestones and crystals and worn with rhinestone slippers is Mrs. W. A. Smith Jr's. selection.

Mrs. Larry Bonzer will swirl across the dance floor in a full-skirted ballerina length gown of black taffeta, smartly accented with red stitching. Red is the preference of Mrs. Ralph Anderson, whose chiffon pleated dress is in brilliant flame red.

Pearls and pink sequins will highlight a pale pink taffeta gown to be worn by Mrs. O. W. Van Derhoof.

Hosts at the many cocktail parties preceding the dance will be Messrs. and Mmes. E. Decatur Mitchell, R. Philip Dowds and John Turner who will entertain together in the Mitchell home for 70 friends; the Harry Fultons who will have 11 couples in their home before the party; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Warnock and the Jack Marquettes who will fete 15 couples; Mrs. Ethel Severson and the W. A. Smiths Jr. who will entertain a large party in a private room at the Pacific Coast Club early in the evening before the dance.

Gathering at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Earl Wallace will be ten couples; Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Utecht Jr. will entertain 14 friends at their home; Mr. and Mrs. Dean Lucas have asked 20 friends to their home before the dance; the Clyde Dunlaps Jr. and the Richard Walkers will be co-hosts in the Dunlap home.

ALL DRESSED UP AND SOMEPLACE TO GO

By IOLA MASTERSON

Thanksgiving is over, there's snow in the mountains and you have just 24 more shopping days 'til Christmas! Hoo, boy. Now's the season to make like waltzing mouses with electronic brains.

From now on, in our book, all parties are holiday parties, whether they have tinsel on the table or not. Ferrel (Mrs. Richard) Schug and Naomi (Mrs. Harry) Vanley will bridge the gap between turkey day and the real swhoosh of the season with a brunch on Wednesday at the Virginia Country Club. Woodsy pine cones and bright, red berries will center the big buffet where about 150 guests will pick and choose with gusto from chafing dishes and bowls filled with yummies. Before brunch there'll be time for talk over coffee in the lounge.

Fran and Len Cowley opened their smart Park Estates home at 5401 El Cedral Wednesday night for a late "bonus" party for members of the Long Beach Dinner Club after club meeting and dinner at the Lafayette Hotel. Speaker Arch Coleman's topic, "What Our Undercover Men Uncover for Us," was reviewed over liquids and snacks. Cohosts of the late party were Dodie and Ben Balkema. Regardless of the exciting talk just heard, interest was just bound to center around Len's sister, Kay Noren, who flew into town from her home in Stockholm, Sweden, Sunday, and was a special, special guest of the evening. Kay, who is dividing her time between Fran and Len and her parents, the J. S. Cowley's, has made Svenska Land her home for the past 22 years ever since she fell in love with a dashing Nordic lad and married him!

If Ruby and Elmer List had written "welcome" in blazing neon letters 20 feet high and perched them on a hilltop they couldn't have made their meaning more plain than with the we're-glad-you're-here dinner party of last night. It took place in their home, "Round Hill," in Rolling Hills for a gang of friends, many just returned from far places.

Guests of honor included Edith and Leon Nettleton, who are residing in our midst from their home in New York while they study California's school system on a Ford Fellowship. Edith and Bill Thompson were among the honored because they're back from a trip around the world which consumed a good-sized hunk of the year. Sonnie Hemmi, just back from Europe, was an honoree, too. So were Cecilie and Chuck Colvin, who didn't exactly wear out the world's roads but had a wonderful time on a fishing trip to Colorado.

The List's son and daughter-in-law, Donna and Jack, in town for the Thanksgiving holiday from home in Lancaster, joined the rest of the happy dinner guests including Eleanor and Herb Carlson, Grace and Elmore Jones, Bobbie and Bob Shoemaker, Gertrude and Will Winston, Maude and Wallace Taylor, Eleanor and Walter Boyd, Vi and Bill Dovey, Nina and John Harris, Zoe Thompson, Harry Bergquist and Esther McCaughan.

Needles, threads, glue and glitter flew in all directions last Monday at Kay Nesbitt's home, 4315 Myrtle Ave., when members of GOP Jrs. gathered to make party favors for the group's formal tea which will take place at Kay's home Dec. 15. Gals busy making pink felt Christmas stockings, be-sequinned and be-shined, were Joan Haden, Neville Tibbet, Vera West, Gladys King, Grace Fylpaa, Margaret Irwin and Flo Tarlton.

If you haven't met her yet, plan to be delighted. In fact, start finagling an introduction! She's petite, vivacious, dark eyed Ruth Murphy. Ruth is the wife of Admiral M. E. Murphy ("Murph" to his friends) who relieved Adm. Roland Smoot as Commander Mine Forces, Pacific Fleet. The Murphy's arrived in town last week from Guam and have taken up local residence at the Gaytonia.

Man with a glint in his eye is Jim Bickel, who with wife, Blanche, left Wednesday for another jaunt to Florida determined to catch the rest of the fish he left swimming around from last time, there in February. First stop will be New Orleans where the two will stock up on oysters Rockefeller and sightseeing before heading on to the 'gator state in time for Christmas.

While gone, Blanche's cousin and her husband, Janet and John Johnson from Montana, are occupying their home.

"Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" and "$@"&* Yankee" will be among the shows which Carlene and Norman Jaques will be able to tell us all about when they return in a couple of days from a holiday trip to New York. They took the Mercury Flight (we're told it's a super-duper air ride), leaving last Tuesday. While in New York they're staying at the Waldorf and living it up, down and all around.

Classic remark of the week comes from the president of the Apple Valley Kiwanis Club. He called Bill Harris to ask if the Long Beach Kiwanis Club's German band would provide the program for a big joint party of his club and AV Lions. "Say," said musician Bill, "do you know how lousy we are?" "Sure," replied the president, "that's exactly what we want."

So figuring they'd been amply forwarned, the group, now known as "Die Schnetzel Bande," packed their Tyrolean costumes and tootle horns and headed for Apple Valley where, actually, they pleased their audience immensely. "Troupers" included Bill and wife, Norma, Ann and Gene Tincher, Maryon and Jerry Gillingham, Barbara and Ted Corcoran, Chet Moore, Gene Cutis and Lloyd Stanley.

If you can't get to Broadway the next best way to "see" the musical hit, "Fanny," is to catch Florence Cole's dramatic narration of the show, complete with the tape recorded top songs. She presented the show thusly to members of the Long Beach Community Players Monday evening and we've heard many a compliment for her "production."

They say coming events cast their shadows before them and there certainly were some long ones created downtown Tuesday by the appearance of Georgia Combs, accompanied by Dorothy Mullarky, who were actually working on official business for St. Mary's Hospital Guild's "Day at the Races" which won't roll around until April! Georgia is general chairman of the big event this year and you certainly have to admit she's an early bird!

Sampling the cuisine at Community Hospital this week has been Lil Hammond, who underwent surgery Tuesday. Home now, though, and purring like a kitten. Even Jack's cooking, consumed at home, tastes better to her than crepes suzette from a hospital tray! And if you've never tasted Jack's cooking you have no idea how glad she is to be back in her own ballywick!

ANTICIPATE WONDERLAND BALL

Looking forward to Saturday night, Dec. 3, are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hughes, left, with Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Bothwell when they will greet guests at the annual Rick Racker Winter Wonderland Ball in Pacific Coast Club. General chairman, Mrs. Ethel Severson, will be assisted also by Messrs. and Mmes. Robert Bailey, Eugene Kirkpatrick, Jack Marquette, Kenneth Walker, Richard Walker and Jack Warnock. (See additional pictures and story on Page W-1.)

a table for two and many other examples of the newest and best in decorative ideas. Both modern and antique, as well as imported articles will be used.

A large stage at one end of the Cavalier Room will be decorated by a leading furniture store to represent a Christmas living room scene. Auxiliary members will sponsor a sale of festive aprons, Della Robia candy wreaths, homemade candies and other gift novelities. The affair will be a benefit for the new Long Beach Osteopathic Hospital, now under construction at 2776 Pacific Ave.

Mrs. Samuel R. Reese, of Palos Verdes Estates, is in charge of the affair, with Mrs. Ward DeWitt serving as vice-chairman. Receiving guests will be Mrs. Willis F. Baughman, president, and Mrs. Philip W. Reams, president-elect of the Osteopathic Auxiliary. Hostesses at the various display tables will be past presidents of the auxiliary, all beautifully gowned in tea dresses. Mrs. Gilman Johnson, of Los Angeles, state president, and Mrs. Claire Pike, state president-elect, will preside at the tea table.

Among local members of the Osteopathic Auxiliary who have worked in the table-setting show are Mmes. William Miller, Thomas Simcox, Melvyn Wade, Walter Mattocks, Robert Brown, Raymond Trendle, Ethan Allen, James Jensen, Willis Tunnell, Thomas Spencer and Henry McDowell. The event is open to the public, and tickets may be obtained at the door.

Dancers to Present Spanish Program

When the internationally renowned dancer, Carola Goya, and her gifted young partner, Matteo, appear here Monday evening at 8:15 o'clock at the Wilson High School Auditorium under the auspices of the Civic Music Association, they will present a panorama of the choreographic art of Spain encompassing the classical, flamenco and regional, running the gamut of emotions from aristocratic graciousness, to gypsy passion and abandon, to the carefree galety of the populace on a holiday.

In addition there will be shown shining examples of typical dances of other picturesque lands from Scotland, Italy, India, Ceylon and Cuba, the costumes in each instance reflecting the glittering colors of its country.

There will be 20 dances on the program — of these each artist will give six solos, while the others will be danced together. Miss Goya's solos will include several with which she scored great success all over Western Europe and South America during the three seasons she was leading feminine dancer in the Jose Greco Spanish Ballet Company. One is the dynamic "Malaguena" which gives her opportunity to display her remarkable facility with the castanets. Another is a Nautch dance from northern India in which she wears ankle bells.

Matteo's solos include devil dances from the island of Ceylon done to native tom-tom accompaniment, an Italian dance featuring the tambourine, a Scottish medley with bag-pipe background and a classic "Bolero" of the 18th Century. Outstanding among the duo numbers is a tense little drama which is accompanied only by the eloquent castanets of the artists in which despair and joy are thrillingly pitted against each other.

Miss Goya received her entire training in Spain and has carried the banner of Spanish dance around the world. Back of her mastery of Spanish dancing, however, was her early training in the classic ballet under the great dancer and teacher, Fokine. In her American career Miss Goya has appeared in 300 cities of the United States and Canada. Prior to joining the Jose Greco Spanish ballet in 1949, her annual solo dance recitals were featured in New York.

Matteo has traveled extensively and brings to the concert stage an all possessing love for the dances of all nations. Because he knows the origins, sources of inspiration, motivations and history of these dances, he feels there is a fundamental cultural kinship among the peoples of the world and that a better understanding among nations can be promoted through the medium of the dance.

Raymond Sachse is the musical director and plays the piano accompaniments.

No tickets available for single seat sale.

Tioga Sorority to Name Officers

Tioga Sorority will elect 1956 officers at a Dec. 7 meeting in the home of Mrs. Chet Holm, 254 Barclay St. Final plans also will be made for the annual Christmas dinner-dance Dec. 10 in the Coral Room of the Hawaiian, with husbands, and Mr. and Mrs. Meredith Newman of Long Beach, as honored guests. Dancing at Allen Center will follow dinner.

Secret sisters for the year will be revealed when members meet Dec. 21 to exchange gifts and accept new secret sisters at the Los Altos home of Mrs. Thomas Franklin, 2201 Gondar Ave.

Mistletoe Ball by Juniors

The seventh annual Mistletoe Ball sponsored by the Junior Auxiliary of the San Pedro Assistance League will take place Saturday, Dec. 3 at the Portuguese Bend Club from 8:30 p. m. to 2 a. m., according to Mrs. Arnold Sundall, general chairman.

The semi-formal invitational affair is a money raising project to further clinics sustained by the Senior Assistance League, among them, dental, deafness prevention and the Weavers Club for the visually handicapped.

Assisting Mrs. Sundall is Mrs. Michael Bozanich as co-chairman; Mrs. George Early, decorations; Miss Jean Hawkins, invitations; Mrs. Harry Aiken, buffet; Miss Anna Mae Early, reservations; and Mrs. Robert Thompson, patrons.

Decorations will feature silver stars, red with silver glitter, red candles and glitter centerpieces.

Patrons list includes Messrs. and Mmes. Roy Becker, James Burke, Bernard Caughlin, Everette H. Daves, Joseph A. Denni, Lorenzo Di Carlo, Pascal B. Dilday, Charles P. Donetti, Donald H. Earl, Arch E. Ekdale, W. J. Gotschall, Vernon M. Haden, Frank L. Johnson, Adolph Larson, Leo Moseson, A. B. Newton, Sandy Neill, Bryce Pizey, John Real, Frank J. Rechenmacher, Chet Rodgers, Charles Soderstrom, H. E. Stone, Frank K. Swift, Sr., Nicholos Trutanic and Harry P. Tyler.

Medical Center to Be Discussed

Dr. William Adams of the UCLA Medical School staff, and an authority on leukemia and cancer, will be guest speaker at the regular meeting of the UCLA Kappa Alpha Theta Mothers Club, at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday at the Chapter House, 736 Hilgard, Westwood. Dr. Adams will discuss the new UCLA Medical Center, according to Program Chairman Mrs. Warren Schultz of Woodland Hills.

Presiding over the meeting will be Mrs. J. Weare Pearson II of Rolling Hills. Principal business will be discussion of plans for the Christmas Benefit Tea scheduled Dec. 13, with Mrs. Robert D. Ashton of Whittier as chairman. Following the meeting, the mothers will enjoy tea and a visit with their daughters.

Two Distinguished Guests to Appear Before WCC

John W. Wilson, lecturer and educator, will be guest speaker for Woman's City Club when the group meets Dec. 2 at 1:30 p. m. at Morgan Hall, 535 Locust Ave. Wilson, principal of Jordan High School, is known throughout the community for his inspirational lectures.

The speaker, also an authority on current events, will follow this as his subject Friday. In such a rapidly changing world, club members and guests will find this an excellent opportunity to hear an analysis of world affairs. He will be presented by Mrs. Oliver L. Benediktson, program chairman.

Song stylist, Suzan Wallace will be introduced by Mrs. Myranna R. Coon, music chairman. Miss Wallace will present her One Woman Song Theater on which she takes her audience on a delightful adventure with songs of many lands and times, accompanying herself on a variety of instruments.

Mrs. Ruth C. Runyan, president, will welcome the members after the club's Thanksgiving recess and conduct the brief business meeting of the day.

Mary Lou Cahoon Is Autumn Bride

Now at home to their many friends at 20 64th Pl., following return from a honeymoon trip to Apple Valley are popular newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. John William Witaschek (Mary Lou Cahoon). The couple took nuptial vows in a recent ceremony at St. Bartholomew's Catholic Church.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Dewey Cahoon, 2290 Maine Ave., was given in marriage by her father. She was beautifully gowned in a Cahill original dress of bouffant Swiss lace over tulle, fashioned with fitted bodice and petal neckline. Her illusion veil cascaded from a seed pearl cap, and she carried a white orchid on a white pearl prayer book.

Margaret Ann Cahoon attended her sister as maid of honor, and Sue Silverberg was bridesmaid. Miss Cahoon was attired in petal pink lace over pink taffeta, while the bridesmaid wore flesh pink lace over white taffeta. Their hats of pink velvet petals complemented the color tones of their gowns, and they carried colonial bouquets of pink and white blossoms.

Fallon Evans was asked to serve the bridegroom as best man, and guests were escorted to their pews by Hugh Rideout and David Cahoon.

Reflecting the pink and white theme set by the gowns of the bride and her attendants were lovely arrangements of white chrysanthemums and pink carnations at the altar. White satin bows on the pews marked the center aisle.

A wedding breakfast at Lafayette Hotel followed the early morning vows, and floral arrangements again repeated the pink and white theme with stocks and roses. Recording names of the guests was Miss Carolyn Phelps. The bride's mother wore a gown of blue lace over taffeta with white accessories, while the bridegroom's mother chose champagne taffeta with blue accessories. Both wore pink rosebud corsages.

Mrs. John William Witaschek

The bride was graduated from St. Anthony's High School and received her bachelor of arts degree from Long been a teacher at Burbank Been a teacher at Burbank school the past two years. A member of Kappa Phi Gamma Sorority, she relinquishes membership in Bachelorettes with her marriage.

Her bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Adams Witaschek of Denver, Colo., received his early education in Denver, and received his masters degree in Art at the University of Denver. He has been teaching the past year at Carmelitos Junior High School in Lynwood.

Goodwill to Sponsor Doll Sales

Woman's Auxiliary to Goodwill Industries will meet Tuesday at Goodwill Industries, 5th St. and Golden Ave. The business meeting at 11 a. m. in Cassill Chapel will complete details for the annual Christmas doll sales.

The doll committee has spent many hours dressing and repairing dolls for the Christmas season. Some have been shipped abroad as gifts; others will meet local needs. Women of the Lakewood Community Methodist Church and Kappa Phi Gamma girls of Jordan High have also dressed dolls for the Auxiliary.

The Christmas sale this year will be held in Goodwill Stores at 247 E. 4th St., and also in Bellflower and Redondo Beach. Members of the Auxiliary are volunteering as sales persons. Christmas treats are being planned for the 100 employes of Goodwill Industries.

Mary Swift Beeks, vice president and program chairman, announces that the Tuesday meeting will hear James Worsham of the Safety Council discuss "Preventing Accidents in the Home." Miss Lucille Vail will lead devotions. Reservations for luncheon may be made by calling the office of Goodwill Industries.

Center Announces New Juried Show

By VERA WILLIAMS
Independent, Press-Telegram Art Editor

Announcements of the annual Long Beach juried exhibition have just gone out from the Municipal Art Center. The show this year will be Dec. 11 through Jan. 8. Entries will be accepted Nov. 30 and Dec. 2, 9-5 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. Judges will be Patrick Malone, director of the La Jolla Art Center, and Leonard Edmondson, head of the design department at Los Angeles County Art Institute.

Each artist may submit two entries in each of the two classes: paintings, drawings, prints; sculpture, ceramics, woodwork. All pictures must be framed and tightly wired, they may not exceed 3 x 4 including frame, and all entries must be labeled on the back with the artist's name, address and the price of the work.

The competition is open to any adult resident of Long Beach and vicinity.

A new showing of 30 paintings by Richard V. Johnson will open today in Everett Boyette's restaurant, 5907 E. Second St. Music is slated for 2 to 6 p.m.

Paintings by Darwin Duncan are shown in the Bank of Belmont Shore, 5354 E. 2nd St.

Marines by James Blacateer, a Laguna Beach artist, are displayed in Pauline's Art Mart, 3918 E. 2nd St.

Laguna Beach Art Gallery will be closed Monday and Tuesday for the hanging of the new exhibits for December.

The permanent memorial collection, which is shown every year for a month, will be hung in the foyer gallery. This exhibit of paintings by the founding members of the association, which through the years has been collected by Mrs. William Swift Daniell, chairman of the permanent memorial collection, includes examples of the work of most of California's leading artists of the past half-century. Mrs. Daniell reports new acquisitions; a painting by the late Lillian Ferguson, given by her daughter, Mrs. Duncan Gleason, and a painting by the late Minnie Tingle, which eventually will be added to the collection and now is being lent by her niece, Mrs. E. Gene Anderson of Corona.

The December-January members show will be hung in the two main galleries. The jury of selection and awards comprises Joane Cromwell, Eugene Frandzen and Burt Proctor.

The new shows will open Wednesday. The official opening will be the Sunday tea Dec. 4 sponsored by the Dana Point Art Guild.

Women will find unusual interest in the exhibit "Shopping Centers of Tomorrow," which the Los Angeles Municipal Art Commission, will sponsor at Barnsdall Park, beginning Wednesday.

The display of photo-murals, models, detailed plans, film slide projections and motion pictures will be shown in the Frank Lloyd Wright-designed Municipal Art Gallery in Barnsdall Park, Vermont Ave. and Hollywood Blvd., Los Angeles, through Dec. 11. Admission is free.

Put a circle around Saturday, Dec. 3. On that evening, at 8:30, in the Henry Weinberger auditorium of the Westside Jewish Community Center, 5870 W. Olympic Blvd., Los Angeles, will be an art auction including works of some of the finest artists of Southern California. A reception is slated at 7:30 p.m. for participating artists and the friends of Art Association.

English and American cook books of the 16th, 17th and 18th centuries are shown in the Henry E. Huntington library, San Marino. Continued also are George Catlin's North American Indian paintings, the Walt Whitman "Leaves of Grass" centennial exhibit and Four Centuries of Fine Bindings.

Garden Club Luncheon Set

A Yuletide luncheon will be enjoyed by 25 members of the Philanthropy Committee of the Alamitos Bay Garden Club Thursday, Dec. 1, at the home of Mrs. Robert McKissock, 5 57th Pl.

Co-hostesses for the party will be Mrs. Woodrow Smith and Mrs. William S. Jensen. Special guests for the day will be the club president, Mrs. Emmert Sink, and Mrs. Alice Cade.

Gifts for 50 women on the rolls of the Bureau of Public Assistance will be presented to luncheon guests with R. Lopez and Mrs. V. Strong, representing the Bureau. Each Christmas-wrapped box will include a carry-all apron and matching pot-holder made by the committee; costume jewelry, handkerchiefs, perfume and a crisp new dollar bill.

Lakewood Holiday Parties Reunite Relatives, Friends

By BERNICE AHRENDES

Thanksgiving Day this year found families in Lakewood enjoying the company of their families and their friends.

Mayor Angelo Iacoboni and his family entertained his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Iacoboni; his brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Don Iacoboni and daughter Kathie of Burbank.

During the evening the mayor boarded a train for Miami, Fla., where he will attend a three-day mayors' convention.

Mr. and Mrs. Rex Jeppson and daughter, Cheryl, of 5432 Castana Ave. were guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Jeppsen in Compton. Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Douglas of 5735 Candlewood St. were joined at the turkey feast by Mrs. Douglas' mother, Mrs. Eva Worth. The table was spread to its entire length at the Reese Hall home, 5918 Coke Ave. The families of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Morris of Norwalk; Mr. and Mrs. Bud Hall of Bellflower; Kenneth Hall of Compton, Wallace E. Hall of Norwalk, Thomas Strong of Bellflower, Fred Hall, the father of the group and Mrs. Jerry Hall of Compton were seated comfortably around it.

Pershing Carron of the USS Comstock in San Diego was the guest of the James Foggs, 6049 Pepperwood. Mrs. Lillian Terry and Veneta Smith were also there. Mr. and Mrs. Jess White of 6142 Hayter Ave. entertained Mr. and Mrs. Norman Russell, Phyllis and Kathie Russell of South Gate. Mrs. Creta Ford, Mrs. White's mother; and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shimer of Culver City.

Camping was the choice of Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Macke with son Mathew of 5818 Faculty Ave. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Ritschke and daughters Barbara and Sharon of Costa Mesa on a three-day trip to the Colorado River, where they enjoyed fishing.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorin Daniels and family of 3502 Tulane Ave. were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lang of Long Beach as were Mr. and Mrs. Lorenz Hortnagl. Besides celebrating Thanksgiving, three birthdays were observed when Mr. and Mrs. Robert Winn and family of 4924 Autry Ave., Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Young Jr. and daughter, and Martin Young gathered at the Los Angeles home of Mrs. Dora Young.

Spending Thanksgiving Day with their children was joyful for Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Eynon, formerly of North Long Beach. They have been on a 25-month mission for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, working with the Indians in Arizona and New Mexico. They labored among the Waloppi, Supi, Yavapi, Zuni, Hopi and Navajo Indians. They just returned last week and are staying with the families of their two sons, Thomas, at 5553 Ashworth St. and William L. at 6129 Premiere Ave.

HOLIDAY PREPARATIONS

Lucky the friend or relative who receives Christmas baking from the oven of Florence Merriam, left. She's a home economist who spends added time in the kitchen making desserts and liking it. Miss Merriam came to Long Beach from Washington, D. C., in August to make her home with her mother, Mrs. Hazel Merriam, right, 20 Lindero Ave.—(Staff photo.)

We Welcome . . . . .

Home Economist Treks West

By JEAN B. MOORE

Take a young and pretty girl who still likes to make bread the old-fashioned way and you have Florence Merriam, an attractive addition to Long Beach since the end of August.

As a home economist, it is perhaps natural that she should like to make baked goods from that magic ingredient—scratch.

Tempted as she is sometimes to use the quick package mixes, she prefers the less jet propelled manner simply because she enjoys mixing the ingredients. Of course, the proof's in the eating, and Florence admits she loves to make any kind of dessert, as long as it's fattening.

Florence came to Long Beach from Washington, D. C. to make her home with her mother, Mrs. Hazel Merriam, 20 Lindero Ave. Her name preceded her by many years, for she is the granddaughter of the late and loved ex-California Gov. Frank Merriam of Long Beach.

She claims she is one of the few people in Washington who did not work at the Pentagon. Her job with the National Association of Frozen Food Packers was to send consumer information releases to food editors on newspapers and radio stations throughout the country. Many of the frozen food tips you have heard or read in the past four years probably came from Florence's office.

Here in the Southland she is still pursuing her vocation. Next month she will head the home service department of the Southern Counties Gas Co. office in San Pedro. In this capacity she will answer women's questions on gas appliances, explain the workings of various stoves, and gas refrigerators, and speak and demonstrate before women's groups in the company auditorium.

Her background for her field began at Kansas State College in Manhattan, Kan., where she majored in home economics, was a member of Alpha Delta Pi social sorority and a junior women's honorary.

Born in Hiawatha, Kan., she continued working in the Midwest after college. The gas service company added her to its payroll in Wichita and later Kansas City, Mo. Steadily climbing the ladder of responsibility, she became home service director in the mission office, the company's term for its main operating division.

Then followed her job in Washington, and now California. In Washington Florence held offices in the American Home Economists Assn. and the Home Economists in Business branch of the association. She was secretary of the Zonta Club, service group of women in executive positions, and recently joined the Long Beach Zonta chapter.

While she's occupied in her leisure time getting ready for Christmas, she finds time for reading fiction, taking side trips in the Southland with her mother (this is the first time she has actually lived in California) and writing letters to her many friends in the East to let them know she has become a Southern Californian.

P-T.A. Council Leaders to Meet

Executive committee of the Long Beach Council of Parents and Teachers will meet at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday in room 15 of the John Dewey School Annex.

Members of the executive board of the 33rd District of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers will meet on Monday in Beverly Hills. Attending from Long Beach will be Mmes. Everett Findlay, John H. Kockkock, Albin Larson, Harry Serex, and A. V. Laughlin.

Republican Women Hear Mrs. Kenyon

Mrs. R. G. Kenyon of San Marino, popular and dynamic speaker, was a special guest of the North Long Beach Republican Women Federated when they gathered for their November meeting at Houghton Park Clubhouse.

In addressing the group, Mrs. Kenyon urged the club to be strong financially, and to increase its membership to promote future events. She also gave highlights from her recent visits in New Orleans, Yakima, Wash., and Washington, D. C.

She conveyed a friend's report of the national spirit in Denmark displayed through Danish flags fluttering from each window on the king's birthday. She is keenly interested in promoting that same devotion in the United States through a more universal demonstration on appropriate holidays.

The meeting marked the fifth anniversary of the group's organization; and Mrs. Jennie Pritchard, first president, introduced charter members as honored guests. Mrs. George P. Taubman Jr. gave an inspiring talk on the first meeting held to form the club and its purposes.

Tables were strikingly ornamented for the festive season with Indian corn, antique silver and Puritan decor. The luncheon menu was of early New England origin, and waitresses were dressed in keeping with the theme.

Theta Unit to Meet Friday

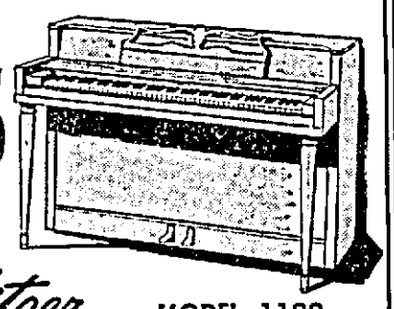

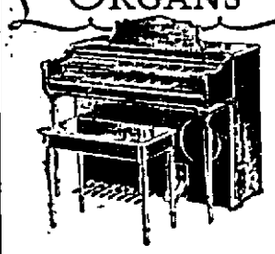

Theta Unit of National Parliamentarians will meet at 9:45 a.m. Friday at Municipal Art Center for a discussion on "Budget and Finance" led by Mrs. Ralph Eusden. New officers named to fill vacancies on the board include Mrs. Elsie Combs, president, and Mrs. Lydia Nunes, vice president.

HOLIDAY GLITTER

L. B. Tri Deltas to Attend Gay Sleigh Bell Luncheon

When the merry ring of sleigh bells heralds the beginning of the Sleigh Bell Luncheon and Fashion Show in Biltmore Bowl at 12:30 p. m. on Dec. 6 representative Long Beach Tri Deltas will be among the many luncheon guests.

The Bowl will be aglow with glittering bells and sleighs, designed by Oliver Bente, in colors of silver, gold and Christmas blue. A sparkling white tree will decorate the stage. Highlight of the luncheon will be fashions by Marusia, with Walter Robison's orchestra playing the musical background. C. Earle Memory will be master of ceremonies and Mrs. William H. Dudley will commentate.

Given annually by the Medical Research Committee of the Southern California Council of Delta Delta Delta, the benefit has as its purpose this year the raising of funds to support one of the sorority's philanthropies, hematology research of the Los Angeles Children's Hospital.

Representing Long Beach on the committee, whose over-all chairman is Mrs. Emery W. Dearinger, are Mrs. W. K. Stow, chairman of the local medical research committee; Mrs. G. H. Erickson, president of the Long Beach Alliance; Mrs. Willard H. Van Dyke, and Mrs. Rupert McCook. Mrs. Erickson serves as co-chairman of the hostess committee for this year's event.

Patronesses from the Long Beach Alliance are Mrs. Herbert E. Waite and Mrs. Thomas E. Noble. Mrs. Archibald W. Warnock of San Pedro is also among this year's patronesses.

This year marks the eighth consecutive benefit; from the events more than $36,000 has been given to medical research. The annual donation has increased until now it amounts to $6,000.

CHRISTMAS BEAUTY
Elegance, humor, sentiment and tradition will be reflected in the fifth annual Beauty of Christmas Show slated by the North Long Beach Women's and Junior Women's Clubs Dec. 3 and 4 at Houghton Park Clubhouse. The show, featuring Christmas decor, is open to the public both in entry and spectator catagories, and is the Christmas gift of the clubs to the community. Among those instrumental in arrangements for this year's event are (left to right in background) Mrs. Douglas Morris, Mrs. Carl Puckett and Mrs. Lee Carter, senior president. Seated on the floor are Mrs. Fred Harris, left, junior president, and Mrs. J. S. Cowley.

Among Career Women

Executive, Legal Secretaries in Festive Pre-Holiday Whirl

By ANNE GILCHRIST

Those comrades of the business world, executives and their secretaries; and those comrades away from business hours, their respective wives or husbands, joined together Monday evening for another of Executives' Secretaries Firm Night parties. Presented by the Bank of America, with R. E. Robbins, vice president and manager at Fourth and Pine, evening's host, it was given in the Cavalier Room of the Lafayette Hotel.

Firm Nights are designed for company heads, represented by membership in Executives' Secretaries, to explain to executives of other firms as well as E/S the services and meaning of that company.

Monday was no exception to the festive spirit that prevails at these affairs. After the informal social hour and dinner, charming Dorothy Kane Olesson, president, extended club greetings to the more than 100 people assembled. Door awards from the host firm were distributed with Margaret Stimson officiating.

Quips rattled from the head table at a merry rate with the introduction of Doris Nolt, E/S hostess of the evening, who reiterated her club slogan, "I'd like to get you a-loan," and with informal joking from host Robbins, himself, as he introduced a sizable number of Bank of America officers present for the party. Leveling off with serious banking discussion for a few minutes, Robbins explained the history of his bank and, in particular, paid tribute to the founder, A. P. Giannini, whom he described as "a man with a big heart and a great vision."

The Bank of America was even represented in the musical program, indirectly, as the Accordion Chordettes played a variety of numbers and among the young performers was Mr. and Mrs. Robbins' talented blonde daughter, Linda. The group was led through their lilting ryhthms by genial Lloyd Todd, director.

Sybil McEwen, national vice president of the secretaries and a charter member of the Long Beach club, spoke for the philanthropy committee of which Ruth Dye is chairman. She told of the buffet and cocktail party to be given Dec. 9 for the club by James Nicholson (Kit Trailer Manufacturing Co.) in his home as a benefit to provide 180 foster children of Long Beach with Christmas gifts. "Admission" charge will be one or more gifts for these children.

The night marked the first meeting attended by several new members and guests. Among the members and executives introduced were Angela Thompson (National Plastics) and Kingsley Tate; Betty Terrell (Bethlehem Steel Co.) and John Shay, the company's sales manager; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Whaley, and Catherine Slaten, an executive of Foasberg Laundry.

Legal Secretaries

For Legal Secretaries the month of November stands for San Pedro for, in this month, it is tradition for the San Pedro members of the Long Beach Legal Secretaries Assn. to hostess the meeting. Fort MacArthur Officers Club was party scene this year and 125 members and guests were present for the jolly evening. Marion Fall and Dolores Frodyma were hostesses. President Ruth Stuart conducted the meeting and introduced Judges Joseph Maltby, Fred Miller, Joe Raycraft and Gordon Shallenberger, Ray Choate, Ted C. Sten and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Pfanstiel as special guests.

Highlight of the program was the performance by members of the Harbor Bar Assn. of a humorous skit, "If Men Played Cards as Women Do." Rose DeVore, program chairman, also presented three young ballet dancers.

Attorney Charles Kent concluded the program in a more serious vein with a reading of Don Blanding's poem, "The Gnat and the Sequoia."

New members receiving official status at this meeting were Janice Avants, Rhoda Hawes, Marie McHenry, Constance Russell and Ann Thompson.

Long Beach BPW

At a recent dinner meeting of the Long Beach National Business and Professional Women's Club in Jones Dining Room Mrs. Ruth Murphy, public affairs chairman, presented as guest speaker of the evening Norman Dietzel of Richfield Oil who spoke on the need of "unitization" method in the conservation of oil and gas in California oil fields. "Unitization," the engineer explained, means operation of a reservoir as a single unit, the way nature designed it. Pointing up the benefits of such an operation he cited a recently completed survey in California which showed a 41.7 per cent recovery of oil in unitized reservoirs as against 23.4 per cent before unitization. Concluding the program was an appearance by Miss Marline Porter, accordionist, introduced by Cornelia Pollard.

Mrs. Kathryn Campbell, club president, announced that the Toni Walking Doll with its extensive wardrobe made by club members will be on display in windows of businesses operated by club members.

Insurance Women

Helpful Exes—past presidents of Insurance Women's Club—met recently in the home of Reva Stewart for a delicious buffet dessert and sewing session, devoting the evening to making gay cocktail aprons which will be sold at a "Santa Suggests" tea Dec. 10. The tea will be given in the home of Helen Smith and invitations are being extended to other insurance clubs in the area as well as local club women and guests. Money derived from the sale of the cleverly designed aprons will aid the club's scholarship fund.

WBA Review Schedules Anniversary Celebration

Woman's Benefit Association, Review 15, will celebrate its 60th anniversary Wednesday with an all-day schedule of activities, under the direction of Mrs. Eleanor Ashby, president.

An afternoon session will feature a study of health, followed by a 6:30 p. m. banquet at Lafayette Hotel. The evening meeting, with the public welcome, will be called to order at 8:15 p. m. at Machinists Hall, 728 Elm Ave.

Work of the group from its founding in 1895 to the present day will be exemplified by Review members, assisted by the Union Drill Team from Los Angeles. Supreme, state and local officers will be guests of honor and refreshments will be served.

The group was organized in 1895 in the Old Foresters Hall, Long Beach, as a Hive of the Lady Maccabees, auxiliary to Long Beach Tent Maccabees, with a charter membership of 30 persons. Early in the 1900s the name was changed to Woman's Benefit Association, a branch of the WBA organized in 1892 by Miss Bina M. West in Ohio. The group's present Home Port is Huron, Mich. The association was born through a desire of the women to protect their homes through a fraternal association organized and controlled by women.

Long Beach Review has met continuously for 60 years, twice each month, and from a small beginning, has grown to a membership of more than 500. The WBA as a whole has thousands of members in every state in the Union, Canada and Hawaii.

Miss Salhus in Recital

Charlene Salhus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pickard of this city, will present a recital Wednesday at 8 p. m. in the YWCA concert hall. A student of Grace J. Johnsen, Miss Salhus will sing selections by classic and American composers, light opera melodies and popular songs.

Helen Davenport will be accompanist and Shelby Hano, Sarah Howard, Mami Jo McConnell, Margie Reed and Glenellen Cooper will usher. Miss Salhus is a member of the a cappella choir at Polytechnic High School.

Public Invited to 'Night of Fun'

The Lakewood Women's Chapter of City of Hope has extended an invitation to the public to join them in a "Night of Fun" affair to take place Dec. 3 at 8:30 p.m. at Scouten Lodge, 9725 Rose St., Bellflower. There will be games to suit everyone's taste and admission tickets, which may be purchased at the door for a nominal sum, will include refreshments.

Beauty of Christmas Show Heralds Holiday Season

With the holiday season fast approaching, members of the North Long Beach Women's and Junior Women's Clubs are busy completing plans for the fifth annual Beauty of Christmas Show Dec. 3 and 4 at Houghton Park Clubhouse.

The show was originated by Mrs. Kenneth McCafferty as an expression of one of the ideals of Women's Club, that of "mutual improvement of our community." The contribution of beauty is evident when one first enters the gaily decorated clubhouse and views table after table of Christmas arrangements for all parts of the home—keepsakes, handmade Christmas cards, Nativity scenes and many others.

There is no admission or entry charge for the show. Tea and cookies will be served under the direction of Mrs. M. L. Bonnewitz and her committee.

Mrs. Kenneth McCafferty, Mrs. Carl Puckett and Mrs. Douglas Morris, co-chairmen, urge that anyone in the community enter displays whether or not a member of the club. Mrs. Lee Carter, president of the Seniors, and Mrs. Fred Harris, president of the Juniors, extend an invitation to everyone to attend and add to the beauty of Christmastime.

The clubhouse will be open Saturday, Dec. 3, from 9 a. m. to noon for entries. The display will be open Saturday, 1 to 9 p. m., and Sunday, Dec. 5, from 11 a. m. to 9 p. m.

Southlanders Win College Honors

Two Southland girls, both sophomores, served as honored princesses to the homecoming queen at Whitworth College at Spokane. They were Miss Julie Cherry of Palos Verdes and Miss Tirbah Baird of Los Angeles, formerly of Long Beach.

Miss Cherry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon E. Cherry, 2229 Chelsea Way, Palos Verdes Estates, is an education major and cheerleader. Miss Baird, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Edward E. Baird, 142 S. Normandie, Los Angeles, is a Woodrow Wilson High School graduate, a biography major, assistant in the zoology laboratory and head cheerleader.

Children to Share Artistry of Music

WHETTING THEIR APPETITES for great music, and learning in the classroom how to understand it, are these three students of Keller Elementary School, from left, Tommy Metzer, Patsy Sumner and Bob Mortenson. They are selecting records of some of the classics they'll hear at the Third Annual Los Angeles Philharmonic Concert for Long Beach school children to be given at Wilson High School Auditorium Tuesday morning. Alfred Wallenstein will direct the orchestra as it plays for 1,600 students at two concert sessions. Classroom preparation for these concerts is part of the musical education for children of both elementary and secondary school age.

THESE TWO STUDENTS of Cubberley Elementary School, Bobbie Jean Mears and John Stanton, are learning that art and music are closely related as they listen to great music as part of their classroom studies and then transmit the mood to their drawing pad. The music they are hearing—and illustrating—will be played for them by the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra under the baton of Alfred Wallenstein at the Third Annual Los Angeles Philharmonic Concert for children Tuesday morning at Wilson High Auditorium. The concert is given under the auspices of the Long Beach Public Schools.

Days of Forty-Niners

LONG BEACH STATE COLLEGE EVENTS

—by PLACER MINER—

Long Beach State College is going progressive. Courses in jazz will be offered next semester to any and all interested students. The music department located on the lower campus will probably be rocking to the melodious strains of the "Muskrat Ramble," "How High the Moon," "Clarinet Marmalade" and "Rose Room." LBSC, in following the trend set by many colleges and universities, will offer courses in jazz arranging, composition and playing.

Sometimes making a mistake is better than doing something right. The case in point is about a sign at LBSC. It was just a plain ordinary sign telling of a spaghetti dinner for the senior class. But someone noticed that the "G" was missing and it simply read spahetti. Actually someone was bound to notice, because in a state college that's hot for teachers, someone is liable to be able to spell. The "spahetti" dinner has received more publicity now than it ever would have if the sign had been spelled right in the first place.

The LBSC orchestra will make its first appearance of the year next Wednesday, when a program of Bach, Haydn, Beethoven and Ibert will be presented to all interested persons in the Little Theatre at 8:30 p. m. The orchestra has been rehearsing since the start of the semester, and last week limbered up on the Long Beach Women's Music Club at the Ebell Theatre.

"Close," as the man says "is only in horseshoes." But in one of the many polls conducted by various organizations for rating student publications the Forty-Niner came close to making the top. The Associated Collegiate Press awarded a "first place" honor to the LBSC paper noting in an attached letter that for the lack of 20 points an "All-American honor would have been awarded." In reading the number of "Outstandings," "Excellents" and "Creativeness" cited by the Associated it is hard to see what would have been said if the top award had been won, or for that matter what does it take to win the "All-American" honor?

Discussion of the LBSC drama dept. production of "The Crucible" was to be heard all over the campus following the three performances. Arthur Miller, prize winning author of "Death of a Salesmen" concerned himself with one of the dark pages in American history by presenting a type of drama in the Salem witch hunts. Everyone agrees that it was a tough play to do, and that the drama department did itself up proud in presenting this formidable play, about an earlier type of witch hunt.

Fashion Note—Colors dominate the dress of the state college student this year, not the basic shades but colors like coral, shocking pink, turquoise and avocado green are the fad now. For the girls, it's matching skirts and sweaters, ballerina skirts, with lots of petticoats to swish when she walks. For the men, it's denims or khaki pants, continental sport shirts, bucks, coupled with sweaters and wind breakers. For dates and more formal occasions, for the male, it's sport coats of brown, or charcoal in patterns less than conservative, and slacks of flannel, or a worsted material. At least that's what they are wearing now.

Barbershop Quartet Singing Contest is all set. Basses, tenors, sopranos have been practicing for the contest scheduled next week. Judging the contest will be representatives from the SPEBQSA, or the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America. The contest is being sponsored by the Sigma Pi Fraternity.

The old-fashioned cake sale has proved to be a boon for clubs trying to raise some extra cash. It seems every week there's a small booth set up near the canteen and all the sweet-toothed campus heroes flock to buy the homemade goodies. This week, it's the Eta Pi, selling cakes and cookies to help buy glasses and frames for the underprivileged.

Hopes for a national scholarship society boomed at State last week, when Dr. Lawrence R. Guild, national secretary-treasury of Phi Kappa Phi, made an inspection tour of the local campus.

Now that the soft, fluffy, white nonsense called snow has started falling in the mountains the usual very unusual group of persons have started awakening and noticing what's happening around them. There's only one type that hibernates in the summer and comes to life in the winter, and that is of course the skier. The prominent notice around campus these days is very short and to the point. Ski Club will meet at noon in N-1, Dec. 1. Plans for a trek to the mountains during Christmas vacation are on tap.

ACE Slated Bookfair

The Long Beach Chapter of the Association for Childhood Education, International, is sponsoring a pre-Christmas Bookfair Dec. 9 and 10. This year the Bookfair will take place in the student lounge in the bookstore on campus at Long Beach State College.

Leo Politi and Taro Yashima, popular children's writers, will be guest authors and will be present to autograph their books all day, Saturday, Dec. 10. Yashima's books which will be featured are "Plenty to Watch," "The Village Tree" and "Crow Boy." Leo Politi will have several of his books available, among them "The Mission Bell," "Pedro, Angel of Olvera Street," "A Song of the Swallows," "Little Leo" and "Juanita." Both authors will autograph any of their books purchased at the Bookfair.

Many hundreds of books have been carefully selected by a committee of librarians, teachers and parents. These books represent the very best available books for children from all major publishing houses.

June Dehls, president of the local ACE chapter, invites the public to visit and purchase books of their choice from the select books made available at this Bookfair.

All proceeds go to furnish scholarships for qualified students at LBSC.

Heredias Headline Program

Authentic Spanish gypsy dances, songs and guitar music spanning several centuries of the unique and colorful Flamenco art will highlight the program to be given by La Familia Heredia of Granada, Spain, at the Concert Hall of the Long Beach Auditorium Saturday, Dec. 10, at 8:30 p.m.

The program is presented by Ray Bowman, formerly of Long Beach, who is now a Hollywood writer and impresario.

The Heredia family spotlights Sarita Heredia, premier guitarist-dancer; Fatima and Zoraida Heredia, gypsy dancers and choreographers; Rene "El Nino" Heredia, 16-year-old Flamenco guitar virtuoso, and 12-year-old Carmen, already a budding "Bailaora." Ami Aloni, brilliant young concert pianist from Haifa, Israel, will assist at the keyboard.

Originally from Granada, Spain, the Heredias are an authentic gypsy family and their artistry is a native thing, vital and meaningful.

Sarita Heredia rejoined the family recently, arriving directly from Spain where for six years she starred as both dancer and solo guitarist with such internationally famous Spanish artists as Lola Flores, "El Pili" and Rafael "El Gallina" Romero.

Intricate footwork, hand-clapping, and finger-snapping as performed only by the gypsy dancers of Spain will be featured by Sarita, Fatima and Zoraida Heredia.

Tickets for La Familia Heredia in Cuadro Flamenco are available at Humphreys Music Store, 130 Pine Ave.

Sallye Saunders Lovely Bride

Traditional white satin fashioned along princess lines enhanced the bridal loveliness of Miss Sallye Constance Saunders, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Alonzo E. Saunders, 4145 Locust Ave., when she exchanged nuptial vows and rings with Bruce Munson Henry of South Pasadena last Sunday evening at First Baptist Church. Dr. Winfield Edson officiated before 400 guests.

Mrs. Bruce Munson Henry

A scoop neckline traced with re-embroidered pearl studded Alencon lace complemented the fitted bodice and long fitted sleeves. Panels of the lace on either side detailed the skirt of satin, with double layers of tulle forming a graceful back fullness and full sweep train. The charming brunette bride's fingertip length veil cascaded gently from a seed pearl adorned tiara, and she carried a white orchid with stephanotis, bouvardia and lilies of the valley on a white Bible. She was given in marriage by her father who is a former president of the Southern California State Dental Association.

Miss Carolyn Ann Riedman attended the bride as maid of honor, and Mrs. Dale White and Miss Lee Ann Shumway were bridesmaids. All were gowned identically in coral satin dresses, fashioned with fitted bodices and full skirts. They carried arm cascades of white anthurium. Sandy Sue White was flower girl.

Russell Henry attended the bridegroom as best man, and ushering duties were performed by Monte Brice, Ken Riedman, Bob Ormsby and Don Jordan.

Mrs. Leo Lynes and other friends of the bride's family were hostesses at the reception which followed in the church social hall. The popular newlyweds were assisted in receiving guests by their mothers. Mrs. Saunders selected for the occasion a theater suit of candlelight taffeta with a fiesta shade feather hat. The bridegroom's mother wore paper taffeta in changing shades of gold, pink and aqua with pink accessories. Both wore champagne-shade orchids.

Following a honeymoon visit in Laguna Beach, the newlyweds will reside in Cut Bank, Mont.

The bride, granddaughter of the late Dr. George D. Knight, former pastor of First Baptist Church here, attended Polytechnic High School and the University of Redlands, and was graduated this year from Colorado A & M. Her affiliations include Delta Kappa Psi Sorority, Spurs and Sponsors.

Prior to her marriage she was a teacher at Birney School.

Her bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Leon Henry of 2030 South Pasadena, received his early education in that city, and was graduated this year from the University of Redlands where he was an Alpha Gamma Nu. He also holds membership in the American Association of Petroleum Geologists.

Kappa Zeta Bazaar Planned

Ways and means committee of Kappa Zeta Chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha, led by Mrs. Burl Dial, will meet Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Howard Mossman to make final arrangements for the group's bazaar on Tuesday from 2 to 5 and 7 to 9 p. m. in the Mossman home, 5419 Pageantry Ave.

All items to be featured have been made by members during several months of intensive effort. Proceeds will benefit the Exceptional Children's Foundation of Long Beach, which the chapter helps support. The public is welcome.

ROMANTIC NEWS

Plans for an early June wedding are being made by Donna Lee Korver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Korver of Long Beach, and Thomas L. Rogers, son of the Carl Rogers of Huntington Park. The bride-elect is an alumna of Jordan High School and City College. Her fiance received his schooling in South Gate.

Festive Parties Hint of Yule Season in Gatherings Casual and Formal

By VIRGINIA NEWTON

The yuletide season is starting with all its glitter, gaiety and giving; and among the first parties to honor the Christmas season will be the annual Christmas party of the Officers Wives Club of Long Beach. To be held on Tuesday, Dec. 6 at 12:30 p.m. at the Officers Club, Allen Center, the many members planning to attend are reminded to bring a gift not to exceed the price of $1.

Senior hostesses will be Mrs. Leo G. May who will be assisted by members of the executive board.

Reservations must definitely be made not later than Dec. 3, with Mrs. R. M. Whelpley or Mrs. J. M. McAnn.

Then on Dec. 14 the busy Nautical Club will enjoy an evening buffet party at the cocktail hour at Allen Center to which husbands have been invited.

Leaving right after the holidays for new duty and residence in Hawaii will be, Lt. Comdr. and Mrs. J. H. Knoop and family. Lt. Comdr. Knoop goes from NAS, Los Alamitos, to the V8-21 unit at Barber's Point, Hawaii.

Up for Thanksgiving to be with their folks, Comdr. and Mrs. Forrest Brown, were Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Maches and little Bruce and Steve, from San Diego.

Setting the pace for holiday festivities ahead, Mrs. William Brandon is entertaining board members of the Wives of Navy Doctors' Club at a luncheon in her home Monday at noon. Following luncheon Mrs. F. W. Thompson, president, will present her plans for the Christmas project, which is, as in the past, caring for the holiday needs of two needy Navy families. Also plans will be discussed regarding the Dec. 14 luncheon meeting.

Newly-elected president of this popular club is Mrs. R. A. Lowry and vice president, Mrs. Harry Hirshland.

Enjoying the long weekend at Palm Springs as guests of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Bagley at the Raquet Club are Comdr. and Mrs. M. Steltenkamp and daughter Kay.

Comdr. and Mrs. Benjamin Chiswell and children of the Const Guard set are visiting friends in San Diego for Thanksgiving and this weekend.

It's always a wonderful pleasure this time of the year to wish that well-liked fellow, the postmaster, Rear Adm. George J. McMillin a very happy birthday; and this year the huge birthday cake was placed on the table at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lightbody and their four children, when the relatives got together there for a very fine Thanksgiving dinner. Among the guests attending the dual celebration were: Rear Adm. and Mrs. George J. McMillin, George J. McMillin Jr., Mr. and Mrs. A. I. Lightbody, Dr. and Mrs. Dan O'Toole and Mr. and Mrs. F. Allen from Laguna Beach.

Col. and Mrs. N. Rainbolt have as their house guests, R. Alexander, postmaster, from Waco, Tex., and Joseph Sewell from Thomas, Okla.

The chaplains wives of this area enjoyed a recent luncheon event at the home of Mrs. Ward McCabe of Belmont Shore and plans were made for the holiday season.

Mrs. J. R. McNaught entertained at a luncheon event in her home last week Mmes. Margie Willett, Caroline Wilkins and Francis Joiner.

Col. and Mrs. William Funderburk have as house guests here from Alkart, Tex., the Air Force officer's parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. O. Funderburk.

Tuesday night several hundred guests attended the first of the holiday season parties of the Amphibious group when officers attached to Amphibious Squadron Seven and their wives and guests met at the cocktail hour at the Officers Club, Allen Center.

Lt. (jg) and Mrs. W. E. Morrow Jr. have as their house guest from Alliance, Neb., Betty McGinley, who is here for the holidays.

On Dec. 2 the noon hour will be the gathering time for the Officers Wives Club of the Long Beach Air Force Base who will have their monthly luncheon party in the Officers Club at the base. Hostesses will be Mrs. William Funderburk and Mrs. Marie Pirire. The Barbara Blakeley Cover Girls will present a Christmas Fashion Show for the members at that time.

Today at the teatime hour there will be a reception at the Officers Club, Allen Center honoring the 180th birthday of the United State Navy Chaplain Corps. It will be attended by all chaplains and their wives in this area and by high ranking military leaders and their ladies.

Chaplain and Mrs. Ward McCabe and children had guests from San Diego for this holiday weekend.

Holiday Spells Fun for Coeds

Among the many colleges closing their gates for the brief Thanksgiving holiday is the University of Arizona, thus giving Miss Joanne Schumacher an opportunity to entertain several out of state friends.

Joanne, a pledge to Gamma Phi Beta sorority on the Arizona campus, arrived in Long Beach with three schoolmates to enjoy Thanksgiving dinner with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Schumacher, 3913 California Ave., and to visit Knott's Berry Farm and Disneyland.

Her houseguests are Sue Forster of Battle Creek, Mich. and Sue Chiles of Omaha, Neb., both pledges to Kappa Kappa Gamma and Jo Blotz of Rocky Ford, Colo., a pledge to Alpha Phi sorority.

They will return to their studies today.

Card Party Set

St. Pius X Young Ladies Institute will sponsor a card party at 8 p.m. Tuesday at Our Lady of Refuge Hall, 5195 Stearns St., with proceeds to be used for Christmas decor in the wards at the Long Beach General Hospital, adopted by the institute.

Bridge, 500 and pinochle will be played, with awards for high scorers. The public is welcome and tickets may be obtained from any YLI member or at the door. Mrs. Bernard Hughes is chairman.

Winter's Magic to Enchant Ball Guests

Amid shimmering stars and glittering baubles, members of the Lakewood Plaza Women's Club are busy this week completing decoration plans for the fourth annual Snowflake Ball to be given Saturday, Dec. 3 in the Supper Room of the Lafayette Hotel.

Perhaps the growing interest in this delightful semi-formal affair stems from Californians latent desire to experience, even in a synthetic atmosphere, the beauty of nature's transformation in a world snow-clad.

Mrs. Stanton Stites, chairman for the event, has arranged for Roger Bacon's orchestra to play for dancing. Mrs. Ralph Russell heads the decorations committee and Mrs. Walter Richardson has undertaken the responsibility of ticket arrangements.

Lending helping hands for the many details for the ball are Mmes. Leland Bartholio, Ralph Cashman, Herman Ellzey, Victor Kruger, Edwin Kurtz, J. K. Maxwell, Eugene Reece, James Richards, Michael Sievers, Gordon Sulter, Harry Thomson, Phillip Wicker and Ted Olson.

Beautiful gowns will add their glamor to the ballroom scene and to delightful cocktail parties at which intimate groups will gather before proceeding to the gala dance.

Mrs. Robert Brown will wear stunning black taffeta, accented with rhinestones as she and her husband greet guests in their home, at 2509 Studebaker Rd. Among their guests will be Messrs. and Mmes. Robert Means, Richard Larson, Clay Llewellyn and Roy Brinkley.

Mrs. Stanley Carter has invited cocktail guests to join her and her husband in their home at 2568 Vuelte Grande. Among them will be Messrs. and Mmes. Walter Schminke, Ralph Russell, Kerman Ellzey, Ted Olson, Hall Butler, John Meyers, John Saterino, Joseph Humfeld and Perry Oliver. Mrs. Carter will wear a black cashmere sheath gown.

Mr. and Mrs. George Underhill of 2519 Studebaker Rd., will show their newly-decorated home to Messrs. and Mmes. Donald Hummell, Fred Lee, Thomas Comiskey and Herbert Baldwin. Mrs. Underhill will wear an imported red velveteen sheath.

Statuesque Virginia Mills and her husband, Robert, will pour cocktails for Messrs. and Mmes. Samuel Straley, William Wilkin, Vernon Stewart and Aldon Irwin. Mrs. Mills has chosen a full-skirted black taffeta ball gown.

Red lace over taffeta is the effective choice of Mrs. Stanley Wells for her cocktail-length dress. She and her husband will entertain neighbors before the dance, having bidden Messrs. and Mmes. Stanley Haskett, Richard Hilliards, William McQueens, Claude Jennings and Mrs. Margaret Dennission to be their guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Stites (she is the dance chairman) will welcome their out-of-town guests at a party in the Lafayette Hotel before the ball. She has selected a gown of champagne satin with pearl accessories. They have issued invitations to Messrs. and Mmes. Jack Anderson, George Gurgos, Dale McCullough, Walter Wilkinson, Thomas Morris and Jack Thornton.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldred Olson will honor Mrs. James Hayes, new club president, and her husband at a convivial party. They have asked Messrs. and Mmes. Carter Schneider, George Scanlon, and Paul Johnson to join them. Mrs. Hayes will wear one of her gorgeous saris, which she receives directly from a friend in Egypt, accented with native Egyptian jewels.

Lady Lions to Entertain

One of the gayest of the club parties of the holiday season will take place Thursday evening as Belmont Shore Lady Lions, together with Belmont Shore Lions, give a festive Christmas dinner dance at Towne Club, with Mrs. Archie Belshe and Mrs. Ned Christensen as hostesses.

This very active group of women is known for great interest in philanthropic endeavor through all the months of the year. Mrs. Phil Hahn, chairman of the club's toy drive for the children of Long Beach General Hospital, announces that special gifts will be sent for Thanksgiving to the little children at the hospital, aided greatly by a surprise gift of $20 received for this purpose from an anonymous donor.

Why Grow Old?

Arms Fat, Flabby, Thin? Exercise Will Help Them

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Our arms are always hanging around! However, we do not get a good look at them unless we gaze into a full length mirror. If they are too thin or too fat or are flabby, we should do something about it because they are a part of the picture which others have of us.

A certain glandular deficiency may cause an extremely large upper arm. We sometimes see this on a woman who is not overweight generally. However, having a large upper arm does not necessarily mean that you have a deficiency of this sort. We inherit the shape of our arms and our weight distribution just as we do the shape of our ears or our nose.

If your upper arm is too fat exercise will be beneficial. Try this one: Stand tall. Raise the arms forward, shoulder length, keeping elbows stiff as possible. Swing the arms backward with stiff elbows, and touch the backs of the hands together. Continue swinging forward and clasping and backward to touch the backs of the hands.

If your arms are flabby or are too thin do the following exercise. Stand tall, with your arms hanging down at your sides, a weight in each hand, palms facing forward. Bend the elbows and raise the arms forward-upward to touch the weights to the upper arms. Lower the weights. Continue, raising and lowering the arms and the weights.

Also, remember that your elbows are crucial spots on your arms. Do not neglect them. They will become rough and unattractive unless you give them special care.

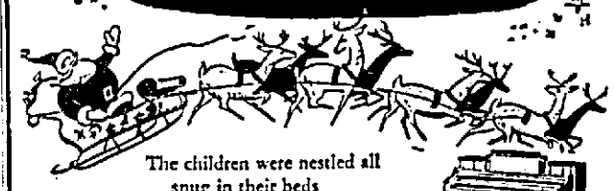

They take a beating. You lean on them and the skin there must continually give and take as your elbows bend and straighten. It is a good idea to soak the elbows in little dishes of soapy water periodically. You can follow this with a soft bath-brush scrubbing.

It also is essential to massage cream into the elbows regularly. Every night is not too often.

If you would like to have my exercises for the arms send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 11 "Armfuls of Beauty" to Josephine Lowman in care of the Press-Telegram.

Save Your Family Squabbles 'Til Youngsters Are in Bed

By ANGELO PATRI

To grow up to a healthy maturity of mind and body, children must live in an atmosphere of harmony. There must be no bickering between their parents. Any disagreement before the children makes them fearful, unsure and causes them to lose faith in their parents' ability to protect them.

Being human, a father and mother think differently about many things. They have different ideas about the values of life and that will make them put emphasis on different phases of family interests. Maybe mother wants to own a house in the country or the suburbs while father feels the city is the best place. One wants to spend money for a vacation trip while the other wants to save it for the college education of the children. There are times when they differ about the discipline and the training of the children. This is only human. People must think and they must have opinions and hopes and dreams. But parents should, for the sake of their children's welfare, settle their major differences privately and present a united front to their children.

Modern life has added new causes for differences that threaten to darken the happiness of many a newly-established home. Both parents work. The problems this sets can be acute and again, for the sake of the children they should be settled privately.

Every home must be maintained by personal work. The labor-saving tools must be driven by the hands and brains of somebody, so the house can be clean, the meals cooked and served, the dishes washed and placed on the shelves. There's the laundry, the marketing and the baby-tending. Who is to do what?

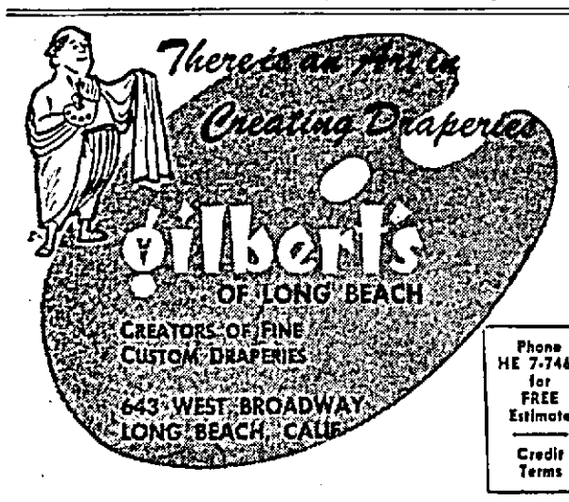

First thing to settle is the necessity for the mother to work outside the house. Which is the more important and pressing: earning money or mothering the family? Then, how is the housework to be done? Help is scarce to the vanishing point. How much is the father to do? How willing or competent is he to do it? Who is to care for the children?

Such problems are causing plenty of troubles in homes today. They must be settled by the parents concerned. Each set have their special difficulties and must find the right solution for them. What is most important to all concerned is the health of the minds and bodies of the children. Worry is poison to anybody, but it has a particularly ill effect on children—filling them with dread and fear and causing them to feel lost and inadequate for their tasks.

Life is never placid for any length of time. There is no such thing as security. But children can and should be shielded from family squabbles.

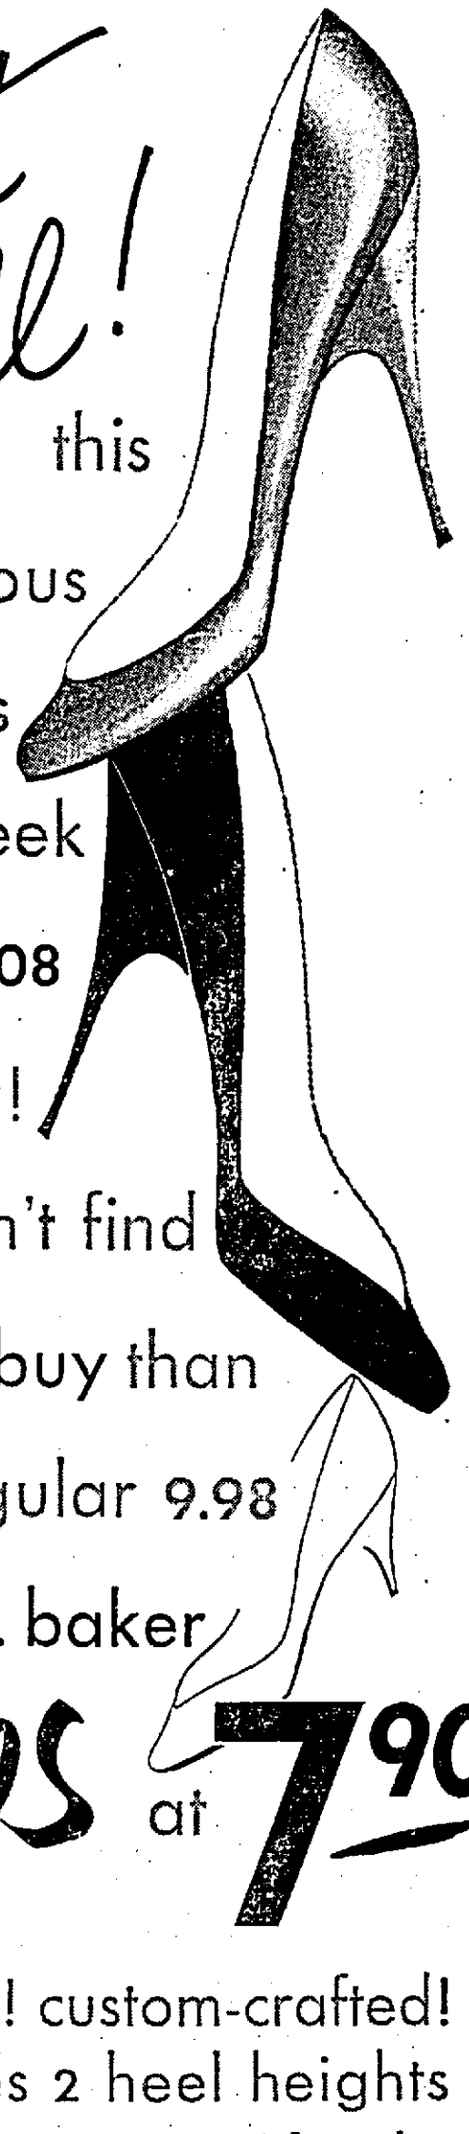

Pilfering is characteristic of childhood, but children pass through this stage if they are guided properly. Dr. Patri's leaflet P-27, "Pilfering," tells what to do about it. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to him, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York, N. Y.

Child Care

Deodorants Suggested

By JEAN H. SELIGMAN and MILTON I. LEVINE, M.D.

Q. "During the past year my nine-year-old daughter has developed an underarm odor despite good health and cleanliness habits. I haven't used deodorants on her, fearing they are rather dangerous for a child's skin. I don't want this to become a source of embarrassment to her and would appreciate your suggestions for eliminating this problem."—Mrs. R. B.

(A) Underarm perspiration usually starts somewhere between the ages of nine and 12. Since no two children are exactly alike, the age varies. The odor is caused by bacteria and is absolutely normal. Probably nobody is free from these odor-causing bacteria.

There are two ways of approaching this problem. One is to use a soap which has bacteria-killing properties. There are several good ones on the market, pleasant smelling and completely safe to use. Deodorant preparations by themselves are usually not irritating or dangerous to a child's skin unless she happens to be allergic to something in them. If your daughter uses a deodorant and it seems irritating, then try another kind.

Some deodorants are also anti-perspirants. These should be avoided at this early age as they tend to close up the pores and might have some irritating effect.

It would be unwise for you to make too much of this question with your daughter lest she think she is somehow abnormal or even undesirable. Simply tell her that as we grow up different changes take place in our bodies, and one of these is underarm odor.

All questions possible will be answered through this column. Send them to CHILD CARE in care of The Press-Telegram.

SHOPPING SENSE

BY Lisa Towne

As the last few days of November ebb, there are two questions that have replaced the usual amenities about weather, health and family. . . . "Have you bought your Christmas cards yet?" and, "Have you done your Christmas shopping yet?" A few smug affirmatives have resulted, but human nature being what it is, the odds have it that come Christmas Eve the stores will still be doing a booming sales job. If a suggestion or two may be offered, study Shopping Sense as well as the other gift ideas in your Independent, Press-Telegram and make out a Christmas list before you venture forth into the tinseled and glittering arena to do your shopping. You'll save wear and tear on your feet, your temper, your budget and your gasoline. This week, too, spruce up your home for the holidays so that it will be clean and lovely and safe for all the stunning candlelight effects so much a part of the Noel season.

A fabulous antique crystal chandelier from Czechoslovakia dominates Fred Hershorn's redecorated VICTOR HUGO RESTAURANT, 730 East Broadway, and sets an elegant mood for relaxed dining pleasure in the lovely Garden Room or Copper Room, where luncheon is served daily from 11:30 A. M., and dinner is from 4 P. M. to midnight. Cocktails are from 10:30 A. M., and three banquet rooms are available to accommodate 12 to 120 people. Phone HEmlock 5-4117 for your reservations for delightful dining.

Attorney James M. Munholland

Chef of the Week

Barbecued Pheasant Wins Thanks for Brevity, Ease

By MILDRED K. FLANARY
Independent, Press-Telegram Home Economics Editor

He'll bargain with anybody—be it his family, his in-laws or his friends, to whip-up for him a batch of dumplings. The good old-fashioned kind, usually accompanied in the kettle by a chicken, and liable to drop if the lid is lifted. Which meal of the day may be coming up, makes little difference. Chef of the Week M. Munholland loves domesticity, too, if by pressing a button the job gets done.

Jim's family preceded him to Long Beach, coming in the year 1903, and residing at Ocean Blvd. and Elm. Ere his arrival, they had moved out "in the country"—9th St. and Chestnut.

His early memory of Long Beach includes the jitney bus — the Pacific Electric car which ran down the bluff to Seal Beach, the Belmont Shore area when it was just a slew, and his duck hunting treks on "Halibut Pond," presently the location of the Lowell School.

He and the Horace Mann School started their academic careers the same year, Jim continuing on through Jefferson Jr. and Wilson High, the Southwestern School of Law, eventually taking his pre-legal work at University of Oregon. While at Wilson, he was on the receiving end of the student body rooting section, having been a member of both their football and basketball teams each of his four years there.

His athletic prowess also includes a hitch with the old Press-Telegram basketball team. He played squash in the inter-club Pacific Coast Club tournament; and he and his brother "chef" John, were former entrants in sailing races on Alamitos Boy.

Munholland was admitted to the California Bar in 1935, following which he spent six years in the City Prosecutor's office and four with the City Attorney. He joined the law firm of "Munholland and Munholland" in 1948.

A member of the Beta Theta Pi Fraternity, the Alamitos Bay Yacht Club, the Wayfarers and the Pacific Coast Club, Munholland is also second ceremonial master El Bekai Shrine Temple, and a member of Seaside Lodge No. 504, FAM. He also belongs to the Chamber of Commerce and can produce the proverbial Elks tooth.

A family man, Jim is a fanatic at barbecuing, whether it be at his Idylwild mountain cabin or at home. His recipe today, probably the shortest ever dreamed-up by a "chef," is for a barbecued pheasant.

BARBECUED PHEASANT

Quote — Put butter inside pheasant. Barbecue, 20 minutes per pound on a spit, basting with one-fourth pound butter and 1 can undiluted frozen orange juice which have previously been melted together. Unquote.

Nursery Schools Can Fill Many Needs

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case Q-306: Anne Jones, aged about 25, teaches first grade in the Riverside Presbyterian week-day school at Jacksonville, Fla.

"Dr. Crane, I want you to visit her room with me," said Dr. Albert J. Kissling, the popular pastor of that great church. Anne loves every child in her room. And she accomplishes miracles with them, too.

"She also has a lot of ingenuity as you'll see as soon as we reach the door to her classroom."

And Dr. Kissling was correct. When we arrived at the white door, we found black imprints of children's feet across the top and down both sides.

Miss Jones had let each of her youngsters place its foot in some black paint and then make its individual footprint around the frame of the doorway.

And across the top was printed this appropriate statement to make those footprints more relevant:

"We will walk into this day with God."

"Fixing up this doorway was an exciting little ceremony," Miss Jones said.

"It simply required a little black paint, turpentine, a ladder and many wee feet, plus a strong back to lift the children high as we approached the top of the door.

"When all the footprints were clearly made, we knelt at the threshold and prayers were said in simple love and trust to the Guide above.

"And ever since that memorable dedication, we always kneel at the same threshold the first thing each new morning."

It was a very pleasant surprise to me to find such a beautiful school being run as an adjunct of this Presbyterian church. It started originally as a day Nursery School for toddlers. But their parents were so delighted with the results that they petitioned to have the school extended into the first grade.

And now that those same youngsters have finished first grade, the parents have asked to have them kept through the second grade.

Several leading denominations, such as the Lutherans and Roman Catholics, have maintained church operated grammar schools and even high schools for their youngsters.

Most of the other denominations have not seen fit to compete with the public schools in teaching arithmetic, geography, etc. But certainly it would be a desirable innovation if most of our city churches conducted Nursery Schools for the toddlers under kindergarten age.

For then the working widows would be able to relax more fully, knowing their youngsters were in a church operated Nursery School.

Furthermore, many harassed mothers who can't find baby sitters on a moment's notice, could avail themselves of the church Nursery School when they needed to fulfill a dental appointment or do necessary shopping.

Not only could the women's societies of the churches make money for missionary projects by thus operating pay Nursery Schools, but they would furnish an opportunity for more women volunteers to help.

And a big problem of churches nowadays is the over supply of willing workers who want something specific to do.

"What can I do? they demand of their priests or ministers. So we need to widen the useful functions of churches and thus render more service to the community.

Church day Nursery Schools thus offer a concrete outlet for the altruism of thousands of fine women who beg for opportunities to do good. Remember, a livewire church should function at least 12 hours per day and seven days per week.

Women Still Best Drivers

The safest drivers in America will increase to almost twice their present number within the next 10 years.

So says Miss Betty Skelton, test driver, who refers to the growing horde of women behind the wheel, currently 25,000,000 strong and expected to reach 47,000,000 by 1965.

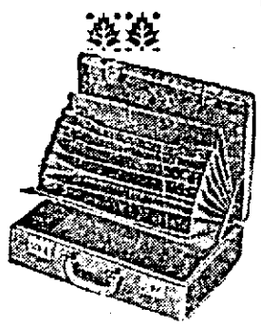

"And these women," says Betty, "are the safest drivers in America."

Betty can rattle off some pretty impressive statistics to prove her point about the safety record of the one-third of our licensed drivers who are women.

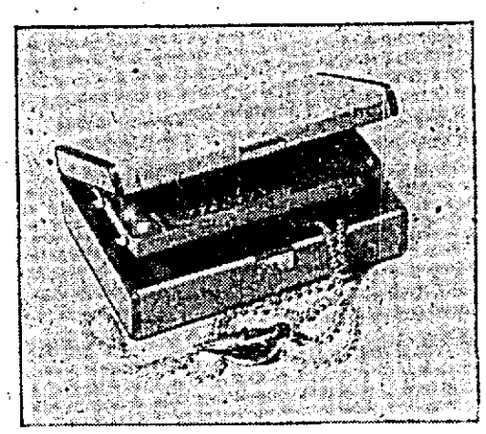

"They have only one-tenth of all the accidents," says Betty, who is the only woman test driver in the automotive industry and something of a champion of the reputation of the much-maligned American woman driver.

She goes on to explain that surveys have revealed that men drive from two to four times as many miles as women. Still, the male ratio of accidents, she continues, is more than 10 times as great.

Taoleans Plan Yule Musicale

Christmas festivities for Taoleon Club will be heralded at their 10th annual musicale in Mottell's Chapel Sunday, Dec. 4 at 3 p. m. Miss Dorothy Crabtree, president, will greet the guests and members and present the program.

Appearing on the program for the fourth successive year will be Dr. Peter Slack, organist. Dr. Slack has broadcast over coast net works and was organist at the New York World's Fair. He is musical director and staff organist of KGER, and is heard daily in afternoon recitals.

Other featured artists will be Arthur Bradley, tenor soloist, rendering "The Holy City" and other numbers accompanied by Mrs. Annette Gridley on the piano; and Don Pratt, well-known cornetist, with Ruth Nichols as accompanist.

A dramatization in keeping with the Christmas spirit, arranged by Mrs. I. B. House, will be given by the Junior Taoleons. Included in the cast are Phillip Hood, Douglass Hood, Phillip Sheridan, Bob Gayton, Tom Norcross, Dennis Marsh, Craig Craigo, Dick Murphy and Gregory Bartlow. Introduction by Gregory Lobdell. Climaxing the production will be a visualization with Mrs. Don Nicholson as the Madonna. The setting will be under the direction of Mrs. Jack McInnis. Mrs. Albert W. Hood is in charge of reception.

Alpha Chis Entertained at Buffet

Members of Alpha Chi Omega Alumnae Club were entertained Tuesday at a buffet luncheon and meeting in the home of Mrs. Charles Putnam with Mrs. Merle Dempsey Jr. assisting.

Mrs. Eileen Sutliff, philanthropy chairman, told of needs at Tucker School for handicapped children, and plans were made to buy long playing records and a special exerciser for the school.

Plans also were made for a Dec. 11 Christmas party for husbands and escorts in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne L. Linscott, 3861 Country Club Dr., followed by a dinner dance at the Towne Club. Alpha Chis in the Long Beach area are welcome, and may make reservations with Mrs. Linscott or Mrs. Peggy O'Reilly.

Mrs. Claude B. Norris of Riverside, district alumnae chairman, was a special guest. Others attending were Mmes. Gordon Aumack, Chalmers Bower, Jess A. Bush, Henry D. Cooke, Loris K. Cox, Donald R. Cruse, B. H. Cunningham, Robert Ekoos, Eugene Erickson, Henry L. Goerlick, Vaughn Holliday, Carter Harrison, Weldon H. Long, Edgar C. Outten Jr., H. A. Peterson, Howard S. Taylor, M. Edward Wagner, W. R. Way and B. R. Zacher.

Chapter One Sets Bazaar

Final plans for their Tuesday bazaar and turkey dinner will be announced Monday at a 7:30 p.m. meeting of Chapter One, Blue Star Mothers of America, at the YWCA. Blanche Bell will preside.

The bazaar, an annual event, will begin at noon Tuesday in Linden Hall, 505 E. Broadway. Booths will be stocked with needlework suitable for Christmas giving, cooked foods, baked goods and candy. A turkey dinner will be served from 6 to 9 p.m. The public is invited and reservations may be made with Mrs. J. E. Urquhart, 1201 Ximeno Ave. Clara Crozier and Nellie Foulk are bazaar chairmen, and Mary Cavanaugh and her committee will be in charge of the dinner.

Open House, Tea Set at YMCA

An "Open House Silver Tea" will be given at the North Long Beach YMCA, 6095 California Ave., Tuesday afternoon from 1 to 4 p. m., by the North Long Beach Women's Club in observance of their community project, to commemorate the furnishing of the North Long Beach YMCA reception room.

Needed community improvement for better living and better citizens is the main objective of the project sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and cosponsored by the Sears Roebuck Foundation.

The public is invited to come and see the wonderful work which has been done.

Mrs. Alexander Cameron

Kappa Delta Unit Installs New Leader

Mrs. Alexander Cameron of this city recently was installed as president of the Southern California Council of Kappa Delta which comprises 12 alumnae associations. The white candle ceremony was conducted in the Kappa Delta Chapter house at USC with Mrs. J. H. Jefferson, past president, as installing officer. Mrs. Cameron is past president of the Long Beach Kappa Delta Alumnae Association.

During the business discussion following, the council reported that proceeds from the sorority's benefit fashion show will be used to purchase a bus for the Los Angeles Chapter of Muscular Dystrophy.

Attending the installation from Long Beach were Mmes. C. B. Brothers, Jonathan C. Booth, E. John Hanna, John T. Valuch, Joseph K. Kellogg and Sterlin H. Fisher.

Emblem Club

Mrs. Sam Landsworth will be hostess to an Emblem Club 106 board meeting at 8 p. m. Wednesday in her 1247 E. 10th St. home. Plans will be made for a Christmas party given by officers and chairmen.

Molly Mayfield

Her Conduct Is Questionable

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

I have a roommate who in my eyes is the world's best. I've known her for years. But lately I can't help but think she is being unfair.

A while back she met a very nice fellow . . . only thing is his divorce isn't final (or even started) yet. Recently he got an apartment. Since then I have seen little or nothing of my friend. Oh, there are all sorts of flowery excuses why she has to stay over there at night . . . i.e., car won't start, or the two of them just "accidentally" dozed off.

It's been over a week and not one night has she spent at the apartment with me.

Occasionally she drops in to do some chores or change clothes . . . then it's on to his place. I come home from work at night and everything is just dead. No meal . . . or food, either . . . and most of the time I eat out . . . if I do eat.

I hate to eat alone or just buy for myself. My roommate (mine or his?) helps with the bills and seems to feel that's all she is required to do.

You know, Molly, half the fun of having a roommate is sharing together. But how can I make her see this? I don't want to offend her but I don't like these all-night junkets, even though she swears they are all innocence. I can't prove otherwise, but I don't honestly think they are. I'm not that naive, I hope.

What should I do?—PRETTY DARNED DISGUSTED.

DEAR DISGUSTED:

I think you'd be perfectly justified in suggesting to her that you two make other arrangements. As you say, it's no fun having a roommate who is never there. And it's distressing having one that's carrying on such a flagrant (at least it seems flagrant to me) affair with this married man.

No, I think I'd take my nerve in hand and just tell her that the arrangement isn't working out and that you feel a change is in the order of things.—M.M.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

Two years ago I was very much in love with this girl from my home town and I was planning on marrying her. We had gone together for over two and a half years and were pretty sure of ourselves. Then, all in a week's time she met and eloped with a man whom she thought was THE ONE after all.

I was much hurt, I'll admit, so I joined the Air Force to forget. It took over a year to forget her—at least I thought I'd forgotten her. Then I ran into her, and we started dating. I learned her husband was in the armed services and away.

Now I realize I've fallen in love with her all over again and I think she feels the same. What should I do? Quit seeing her? Try to win her again? I'll leave the deciding question up to you. — LOST WITH LOVE.

DEAR LOST:

Maybe you do love her, but I can't believe you can be fully happy sneaking around behind her husband's back dating her. Furthermore, if she jilted you once, she could do the same thing again. And also what kind of woman is she who is so willing to cheat now that you're on the scene again?

There's one more thing. You did succeed in forgetting her once. I believe it might be even easier if you try again.—M.M.

Book Play No Help Here

How do you play the South hand shown today at a contract of three no-trump? The chief problem lies in the proper play of the club suit, since the correct solution goes against the grain.

West opens the five of hearts, and you play the nine from the dummy. East comes up with the queen, and you win with the king of hearts. This favorable opening lead gives you three sure heart tricks, but you still need four club tricks to assure the contract.

The "book" safety play is to cash the ace of clubs and then enter dummy with the ace of spades to lead another club from dummy. This play would get you nowhere in today's hand, for you would never get to your hand often enough to bring in the long clubs.

The correct technique is to lead a low club at the second trick. You naturally hope that the queen will fall on this trick, but actually East wins the trick with the ten of clubs.

East returns the jack of spades to dummy's ace, and you now lead a low club from dummy, intending to finesse if East can follow suit.

You wouldn't worry about losing such a finesse, since this would surely establish the rest of the suit even if West could win the trick. Your object is to make sure of keeping East out of the lead for the rest of the hand. You don't want the long spades to be led through you again.

As the cards lie, East must discard on the second round of clubs. You therefore give up a second club trick to West, saving a top heart to make sure that you can get back to cash the rest of the clubs.

West cannot hurt you by leading spades, and if West shifts to diamonds you will go up with dummy's ace and run your nine tricks before the mice get at them.

The contoured corners make bed-making a simple affair. The bed stays neat and smooth... blanket won't slip off or ride up.

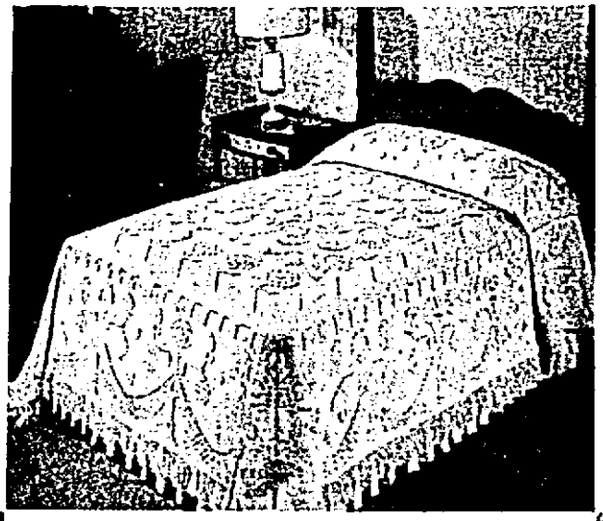

Why G.E. Sleep-Guard Blankets are Worth More...

1 — They warm YOU, you don't warm them.

2 — The warmth is safe and steady... warmth is increased or decreased automatically during the night.

3 — Sleep-Guard gives complete protection. Current is cut off if blanket temperature exceeds a certain limit.

All you do is drop in the bread

Bread lowers itself automaticaly — no levers to push.
Toast raises itself automatically. No popping or banging.

You will scarcely believe your eyes when you see the sheer magic of this entirely new kind of silent automatic toaster by Sunbeam. It is actually easier and more effortless to make delicious toast with the new Sunbeam than it is to tell about it. And what toast — every slice alike from first to last, whether moist or dry, thick slices or thin. It's the toaster that has completely changed the public's conception of what an automatic toaster should do.

SPECIAL ISSUE!

PARADE VISITS RUSSIA

A firsthand report by Jess Gorkin, Editor of PARADE ... Photography by David P. Preston

A message from the Publisher

ABOUT THIS ISSUE...

Today's PARADE is unique in our 15-year history. Never before has an entire issue been devoted to a single subject. But the subject of this issue is so important that we are departing from our usual well-rounded editorial fare.

Since World War II, nothing on earth outside America's borders has been more important to America than the other giant power among nations: the Soviet Union. What Russia does—what Russia is—affects every one of us.

This is why PARADE recently sent Editor Jess Gorkin and staff photographer David P. Preston for a close journalistic look at the Soviet Union. They were the first such reporting team to be allowed into Russia. They came out with so many good stories and such a wealth of photos that even this special issue cannot do them justice.

This special issue will give you, the American reader, a chance to see for yourself — and judge for yourself — a cross-section of Soviet life today. It is apparent, I think, from this report that the standard of living in the Soviet Union is still 30 to 40 years behind America. However, it is also apparent that genuine material progress is being made — progress which if directed against us could be dangerous indeed to our way of life. My conclusion is this: Behind the smiles of the leaders and the improving life of the people they dominate still lies a potential threat to America so long as Communism rules them.

I am sure you, too, will find this issue provocative of sober, serious thought.

Sincerely,

Arthur H. Motley

NO. 1 RED Nikita Khrushchev (r.) tenders PARADE'S Editor a beaming handshake as another American correspondent performs the introductions.

THE DOOR OPENS—A LITTLE

by JESS GORKIN

Because they are on ball bearings, the five Red Stars atop the Kremlin spires in Moscow (see front cover) change direction as the wind shifts.

An American correspondent looking out of his National Hotel room, across Red Square from the Kremlin, could read a hidden meaning into those shifting stars. Today's Soviet leaders have shown they, too, know how to change direction. To paraphrase an old Leninism: The new approach in 1955 has been to smile, smile and once again smile. (Those smiles can be deceptive — and to date there are no signs that the basic goals of Communism have changed.)

In order to bring PARADE readers a close-up of the new look in pictures and text, Dave Preston and I toured Russia for a month. We went into the Kremlin — and beyond it. We talked to factory worker Alexei Trokhov, collective farmer Boris Borislovich, athletic coach Vassily Sedorka, school principal Nicholai Yermichken and scores of other Russians. We met top Government leaders and took color photos of them.

In many places we were the first Americans the Russian people had seen and they were genuinely friendly. The anti-American propaganda that has been ground out wholesale for the best part of 35 years apparently had not penetrated very deeply into these individuals.

But an air of secrecy does prevail.

Until six months ago it was considered a serious crime to give statistics to a foreigner. It remains nearly impossible to obtain telephone books or maps of city streets. The last national census was taken in 1939 and there are no accurate figures available on the size of any city in the Soviet Union.

Like other visitors, we were taken in tow by able, educated guides and interpreters supplied by Intourist (the state tourist office). Their function seemed to be exclusively to show off museums, libraries and scenic vistas. Requests for a look at anything else brought out the old Russian proverb: "An uninvited guest is worse than a Tartar."

This attitude also carried over into some of our other dealings. Twice in Moscow we enlisted the help of English-speaking Russians who were not on the Intourist staff. One then departed suddenly on a two-week vacation and the other developed a high fever during the night. Or so we were told.

Fortunately, we discovered early in our visit that an Intourist guide usually respects the person who refuses to take no for an answer and occasionally shouts at him. So we began mixing tact with shouting, and the results decidedly improved.

What You Can — and Can't — Snap

As the door opened, we traveled to a number of leading Russian cities, including Kiev, Odessa, Tiflis, Rostov and Stalingrad. We visited and photographed a textile factory, a collective farm, a People's Court, a maternity hospital, a fashion show, a movie studio, food markets, beer halls, homes of factory workers, primary schools and universities, new housing projects, sports events. We were not permitted to photograph bridges, military installations, railroad tracks, airports, heavy industry or locks on the Don River Canal.

We learned two points of paramount importance from our Russian trip: 1) To appreciate even more our American way of life; 2) That the U. S. must remain strong and alert while exploring the bumpy road to peace and friendship.

Many things to remember . . .

Russia at random: The U.S.S.R. lacks adequate ground transportation, so people in a hurry get around by air. This included us (above). The largest commercial planes, we found, are two-engined jobs similar to our prewar DC-3. Short hops at low altitudes, dirt landing fields, no seat belts, no meals served — these were standard. . .

The crew consists of a pilot, copilot, radioman, engineer, sometimes a stewardess. Pilots don't warm up their engines before take-off. At least two pilots like chess as much as flying — we found that out when we were grounded because of lightning storms. (The Russian air fleet takes no chances with turbulent weather.) Maintenance? Each time a plane lands, it is checked by at least one mechanic with a screwdriver . . .

Small Russian cars (Pobeda and Moskvich) invariably stall while waiting for traffic lights. Compared to other European capitals, Moscow has very few bicycles . . .

Most men's neckties are drab — and few men wear them. No men wear bowties. Hats are less popular than caps (for men) and kerchiefs (for women) . . . To the U. S. eye, Russian women seem unfeminine. Not many are pretty by our standards. Many do heavy labor. It's hard for an American to look on and allow a woman porter to pick up luggage — but when in Russia, do as the Russians . . .

Movie studios in Russia turn out 45 films a year. Cost per movie is about $600,000 and 85 per cent are in color. Directors earn 3,000 rubles a month ($750) and a 60,000-ruble bonus per film. Practically no Russians have heard of Marilyn Monroe . . .

Big shots' cars have white curtains in the rear windows . . . Many of the men in the Republic of Georgia look like Stalin, who was a Georgian: short, swarthy, with thick black hair and mustaches . . .

Russian beer halls are called pevnoyzals and have individual stand-up tables instead of a bar . . . Most Russians parrot identical answers to political and economic questions. The masses have been led to believe people in the U. S. are starving . . .

War material is closeted from Western view, but several times we heard big guns booming in the distance while waiting for our plane to refuel. Only once did we see a jet plane overhead — on the outskirts of Rostov . . .

Russians frown on tipping . . . A Russian grin often reveals a row of stainless-steel teeth . . . There are very few redheads in Russia . . . Moscow has few cats and dogs . . . There are no adding machines in the U.S.S.R. All businesses, including banks, use the primitive abacus . . . Russian ice cream is thinner than ours . . .

No homes have window screens . . . Russian children receive no spending money . . . There is no golf or baseball in the Soviet Union . . . Eighty per cent of doctors are women . . . Few Russians smoke pipes or cigars. Their cigarettes, roughly Turkish in origin, require half a dozen matches apiece to keep lighted . . .

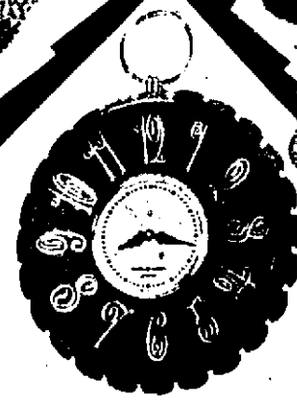

A bulletin in the courtyard of an apartment house in Stalingrad had this pertinent information: "Study circle begins first of month, prepare yourself. All neighbors in flats should live in peace and not quarrel. Trees and bushes planted here are not to be destroyed, people should take better care. Save lights" — and then the crowning blow, a list of people who hadn't paid their rent on time . . .

The most commonly used words in the Russian language are: spaseba (thank you), nyet (no), pozhaluista (please) and khorosho (good) . . .

Russia's "classless" society now consists of five classes: Communist party members; top military; bureaucrats and intellectuals; police and enlisted men (all services); factory workers and peasants. Draw your own conclusions. ■

SOVIET SYMBOLS

Dead hands still guide the nation

Mausoleum. Building being repainted (l.) is St. Basil's Cathedral, now a museum.

Something no visitor to Moscow ever forgets is the patient lineup waiting to enter the Lenin-Stalin Mausoleum in Red Square. Open 15 hours a week, the flat-topped granite building draws queues up to a mile long. Men, women and children shuffle along, snaillike, in all weathers, climaxing perhaps hours of waiting with a few seconds inside. There, in a "crystal bubble" bathed in pink light, lie the heavily guarded bodies of Lenin and Stalin (allegedly embalmed, but looking suspiciously like wax effigies). The people stop, peer, then move on.

Lenin died in 1924, Stalin in 1953. Living, they strove ruthlessly to make Communist Russia world-dominant. Dead, their influence still pervades the nation. The lineup outside the Mausoleum is one symbol of this. There are others throughout the U.S.S.R.

"Sorry—you'll have to wait—today is the day of the week I put Drāno in all the drains."

A sink's best friend is Drāno—when it comes to getting rid of dangerous sewer germs that lurk in every drain. Those germs breed in muck that liquid disinfectants can't budge. But Drāno's churning, boiling action dissolves the muck, keeps drains germ-free and free-running.

Make one day a week Drāno day. Put Drāno in every drain for about a penny a drain. Won't harm septic tanks. Makes 'em work even better. Get Drāno now at any grocery, drug or hardware store, here or in Canada.

There's nothing like Drāno... to keep drains free-running and sanitary.

PRODUCTS OF THE DRACKETT COMPANY, CINCINNATI, OHIO

"And tell them I always use Windex Spray."

Who wants old-fashioned, window-cleaning drudgery when you can do the job in half the time with Windex Spray! Swish! Spray it on! Whish! Wipe it off! Windows, mirrors, all glass surfaces shine sparkling bright in a jiffy. They stay bright longer, too—it leaves no waxy, dust-collecting film—no streaks!

Windex Spray's so thrifty in the handy 6-oz. size. Even more economical in the big 20-oz. refill size. Get Windex Spray today at your grocery, drug or hardware store. Also sold in Canada.

So quick, easy, thrifty, it outsells all other glass cleaners combined!

Everybody's crazy about DĀZY

New DĀZY Spray Air Freshener banishes household odors instantly. Makes home air fresh as a daisy! Costs only 49¢ with reuseable sprayer at your grocery, drug or hardware store. Made by the makers of Drāno and Windex.

SOLDIERS are everywhere despite the new Communist "line": that Lenin's cry of "inevitable" class war has given way to "coexistence." Some troops goose-step like the Honor Guard of the Moscow garrison (above); millions learn one job: fighting.

The leaders decreed an all-out effort; the people are making it

WOMEN do hard physical jobs, freeing men for military duty. They dig ditches (above), sweep streets, drive trucks, handle factory and construction work—whatever the state demands.

"Window test" proves blue Cheer washes so white you can see the difference!

because only Cheer has the Blue-Magic whitener!

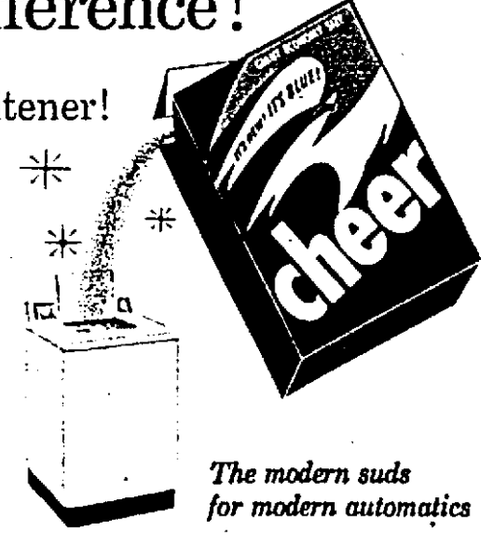

Cheer's Blue-Magic whitener is not just a bluing . . . it's more than a bluing . . . it's a new, better whitener for all your wash.

One look tells you . . . blue Cheer brings a new whiteness to your wash. And this simple yet dramatic "window test" proves it.

Just take some Cheer-washed clothes to your window. In that revealing light (or even on a gray day), you'll see a startling new whiteness in all your wash. And on hardest-to-whiten things like nylon, you'll see a real difference in whiteness never possible before Cheer.

What's more, blue Cheer washes dirtiest work and play clothes crisply clean, adds new brightness to colored washables, too. And you really know Cheer's in a class by itself when you see the difference in whiteness Cheer gives you.

TRY CHEER in your automatic washer. Remember that blue Cheer has the active, hard-working kind of suds recommended by leading makers of automatics and preferred by 8 out of 10 women who own agitator automatics.

The modern suds for modern automatics

'Long live the Soviet Union, created by the will of the people.'

Looking like a group of Christmas carolers on a Currier & Ives card, orange-scarved Young Pioneers raise their voices in the Hymn of the Soviet Union. The occasion is a patriotic assembly in their Pioneer Youth Palace in Rostov-on-Don, in the Ukraine.

Behind these fresh-faced children loom the profiles of the Russian deities Lenin and Stalin, ever-present reminders of the ever-present state. A single school may be sprinkled with as many as 50 such "inspirational" pictures, posters and statues.

SURROUNDED BY SLOGANS, pigtailed youngsters are spoon-fed Marxist line at this Pioneer Youth assembly. Slogan on right pylon exhorts, "Fearlessly develop self-criticism and criticism of others." Such assemblies, with uniform programs, are a regular feature at Soviet schools and youth palaces.

YOUNG, DEDICATED – and RED

School, youth programs and indoctrination keep Russian children busy. Here is a close-up of the generation that holds the key to world peace

BEHIND THE borders of Russia, millions of children — even the Russians do not know the exact number — are growing to adulthood. They hold the key to the world's future: they could develop into a new crop of die-hard militarists, or they might ask nothing but to live in peace. Today, the seeds are being sown in a way alien to most Americans. In some ways, Russian children — rosy-cheeked, warm-hearted, many of them — resemble nothing so much as American kids in ill-fitting uniforms. But there are differences — strong differences — in them, and in their way of life, that stand out in sharp relief.

Even before a Russian child is born, he feels the impact of the state. His mother receives free pre-natal care and listens to a steady drumfire on the glories of motherhood. Her child will never escape this mother-hen benevolence, this hammering indoctrination.

When he is two months old, he will be placed in a state day nursery, while his mother returns to work. At 4, he enters kindergarten; at 7, school; at 9, membership in the Young Pioneers youth movement; at 14, possibly, membership in the Young Communist League. Among them, they will provide his education, his recreation, his religion, even his very dreams, thoughts and ambitions. Youth is the hope of the Soviet Union, and every resource converges on him to see that he never forgets that destiny.

Does the child resent it? PARADE talked to dozens of Russian youngsters in the schools of Moscow and Tiflis, the "Youth Palace" of Rostov-on-Don; to older students in Kiev. A single word sums them up: dedicated. One girl of 16 was asked to describe her hopes for the future. "I hope," she answered a little stiffly, "to be allowed to go to Siberia and help to build a new country." So it is hardly surprising when apple-cheeked youngsters like those at left show no symptoms of restlessness, but instead pitch fervently into the Young Pioneers anthem. A youth leader translated their hymn for PARADE like this:

The Pioneer Youth Anthem

"Whose smiles are these? Whose eyes are sparkling?

"It is those who will become Young Communist League members and who are now Young Pioneers.

"Pioneers don't waste a moment.

"Never, never be idle or sad.

"Every morning greet with the Pioneer salute.

"We are going to build our country, with the Pioneers marching joyously forward.

"We are going to help the adults to build a happy life in our country."

The anthem's "keep busy" theme cornerstones the whole youth-training program. Russia has little juvenile delinquency, although newspapers recently have been shrilling about "hooliganism," and one reason is that children simply have no time to misbehave.

A typical 13-year-old seventh-grader staggers under a six-day, 30-hour school load, spends a minimum of two hours a day twice weekly at the Pioneer Youth Palace and is assigned at least three hours' homework a night. His summer vacation lasts only from July 1 to September 1, though augmented by a week in winter and a week in spring.

His curriculum is stiff as well as busy. In Sokolnichesky District School No. 1 in Moscow, which PARADE visited, a seventh-grader studies history, constitutional U.S.S.R., mathematics, physics, biology, chemistry, Russian grammar, music, gymnastics. The school is one of a few offering a course in English; usually the second language, which begins in fifth grade, is French or German.

From third grade on, studies are heavily larded with Marxist doctrine. History emphasizes the class struggle and the Revolution, distorting the past to conform to the Soviet gospel. Biology teaches that there is no God. Constitutional U.S.S.R. gives the ABCs of Marxism. Each day at the school PARADE visited begins with childish voices quavering, "Long live the Soviet Union, created by the will of the people." From nearly every wall and every niche, busts and pictures of Lenin and Stalin stare down. Regularly, students crowd into the assembly hall to hear "pep talks" on Marxist dogma.

Even by American standards, educational facilities are good. While Muscovites huddle together because of the chronic housing shortage, schools are tagged for priority construction, and both city and country are studded with spacious new schools. While the con-

G-E Automatic Skillet with thermostat makes cooking easier, tastier

Only G.E. offers a choice of beautiful turquoise or polished cast aluminum. $19.95*

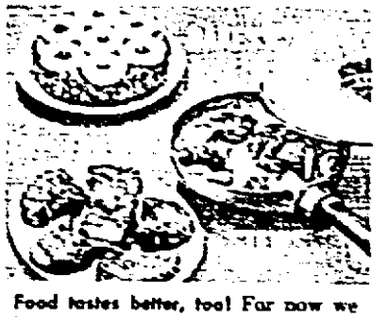

High-domed lid, $3.00* extra

*Manufacturer's recommended retail or fair trade price.

Here's a new idea in cooking—now you set the temperature when you fry and cook just as you do when you bake! Like a modern oven, the General Electric Automatic Skillet has a thermostat. You dial the heat, put the food in when the light signals, and after that the temperature never varies.

The secret to digestible fried foods: it is only when fat gets too hot—begins to smoke—that it becomes indigestible. The G-E Skillet prevents this.

Food tastes better, too! For now we know that—like cakes and roasts—every food has a "just-right" temperature. And the skillet not only fries, but makes stews, pot roasts, upside-down cakes, casseroles. (Use a standard 12" cover, or get G. E.'s.)

So convenient—cook at the table, keep food warm between servings. Just put the skillet on the table-cloth. General Electric Company, Small Appliance Division, Bridgeport 2, Conn.

Saves constant watching, because you can dial the correct temperature. Much easier than cooking on a stove burner where heat builds up and up unless you keep adjusting.

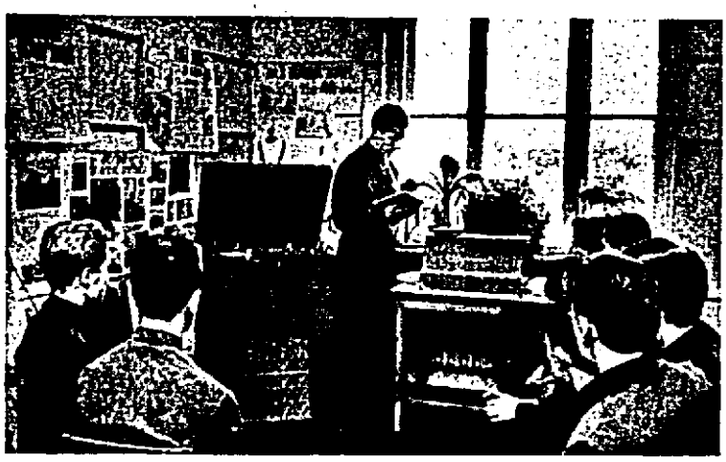

A cinch to wash—immerse it in water to the end of the temperature chart. Special finish keeps food from sticking, round shape makes it easier to clean. Visit your G-E dealer soon.

MARCHING MEN wheel through column-left in back yard of Moscow school. These boys, 10th-graders in "physical education" class, will enter military service at 18 unless qualified for a university or institute. School principal told PARADE, "Please tell Americans that we wish to continue in peace."

ENGLISH CLASS, under display of posters in English, listens to instructor read story. Class is equipped with records, microphones. Russian schools have fine technical equipment, particularly in chemistry and physics labs.

WILDLIFE EXHIBIT includes specimens raised by boys in their classes. Boys wear blue-black wool school uniform, which costs 300 rubles ($75). Girl students are required to wear dark wool skirts, wool stockings, heavy blouses.

Young Russia's recreation: study

HOPEFUL BALLERINAS whirl through practice session at Moscow's Bolshoi Theater School. Ballet, pride of Russia, requires nine years' intensive study, two-thirds of time spent on ballet. In final year, students are paid 200 rubles ($50) a month, but must attend ballet classes from 9 to 6 six days a week.

sumer market is short-changed on gadgets, school laboratories bristle with the latest in technical equipment. What American educators would call "teacher-pupil ratio" is good: Sokolnichesky School No. 1 has 617 pupils, 47 teachers and a principal.

Hard as he works in school, the Russian child gets only more of the same in his "recreation." At the Pioneer Youth Palace which PARADE visited at Rostov-on-Don, in the Ukraine, 12-year-olds spend their spare time studying physics, mathematics and Russian history in 15-student groups called sokols. The Rostov palace — formerly a four-story bank building — contains 36 rooms, supervises 2,500 members from 9 to 14 with a staff of 70 teachers and a million-ruble ($250,000) budget, and offers 112 sokols. Some are doggedly serious and others are laced with fun; members can choose sokols in dancing, model-airplane building or football (soccer) as well as heavier subjects.

In the "culture parks" and woodlands around Russian cities, you often come across Young Pioneers on picnics, feasting on the traditional roast potatoes and sausages, playing games and bouncing through folk dances. Pioneer Youth places strong emphasis on outdoor life and fitness. Many children spend one of their two vacation months at summer camps financed by the state.

PICNICKING PIONEERS sit down to meal of traditional roast potatoes, melons, in Rostov park. Supervisor is Young Communist League member, training for future leadership. Most pioneer leaders are women, work a three-hour day, draw a salary of 700 rubles ($175) a month.

TOTS AND TEENS dance at Pioneer picnic. Some youngsters like American jazz, but recently state cracked down on jam session at Moscow University.

Although the minimum program at the Rostov palace is only four hours, many youngsters spend much more time there. (Pioneer Youth is not compulsory — "but a child would be a social outcast if he didn't belong," a leader told PARADE.) The palace, open six days a week, is crowded each night until 7 o'clock — closing time. Partly this is because mothers as well as fathers are working (in one school PARADE talked to dozens of boys, found only one whose mother held no job), and there's no reason to go home after school; but largely it is simply more evidence of Russian youth's deep dedication to knowledge. PARADE asked one girl why she spent her spare hours poring over lessons after a busy day at school. "Because Lenin said, 'Study, study, and once more study,'" she answered gravely.

You run into that same deep vein of seriousness in children of all ages. PARADE asked one boy how he felt about coeducational classes, an innovation in 1954. "Of course, I like it better with girls in the class," he said, without cracking a smile. School Principal Nicholai Ignashi Yermichken told PARADE his school has no disciplinary problems and no corporal punishment. "There isn't much mis-

FALSE TEETH OFTEN HAVE A CERTAIN ODOR!

No Toothpaste Can Keep False Teeth as Naturally White and Odor-Free as Polident Does

● All too often, false teeth that haven't been properly cleaned give off a tell-tale odor known as Denture Breath.

Don't brush your dental plates. Don't use toothpaste or soap. Clean them the right way, the safe way, by soaking them in Polident.

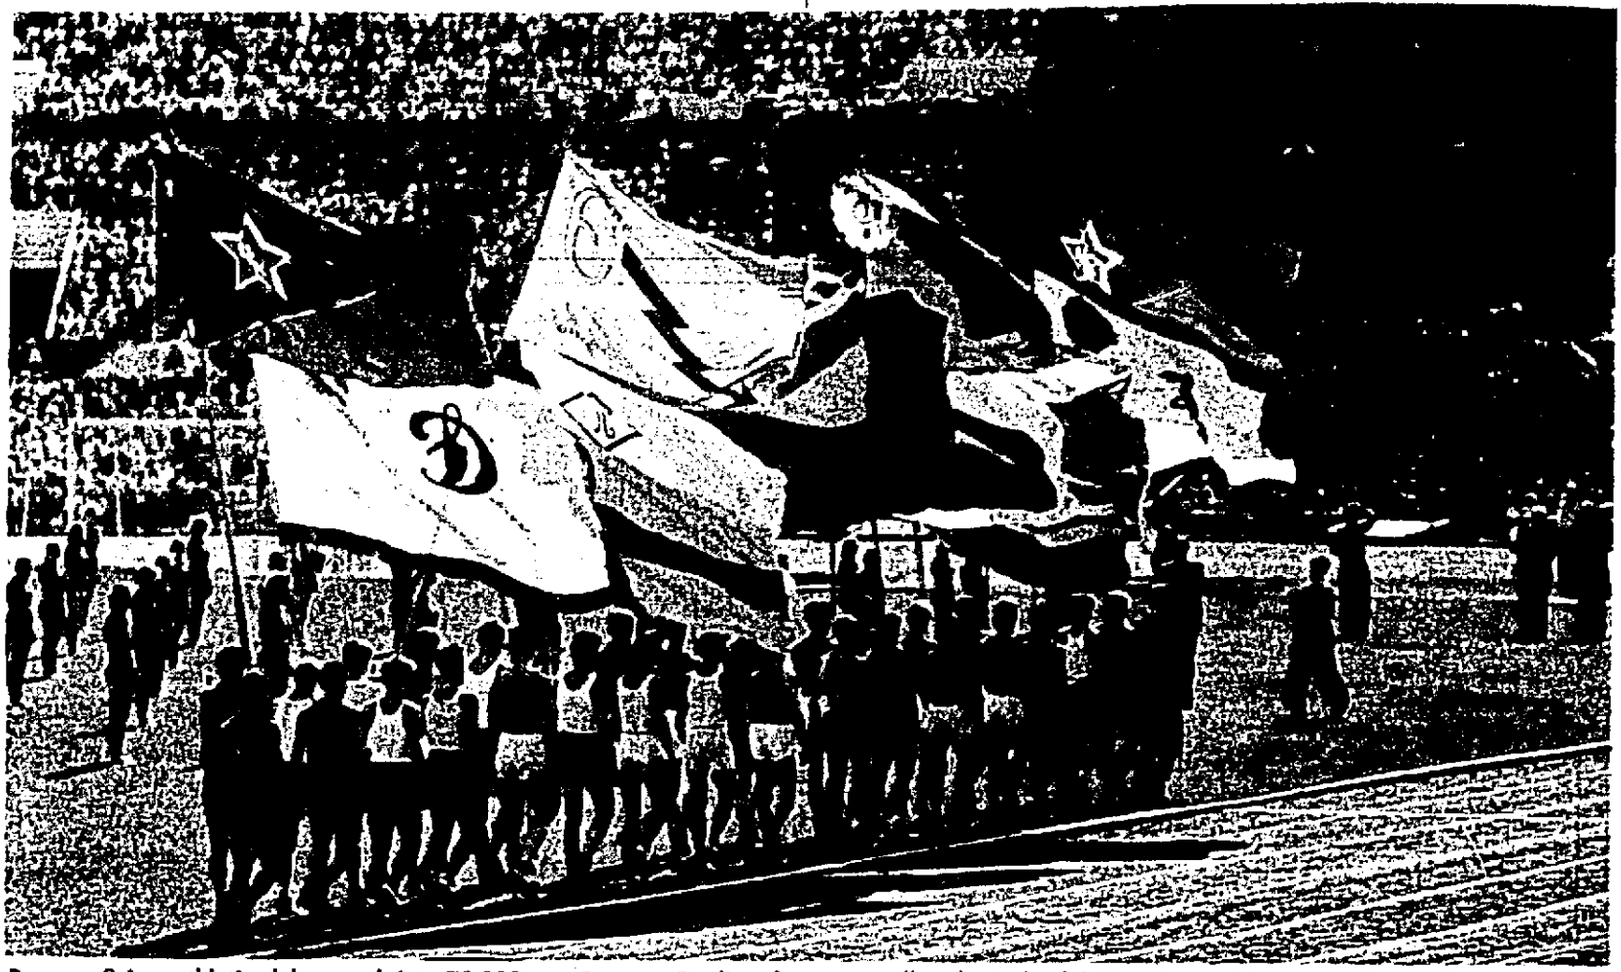

That way they'll stay naturally white and odor-free. No Denture Breath.

FREE TO CHOOSE, very young Russians roll hoops. These youngsters are almost old enough for Pioneers; once they join, spontaneous fun will give way to planned recreation.

How to prepare for life in a 'classless' state: compete

chief, and when there is, we just have a talk with the student and that's enough," he said. A visitor entering the classroom spurs the whole class to attention, and they remain standing, rigid, until greeted with the standard "Drasvootye" (Good day).

With the heavy role played by the child's foster-parent, the state, the family relationship is somewhat soft-pedaled. The family usually spends Sunday together; a typical amusement is a day in a "culture park," which is the Western city park under another name. Often the parents will take their children to a state agricultural exhibit or to one of the stadiums to watch a football game or a sports rally. Sports-minded Russia turns out in droves to watch calisthenics displays as well as football, and you can easily promote an argument by denying that the U.S.S.R. will win the 1956 Olympics.

The Soviet leaders would consider an Olympic victory the crowning jewel in their campaign for international glory, and a vast program to train athletes already is underway. Similarly, youngsters with ballet talent may be enrolled in a rugged nine-year training program aimed at maintaining Russia's acknowledged superiority in that field. In the 16 republics 11 ballet schools turn out about 30 or 40 dancers a year. The famous Bolshoi Theater School in Moscow, founded in 1773, has an enrollment of 309 students, roughly half girls and half boys; the applicants each year are many times that number. A student who is admitted must live in a youth hostel and study ballet six days a week.

What makes Ivan run at this hectic pace? Oddly, the keystone of preparation for the "classless society" is competition. The youth is goaded on by a merit system and the promise of medals for outstanding attainment. (So difficult are Pioneer Youth medals to win, for instance, that, in the history of the Rostov palace, only two have been awarded.)

But more than mere baubles are involved. When a child reaches 14, he is eligible for the Young Communist League; before he can be admitted, he must face a stiff weeding-out process. If he is not tapped for the League, he can still enter a university, a trade school, or, at age 18, military service (the Government, of course, chooses for him, when he is in eighth grade); but the top jobs are closed to him. And even League membership is no guarantee of the future. At 26, he becomes eligible for the Communist Party itself, but the party, whose membership is an exclusive 3 per cent of the population, wants only the very cream.

Youth and the Future

Nothing so simple as competition can explain the intricate complex that keeps Young Russia's eye on the ball. The whole atmosphere — school, recreation, family, the ever-present slogans and statues, the very pace of life — reeks with the determination that Russia and the Communist system will be pre-eminent in the world. Perhaps, as many experts believe, Russians will eventually tire of their wearying load and "go stale"; but right now you come away convinced that the old order of revolutionary peasants has passed, to be replaced by dedicated servants of a streamlined police state. ■

MOSCOW AT NIGHT

The capital now has a night club—its first

Despite the glowing photos on these pages, Moscow at night is probably the quietest major capital on earth. It has no "Gay White Way," no brightly lighted entertainment area such as you find in every U. S. city. The average Ivan and his wife can't afford to go out on the town.

The city's only night club, the Novui Yar (opened just last month), charges $15 for dinner with one drink. Result: It is patronized only by high military and government officials — and their teen-age children.

In a good restaurant (there are precious few), dinner runs about $12. Tickets to the Bolshoi theater and the opera are expensive, scarce and peddled by scalpers.

Sports events are restricted to the daylight hours.

That leaves only the movies (well-attended at $1 per ticket), walking in the streets and window-shopping (a favorite pastime), standing in a beer hall (there are no seats) or participating in an "intellectual study group" at someone's apartment. This last is dedicated to preaching the Communist party line.

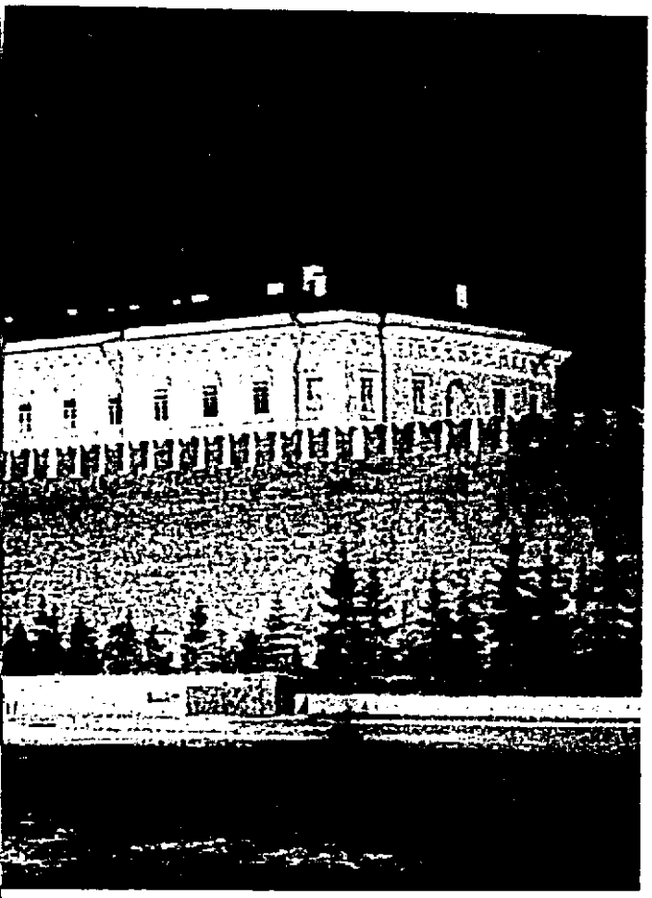

By contrast, country people on collective farms are organized into social clubs. They see Russian movies two or three times a week, hold dances, stage amateur plays.

But throughout the Soviet, playing chess or checkers still represents a "big night" for most citizens. ■

Most dramatic night view in town is the huge, fortress-like Kremlin. Lighted by red stars, main building is white, yellow concrete.

WINDOW SHOPPING at the big GUM department store (see p. 30) finds average Muscovites admiring things they can't afford. These are looking longingly at a display of shoes.

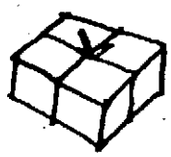

27-PIECE BAND plays Gershwin, Ellington and "Russian jazz" in the Novui Yor. There also is an inferior floor show. PARADE "sneaked" this shot after the bandsmen voted not to allow photos.

PREMIER Bulganin trades quips with correspondents. He is very camera-conscious, tries to present best profile.

CRONIES: Bulganin talks intimately with Marshal Zhukov, resplendent in a green uniform blossoming with medals.

IN CORNER, Bulganin and one of his hosts, a Finnish official, discuss recently signed Russo-Finnish treaty.

Six Soviet VIPs, moving as one, are snapped at Moscow's Central Airport by PARADE'S telephoto camera. (When the leaders appear in public, foreign newsmen must keep their distance.)

PARADE'S COLOR CAMERA IS THERE

WHEN THE LEADERS LOOSEN UP

On these pages are probably the most revealing color photos yet taken of Russia's top men. The lineup above, awaiting the arrival of the President of East Germany, includes six members of the supreme Soviet governmental body, the Presidium — l. to r., Foreign Minister Molotov, Suslov, Kaganovich, ex-Premier Malenkov, Saburov, Communist Party head Khrushchev. The other pictures catch some of these leaders, plus Premier Bulganin and war hero Marshal Zhukov, relaxing at a reception given by the Finnish Embassy in Moscow.

All the photos portray the official unbending which, since last spring, has set the tone for Russia's foreign relations. When Khrushchev, in his cups in Yugoslavia, welcomed foreign correspondents to Moscow; when he and Bulganin went home from the Geneva "summit" meeting talking about an end to the cold war, the world listened and marveled. Could it be true? Had a new, friendly Soviet sprung from the ashes of dictator Stalin's funeral pyre?

The answer is yet to come. But in recent months Moscow probably has played host to more delegations — from heads of state down to trade, cultural and a wide range of other missions — than in the previous 20 years. And the prevailing mood has been cordial, even effusive.

CATCHING ON belatedly to newsman's joke, Malenkov smiles sheepishly. While others at reception wore dark suits and white shirts, Malenkov was conspicuous in a blue shirt.

STORY: Khrushchev tries one out on Zhukov. Dour at first (top), Zhukov grins (center), then roars — with Khrushchev.

BETWEEN US . . .

Friendly hand on Khrushchev's shoulder, Bulganin exchanges some off-the-records remarks with the Communist Boss of Russia.

With "Open Door" policy in full swing, Russians expect to greet 40,000 visitors by end of 1955

The reception PARADE attended, though proffered by the Finns, was dominated by the two top Reds: Khrushchev and Bulganin. The Premier joshed correspondents about their waistlines and joked about his own widely headlined "ill health."

One correspondent asked about extending his visa, due to expire that evening. When someone pointed out that this would make the correspondent a criminal, Bulganin patted the latter on the cheek and cooed: "Yes, he does have a suspicious face."

Khrushchev, though drinking less than on some other occasions, also made jokes, chatted and gave every evidence of enjoying himself. His attitude further implied, "Come on, everybody — have a good time."

This invitation runs like a Red thread through the pattern of current Soviet dealings. No one in Moscow has forgotten the visit of India's Prime Minister Nehru, last June, when the glitter of official red carpet was outshone only by the massed colors of the flowers held by Muscovites lining the route of Nehru's party.

Later VIP visitors came from both sides of the Iron Curtain. From inside: Red Indochina's Ho Chi Minh, East Germany's Premier Grotewohl. From outside: West Germany's Chancellor Adenauer, Finland's President and Premier, U. S. Supreme Court Justice Douglas and a clutch of Congressmen, Canada's Foreign Minister Pearson, Burma's Premier U Nu, Norway's Premier Gerhardsen. Official representatives of foreign governments usually left with at least a gesture of Soviet good will (for example, the promise to return a long-held Finnish fortress).

Currently the missions to Moscow are continuing. Expected soon are Egypt's Premier Nasser, Saudi Arabia's King Saud, Sweden's Prime Minister Erlander, Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito and others.

Add to this stream of top-level callers a flood of lower-bracket delegations — farmers, journalists, trade unionists, scientists, cultural experts, sports teams and others. (In many cases, Russian hospitality extends to picking up the tab for a whole party's entire guided tour.) Add also the individual visitors like Sonja Henie, who recently tried to arrange an ice show in Moscow. The total is more than 40,000 foreigners expected by the end of this year.

Meanwhile, Soviet groups have been traveling the other way (though in smaller numbers). Besides an Asiatic junket for Khrushchev and Bulganin, the latter has said he will visit both London and Cairo. Other top Reds may turn up elsewhere. The "Open Door" is at least ajar.

At the moment, the extended Red hand does not seem to hold a dagger. Russia genuinely needs outside help to overcome its weaknesses in agriculture, industry, housing, transportation — and it needs time to strengthen the base of Communism at home and in the satellites.

Today's good-humored Red leaders have lulled the mistrust and suspicion Stalin created. They are winning Russia time — and, in some areas, friends. ■ always "rev" the motor of a used car?

BOUQUETS in hand, Russian trade-unionists greet a British trade-union delegation at Tiflis, Georgia, airport. Britons visited two weeks, with all expenses paid by Soviets.

Most prospective buyers seem to enjoy "revving up" the motor of a used car that has caught their fancy. Perhaps the reason is that as they accelerate to a high pitch, their confidence in the car goes up too.

But just sheer volume of power can't produce half the assurance you get when the used car you buy is backed by our reputation as a Chevrolet dealer offering warranted satisfaction.

Because, what you really want to know is, does the dealer stand behind the car you buy? We do, with a written warranty on all our OK Used Cars. The car that bears the red OK tag has been thoroughly inspected; reconditioned for safety, value and performance. Its price is likely to be lower because we want to maintain a fast turnover to make room for more trade-ins on brand-new Chevrolets. EDITORS of Krokodil, headed by Acting Editor Ivan Kostjukov (r.), judge cartoons. Sculptured crocodile, magazine's symbol, is famed character in Slavic children's books.

Jokes with a Purpose

Soviet cartoon humor is largely social satire

In a socialistic society, even humor serves the state. Most of what the Russians consider funny is so closely bound up with Communist life and doctrine that it seems a good deal less than side-splitting to an outsider.

For years, poking fun at the social system was strictly prohibited. Later it was decided that a certain amount of it might provide a good safety valve. Today, as a result, digs are constantly being given the various ministries, the school system, the farm and industrial programs, neglectful building superintendents, lazy and inefficient farmers and anonymous minor party officials. About the only "sacred cows," safe from the lampooners' barbs, are the top Government leaders.

The leading exponent of wit and whimsey in the Soviet Union is the 34-year-old comic magazine Krokodil. Published monthly by a staff of 30 at the Moscow headquarters of Tass (the Russian news agency), Krokodil is a handsomely printed, 16-page publication containing numerous four-color cartoons and humorous essays. It sells for the equivalent of 30c, has a current circulation of about 600,000.

Until last summer, Krokodil continually lambasted the West and its leaders. Since the Geneva Conference, it has been hewing closely to the new party line of international conciliation. On this and the facing page are cartoons from recent issues, to give you an idea of the sort of thing that makes Russians laugh. ■

GIBING at backward students, cartoon shows overgrown dullard alibiing to his teacher, "Excuse me, but you're much too young to teach me."

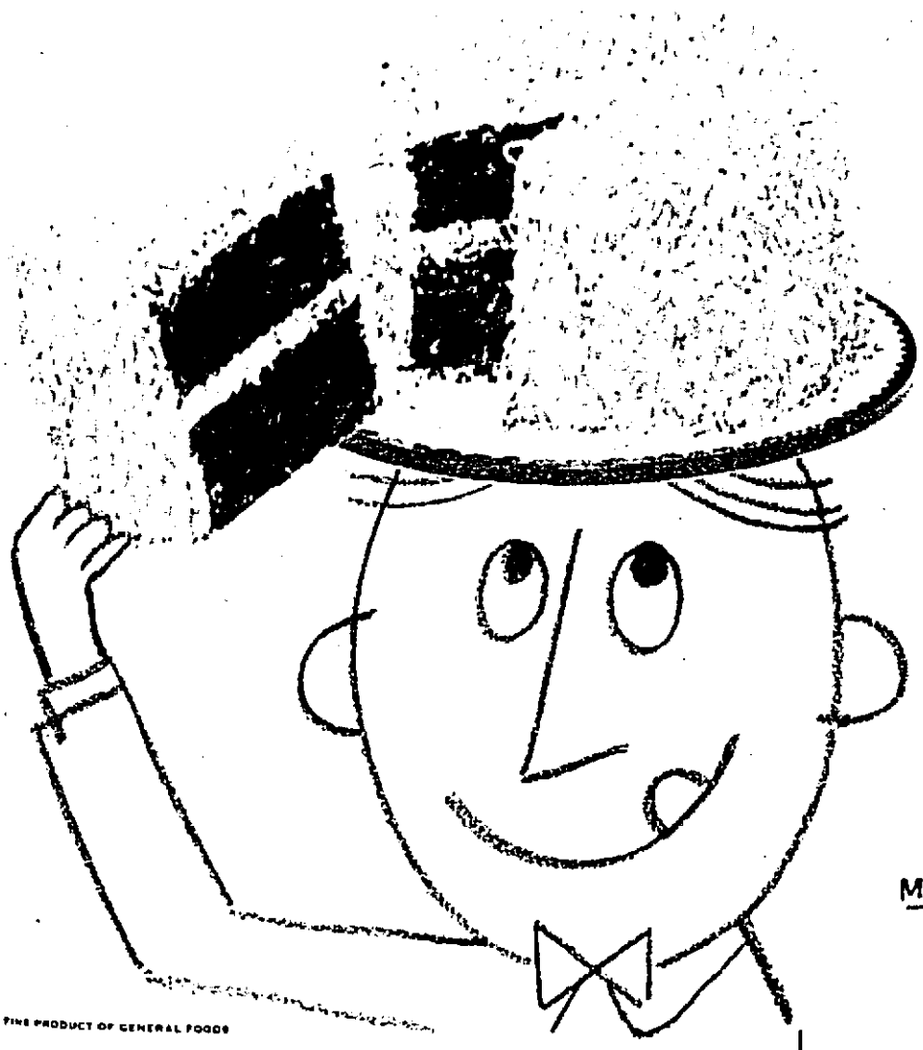

FARM profiteering is lampooned in drawing of fat farmer "weighing" skinny farrow. Caption: "Here's how some farmers fatten up their pigs."

INDICATIVE of Krokodil's new slant since the Geneva Conference, road roller labeled "International Cooperation" crushes "Cold War," "Sanctions" and "Mutual Mistrust" on the road to "Peaceful Coexistence of Nations."

SATIRIZING failure of Ministry of Fisheries to meet quotas set for catches (note graph on wall, left), crocodile is shown being entertained at the bureau. His embarrassed host apologetically explains, "Begging your pardon, Comrade Krokodil, we can offer you everything but fish."

A FINE PRODUCT OF GENERAL FOODS

At home with a Mother-Heroine:

THE GORUSHKINS pose in their living room for a PARADE portrait. Two of the children — both boys — were missing; they had to attend college classes. The medals on Mrs. Gorushkin's chest are for her prolific production of babies; her husband got his, the Red Star Order, for wartime factory efficiency.

COOKING her husband's supper, Mrs. Gorushkin works at a four-jet gas burner in her 9'-x-9' kitchen. Most Russian foods, PARADE found, are fried, tend to be very greasy.

HOW RUSSIA LIVES

Everything still costs a lot and is hard to get

SHOPPERS survey food on sale at the Kiev central food market. Collective farmers bring their produce here, get top prices in a supply-and-demand market. It's the only free-enterprise market in the U.S.S.R.

THE SOMBER, keen-eyed women pictured below are shopping in the Russian version of a supermarket. What they buy, they pay for in cash, for there's no buying on the cuff in the Soviet Union.

The official reason for the clamp on credit is to check inflation. More likely, though, the Russians couldn't whip out enough TV sets, washing machines and refrigerators to meet the demand if installment buying were allowed (since their factories have long been geared to turn out heavy machinery and war goods).

Right now all luxury items still are far beyond the reach of the average Russian pocketbook. The average factory worker earns between 700 and 800 rubles a month (the ruble is four to a dollar officially, but actually worth much less). To buy luxury goods, here are typical prices he'd have to pay and the amount of time he'd have to work to earn the money:

- 800 rubles (one month) for a table radio.
- 2,240 rubles (three months) for a washing machine.
- 9,000 rubles (13 months) for a four-passenger car.

Even the necessities of life — food and clothing — carry sky-high price tags. The average Russian has to work three months to pay for a woman's cloth coat, a day and a half for a white shirt, two days for a pair of pajamas, almost a week for a dress and one to two months for a man's suit. Food is even higher. Most Russians spend six of every 10 rubles they earn on food. A pound of beef, for example, costs the equivalent of $3.50, a pound of butter $3, a quart of milk 70 cents.

And the Russian shopper must stand in line to pay those prices. Everywhere PARADE went there were long queues of waiting people. "You've got to queue up for nearly everything you buy," people admitted. As a result, women spend two to three hours a day — every day — shopping.

For some women, though, life in the U.S.S.R. can be beautiful. There is Anastasia Gorushkin (above), for instance, a Moscow matron of 48 who has achieved fame, some glory and a great many rubles by giving birth to 10 children. To a baby-booming government, Anastasia is a "Mother-Heroine." With the title she has received a string of medals, a "big" four-room apartment for her brood and her husband, plus cash rewards that so far total 42,000 rubles.

PARADE spent an evening with Ivan and Mrs. Gorushkin and their 10 children, who range in age from 7 to 29. Their apartment had been painted just a few days before — probably no coincidence, since the Government had arranged the visit. Nevertheless, the rooms were dull and uninteresting, with tasteless wallpaper, cheap linoleum, rickety furniture, bare electric bulbs. Sleeping arrangements taxed every room (including hallways) except the tiny kitchen and bath (which the Gorushkins, unlike most Moscow apartment dwellers, do not have to share with their neighbors).

EATING the meal — fried onions, potatoes, sausages, pancakes, salad, jam, honey, brown and white bread — Ivan digs in, at first self-consciously, later with relish. In bottle is a watery beer.

The Gorushkins' life is far more pleasant than that of most Russians. As a skilled machinist, Ivan, 56, earns 1,900 rubles a month (after about three weeks' pay a year has been deducted for Government bonds that won't be redeemable for 20 years). His oldest son (a student in the evening) contributes 1,000 rubles a month. Out of this 2,900-ruble kitty, Mrs. Gorushkin spends about 2,700 to feed her large family, uses the remainder—plus her cash awards — for clothes and rent (which is only 50 rubles a month).

That leaves little money for entertaining themselves, but the Government provides for Mother-Heroine Gorushkin. Each year she receives a three-week vacation, with all expenses paid by the Government. Her husband gets a four-week vacation with pay from his job, but they must take separate vacations because of the children.

It would seem that the life of the Gorushkins — plush by Soviet standards — would inspire other families to produce more children. The average city couple, however, has only two children; those in the country only three. Probable reason: They can't afford any more. Continued on page 28

TWO RUSSIAN DISHES ANY U. S. HOUSEWIFE CAN MAKE

PARADE liked these dishes in Russia, brought back the recipes. Both have been prepared — and enjoyed — in PARADE'S test kitchen.

Caucasian Shashlik

2 lbs. boned lamb shoulder
2 lemons, juice
½ cup finely chopped parsley
1 teaspoon dried dill
1 garlic clove, slashed
Salt and pepper

Cut lamb in 1½-inch cubes; put in deep bowl. Combine remaining ingredients; pour over lamb. Chill several hours. Drain lamb. Run skewers through the lamb cubes and cook over charcoal or under broiler, turning often to cook evenly, about 20 minutes, or to desired degree of "doneness." Makes four servings.

Russian Kasha

1 cup coarse brown buckwheat groats (Kasha)
½ teaspoon salt
2 eggs
1 cup chopped onion
3 tablespoons fat or oil
3 cups boiling water

Combine first three ingredients; let stand at room temperature. Cook onion in fat or salad oil until golden brown. Add buckwheat mixture; mix well. Stir in boiling water; cover tightly. Cook over moderate heat 15 minutes or until all moisture is absorbed. Makes four servings.

RENTS ARE LOW, BUT APARTMENTS SCARCE

In cities the overcrowding is dreadful. But in rural areas there's something new: home owners

If you're a Russian citizen lucky enough to live in the rare apartment house with an elevator, you ride up. But, to save electricity, you walk down.

More likely, though, there is no elevator. You and your family are squeezed together in the single room of a walk-up apartment house, sharing a dingy kitchen and bathroom with four, five or even more families. Some of these houses are fairly new. Others, in slum areas, are so old they've been condemned, but the tenants must stay: there's no place to go.

In the suburbs and rural areas, the picture is brighter. Some families live in their own homes, which they rent from the state. Nearly all are one-story, stucco affairs with two or three rooms. They're usually heated by a pot-bellied stove, have the toilet outside the house and lack running water.

A few families in Russia today own their homes — but a string is attached. For example, there are bungalow-size houses in the country called dachas, which can be purchased for the U. S. equivalent of $5,000 to $7,000. And in Rostov, PARADE found a small community whose residents had bought their small houses for $1,250 to $2,000 — depending on whether they built the houses themselves or bought them ready-made.

But here's the string: the state owns the land on which the houses are built. The owners pay rent on the land — which can be taken from them at any time.

Currently, lack of housing in the major cities is one of the Government's biggest headaches. Families, after being assigned to apartments by the city Housing Trust or the factory where they work, can't move without permission. Nearly every apartment is bulging with people. Families are often ordered to take in complete strangers; as many as four or five may eat and sleep in one room.

There's a happy note, though. The rent is low — usually 5 per cent of a worker's income. As a result, most tenants of three-room flats pay only 40 or 45 rubles a month (about $10); those with five-room apartments pay as little as 70 rubles (about $17). Rent for homes is just as low.

The scarcity of apartments traces to the '20s and '30s. It was made infinitely worse by World War II, which flattened from 75 to 95 per cent of the buildings in Kiev, Stalingrad, Rostov and scores of other cities and eliminated many villages entirely. At war's end a steel-willed Stalin ruled that Russia's factories must be rebuilt first; so machines moved into new plants while people doubled up.

Today the Soviets are grinding out new apartment houses at a furious rate to make up for those lost years. In their haste, some of the houses have been sloppily built. Recently a Russian delegation came to the U. S. to learn U. S. mass-construction methods.

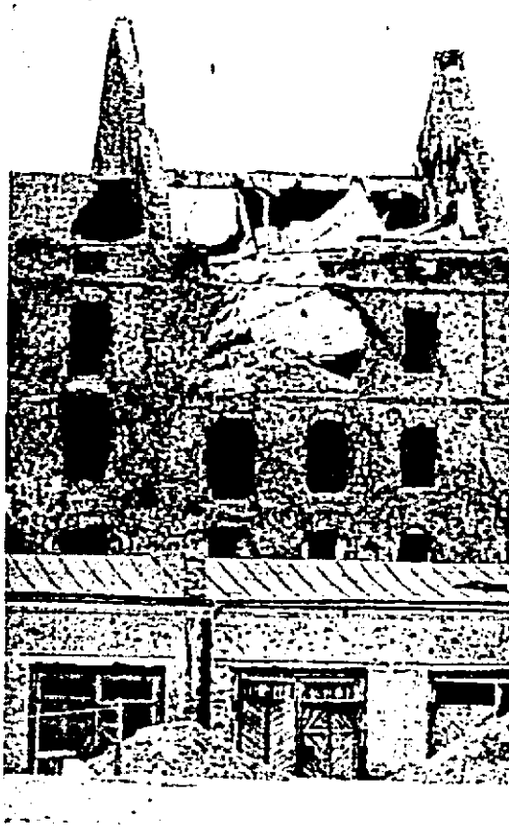

Big Shots Do Better

Some city families, however, have no housing problem. They're the privileged few in Russia's "classless" society: party bigwigs, top writers and actors, skilled workers who regularly top their production quotas. One such worker is Alexei Trokhov (right), a 30-year-old repair worker at the Sherbokoo silk factory in east Moscow. Quota-topping Alexei lives in a comfortable three-room apartment which he shares with only his wife, son and sister.

Alexei's factory owns the lease to his building and assigns its workers to apartments. So long as he continues to beat his quota — it's always being pushed up — Alexei keeps the three rooms for himself. He works eight hours a day, six days a week, averages 1,900 rubles a month ($475). Out of this he pays 50 rubles ($12.50) for rent, phone and electricity.

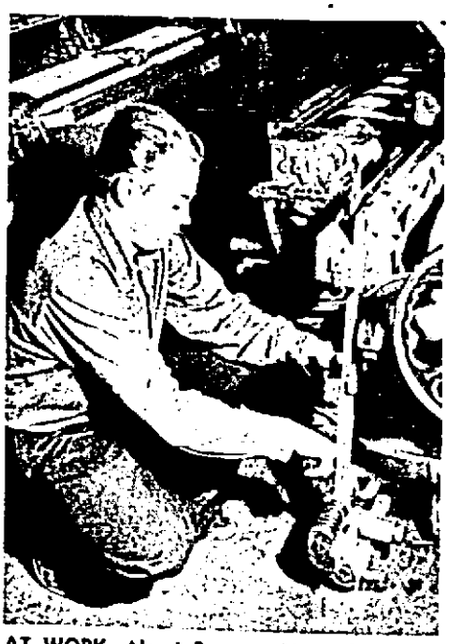

Like all Russians, Alexei is a piece worker; his pay is based on the number of machines he repairs. When he's sick, he gets his average pay. He can't quit; he can be fired. In that case he easily could get another job—but he'd lose his choice apartment. And in today's Russia that would be a catastrophe. ■

HOW RUSSIA LIVES

MORE GOODS —AT A PRICE

This is Russia today: Food and clothing are sky-high, there's not enough housing in the cities, "luxuries" are as scarce as hen's teeth. Yet, for the man in the street, life in 1955 is a little better than it used to be.

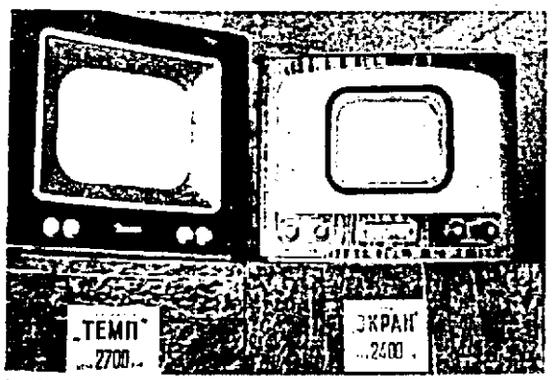

Today he has enough food, though his wife must scurry frantically from store to store to get a day's supply. He can buy overcoats, suits and shoes (almost nonexistent a few years ago), though he usually must wait in line and pay exorbitantly for them. And he can go to the stores — all owned by the state — to gape at "luxuries."

But service in bakeries, drugstores, clothing shops, food markets and so on still is exasperating. (Lacking competition, employes don't care whether you buy or not.) Stocks, moreover, are none too varied. Big exception: Moscow's GUM (state universal store) which sells nearly every consumer item made in the U.S.S.R. Open six days a week, GUM (where the pictures on these pages were taken) gets up to 150,000 visitors a day.

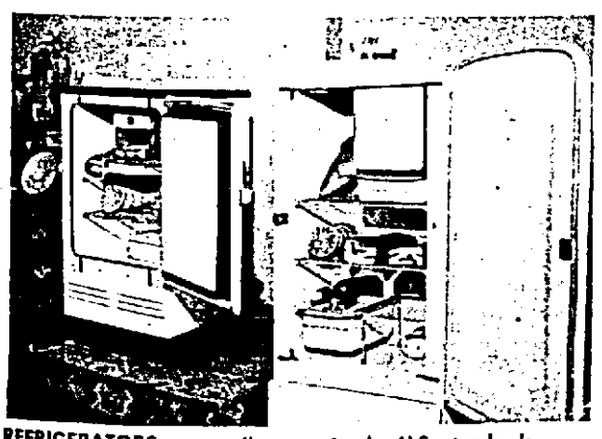

GUM, and the state department stores in other large cities, now have more to sell because the Kremlin has recently stepped up the production of consumer goods. Nevertheless, PARADE found that no one in Russia today — except for the top few — lives as well as the average American skilled workman. ■

FASHION-SHOW audience avidly eyes a model's skirt and blouse. The store prefers to sell just the pattern for an outfit—letting the customer have it made by a dressmaker. GUM takes clothes orders, but delivery requires a month.

TV SCREENS run no larger than 17" model at left; it's the most popular. Signs give prices in rubles ($675 and $600). Only three cities—Moscow, Kiev, Kharkov—have TV, mostly showing newsreels and movies (but some are new ones).

REFRIGERATORS are small, expensive by U.S. standards. Small one above costs $375, larger one $500. Inside are food dummies for display purposes. Most kitchen equipment, PARADE found, compares to ours of the late '30s, early '40s.

AT ALTAR of 11th-century Greek Orthodox Church near Tiflis, priest holds 250-year-old illuminated Bible in Georgian script. A peasant, he taught himself at home for priesthood.

As a closeup shows, most of Baptist congregation are old people. Baptists claim

PACKED in auditorium, some 2,000 worshipers listen to Pastor Yakob Gitkov's sermon in Moscow's Baptist Church. Congregation is 75 per cent women. Few children attend church services.

The churches are open, but...

There is a new policy on religion in Russia: to let it 'die on the vine'

After four decades of trying to stamp out organized religion (with a World War II respite when churchgoers were encouraged to pray for victory), Russia's Red rulers have evolved a new strategy. In place of the classic advice — "If you can't lick 'em, join 'em" — they now are following the cynical line, "Isolate 'em."

This means that some churches currently are open in the Soviet Union. Priests, ministers and rabbis are allowed to preach the word of God. The faithful are free to come, listen and believe. But all this goes on in a virtual vacuum — for the state is effectively strangling the churches' lifeblood: the young people.

Religious instruction for the young is banned. Instead, boys and girls are fed the atheistic doctrines of Marx and Lenin via every available channel. The obvious assumption is that, within another generation, no one in the U.S.S.R. will believe in God or need religion. So let today's older generation enjoy its faith while it lives. After that, who will care?

Some recent observers have left Russia with other conclusions. Church-state relations are improving, they say. A "religious revival" is going on. Such views, PARADE believes, stem from a misinterpretation of the visible evidence.

In Moscow, for example, there now are 55 Greek Orthodox churches open (this is the "official" Russian church), plus one Catholic, one Protestant and three synagogues. All are well attended and membership is large (about 2,000 in the Catholic church, St. Louis; about 4,000 in the Baptist, which serves all the capital's Protestants; about 4,000 for the synagogues).

But these figures do not take into account the fact that Moscow's 60 churches serve a city of 7,000,000-plus — compared to 400 churches back when the population was only 2 million. Many of the missing 340 have been converted into museums glorifying the Soviet "faith." A few have become living quarters. Some are simply in ruins.

Further, the make-up of today's sparse congregations reveals the true nature of the Government's policy. As shown on these pages, it is almost entirely older people, and those mostly women. Those who attend Moscow's Baptist church, as Pastor Yakob Gitkov himself admits, are largely intellectuals, civil servants and pensioners (men and women of 55 and up).

True, some children appear in Soviet churches. Almost invariably they come with grandparents, left in charge of them while parents work. This also explains the recent comment on the number of child baptisms—"surprisingly large"—and the report that more than half the children in the Orthodox Church are believed to be baptized. Parents who accept the state's antireligious line (through conviction or fear) need not be concerned over what the grandparents do: they know that the children soon enough will be swallowed up by organized Soviet materialism.

Church still hopes to save religion

If the nature of their congregations is striking, so is that of the churches themselves. Few have had more than the most nominal repairs in many years (though the Government, for nationalistic reasons, has had certain historic cathedrals touched up from time to time). The state rations paper and printing for church literature, including Bibles. The Protestants do manage to get out a small magazine six times a year. It is not widely read.

Within his pulpit, the pastor still is master. So long as he confines himself to spiritual topics, he is let alone. But that is about as far as it goes.

Religion, Lenin once announced, is the opiate of the people. Communist boss Khrushchev recently added: "We remain atheist and we do everything we can to liberate a certain part of the people from the opium attraction of religion which still exists."

Against this official vow of enmity, the churches of Russia can offer little but the hope Pastor Gitkov voices. "God," he says, "will send us more new members." ■

Adds Important Food Essentials to Diet

You know what milk is. It is generally considered nature's most nearly perfect food.

But do you know about bran . . . All-Bran? If you're interested in a natural aid to regularity and fitness, you'll be interested in these facts.

W. K. Kellogg pioneered Kellogg's All-Bran almost 40 years ago. He set out to make it three great cereals in one: 1) a good-to-eat cereal; 2) a cereal which in combination with milk would provide very solid nutritional benefits; and 3) a natural remedy for one of mankind's most common ailments, constipation due to insufficient bulk.

This he achieved. For Kellogg's All-Bran, the original whole bran cereal, has become the most widely accepted and used of all bran cereals. It has literally helped millions.

Now as to Kellogg's All-Bran itself and why it is such a great food—the answer is simple. All-Bran is made from the vitamin and mineral rich outer layers of the whole wheat grain. And not only does All-Bran supply vitamins, minerals and protein—it is scientifically milled to bring you the natural food bulk you need in its most effective and appetizing form. All-Bran stays crisp in milk and is easy to eat.

Yes, All-Bran does things no drug-type laxative can even begin to accomplish—it actually improves your "Intestinal Tone" which may be below par due to insufficient bulk.

And Kellogg's All-Bran, served with milk, contributes nine body-builders you need daily for fitness.

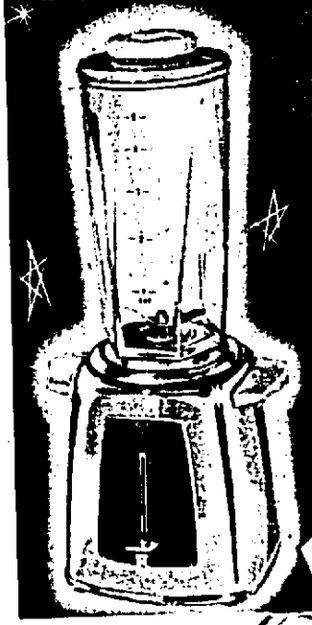

So why not get the safe, gentle, natural laxative cereal you know you can depend on. Kellogg's All-Bran, the original. Eat a half cup of Kellogg's All-Bran every morning for 10 days. If it doesn't bring you satisfying, effective relief from constipation, you get double your money back. That's a promise from Kellogg's of Battle Creek, Mich.

News for folks who eat their All-Bran at restaurants—new foil-wrapped package makes sure your All-Bran is extra fresh.

Contrast on WHEELS

The photo above, taken just off 8-to-12-lane Gorky Boulevard in Moscow, shows that drivers there obey the sign "STOP" (English word, Russian characters). It does not show the pace of Moscow traffic, where every driver blows his own horn and pedestrians are fair game. But it points up the contrast between the capital's mechanized transport (including buses, taxis, trucks, subways) and the simpler kind (right) still prevalent in most of the Soviet Union.

Even in Moscow, cars are comparatively few. They cost too much (a worker's annual pay for the low-priced Moskvich), gas is $1 a gallon and there's really no place to drive (Russia has 50,000 miles of surfaced roads; the U. S., more than 2,000,000). So most autos are state-owned and assigned to officials, who prefer the expensive, prewar-Packard-type Zis. The few American cars, owned by foreign embassies, attract curious crowds almost everywhere. So do bright socks, a Polaroid camera or a stick of chewing gum. ■

Stop sign lines up low-priced Moskvich (top); medium Pobeda (center); disabled vet's boxed-in motorcycle. Main Moscow streets include "express lane" for big shots in a hurry.

BELOW: CARTS NEAR ODESSA

Rural traffic retains horse-and-buggy flavor. One collective farm has four cars, six motorcycles for 1,618 people; for farm work, six tractors, two combines — and 192 horses.

Never sick enough to stay in bed yet never really well. The GRAY SICKNESS keeps millions pale, tired and weak . . . never able to enjoy life to the full!

*IRON deficiency anemia has been aptly called the GRAY SICKNESS. Not only because its victims have lost their once healthy color, but also because life itself has become gray and drab for them. For you simply can't enjoy work or play when you have to drag through day after weary day feeling tired, weak and listless. And sleep doesn't seem to refresh you for you wake up tired.

The GRAY SICKNESS means your blood isn't getting enough iron. It becomes weak, thin, washed-out . . . just can't supply your body with the full supply of oxygen it needs for buoyant health and radiant color. Signs of the GRAY SICKNESS may be due to other causes so you should see your doctor regularly.

REBUILD STRENGTH FAST

Fortunately the GRAY SICKNESS responds quickly to proper treatment . . . and normal healthy color, strength and vigor return. In cases like this doctors usually prescribe an iron tonic containing many times your daily iron requirement. Each therapeutic dose, 6 tablets daily, of IRONIZED YEAST, contains 10 times your daily iron need . . . and this iron is fortified with vitamin B_{12}. Now this iron goes right to work . . . within 24 hours . . . to start building rich red blood . . . the kind of blood that soon brings back your normal strength and energy . . . fills you with your old-time pep . . . brings healthy color back to your cheeks again.

FEEL STRONGER IN 7 DAYS

Actually in just one week you'll start to feel your old self. You'll begin to enjoy doing a normal day's work again. So get IRONIZED YEAST tablets today. They are very economical to use even when taken in maximum dosage of 6 tablets daily. Just be sure you get genuine IRONIZED YEAST.

TYPICAL LETTER-(l.) shows these pupils are grasping unfamiliar English script as well as vocabulary. Above is the writer, George Kosmiady, struggling with composition.

Soviet Pen Pals?

Pupils write letters, hope for U. S. answers

"Please write me a few words on how you live. What do you study? What books do you read? What games do you play? What films have you seen? Please, answer me . . ."

These simple phrases, written in labored English, occur and recur in 21 letters PARADE brought back from Moscow's Sokolnichesky School No. 1 (see p. 10). The idea of writing them sprang from the obvious interest of the pupils — 19 boys and two girls, aged 12 and 13 — in everything American, particularly Americans their own age.

The next step is up to U. S. youngsters (and their parents). If you would like to answer a Soviet child, here's how.

Pick a name from this list (the first two are the girls): Irin Tarasenko, Tanya Tsvetaeva; Igor Agabecov, Valery Frolov, Vladimir Gureev, Yra Gusev, Nick Ivanov, Vitaley Ivanov, Alec Kopijilov, Nickoly Korchagin, George Kosmiady, Ury Kusmich, Alexander Lookashev, Vladimir Malcov, Leva Nickolaev, Nick Oscolkov, Alexander Ponomarev, Dima Pankratov, Oleg Punkrutov, Oleg Skramtaiev, Belza Svyatoslav.

The address is: Class 7-A, School No. 1, 4th Sokolnichesky Street, Moscow B-14, U.S.S.R.

Postage, regular mail: 8c first ounce, 4c each extra ounce (takes about three weeks); airmail: 15c each half-ounce (takes about three days).

PARADE hopes to hear from readers who try this novel experiment.

BLONDE Tanya Tsvetaeva asks two questions of any youngster who may answer: "Do you like books?" and "What marks [grades] have you?"

DARK-HAIRED Oleg Skramtaiev inquires: "Where do you live?" "How many pupils are in your class?" and "What books do you like to read?"

Bellflower Today: This is the thriving business district of Bellflower, one of the Southland's fastest growing, most promising cities.

CITIES OF THE SOUTHLAND

Wide Streets and Wooden Shoes

By Clarence Bernard Propes

PERHAPS it is because Bellflower, although a city and an entity, has never been incorporated. Perhaps it is because of its geographical position between the two largest cities of Southern Califor ia. Or perhaps it has to do with the time of its settlement, approximately 1906, in the leisurely turn-of-the-century era. It may be for any of these reasons, or for one less easily analyzed, but whatever the cause, Bellflower, along with all its modernity, has kept much of the feeling, the flavor, the leisurely charm of early Southern California.

From a dusty, country crossroads stop on the newly laid Pacific Electric line to Santa Ana in 1901, Bellflower has grown to a lusty business center of southeast Los Angeles County.

THE ORIGINAL townsite was laid out for acre "small-farm" homes. This has left its mark even today as it allowed for spacious growth, giving the community a well-balanced and mellow residential area.

Perhaps the feeling of mellowness comes from nothing more definite than coming around a corner and glimpsing a Monterey type house or dusty eucalyptus silhouetted against a hill. Suddenly, early Southern California is there.

New homes are rising rapidly and there are few large vacant areas remaining, but many of the older homes are on one or two-acre lots filled with fruit trees and gardens. These streets are tree-shaded and the grass in all the yards is green. It is a town easy to live in.

"THERE'S A STRONG community spirit here," said Dale Clanton of the Chamber of Commerce. "The people think of the good of the community as a whole rather than their own particular section of the city."

There is civic pride in Bellflower, but the community remains unincorporated. Two years ago the citizens voted on the question and rejected incorporation by a thumping majority of two to one. They know they have a handsome, smiling city. They are afraid of what a city government might bring.

Remaining a county area has certain disadvantages. Bellflower residents are dependent on county services, which are often painfully slow. The county has erected a handsome group of offices to speed its services but many believe that that can never be quite as satisfactory as city offices.

Policing by the sheriff's office is efficient. The crime rate, both for adults and juveniles, is remarkably low.

Bellflower has all the county's fire trucks protecting it, for the county firemen, like all smoke eaters, are dedicated to getting to fires and getting them out as fast as science will let them.

Capt. Kenneth Green of the Bellflower Fire Station said: "When we answer a fire we send out three pumpers, a ladder truck, a rescue unit, and there's always a battalion chief on hand. We get there fast."

Bellflower's unincorporated status has led to the loss of a sizeable piece of the city. The residents of the Mayfair district voted to join Lakewood. This reduced Bellflower from 60,000 to 51,000 and caused murmurs of politics.

"They may be on the Lakewood City map," said one businessman, "but those people still feel like they belong in Bellflower. If anything like that happens again I bet we'll incorporate like a shot."

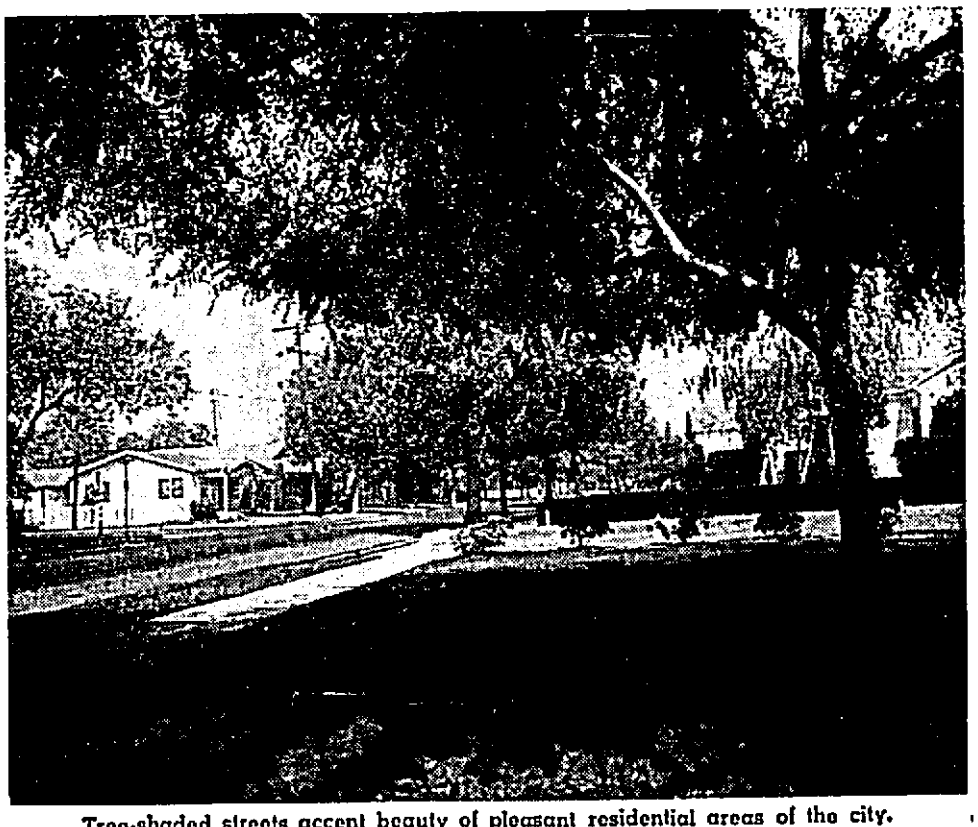

According to Joe D. Williams, printer and Bellflower historian, the city got its start in 1906 when a 1,000-acre tract was pur-

Bellflower Yesterday: Horse-drawn and horseless vehicles mingled as the residents of Bellflower gathered to celebrate Independence Day in 1915.

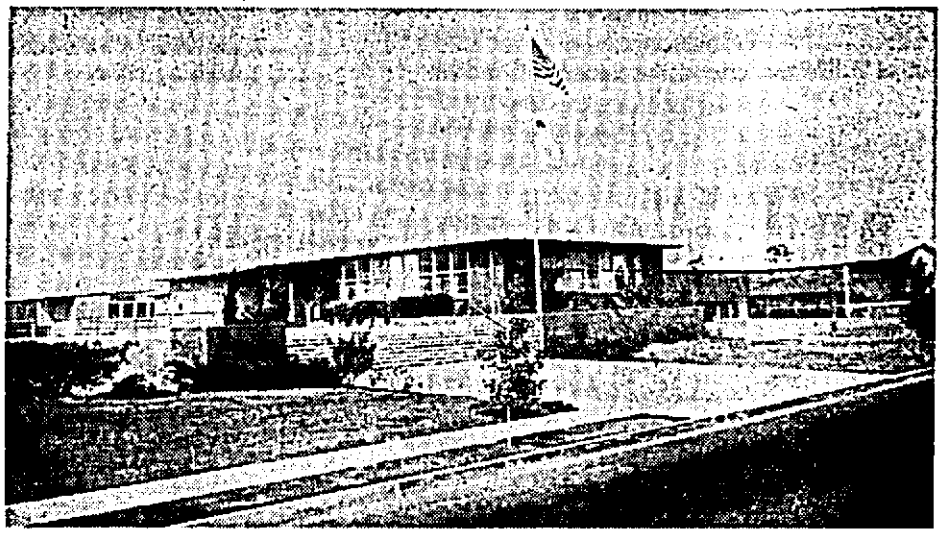

Tree-shaded streets accent beauty of pleasant residential areas of the city. Bellflower is not incorporated but a strong community spirit prevails.

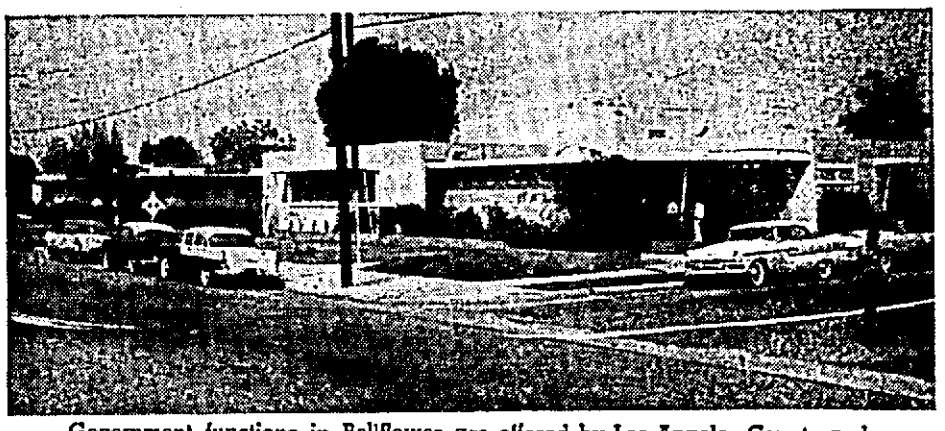

In a community built from treeless fields into a modern city, parks also have come in for attention. This building is part of Sims Park.

One of California's finest private schools is St. John Bosco School for Boys, an imposing landmark situated along busy Bellflower Blvd.

Schools are an important link in the neighborhood life of all communities and Bellflower is no exception. This is the modern Bellflower High School.

Government functions in Bellflower are offered by Los Angeles County and these are county office buildings erected to speed such services there.

Two ardent Bellflower advocates: Claire Thompson Jr., son of the founder of district's first business, and Dale Clanton of the chamber of commerce.

chased from the Bixby Company. Within a few years it was transformed from a huge ranch into one-acre homesites.

ITS FIRST NAME was Firth, but at the request of the Bixby family it was changed to Somerset. Post office officials then rejected that name, for there was a Somerset, Colorado. They felt that a letter addressed to Somerset, Colo., would be likely to wind up in Somerset, Cal., or vice versa. It was finally decided to name the town Bellflower after a fine bellflower apple orchard within the city.

Mrs. Dorothy McCulloch, of the Independent, Press-Telegram office in Bellflower, has seen the town transformed from treeless fields to a tree-shaded city. In 1921, her father, C. W. Menzer, purchased two acres for $3,000 and moved to Bellflower. Within three months he sold one of the acres for $3,000. "He decided right then to go into the real estate business," said Dorothy. "My brothers are still carrying on the family business over on Bellflower Ave."

Claire Thompson Sr. established Bellflower's first business house, a general store. "We used to get everything there," said Dorothy. "Groceries, household supplies and even mail." The general store has grown with the city and has become three modern furniture, appliance and hardware stores, owned and managed by the sons of the founder.

Hollanders made Bellflower the center of Southern California's dairy industry. Some dairy farms remain but they are gradually disappearing as land values become too high for profitable operation.

THE CITY REMAINS a hay and feed center. Hay is shipped in from all over the Southland to be reshipped to dairymen and stockmen. The Triangle Feed Co., for instance, supplies feed to dairyman from the Mexican border to Fresno.

The flavor of Holland remains even though the dairymen are moving out. The Queen of Holland made a point of visiting the Bellflower area when she came to Southern California a few years ago. The Holland-American Market is a modern grocery store with one section devoted to Holland imports. Mynheer may select from a wide variety of cheeses, or he may choose from a bewildering assortment of long-stemmed, deep-bowled pipes. In the store window is an arresting display of wooden shoes.

One of California's finest private schools for boys lies in the northern part of town. Saint John Bosco is a Catholic school for both day and boarding pupils. Its standards are high and it has a program of constant activity, either in the classrooms or the playing fields.

PUBLIC SCHOOL enrollment is now 8,000 and Dr. Norman Wampler, superintendent of schools, expects a peak of 12,500 in a few years. "We feel we have our building and classroom problem pretty well under control," he said. "The enrollment has grown from 3,300 in 10 years, but there are only six half-day classes. We'll soon have those pupils on an all-day schedule."

On Nov. 1, the citizenry voted to transfer to the Bellflower Unified School District the high school, which also includes the elementary and secondary schools. Another advance will be the establishment of a junior college within the old Excelsior Union High School District.

Children have left their mark in this community that has kept its feeling of a "Tom Sawyer town." In one of the parks is a bronze Statue of Liberty erected through the activity of the Boy Scouts. Bellflower is a town for youngsters. It is modern in all its facilities, but there remains the big green lawns, wide, tree-shaded streets, the dusty eucalypti, and room for a child to live and find himself.

Boy Scouts backed Sims Park Statue of Liberty.

Quarter horse speed is exceeded only by ostriches and antelope, "short horse" fans say. Here is a drive to the wire at Los Alamitos.

Saddle the Small and Outrun 'Em All

By Jack Teele

DOWN IN TEXAS, where almost anything is liable to happen, they raced a horse against a Cadillac last summer. Even more startling is the fact that not one of the Stetson-wearin' cowpokes who saw the horse beat the automobile by the margin of a fender was surprised at the outcome!

The official chart of the race was worded in typically terse Texan:

"Pretty Buck, out of Patsy Clover, defeated 1955 Cadillac de Ville, by General Motors out of Detroit. Distance 220 yards."

In all fairness to the Cadillac it must be revealed that the competition was no ordinary horse. The automobile was racing against a quarter horse and, podner, any son of the sage knows that quarter horses are the fastest critters north of the Alamo, west of the Pecos and south of Laramie!

Beauteous Myrna Foley is queen of meet coming up.

Frank Vessels Sr. is Los Alamitos' guiding light.

WHILE THE HORSEPOWER contest with General Motors' pride and joy was a step up in class for the quarter horse, the "short horses" have been winning match races since the day the first cowboy took out after a maverick.

Quarter horses are built for speed!

In 1611, 17 native English stallions and mares were imported to Virginia and were crossed with Spanish horses to produce a heavily muscled and compact horse. The resulting breed could run a short distance faster than any other breed — and still can.

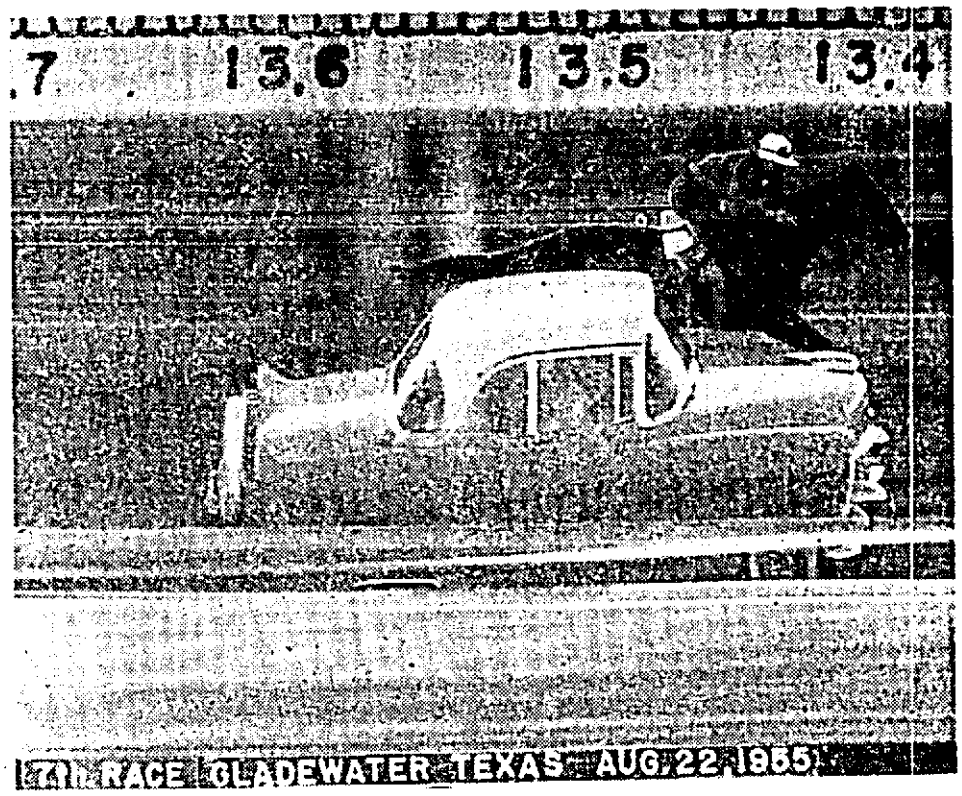

That was the beginning of the quarter horse and ever since cowboys have been saying, "Admire the tall, but saddle the small."

"Saddling the small" is exactly what they will be doing at Frank Vessels' Los Alamitos track, beginning Monday. The sixth all-quarter horse meeting — with beautiful Myrna Foley as reigning queen — opens at the beautiful suburban course and promises to be the finest in the history of the sport.

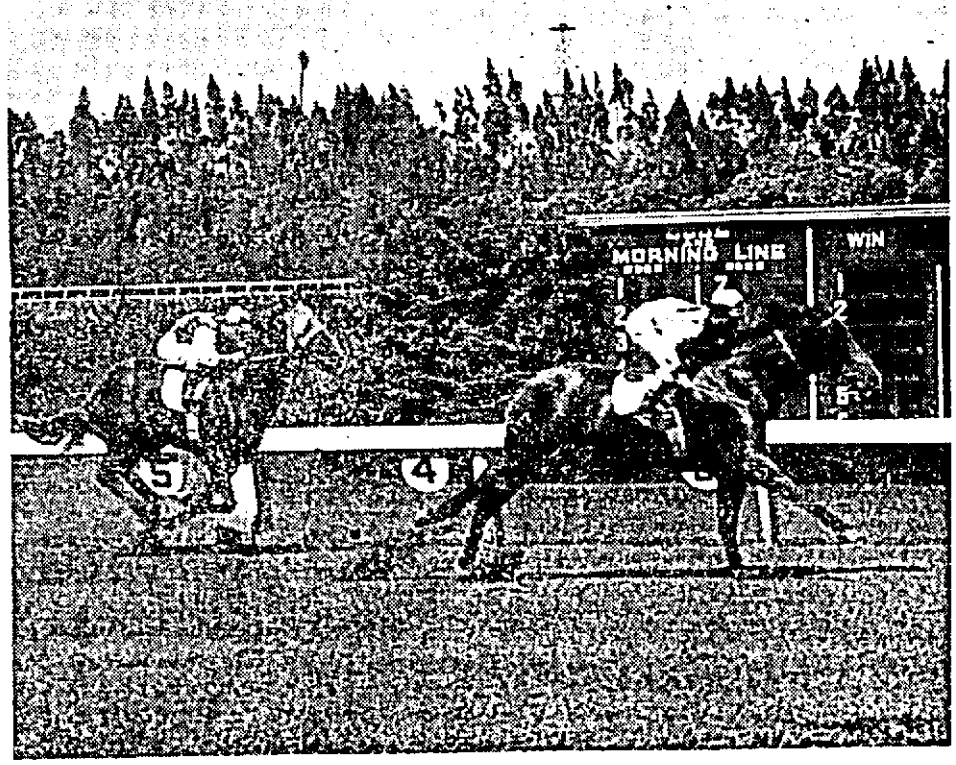

AT LOS ALAMITOS, racing fans will be able to see the finest products of the quarter horse breed. The horses will be running 220 yards in a fraction over 12 seconds and 440 yards in a hair over 22 seconds. If sustained, these speeds would be about 40 miles an hour.

Only ostriches and antelopes, says the Encyclopedia of Sports, can run faster. So, barring the unlikely possibility that some smart operator saddles up an os-

At 220 yards, a quarter horse can beat a Cadillac Coupe de Ville, and at Gladewater, Tex., this race proved it. Here's the horse, winner by a head.

Speed of the quarter horses was again demonstrated at Hollywood Park in 1947 when Barbra B., a "short horse," defeated thoroughbred Fair Truckle.

Ultrasonic Bathtub Saves Lives

DOUGLAS AIRCRAFT technicians have a $150,000 answer to the problem of weeding out faulty airplane parts before they get into the sky, thus saving lives.

They use an ultrasonic bathtub.

By beaming the high-frequency sound waves through aluminum die forgings immersed in water, the technicians can spot internal flaws in the metal.

These roughly-shaped pieces of metal are tooled by Douglas workers into vital stress parts like wing fittings and landing gears. And the metal has to be tough enough for the job.

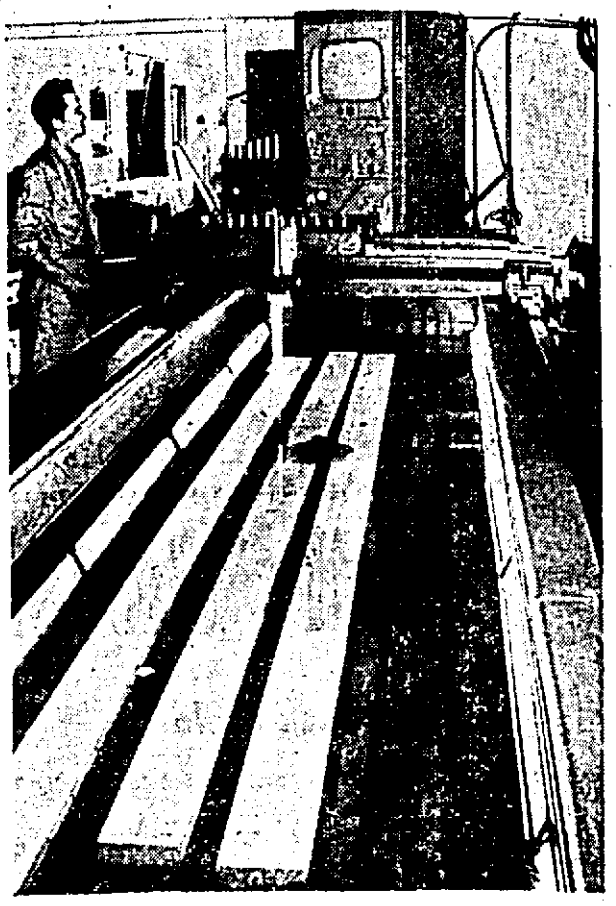

The "ultrasonic bathtubs" are tanks specially designed by Douglas and fitted with a high-frequency sounding device like the Navy's Sonar. But instead of making sound waves echo from the bottom of the ocean, this device bounces sound from the top and bottom of the piece of metal being tested.

Any flaw in the metal shows up as a blip on a cathode ray tube—or TV screen—watched by a technician.

ULTRA HIGH-FREQUENCY waves are produced by a quartz crystal that sends out 400 bursts of sound every second. This sound reaches 25,000,000 cycles a second—more than a thousand times higher than anything audible to human ears.

The ultrasonic inspection program at the Long Beach Douglas plant was set up two years ago under the direction of Chief Inspector E. W. Makin and Asst. Chief Inspector W. F. Stryker. F. L. Clark is assistant foreman of the ultrasonic lab and D. G. Brusse is general foreman of the fabrication-and-receiving inspection department.

Eight technicians work in the ultrasonic lab now, giving safety checks to between 60,000 and 70,000 die forgings a year.

Ultrasonic safety check in water-filled tank is given three aluminum bars that will be used for plane parts. Technician B. E. Kempton checks TV screen for flaws.

SOUTHLAND'S MOVIE PREVIEW

The Not-So-Terrible Miss Dove

Already a distinguished actress, Jennifer Jones adds to her stature as a great artist in the screen role of a young girl who returns home from finishing school to face the sudden death of her father and the grim task of paying off $11,000 he had embezzled from the bank of which he was president. As a schoolteacher, she earns the name of "The Terrible Miss Dove" as she devotes year after year to her work. But former students, many of them now grown, change their minds when she is stricken with a dread disease and is rushed to a hospital for a delicate operation. That's a thumbnail plot of "Good Morning, Miss Dove," a powerful new 20th Century-Fox drama produced in CinemaScope and DeLuxe Color. Costarring is Robert Stack.

On her return from school, Miss Dove's father (Leslie Bradley) outlines a round-the-world tour he wants her to take. She says she's in love. A few minutes later, the father falls dead. Miss Dove learns he took bank funds.

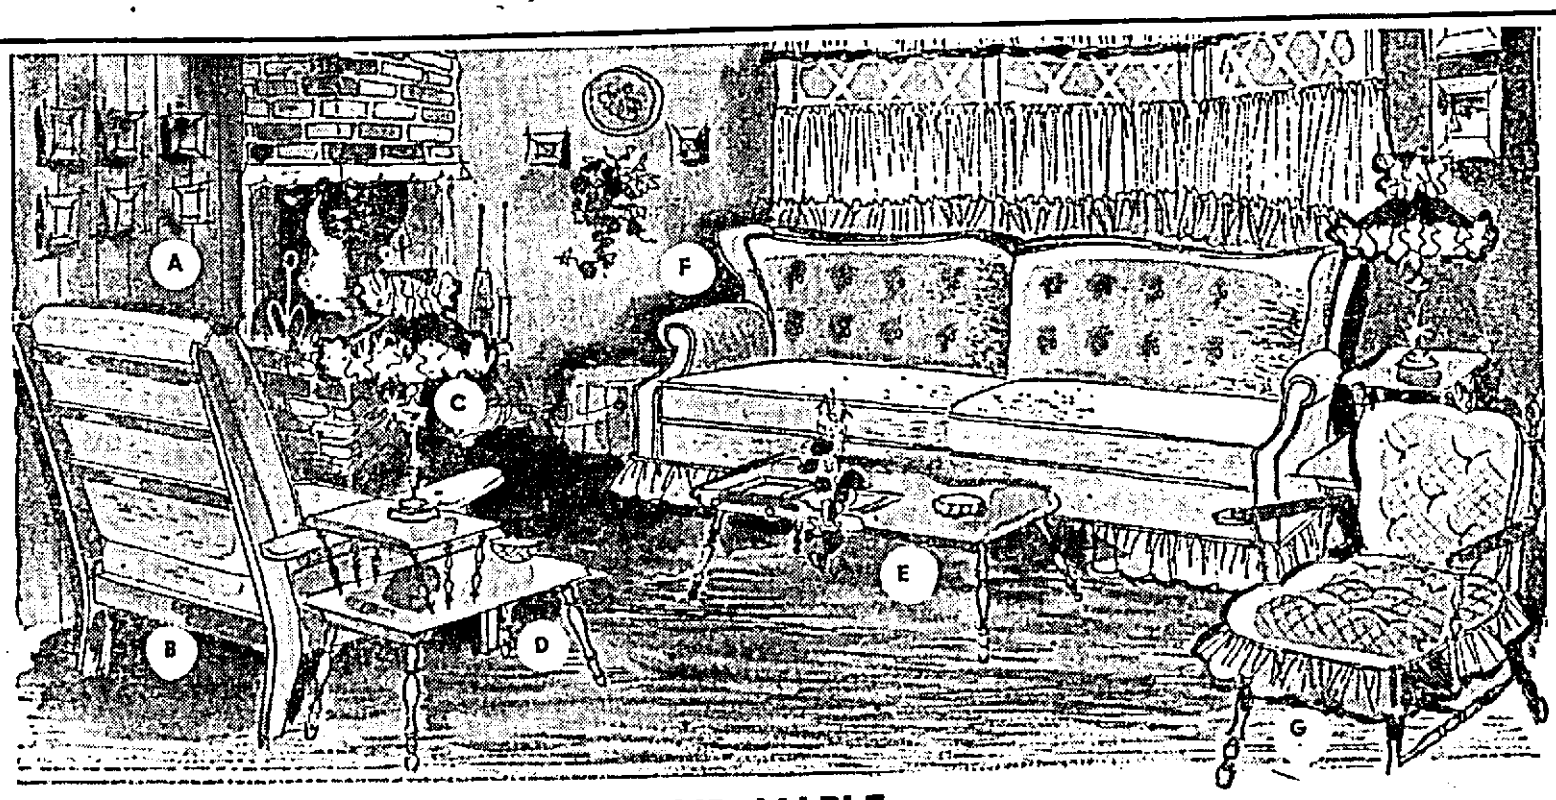

Miss Dove gives up marriage to teach and pay off father's debt. "The Terrible Miss Dove" is strict but also fair.

And former pupils are grateful for her deeds, among them Dr. Baker (Stack) whom she reunites with expectant wife.

Then disease strikes and Miss Dove places her fate in hands of ex-students Dr. Baker and Nurse Green (Peggy Knudsen). The operation is a success. Dr. Baker is presented with twins. Church bells ring and cheers come from street below.

"How do you keep from being lonely when you travel and don't know anybody in citiest I can see how you spend the days sightseeing but what about nights!"

THIS SURELY is a problem, especially for a girl and you see quite a few of them sitting in hotel dining rooms and having a dull time. It seems to be better in places where there are sports. Like the Austrian Tyrol in the winter. People get acquainted easily in places like this.

Otherwise, I would say bus travel is better than anything else. Having just done three days on CIAT, the Italian bus line, I met a lot of Americans.

Everybody on the bus at day's end was acquainted. You simply have to get into situations where you meet people. You don't meet them in hotels or on trains or airlines or walking around the streets.

"We hear that Europeans dislike Americans. Think they're braggy with their money. Does this affect you when traveling?

MOST OF THE American tourists these days are not so loaded with money. The American in Europe now is generally middle class and apt to behave better than you think. That international set you find hanging out in the Excelsior in Rome or the Ritz bar in Paris or the Savoy in London — the wealthy ex-patriate—are surely our poorest exports. But I think we are getting a better reputation lately.

I find the Italians extremely friendly. The Germans a little cool. The Swiss, Spanish and Portuguese very nice. The British very friendly. The French apt to be cool and calculating. This is pretty general, though. Depends on who you run up against and you can spend a friendly attitude yourself and buy more than you can with dollars.

"I just know I am going to be terribly confused about money when I go to Europe. Should I carry dollars! How do you avoid leaving a country with a lot of foreign money in your purse?"

All the European money is fairly stable now. If you have left-over on foreign money, just take it to your bank when you get home. They'll get it exchanged and you lose only a minor percentage.

I carry $50 traveler's checks plus about $100 in $5 and $10 bills. So, when you leave a country and want to make a small purchase without cashing a big check, you exchange a small bill.

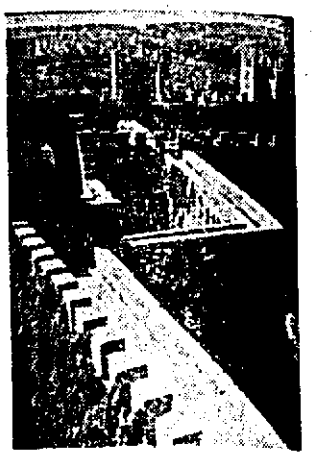

For example, I ran out of small bills. So I cashed a traveler's check in Switzerland into Swiss 20-franc notes (about $5). These cash anywhere just like dollars. You could do the same with English pounds or German D-marks, both being hard money. The only fluctuating currency is French francs. Best not to get caught with too much of these. The others cash in at home with no problem at all.

Your mailed questions will be answered (no phone calls). Send stamped and addressed envelope to: Stan Delaplane, Southland Magazine, Independent, Press-Telegram, Sixth and Pine, Long Beach 12, Calif.

Catching Time

Time flies along with the international vacationer, but, according to TWA's London office, seems to stand still in the many historic English towns boasting performing clocks. Hampton Court Palace contains one made for Henry VIII in 1510 which shows the 12 signs of the Zodiac, the hour, the day, the month, the sun's position, the moon's phase, the number of days from the beginning of the year, and the time of high water at London Bridge. British Travel Association researchers report one of the oldest clocks — a single-handed timepiece geared to a more leisurely century — in Lincolnshire.

RESORTS AND TRAVEL

Visitors to Portugal find many reminders of antiquity such as the ancient stone castle of St. Jorge, built in the 10th century by the Moors, and sturdy enough to withstand quake of 1755.

3-Story Cafe

Atop Monte Mario, overlooking Rome, is the three-story restaurant Palazzi, magnificent villa once belonging to Mussolini's mistress. Only the villa's interior has been changed to provide several dining rooms, a dance floor, a swimming pool, bar and sitting rooms on two floors and an open-air grill on the upper terrace. A graceful ramp connects the first and second floors; a wide circular staircase leads to the third. One wall of the spacious entrance hall is actually a glass birdhouse where parakeets, cockatoos and other birds twitter gaily. Exterior grounds of the mansion boast beautiful gardens, where dinner may also be served on summer evenings.

Rudy Comes Back

By Vera Williams

REMEMBER Rudy Vallee — the "Vagabond Lover," heart throb of the 1920's?

Remember Rudy Vallee, director of the 11th District Coast Guard band in Long Beach during World War II?

He is on the comeback trail. Playing — of all roles — Rudy Vallee!

The original crooner plays the Rudy Vallee of today and the Rudy Vallee of 25 years ago in "Gentlemen Marry Brunettes," United Artists release. In addition to Vallee, the picture also has Technicolor, CinemaScope, Jane Russell, Jeanne Crain, Allan Young and Scott Brady.

RUDY CHUCKLES over the cablegram from Paris which said, "Have strong part for Rudy Vallee in 'Gentlemen Marry Brunettes,' but it all depends. What does the guy look like these days?"

Says Rudy, "The question was not casual curiosity. Executive producer Robert Bassler and writer-director Richard Sale wanted to know whether I could play myself as I was approximately a quarter of a century ago with any degree of physical verisimilitude. Was I so far gone that make-up would involve major surgery? Or was I at least a reasonable facsimile of the old Rudy?

"MY FIRST REACTION was indignation at the all-to-obvious implication that I was something prehistoric, like a dinosaur, and might have to be reconstructed by ear from a fragment of shinbone.

"I still have all my hair and even the wave has not vanished, although there's gray at the temples. I've got all my teeth; my fighting weight is 150, which at my height, 5 feet 11, doesn't allow much for middle-age spread. That's not too bad for a man taking his ease in the comfortable lap of the early 50s."

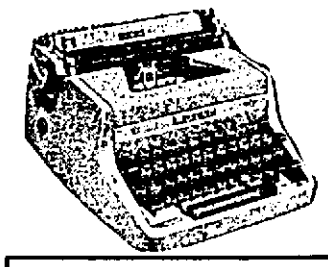

Rudy Vallee in a recent portrait and, below . . .

. . . the original crooner with megaphone, "sax."

NORRIS BERNSTEIN

Bavarian Pie . . . Ummm

ALL KINDS of pies are served daily throughout Long Beach—fruit pies, meat pies, pizza pies, Eskimo pies and even, on occasion, mud pies.

There is only one restaurant in Long Beach, however, where you can sit down and enjoy real, honest-to-goodness Bavarian cream pies.

This restaurant is Bernstein's, 5232 E. 2nd St., Belmont Shore. Its pies are prepared from old Bavarian recipes that have been in the Bernstein family for years. The demand for these pies (made from sweet cream, sour cream, sugar and spices) has grown so remarkably in recent months that Bernstein's has added a number of new varieties. As a result, patrons may now choose strawberry, apricot, lemon, boysenberry, cherry or pineapple.

Host and Co-Owner Norris Bernstein points out that the pies are included, at no extra cost, on all of Bernstein's luncheons and dinners.

BERNSTEIN'S reputation is not based on its pies alone, however. Its salad dressings, now sold in markets throughout the country, have brought the restaurant praise for years. And its dinners, always moderate in price, are a continual conversation piece for epicures. For example, Bernstein's features a delectable cut of prime rib for only $2.45 on a big complete dinner, but you'll have to get there early in the evening to enjoy it, because it's usually sold out within an hour.

Another splendid dinner item is barbecued Long Island duckling with broiled pineapple ring, $2.25 on a complete dinner. Still another is filet mignon tips en brouchette, also $2.25. The tips are amazingly tender and prepared in spices and wine before being charcoal broiled.

As this column has mentioned before, Bernstein's complete dinners are really COMPLETE. Included are a selection of chilled appetizers, choice of soup, tomato juice or cold borscht, choice of different salads and dressings, souffle potatoes, hot rolls, beverage and dessert.

COOKING

If It's Hot and Spicy, It'll Do Very Nicely

By Mildred K. Flanary
Press-Telegram Home Economics Editor

WITH CHRISTMAS SEASON dead ahead and the New Year treading hard on the heels of Santa Claus, it's a wise mistress of the household who is planning now for something out of the ordinary to serve at the happy and informal gatherings of friends and relatives or when folks just "drop in."

There'll be invitations, too, to "come to our house" for a sip and a bite and a visit.

For these occasions, festive food and drink is imperative, but need not be elaborate—just different and good.

Hot spiced punch made from concentrated quick-frozen lemonade and cranberry juice spells a welcome for all who come. Serve the punch in mugs and decorate each serving with a bright red or green cherry and a quarter slice of orange on a toothpick. Then pass a platter of finger sandwiches (date nut bread spread with softened cream cheese), a creamy dip circled with crisp potato chips, a big bowl of mixed nuts. And better have refills of the punch ready in the kitchen. The recipe for hot punch is featured elsewhere on this page.

Here are some other recipes to help your planning:

Tipsy Cake
Sopa borracha

Prepare sponge cake from packaged cake mix or buy one at the bakery. Two days before serving pour the following syrup over cake, a little at a time. Wine syrup: Simmer 1 cup water with 1 cup sugar until it forms a light syrup. Flavor with ½ cup sweet sherry and 1 jigger light rum. Serves 8.

Baba Au Rhum
(Cake with Rum Sauce)

- 1 (3/5-ounce) cake compressed yeast
- ½ cup warm milk
- 2 cups sifted flour
- ½ cup shortening
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 3 eggs

Soften yeast in milk. Beat in ½ cup of the flour; cover and let sponge rise until light. Cream together shortening, sugar, lemon peel and salt. Add eggs one at a time; beat well after each addition. Add remaining 1½ cups of flour slowly; add sponge and mix well. Pour into greased 2-quart ring mold and let stand until triple in bulk. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven for 25 minutes. Remove cake from pan and allow to cool. Pour Sauce for Baba over it and let stand until all the sauce is absorbed. Wrap in freezer packaging material. Yield: 1 cake (about 8 to 10 servings).

Sauce for Baba

- ½ cup sugar
- 1 cup water
- 4 teaspoons rum flavoring
- ½ teaspoon lemon juice
- ¼ teaspoon almond extract

Pour sugar and water into saucepan. Switch to "high" until boiling; switch to "low" and cook 10 minutes. Remove from unit and add flavorings. Pour sauce over cake at intervals until all is absorbed.

Creme Brulee With Pineapple

- 1 cup milk
- 1 cup light cream
- 2 eggs, slightly beaten
- ¼ cup granulated sugar
- Dash of salt
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- ¾ cup brown sugar
- 6 pineapple slices

Heat milk and cream in top of double boiler to scalding. Combine eggs, sugar and salt, and gradually stir in hot mixture. Cook in double boiler until mixture coats spoon, stirring constantly. Add vanilla. Cool. Pour into a shallow baking dish. When custard is thick and set, place baking dish in a large pan and surround with ice. Sprinkle with brown sugar to cover, or just around edge, as preferred. Broil until sugar is bubbly and melted. Keep cold until serving time. Serve over chilled pineapple slices. Serves 6.

Stuffed Prawns

- ½ pound lean pork
- 2 or 3 fresh green onions
- ½ cup canned water chestnuts
- ½ cup mushrooms
- dash of salt, ⅛ tsp. accent, ⅛ tsp. white pepper

Chop fine the pork, onions, water chestnuts and mushrooms. Measurements are for chopped ingredients. Mix well and add seasonings. Shell and split the raw prawns or shrimp and stuff with above prepared filling. Wrap each shrimp with a very thin slice of bacon and secure with toothpicks. Dip in milk and roll in flour. Cook in medium hot deep fat for 8 to 10 minutes. Do not have fat too hot or outside will brown before stuffing is done. Allow 3 or 4 very large shrimp per person, more if smaller. Serves 4.

Hot spiced punch, made from concentrated, quick-frozen lemonade and cranberry juice, will welcome guests who will be dropping in during the holidays.

Hot Lemonade Punch:

- 4 to 7 whole cloves
- 1 stick cinnamon (2½ inches)
- 2 cups bottled cranberry juice
- 3¼ cups water
- ⅛ cup sugar
- ¾ cup (6-ounce can) concentrated quick-frozen lemonade, thawed

Combine spices, cranberry juice and water in saucepan. Bring to a rolling boil. Cover, remove from heat and let stand about 3 minutes. Strain to remove spices. Add sugar and stir until dissolved. Pour over concentrated lemonade in heat-proof pitcher. Blend well. Serve hot. If desired, garnish each serving with half an orange slice and a sprig of mint or a green cherry. Makes about 6 cups, or 12 four-ounce servings.

Kitchen Tip:

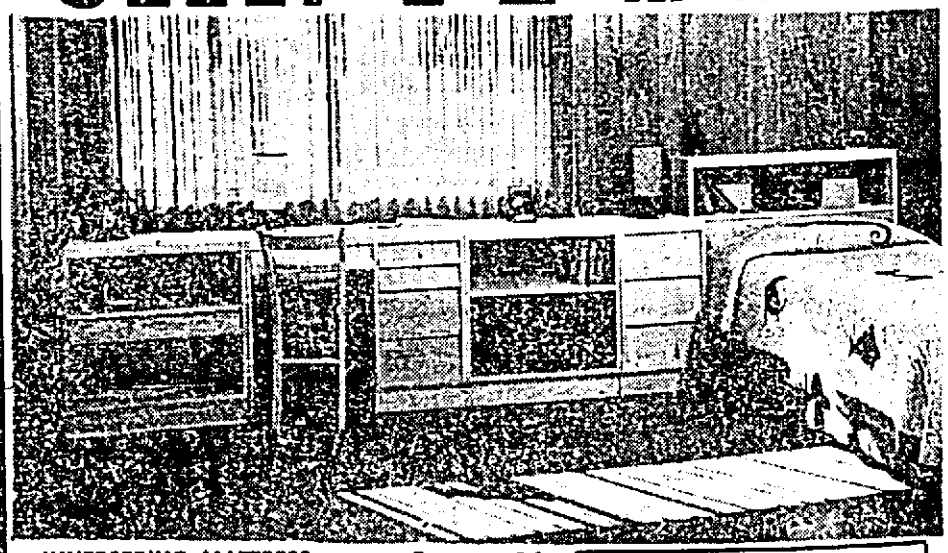

Chocolate frosting will have a new and delicious taste if you add one tablespoon of peanut butter.

Tricks With Pictures for Christmas Cards

HOW OFTEN have you longed for a picture of your family on a Christmas card only to cringe at the phrase, "Use your favorite snapshot"? There are few group pictures that flatter every member of the family. How many times have you heard, "It's a horrible picture of me, but it was the best of the others, so we chose it"? I have discovered a simple way to get around this obstacle, and add originality and fantasy to my cards at the same time.

By wise posing and printing, family faces can grace yule cards. Author and Mel McClain here ride Santa's sleigh; Mark and Mike ride Rudolph.

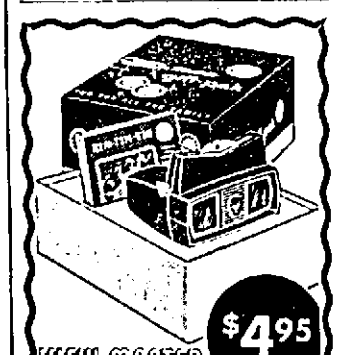

By Darlene Mitchell McClain

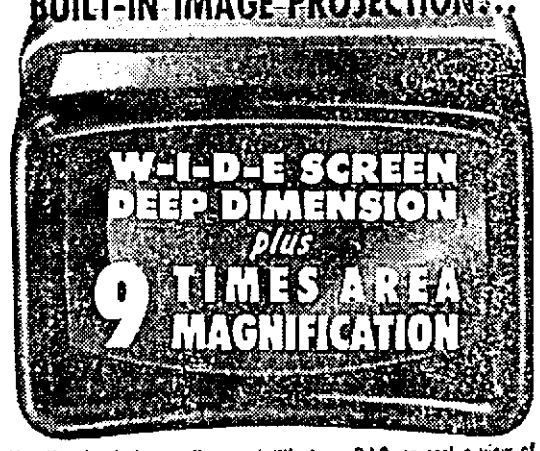

The trick is to put pictures of yourself into scenes suggestive of Christmas. In the first place, you have to plan the scene you want, and get the pictures you need for background. The Santa and sleigh shown in accompanying illustration came from a 25-cent edition of "The Night Before Christmas." Whatever you use, after you have determined your layout, you are ready for the pictures of your family.

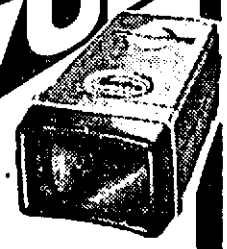

There are two ways of using pictures. If your scene calls for you to be in a certain unusual position, as we are sitting in Santa's sleigh, take several pictures and choose the best. The best may not be perfect, but the scene overshadows the details of poor poses. The picture of the boys on the reindeer was taken in a department store, where "Rudolph" could be ridden for a dime. If that hadn't been available, I would have pasted their photos on some other picture,

They Call It 'Cotton Ball'

STRANGE PLANT of a strange land, the cotton ball cactus with 132 heads grows in Death Valley and is an interesting phenomenon for the thousands of visitors to the valley each year.

The rare botanical specimen grows near the highway between Death Valley Junction and the entrance to Death Valley National Monument. Each of the heads of this odd plant is about the size of a small nail keg

A short side road, marked by a sign, leads from the highway to the plant which is protected from knife-happy tourists by a high wire fence. — BERTHA BLANCHARD.

Phenomenon of the desert, this cotton ball cactus is one of the many strange attractions of Death Valley.

A Bungalow Grows and Adds a Pool

Glass doors slide back to open the newly added family room to poolside in home of Mrs. Sally Nelson and children. Wrought iron adds to appearance.

By Eileen Ball

HOW A MODEST Los Altos bungalow grew from 1,350 feet to 1,600 feet and gained a sparkling swimming pool too, is the story of Mrs. Sally Nelson's home at 2921 Radnor Ave.

The warm dignity of good traditional mahogany furniture characterizes the living room and bedrooms. New Orleans white wrought iron "frosting" embellishes the front porch. And the kitchen, aglow with glossy brown-flecked decorator tile and natural birch cabinets, overlooks a patio roofed with a scalloped aluminum canopy which, in turn, leads to the poolside. All in all, the potential of this house has been realized to the fullest. And how beautifully it serves the family it houses!

Soft putty-beige coloring has been used in large areas throughout the formal living room. The rather steeply pitched ceiling has rafters painted this neutral tone. In keeping are fine-meshed silk boucle curtains that hang to the floor and are beautifully framed with rich side draperies and pleated valance of copper-rose faille. The intricately-pleated valance and the draperies are edged in silk tassel fringe of identically the same color as the fabric.

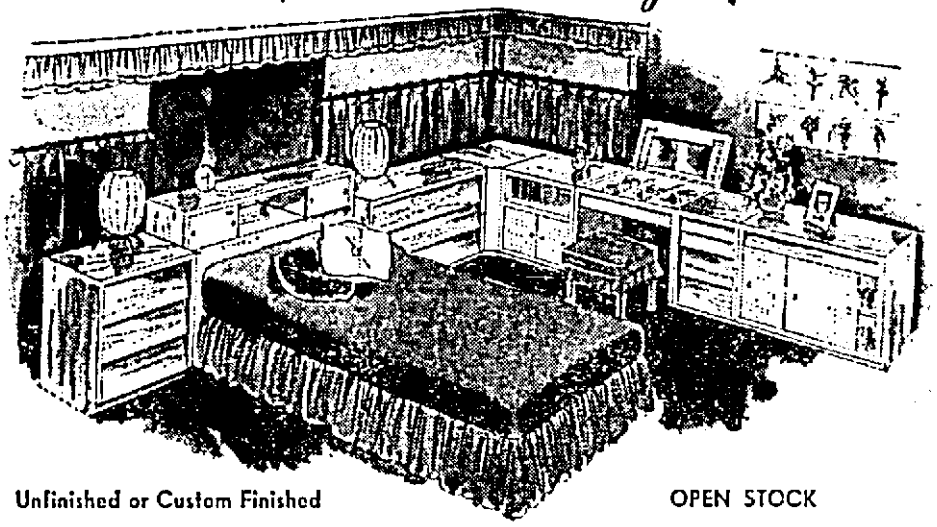

THE END of the living room containing the fireplace has been completely paneled in natural waxed Philippine mahogany. To carry down the putty color of the rafters and unite ceiling and wall is the putty-colored molding which frames a narrow red brick firebox opening. A huge plate glass mirror surmounts the mantelpiece in traditional form, its reflection adding feet to the apparent size of the room.

A wall-to-wall carpet of sandalwood finish provides a pleasing background for the pair of blue brocade channel-back chairs that flank leather-topped lamp tables before the picture window. Equally well complemented is the oversized formal sofa upholstered in deep green sculptured nylon.

Largely responsible for the sedate, almost quaint, atmosphere of the room is the wallpaper used for the long wall opposite the front door. Due to the ceiling pitch this is an important wall for height as well as length. Wallpaper imported from England portraying groupings of dainty pastoral scenes in "frames" of soft blue-green foliage impart to the room a feeling of quiet repose.

SLIDING, LOUVERED doors open to the dinette and kitchen. Walls for the dining area have been papered in a soft sandalwood tan background paper portraying a pine needle pattern in bronze and gold. Crisp white tie-back curtains hang in full folds at the window overlooking the patio. Maple dining furniture adds sturdy coziness to the dinette and is echoed by a smaller table and chairs at which the young Nelsons, Penny and Jon, dine.

Formal dignity keynotes this living room with sweeping, beamed ceiling; carefully chosen appointments.

Penny Nelson's bedroom is centered around a canopied bed that is finished in colors of cocoa, as dainty a room as any 6-year-old miss could desire.

Adjacent to the kitchen and dinette is the enlarged family room where Mrs. Nelson sews and irons while the children enjoy their favorite television programs.

Paneled in pine with exposed beam ceiling, this room has the sort of casual warmth desirable for an area wherein every member of the family can pursue his own hobby.

COCOA CARPETING provides soft but sturdy underfooting while draperies of turquoise add necessary coolness to the room. The entire end of the room is composed of sliding glass doors that open directly to the pool.

A desk, with plenty of storage for business and personal papers; leather furniture, a sewing machine and television set furnish the family room and attest to the various purposes which it serves.

Two walls in the master bedroom are painted a soft blue-grey, while the remaining two are papered in white portraying pale pink and gold cherry blossoms. Mahogany four-poster twin beds with heritage spreads of antique ivory give a note of femininity to the room. Lavishly full and sheer white nylon criss-cross curtains complete the dainty scheme.

Blue and soft ice-pink tweed paper carries out the color scheme in the guest bath. Pink ceramic tile and soft pink nylon rugs complement the powder blue tile trim.

The master bath is turquoise and pink with accents of gold.

Saddle the Small, Outrun 'Em All

trich, quarter horse fans will be watching the fastest possible races at short distances.

Although Vessels' own dreams and hard work have had a lot to do with bringing California quarter horse racing into the big-time, the wealthy rancher-construction company executive must give an assist to an Arizonan named Ray Gill.

IT WAS GILL who sent word to Hollywood Park in 1947 that he had a quarter horse which could outrun any thoroughbred on the grounds at 440 yards.

The late Charles S. Howard owned a thoroughbred swiftie named Fair Truckle and offered to put up $50,000 for a match race if Gill would do the same. Gill put his money where his mouth was and the race was set.

Johnny Longden, the winningest thoroughbred rider in the nation, was up on Fair Truckle and broke him on top.

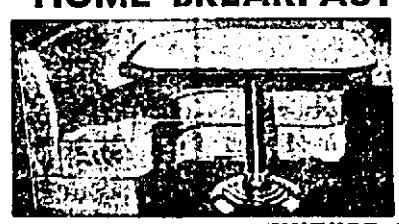

A toothless jockey of Mexican heritage and ancient vintage rode Gill's Barbra B. Those who viewed the race claimed afterwards that the old boy had spurs which approached twin buzz saws in size.

TO MAKE THE STORY even shorter than the race, when the Mexican dug his spikes into the flanks of Barbra B., she flew past Fair Truckle and went on to win by a length and a half.

That match race was the sensational introduction to the quarter horse for many West Coast fans. Today, within a few minutes of Long Beach, Vessels has built one of the most modern and beautiful of all racing plants.

It's a far cry from the wide-open spaces of the old days, but the 10-gallon hat brigade can ride through the spacious paved parking lot with heads held high. "Get a horse" can be a terribly insulting salutation if one happens to be driving a Cadillac!

Yule Cards Switch to the Lighter Side

By Samuel Golden

THE ANNUAL sharing of friendly sentiments should be more fun than ever this year, thanks to a number of well known artists with keen eyes for today's popular interests, vogues and avocations. Are you a tape-recording fan? An enthusiastic philatelist or do-it-yourself dabbler? You may smile at yourself and invite your friends to smile with you by choosing a Christmas card that takes a light-hearted view of your hobby.

Among the many important cartoonists, book illustrators and cover designers whose colorful views of contemporary life will surely entertain many at holidaytime are Barney Tobey, Oscar Fabres, Don Freeman, Dorothy McKay, Alajalov and H. A. Rey. These and other artists offer amusing comments on the current scene in the Christmas cards they have created for the new Designers & Illustrators collection. This is the less serious of the two famous collections which are published annually by the American Artists Group.

SOME OF THE DESIGNS, like Tobey's "Portraits in a Gallery" and Jack Markow's "Recording the Carols," are amusing character-sketches as well as pertinent observations on the popular culture of the day. Others use imaginative whimsy or sheer fantasy to highlight the entertaining aspects of a modern fad or custom. A Christmas card by Al Piane, showing an underwater Santa attaching prize catches to the hooks of less amphibious fishermen, is a find for the skin-diving hobbyist. It is Santa again — the star performer in many of these pictures — who, with the help of H. A. Rey, points up a problem in metered parking; it takes a lot of nickels, with eight reindeer to accommodate!

The popularity of poodles makes pantomimic fun for Fabres' urbane brush. The revival to polite society of the manly cigar is a recent influence discreetly indicated in John Teppich's witty portrait of Santa Claus as a gentleman of substance and distinction. Happily, either of these Designers & Illustrator cards would be fun to

ANTIZYME

TOOTH PASTE

Because: Antizyme is the first and only tooth paste with completely

SAFE FLUORIDE-LIKE ACTION!

You've heard about the wonders of fluoride in drinking water—a proved way to cut tooth decay. Now fluorides have been added to tooth pastes. But there is only one tooth paste with fluoride-like action that is completely safe.

Antizyme Tooth Paste works like fluoride, but is completely safe

Antizyme is the only tooth paste with a fluoride-like action that is safe for children under six . . . safe even where water is fluoridated. The active ingredient in Antizyme is a concentrated compound found in many common foods. It works with the anti-enzyme ingredient as a team to fight decay two ways: 1) safe, fluoride-like action to strengthen teeth against decay, 2) continuous anti-enzyme action that stops the major cause of tooth decay 12 to 24 hours after each brushing. This has been proved in 9 out of every 10 cases tested.

WARNING!
OTHER TOOTH PASTES SAY

CAUTION: "Children under 6 should not use—."

CAUTION: "If your local water supply contains fluoride, consult your dentist."

Be sure you read before you buy! These warnings are on all fluoride tooth pastes; NOT on ANTIZYME, the only tooth paste with completely SAFE fluoride-like action.

...the only tooth paste with completely safe fluoride-like action!

A gay, inexpensive handmade doll rides a proud felt charger, and both help stretch the Christmas budget.

Dolls that Stretch Christmas Dollars

By Goldie M. Harper

IS THE OLD wallet getting a wilted look? Is the list of children that you would like to remember with a gift growing daily? There is an easy answer. Make small dolls and those stuffed horses that are so popular now, and your gift problem is licked.

For 25 cents, transfer stamp patterns for a cute eight-inch doll are available, with full size patterns for custom-made doll clothes included.

Use pink or beige broadcloth for the dolls. Pin the pattern to eight thicknesses of cloth, cut around it and you will have four dolls.

Lay them out, one front and one back together. Be sure the coloring is on the outside of each piece. Put in the hair and the features on the extra pieces with crayolas. Lay a piece of waxed paper over them and press with a medium warm iron (set at "cotton" on the register) and you will have something prettier than the original transfer, and washable, too.

Place the right sides together inside, baste, then stitch, leaving a 2½-inch opening under the right arm for stuffing. Turn right side out.

STUFF CAREFULLY, a small piece of cotton batting at a time, working it in evenly with a bone crochet hook and the eraser end of a pencil. After the legs are stuffed, and before continuing with this job, stitch along romper leg lines, so that the doll can sit down. When completed, slip stitch the side opening together.

This is the only boring, tedious part of the project. (Some women get all the dolls ready to stuff at one sitting, then take them to a meeting of the Chat 'N' Sew Club.)

Work half moons of white satin stitch embroidery in the dolls' eyes to give them sparkle. Put a real ribbon bow in the hair and sew a button on each foot at the slipper strap line.

For the clothes, practically any scrap bag will supply enough bits of material. A 16-inch length of 2¾-inch eyelet embroidery or ruffling from an organdy curtain will make the petticoat. Use seam binding or bias tape for the casings, with heavy twine for the drawstrings. Scraps of print make the dress and pajamas.

FOR THE HORSES, if the gift is for an infant, use cotton broadcloth or print. Before cutting into the material, wash it in a solution of warm water and baking soda (one teaspoon to the quart) and you will have a sterilized toy, in case the tot decides to chew on it. Full-sized patterns for the horses with step-by-step illustrated instructions for making the horses are offered free at Davis Furniture Co., 1975 American Ave., as long as the supply lasts.

For the older tot, felt is more popular. Nine inches of 72-inch felt will cost about 90 cents and will make three horses, leaving scraps for coasters, pen wipers, doll purses and hats. If you wish to make the mane and tail of a contrasting color, felt is sold at 12 cents per inch. Dark green or brown for the horse, white for the mane and tail is very attractive.

Felt cannot be washed; use blotters on it if it gets wet. When they become soiled put them in an old pillow slip or flour sack and swish them around in cleaning fluid., then dry. Do not do this near an open flame if fluid is flammable.

YULE CARDS SWITCH TO THE LIGHTER SIDE

send or receive, even if one is not a dog-fancier or a smoker.

FAMILY LIFE, the entertainment world, sports, and even the serious professions supply subjects for amusing yuletide commentary by outstandingly original artists. Dorothy McKay pictures a city family of three putting their shoulders to the task of carrying home a Christmas tree that's bigger than all of them! Tom Naegele sees a chef dressed like Santa demonstrating to housewives at home — while studio lights stream down and cameras grind — that roasting a turkey is easy if you do it on television, where (as every viewer knows) recipes always turn out right. Don Freeman sensibly sends Santa for a medical check-up, then looks on with the doctor in astonishment as a heart looking just like a red Christmas bell shows up on the fluoroscopic screen.

Gaily fanciful, sophisticated, or heartily comic, these Christmas cards show a proper respect for the season's precious traditions. Their amused and amusing observations on modern life will add fresh zest to the familiar experience of sending and receiving holiday greetings.

"Recording the Carols" is a bit of Jack Markow wit.

Al Piano has diving Santa rewarding the fishermen.

Bungalow Grows

Pale turquoise silk boucle curtains filter the south sun that high lights the pale pink and metallic gold wallpaper.

PENNY'S ROOM might be the dream of any 6-year-old miss. Her quaint, canopied bed has a ruffled coverlet of cocoa chintz trimmed in salmon pink. The lavish canopy is of pink trimmed with an accenting ruffle of cocoa. The pineapple poster bed of mahogany is as dainty as the little girl who chose it.

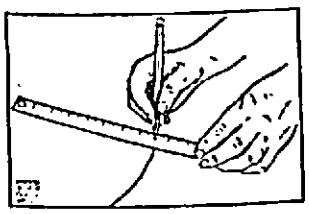

Two walls of Penny's room are papered in an old-fashioned scenic print utilizing palest pinks, cocoas and soft greens for its motifs. The remaining walls are painted delicate cocoa.

Penny's 4-year-old brother, Jon, boasts a room that is carried out along more masculine lines. Maple furnishings, and wallpaper of gold and chocolate tweed set the pace.

The exterior of the Nelson home came in for its share of redecorating as well. Vertical siding across the front of the house has been painted a bright and clear turquoise that goes nicely with the cocoa stucco used for the sides and the back of the house.

Low planter boxes of weeping red brick and the lavish use of scrolled white ironwork help complete the happy transformation of the house into a dream-cottage-come-true!

Circles of almost any size are easy to draw by using a ruler for a compass. By drilling a small hole at the end you can use a thumb tack for a pivot. Other holes at measurement points admit the lead of a pencil for various radii.

Female Private Eye

In a field that is largely a business for men, pert Marian Kent is forging ahead as a private detective.

By Julius Golden
Associated Press Writer

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.

A 25-YEAR-OLD Albuquerque girl, who earned a living for two years trailing and checking on people, now is setting up her own business as a "private eye."

"I'm beginning to get results too," said Marian Kent, who started her own business just a few weeks ago after two years with an Albuquerque agency.

"Maybe it's just curiosity at hearing about a woman private investigator, but people are coming to me. Of course, since most clients of agencies are women, some just want to talk to a woman."

The pert, blond Miss Kent, who gives an impression of naivete because of her glasses and dimpled smile, graduated from Albuquerque High School in 1950. She held several secretarial jobs and worked for a telephone company as a long distance operator.

THEN SHE MET her future husband, another private detective, and "I just naturally drifted into the work." She was married last Dec. 2.

Contrary to popular belief, a private investigator is not in a cloak and dagger profession, Marian says, "nor is it a dirty business."

"Being a private eye is unusual and a very fascinating life. Most people have the impression it's a dirty business, but it's only as dirty as you make it. People get the wrong impression from television and the movies. They're actually surprised when they learn the truth.

"Sometimes, I think they're disappointed."

MARION SPECIALIZES in domestic investigation. The cases she's handled range from checking on marital infidelity to blackmail.

"My job is to prove or disprove the allegations made by my client," she said. "Most of my clients are women, which makes investigation a good field for a woman. A man is more likely to solve his own problems where a woman will seek help.

"Often I just go and talk with the other person involved and check his character. Many times my job involves trailing people. Incidentally, whenever I'm trailing someone or I'm on a stakeout, I always notify the police so they'll know what I'm doing. The average case takes two to three weeks."

Marion went to work for the Acme Detective Agency when she learned it was looking for a woman interested in that type of work. "I was real excited because I guess it's not something the average woman would do."

Although her first case was an interview and she turned the information over to another operator, she soon graduated to working on her own. At first she received a commission and then $50 a week. Soon she was getting periodic raises.

"But lately I wanted to go on my own," she said. "I'll only handle domestic cases and any other kind of work will be turned over to other private investigators."

MARIAN INSISTS that anything a police officer can do, a private investigator can look into also. For example, she said, she recently turned up a missing teen-ager after three days work. The mother of the girl wanted to find her daughter without going to the police. Marian discovered where she was through a friend of the girl. The mother let the girl stay with her friend hoping she would come back on her own.

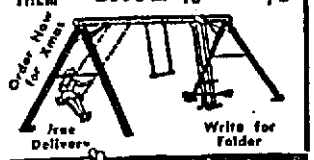

Marion comes from a pioneer New Mexico family. Her grandfather was a longtime fire chief in Raton. Her family "doesn't mind my working as a private investigator. In fact, they encourage me."

Marian wants to be a marriage counselor someday and "I think my work now is wonderful experience.

"Besides, I love it."

What's So Funny About That?

Cartoon from "The Coffee Break"

"Let's see now, you want that letter from Johnson and Corbett...."

THE LADY TOURIST stood amid the ruins of the Colliseum (not the one of Figueroa St.) and said to the guide:

"I suppose there must be quite a story behind all this?"

And then there's the one about the beautiful girl and the inevitable man, inevitably stranded on the inevitable ocean. A discussion is concluded as she says to him:

"I'd know, that's who'd know."

Harper's has just published "The New Yorker Album, 1950-1955" ($5) containing 450 of the best cartoons that magazine has printed in the past five years.

And if those aren't enough to tickle your funnybone, you might consider "The Coffee Break," (Dutton, $2.95). Charles Preston selected these cartoons from The Wall Street Journal, usually devoted to more grim business (pun intended).

These are more likely to make you chuckle if you are already in a position to chuckle; i. e., if you've got it made. Typical cartoon shows the business man reporting to his wife:

"I got a raise, now I can afford last year's income tax."

Or the executive telling the aging clerk:

"You'll have it admit it, Smith. We both had equal opportunities when we came here to work for my father."

Lawrence Lariar has selected cartoons on marriage and published them in "You've Got Me — And How!" (Dodd, Mead, $2.95).

Here's you'll find hubby seated at the table, waiting for supper and declaiming:

"I'm so hungry I could eat an old shoe."

And that's just what wifie is baking, in the background.

All of offerings range from chuckling funny to hilarious, and all are offered at an opportune time. You'll have plenty of time to read these, yourself, before using them as Christmas presents.

Characters reacting to typical situations in an unethical and highly personal way make the original paperback "The Power of Negative Thinking" (Ballantine, 35c), edited by Charles Preston, a lively cartoon collection. For instance, there's the one of the two men standing in a cemetery where one headstone is illuminated by a brilliantly lighted neon, "John Smith." Said one of the men, "John always was a great showman."

And finally there's "Nothing Brightens the Garden Like Primrose Plants" (Hanover House, $1.50), in which Denys Parsons compiles, for howls of laughter, a collection of misprints and pi lines from newspapers. He's aided and abetted by R. Taylor, who illustrates half a hundred of the transpositions. Take the one of the two lively roaches with human heads; beneath is this paragraph from a Minnesota paper:

"Mr. and Mrs. Wally Burman of Sioux Falls have just arrived at the Lindau home where they will be housepests for several days."—G. C. F.

"Experiment in Depth" (Pantheon, $4.50) explores the potentialities of the deep unconscious, the creative and destructive forces latent in the human psyche from the standpoint of three eminent students — C. G. Jung, T. S. Eliot and A. J. Toynbee — with the author, P. W. Martin, suggesting the possibility of man using modern psychological technique as a stepping stone to a more creative way of life.—F. T. K.

UTAH STORY: "Papa Married a Mormon" (Prentice-Hall, $3.95) is John D. Fitzgerald's tale of a mixed marriage, Catholic and Mormon, and of the young people's problems, an exciting story gathered from old diaries, love letters and newspapers. And it is more: it is the tale of one of the country's most colorful sections. Former jazz band leader and reporter, Mr. Fitzgerald, now a Southland resident, tells an animated story, and wastes not a page as he spreads out his wide canvas.—J. J. K.

HUMOR, SEX and science-fiction form almost equal components of Frederic Brown's new novel, "Martians, Go Home" (Dutton, $2.75). Included also is a bit of philosophy which makes the book thoroughly entertaining.—J. G.

When the gals had Woman's World Week at City College, the boys never had it so good. Here's an example, as Sue King helps Art Doombos with notes.

Coeds Put Finger on Campus Heroes

"IT'S A WOMAN'S WORLD," or at least it was for one week at Long Beach State College.

The Associated Women Students got tired of waiting to be asked to a dance, and watching as the males selected and elected assorted college sweethearts.

They did what any red-blooded American woman would do—they rebelled, and did something about it. They had a stag dinner, their own dance (inviting their own dates), and they chose their own campus sweetheart and called him Diamond Jim.

The girls liked having the shoe on the other foot (by making the campus heroes wait until the last minute before asking them to the dance) and the stag dinner was lots of fun. They also liked Art Doornbos of Lynwood because they elected him "Diamond Jim."

The women say "from now on, every year, there will be a Woman's World Week at Long Beach State College." The males say, "A woman's week" every week is all right with them.

Sandi Daniels and Nellie Bell add smiles to whistles as a lucky male passes by on his way between classes.

It's a great life for Ken Kirwen, too, with Sue King offering him a light, Nellie Bell, Sandi Daniels setting up refreshments as part of Women's Week.

Here's How to Wrap Your Gift

First, have all materials handy, then tackle job of wrapping yule gifts, advises Barbara Colby.

Measure paper, then cut and stick in place with cellophane tape. Ribbon and stickers come next.

Simple first knots hold ribbon firm. If mailing, this gift box must have padding in bigger box.

By Ralph Freese

SOON the time will arrive to begin wrapping packages for Christmas. It's fun, of course, to shop for Christmas presents or other gifts for friends and relatives, but, if packages that must be shipped through the mails are not properly wrapped . . . well, there is just not much sense in sending them at all.

The next time you are at the post office, just ask to visit the parcel post room. You'll be amazed and somewhat shocked when you see some of the poorly wrapped packages that the post office clerks have to handle. You'll want to praise the personnel for their careful handling of the packages and you will wonder that damage to parcel post material is as rare as it is when some people do such a poor job of wrapping.

Or stand in line at the parcel post mailing window and hear how patiently and courteously the clerks explain why certain packages offered just don't pass the good-wrapping test. Packages must be properly wrapped if you are to be sure that they will reach their destination in tiptop condition.

As a young mailer you can do two things to help the people at the post office:

First, mail your packages as early as possible . . . don't wait until a few days before Christmas. Get your shopping, your wrapping and your mailing done as soon after Thanksgiving as you can. Then you can really enjoy the Christmas season without all the last minute hustle and bustle; and you'll avoid waiting in long lines at the post office.

Second, learn to wrap your packages so that they will hold their own regardless of what may happen in transit.

Here are a few suggestions that may help you when you wrap your gift packages. You need only good materials and a little "savvy" to become an expert! Make a written or mental note of these simple procedures.

1. MATERIALS:

Wrapping paper . . . tissue paper, gay colored or designed paper and heavy brown kraft paper. The heavy kraft paper should be 30 pounds in weight. . . It is tough and still easy to handle. Next comes twine. Get strong six-ply twine or string. Now if you want to seal with gummed-paper be sure that the tape is two inches wide. Flexible corrugated paper is a "must." You can get it at any stationery store, or you can beg some corrugated cartons from the corner grocery store. . . Also, outside packing boxes in several sizes may be obtained from the market.

To have a complete collection of supplies get cellophane tape, stickers, addressing labels, waxed paper and some sort of material which can be used as stuffing to absorb shocks. This last can be excelsior, shredded glassine, or newspapers which you have carefully shredded to the proper size. The stickers should be variously marked Fragile, Glass, Photos, First Class, etc. Labels will have a place for address and return.

2. NOW YOU ARE ready to pack.

Suppose that your gift is a fragile object like a glass vase. Wrap it from the inside out after stuffing with shredded paper. The first wrap should be soft tissue paper held together with a bit of cellophane tape. It's a good idea to remember this also . . . the cheapest uncoated tissue paper has the greatest cushioning value.

3. CORRUGATED PAPER is next.

After you have the tissue paper on, make a sleeve out of your corrugated paper. Use enough so that the sleeve will overlap the ends of the gift not less than an inch. It's a good idea also to use enough corrugated paper for double thickness. You can use a series of small sleeves like covers if your gift is of odd shape. . . Use several to make the whole thing work out to a uniform size.

After the corrugated paper wrap in colored paper.

4. NOW THE BOXES:

If you really want to be careful, use a double box. In the inside box, make a nest of shock-absorbing material, and don't be skimpy. Shredded newspaper doesn't cost much in time or elbow grease, use plenty of it. And pack a lot in the space between the two boxes—top, bottom and sides.

5. NEXT THE SEALING or tying:

If the cartons you are using are in good condition, you can seal them with the gummed-paper tape and not use any outside wrapping paper. Put the tape around the corners and across the top and bottom. One way to wet the gummed paper is to use a small paint brush which can be dipped in a saucer of water. Moisten it well but don't soak the tape. The tape gives a strong, dust-proof, moisture-resistant seal.

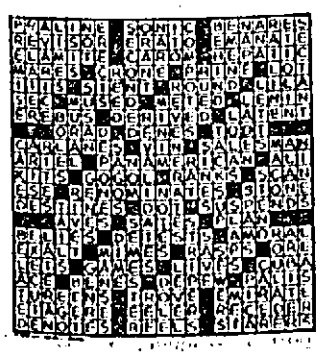

Let me warn you that cartons sealed with tape must carry printed labels giving the postmaster permission to open them. These printed labels also remind you to put your return address on the package. Use your instruction stickers if the package contains glass or other fragile matter or photos.

If the box is not in good condition, it is always advisable to use heavy brown kraft wrapping paper outside and tie the package securely with twine. Use plenty of paper and twine. Post office personnel cannot be blamed for a broken string if you used only one strand on a heavy box.

Also, if several gifts are to be packed in the same box, be sure to wrap each gift separately and put plenty of shock-absorbing material around each package. And don't forget to put the properly addressed gift cards on your packages . . . inside the main box, that is. Aunt Minnie might not like the coffee cup you intended for Uncle Charley.

Quacky Duo That's Just Ducky

COTTON CANDY in hand, Patty Brandt, 8, of 5337 Monlaco Rd., trekked around the last Lakewood Community Fair Grounds viewing all the booths put up by local clubs and wondering where best to spend the few coins in her sticky palm.

She noticed that at one booth the prize for tossing and keeping dimes in a saucer was a live, fluffy duckling. Patty decided to try her luck, and, to her surprise, for this is tricky business, quickly found herself with a squirming, yeeping duckling in her arms.

The Edward Brandts had hitherto no intentions of owning a pet duck, but they didn't have the heart not to let their daughter keep it. Instead, "Daddy" Brandt went right over to the fair and tossed dimes into the saucer until the ducklings numbered two. They called them Weedle and Waddle.

Patty and Russell Brandt, 5337 Monlaco Rd., find that ducks, Weedle and Waddle, make happy pair of pets.

By Eleanor Avery Price

ALTHOUGH the Brandts, especially the three children, enjoy their fast-growing pets, they have this to say: If you want a pet duck that will follow you around and clamor for affection and attention, get just one duck. Two ducks have each other's companionship and become quite independent except for that all-consuming matter of food.

Ducks have voracious appetites. They eat duck mash, and they will finish up left-overs, pick bones dry, help themselves to the dog's food and the cat's milk and egg. They go into quacking rapture over hot dogs and hamburgers. And new owners who see them ravishingly gobbling up garden bugs and snails, sing out, "Oh, happy day!" Then they discover that the ducks are inclined to top off such delicacies with a few choice flowers. Keeping other food on hand will help prevent this.

WEEDLE AND WADDLE will come up to the back door and knock on it with their bills if they run out of food. In an effort to keep them filled, the Brandts have enlisted the aid of their friendly neighbors for contributions of stale bread, which seems to be a super treat for the ducks.

Flea or louse powders developed for dogs and cats can be used on a duck if insect parasites appear. These are made with several different safe and tested drugs. Dust the pet away from his food and water and let him flap around a bit in confinement.

Ducks as pets are not recommended for very young children.

THE OBEDIENCE Convention for obedience people will be held Dec. 4 at Lakewood Country Club with tracking starting at 8 a. m. Breakfast will be available. Luncheon tickets cost $2.25, dinner tickets $3.25. Afternoon speakers will include William Johns from the San Rafael Seeing-Eye Dog Guide School; Carl Spitz, who will talk on pioneering obedience; and Howard Cross who will point out exhibitors' mistakes. Main evening speaker is to be Bill Koehler, who trained Wildfire for the MGM show, "The Bar Sinister."

HOW TO Achieve Proper Placement of Shop Equipment for Most Efficient Use

1. DIAGRAM BELOW shows good placement of shop equipment. Some fundamental idea details that make a good shop are these: (a) Systematic storage of tools lets you work faster; (b) Work benches serve you best when they're built for strength and simplicity. Hardboard tops give you smooth surface that can be replaced when worn; (c) Power tools placed at 45-degree angles to woodworking bench give maximum clearance for long work and a minimum of inter-machine interference; (d) Proper lighting makes your shop safer, and lessens eye-strain. Individual lights over power tools make them safer; and (e) Utilize space under work bench for storage. Shelves above it make ideal storage space for small items. Use major part of open space for lumber.

2. ORGANIZATION of tools keeps them within easy reaching distance at all times, like lathe equipment zoned on this tool board.

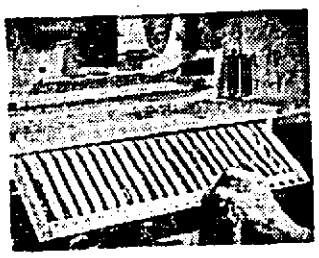

3. TOOL BOARDS here are doors of storage cabinets, 8 inches deep. Distance of tools from walls solves the rust problem, although the owner also uses rustpreventive on each tool. L-screws hold tools to boards. Cabinets are used to store nails, screws, paints and other shop items.

4. CHART LOCATES supplies in workbench drawers so that each drawer won't have to be pulled out to locate items. Chart is marked off in squares, each one representing a drawer and explaining what's in it. Labels on drawer fronts are key to the chart.

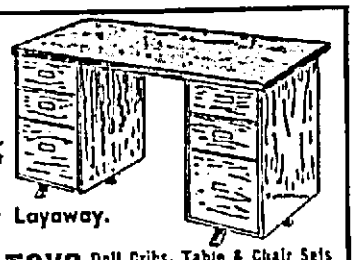

5. CLASSIFICATION of drills enables handyman to determine size needed; just slip bolt or screw to be used through holes in aluminum gauge fastened to top edge of the drill drawer.

6. SAFETY SWITCH for table saw keeps both hands free when ripping or crosscutting lumber. Light-weight aluminum rod connects switch with lever worked with either foot. Lift up with toe to turn saw on, step down to turn it off.

GARDENS

'Supersonic' Lily

By Bob Gilmore

GARDENING, TOO, has a "supersonic" speedster, and much older than the swept-wing craft of aviation. This "jet" of the flower world is the lily of the valley which can be rushed from planting time to bloom in just three weeks!

Lazy gardeners and those who want flowers in a hurry should welcome the lily of the valley with open arms. The culture recommended is so simple that a five-year-old child can grow prize-winning flowers.

Throughout Southern California the lily-of-the-valley is grown mainly as a house plant. The flowers are exceedingly dainty, being quite small and pure white. They present a light and airy appearance, looking very much like small bells. The florets are produced in clusters on stems about nine inches tall.

This ornamental is propagated by planting what are known as "pips." These are stored under refrigeration and removed from the cold just before being sold. Growth will start at once so as soon as you obtain planting stock the planting should be accomplished.

Lily-of-the-valley should be planted in a relatively shallow bowl that has been filled with sand, light soil, or specially prepared bulb fiber. The latter is preferable and costs just a few cents for a quart size package. This medium should be thoroughly dampened before being placed in the container.

THE TIP END of the lily-of-the valley pip looks like the tip end of an asparagus stalk. But the opposite end has a tremendous root growth. It may be necessary to remove some of the roots for the average-sized container will not accommodate the entire growth. About one-third of the length of the roots may be pruned off without causing any harm to the pips.

Six pips can be accommodated in a container measuring six inches across. The tip end of the pips should barely show above the surface after planting.

A temperature varying between 60 and 70 degrees should suffice. Cold storage pips do not require any bottom heat.

The planting medium should be thoroughly moistened before being placed in the bowl. Then squeeze out the excess moisture. It is advisable to use water having the same temperature as that of the room. This is also true for the temperature of the water applied during the growing season. Any great difference between the room temperature and that of the water may shock the plants. The growing medium should be kept moist at all times.

The pips must be kept in the dark for at least the first week. After about ten days the plants may gradually be introduced to the light. Direct sunlight should be avoided at all times although full light will not prove harmful after the flowers appear.

THE SPROUTS should be about three inches tall when removed from the dark room. They should be kept cool at all times. Exposing the plants to light prematurely causes a drawing up of the stems and inferior development.

Lily-of-the-valely pips are often available already planted in colorful mugs or containers. This makes their culture quite easy. All you need to do is supply the moisture and a dark location. In just three weeks you will have a lovely indoor floral decoration. Dozens of florets will appear at the same time, providing, in addition to the graceful blooms, a delightful fragrance.

Little showers of flowers in just 21 days—that's the "supersonic" lily of the valley speed!

Third of root growth of lily of valley should be trimmed in planting; container takes six pips.

Tips on Gardening

GARDENING TIPS for the week . . . This is a splendid time to start lily of the valley pips. The plants flower in an amazingly short time, just about three weeks after starting. The pips should be placed in a fairly shallow bowl. Prune the roots back if necessary to get them into the bowl. Keep in the dark until the buds appear.

Ferns are not used as much as they should be. They impart a pleasant, quiet atmosphere. The Woodwardias are quite hardy and the Australian tree ferns will prove most appealing.

Ranunculus and anemones enjoy a long planting season. The two are grown from corms and are often called the "twin flowers" because they look alike and grow alike. They want lots of moisture.

Foliage Plants Are a Garden Joy

By Walter Finch

FOLIAGE PLANTS are much more colorful than is generally realized. Dozens of distinct shades and color contrasts are available in this plant category. Tones range from white or gray to extremely dark greens. It is interesting to note that the bright red coloring of the poinsettia is due to a modified leaf known botanically as a bract; it is not a true flower.

One of the most interesting ornamentals in the plant kingdom is centaurea candidissima, better known as the Dusty Miller. This subject is grown mainly for its foliage effects, the small yellow flowers being relatively inconspicuous. The leaves are whitish-grey and exceedingly eye-catching in the garden. The Dusty Miller thrives throughout the Southland.

YOU CAN UTILIZE this plant in the border, for bedding purposes or as a specimen subject. The light grey leaves have a leathery appearance and are sharply indented at the edges. The plants grow to about two feet at maturity, are perennial in habit and may be propagated either from seed or transplants.

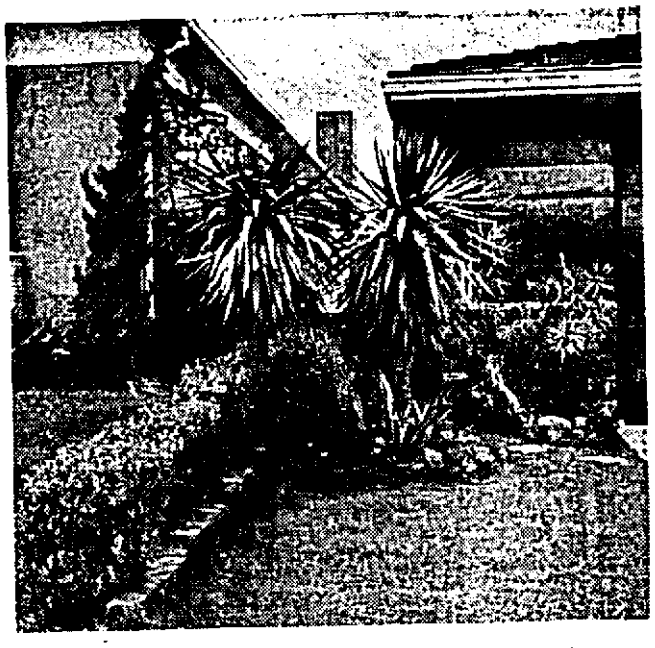

Another exceedingly interesting foliage specimen is aucuba japonica, often termed the gold dust plant. Its name is derived from the tiny gold specks appearing on the glossy green leaves. This particular aucuba requires a shady location and performs well as a foundation plant. It is a heavy drinker and demands excellent drainage. The aucuba is an evergreen and in addition to being used in the open garden may also be utilized as a tub or pot plant.

One of the most beautiful ornamentals in existence is the silver tree, known botanically as the leucadendron argenteum. The leaves are coated with long, silky, silvery tissues which account for the name of the tree. At maturity the silver tree will reach a height of 25 feet. It must have excellent drainage and not too much water. Waterlogged soils frequently spell doom for this lovely garden subject.

FOR A BRIGHT-TONED contrast select the silver-edged English holly. The leaves show contrasting tones of silver and light green. This plant, like most hollies, is at its best in cold regions and in Southern California it should be planted either in shade or semi-shade. In addition, if one part of your garden is colder than other sections then choose the coolest area for this holly. It is a fairly heavy drinker.

The ivy family also offers some interesting foliage specimens. The variegated ivy, also known as hedera canariensis yellow-edge is a natural for this area. The leaves are quite large and show varying tones of green and creamy yellow. Shade or semi-shade is recommended for this subject although it seems to thrive almost anywhere.

Two arborvitaes, known as the golden column and golden pyramid, will add color to your garden. The leaves of the former are golden green, while those of the latter are green tipped with golden bronze. These plants are widely used in Southern California and require very little care. They are comparatively pest-resistant. Other interesting foliage specimens include dracaenas, coleus, pittosporum, callas, junipers and sansevieria.

Foliage plants in colors that range from gray-white through green, to red and orange enhance gardens.

Letters to Santa Around the World

The happy task of sending letters from Santa Claus to children throughout the world has been taken over again this year by Pan American World Airways.

As in previous years, Pan American will do everything except lick the stamps and write the letter—parents and other well-wishers have to do that. Since the program began in 1948, more than 500,000 children have been astonished to find a personal letter from Santa Claus in their Christmas mail.

Here's how to go about it:

1. After committing the information to memory, burn this so it can't fall into the hands of children.

2. Get Santa Claus writing paper and envelopes from any Pan American office or authorized travel agent.

3. Write the letter on the stationery and sign it Santa Claus.

4. Put the letter in the Santa envelope and address it to the offspring. Don't forget to put a 6-cent stamp on it.

5. In another envelope, mail the Santa letter by air mail to Pan American World Airways, Fairbanks, Alaska, its nearest station to the North Pole, or return it to the Pan American office or travel agent's office where the stationery was obtained.

6. The letter should reach Pan American at Fairbanks before Dec. 15.

If received by Fairbanks before that date, the child will receive the envelope and letter with the Santa Claus imprint well before Christmas.

Which Northrup King Lawn Seed should you plant this fall?

It's up to you . . . decide on the kind of lawn you want. And get the Northrup King seed that will give it to you!

FOR A SUPERIOR LAWN, Golf Brand Lawn Seed. Grows a lawn your neighbors will envy! Contains 11 perennial grasses, to give you thick velvety turf in sun or shade.

The fine perennial grasses in Golf Brand offer maximum return for the watering, fertilizing and weed control that a truly beautiful lawn requires. While starting slowly, a Golf Brand lawn will grow ever thicker and more luxuriant, until you have a rich close-knit turf that helps keep weeds out.

In 1 lb. and 5 lb. boxes, and 25 lb. bags

FOR A GOOD LAWN, Fore Lawn Seed. Grows a sturdy attractive lawn your family can "live" on and care for with ease! A blend of perennial grasses and clover, suited to sun or moderate shade.

In 1 lb. and 5 lb. boxes

FOR A PLAY LAWN, Homelawn Grass Seed. Grows a quick and rugged lawn for children and pets to romp on. Quick-germinating grasses assure you a hardy lawn fast, easily.

In 1 lb. and 5 lb. boxes

...and feed your lawn 2 important ways with Northrup King Golf Brand Lawnfood. Here's a complete lawn fertilizer. It contains: (1) fast-acting chemical nitrogen to give grass immediate sparkle and a deep green color (2) organic nitrogen, plus other needed food elements, for the steady slow feeding that means sound and continuing growth. Goes further! One pound does the work of three pounds of ordinary fertilizer. In 10 lb. cartons, 25 lb. and 50 lb. sacks

after taking them riding on a wall or a box.

THE PICTURE of the bicycle built for two is a card ready for the picture of my parents. All they need to do to finish it is to add their preferred faces, enlarged to scale, and take it to a camera shop. For a dollar or so a negative of the composite picture will be made. Then they're in business.

There are hundreds of possibilities for scenes, and ways of using your hobbies in pictures. So why not turn your imagination loose, and create cards that will fascinate friends and impress people.

For those who have their own enlarger and darkroom, the field is almost unlimited.

LONG BEACH Camera Guild will have another travel program at 8 p. m. Wednesday in Municipal Art Center, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd. Members and their friends will show color slides of places visited on vacations last summer. Anyone interested in photography is invited.

Recent winners in Guild competitions: Color, Don Hayward, first; Floyd Williamson, second; Murray Shaner, third; Elva Hayward, Neil Shipley and Edith Freeman, honorable mention; black and white, Virginia Callender, first and second; Murray Shaner, third; Bill Jordan and Virginia Callender, honorable mention.

The Southern California Council of Camera Clubs, with which the local club is affiliated, will have a color slide competition at 8 p. m. Dec. 2 in the Edison Bldg., 5th and Grand, Los Angeles.

"Ford's new Thunderbird Y-8 engine is really something!"

AL ESPER, Ford's Chief Test Driver tells JOE

LANCE

WARREN TUFTS

Two days ago Big Fallon challenged Lance to a test of endurance—a race for three days and nights!

Now the mountain men can't find Lance's body. They are about to give up hope when a lookout cries: "Hol' up! THAR HE BE!"

Tom Fitzpatrick and Blaze bring him in, exhausted and groggy with sleep.

"C-Couldn't make it," Lance mumbles. "Fallon outran me . . ."

"I don't reckon he did," Tom says.

". . . Fallon, he pulled away from ya come dark th' first night, but then he doubled back an' has been sleepin' on th' boat ever since! He run only 30 miles—I reckon you run 150!"

Fallon scoffs. "Hunnert an' fifty ain't nawthin'! I could of did three, four hunnert easy!"

Lance's jaw tightens. He moves forward.

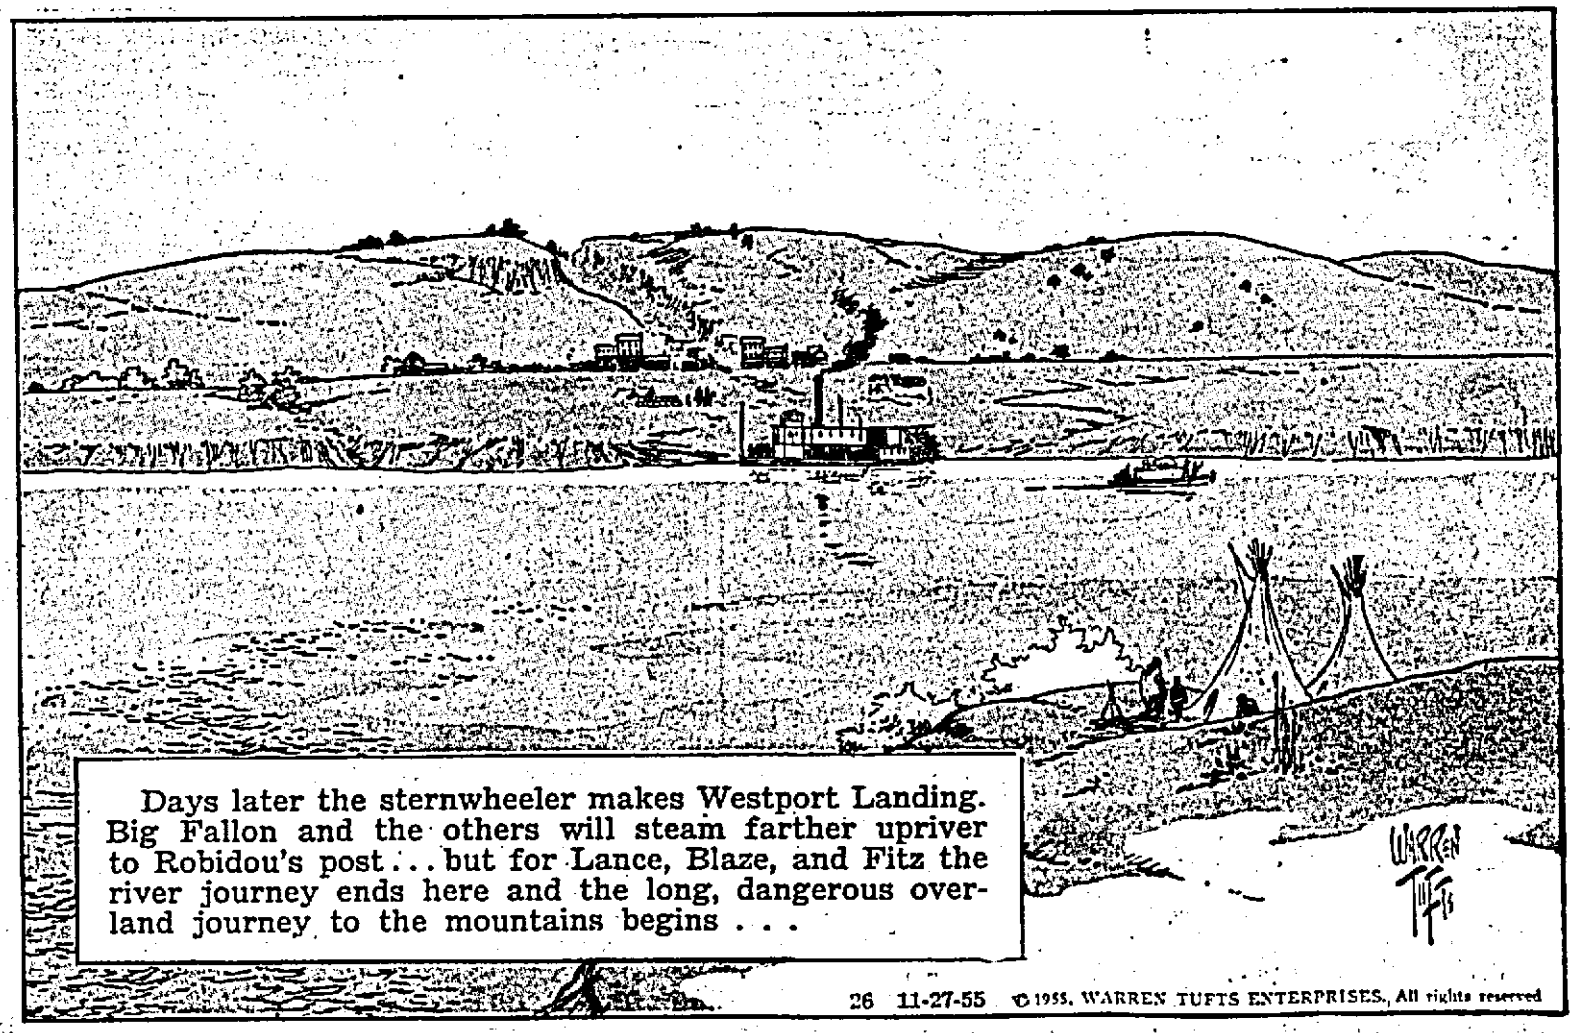

"Wait, now, jist rein up a minnit, boy—don't do nawthin' yew'll be sorry for. Here, have a real Spanish SEE-gar—"

"—rrooOOOLLLP!!" Lance hits him like a ton of bricks . . . Their thrashing bodies churn the water to foam.

When they are hauled out to dry, Lance and Big Fallon decide they can't afford to be enemies. A friendship is made, founded on mutual distrust!

Days later the sternwheeler makes Westport Landing. Big Fallon and the others will steam farther upriver to Robidou's post . . . but for Lance, Blaze, and Fitz the river journey ends here and the long, dangerous overland journey to the mountains begins . . .

TOOTS NEEDS HER REST--- ---WAS JUNIOR OUT LATE AGAIN LAST NIGHT?

YOU GOT HOME AS ALWAYS, AT SIX-SEVENTEEN THIS A.M.---HE BEAT YOU IN BY MAYBE TEN MINUTES---

OH, THAT BOY! BUT HE'S AT "THAT AGE"--- AND ALL HIS FRIENDS STAY OUT LATE, TOO, HE SAYS---

HEY, NATCHEZ! YER IDEA WORKED! THE TRYS TOOK TH' KID IN--- AT LEAST FOR BREAKFAST---

SO I HEAR--- TH' RIGHT FOLKS AREN'T ALL DEAD YET, MAYBE---EH, "DANDY"?

THEY AREN'T WHILE YOU'RE ALIVE, NATCHEZ---

G'WAN! FLATTERY'LL GET Y'NOTHIN'--- ---BUT THAT ANNIE'S A NICE LITTLE KID---

SO YUH SWALLERED TH' CANARY, EH, YUH SMUG CHOP LICKERS! I KNOW ALL ABOUT IT! ORPHAN ON TH' DOORSTEP AN' ALL!

YOU'RE JEALOUS, MAC, BECAUSE YOU DIDN'T GET THE CHANCE TO DO IT YOURSELF!

TCH-TCH! AS TH' LAW, HOW COULD I EVER DO SUCH A THING?

MAYBE BECAUSE, UNDER THAT TIN BADGE, Y'REALLY GOT A HUMAN TICKER---

WELL, DON'T TELL ME YOU FINALLY DEIGN TO GET UP AND ACCEPT SOME BREAKFAST, JUNIOR---

AR-R-R--- DON'T BE FUNNY, SENIOR--- M'HEAD IS BUSTIN'--- WHERE'S TH' COFFEE?

YOUR MOTHER AND I WANT TO ASK ANNIE HERE TO LIVE WITH US--- BUT YOU AND YOUR SISTER, TOOTS, SHOULD VOTE, TOO---

LIVE HERE? WITH US? THAT LITTLE MONSTER? NO!

POP! MOM! BRING HER IN! I WANT TO SEE HER!

ANNIE! I---I HEARD ALL OF IT---!---I LIKE YOU--- YOU STAY WITH US!

MOST FATHERS LIKE TO STRUT ABOUT WHILE MAMA WORRIES ABOUT THE BIRTH OF HER YOUNG...

BUT NOT THE MALE SEAHORSE, FOR HE TAKES IT ON HIMSELF TO DO THE BROODING

INTO HIS SPECIAL "APRON POCKET" THE EGGS ARE PLACED AND THEN THE FLIGHTY FEMALE DESERTS HIM

FOR A MONTH AND A HALF THE LITTLE FISH SWIMS ABOUT WITH HIS BURDEN

AND WHEN THE EGGS ARE READY TO HATCH, THE EXPECTANT FATHER ANCHORS HIMSELF BY HIS TAIL

THEN HE HANGS ON WHILE SEVERAL HUNDRED TINY COLTS POP OUT OF HIS POCKET AND SWIM AWAY

FROM THEN ON, THE YOUNG SEAHORSES ARE ON THEIR OWN, FOR PAPA HAS DONE HIS SHARE

TRAIL WAYS

THE TINY SEAHORSE MOVES ABOUT SLOWLY IN AN UPRIGHT POSITION, PROPELLED BY A SCULLING MOTION OF HIS FINS

WHEN THE YOUNG SEAHORSES ARE BEING BORN, THE FATHER ROCKS QUICKLY BACKWARD AND FORWARD, APPARENTLY TO ASSIST THE YOUNG IN LEAVING THE POUCH

TRIUMPH OVER TOOTH DECAY

Crest Toothpaste with Fluoristan actually strengthens tooth enamel to lock out decay

FLUORISTAN IS FLUORIDE IN ITS MOST EFFECTIVE FORM—PREVENTS CAVITIES FOR ADULTS AS WELL AS CHILDREN

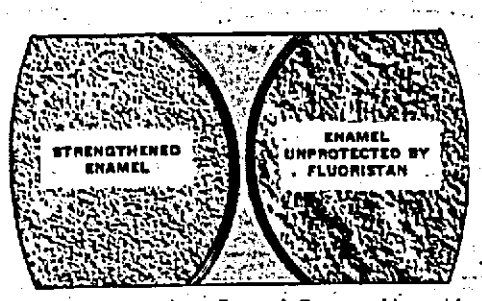

Miracle of the Towns Without Toothaches. For years, children growing up in several Western towns were virtually without tooth decay. Then science learned why: nature's decay-preventive, fluoride, was present in their drinking water!

Science Long Tried To Put Fluoride—only medically approved preventive of decay—in a toothpaste. But merely adding fluoride does not work. At last, university scientists and Procter & Gamble found the answer: Fluoristan, exclusive fluoride compound.

Fluoristan Makes Possible Crest Toothpaste—world's greatest weapon against tooth decay. Unless you get Fluoristan, you cannot get the full benefits of fluoride in a toothpaste. Protects all permanent teeth, for adults and for children, six and over.

Actually Strengthens Enamel. Crest combines with and strengthens tooth enamel as you brush. Microphoto at left shows how enamel strengthened by Crest ingredient defies decay acids, while unprotected enamel (right) is eaten away by decay acids.

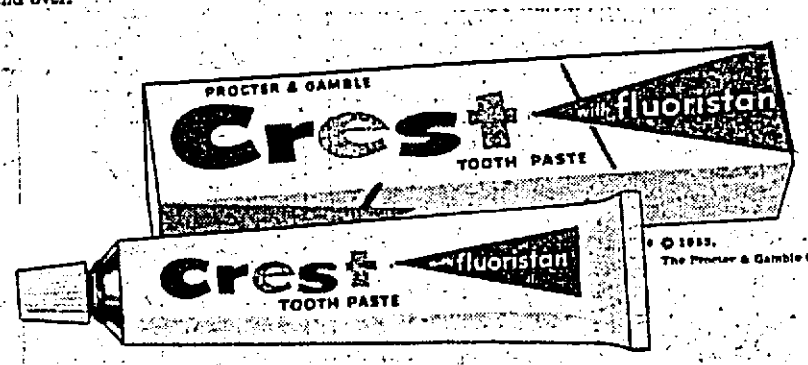

Prevents Most Cavities Where Toothbrush Can't Reach! Even between teeth, where food particles lodge (arrows), Crest gives the greatest protection ever known. Crest penetrates between teeth, strengthens enamel of entire tooth against decay.

Never Before Such Decay Prevention! Crest has been proven in the most extensive and best-documented research ever conducted on a toothpaste. The record of decay prevention established by Crest has never been equalled by any other product.

Tastes Wonderful—Refreshes Your Breath! Crest locks out bad breath caused by decay as no other toothpaste can. Gives you cleaner, whiter teeth. Best tasting, by actual tests. Remember: Every Crest brushing strengthens tooth enamel against decay! Get Crest today!

Fluoristan is Procter & Gamble's trademark for a tooth decay fighter.

YOUR DENTIST KNOWS HOW CREST WORKS TO LOCK OUT DECAY
